Till yon goal be won,
Helping every feeble neighbor,
Seeking help from none;

Courage in your own.

CAVAN PERSONALS

CAVAN, March 12.—The young peoples' organized class, "The Live Wires" of Cavan Centre Sunday school, held a very pleasant social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Perrin, on Friday evening. The members invited the other young people of the section to attend, making about thiry present. The evening was spent in games, contests and music. A lunch was served which had been brought by the girls of the class, while the boys were responsible for the entertainment during the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Matchett were called to Bethany on Saturday, owing to Mr. Matchett's aunt, Mrs. Staples breaking her leg, when she fell on the kitchen floor on Friday.

Mr. Colin Arnott and Mrl Wesley Staples, Toronto, came down to see her. Mrs. Matchett remained until Monday, when the injured lady was taken to Lindsay hospital.

Mr. Harry McIvor has not been as well as usual this week. Dr. Turner has been in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Gray, Millbrook visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Tinney at the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Huxley, Peterboro, were visitors at Mr. Jas. Paul's home on Monday.

On Sunday evening the Rev. J. O. Totten concluded a very earnest and helpful series of sermons on the Lord's prayer. They had been much enjoyed and appreciated by his congregation.

The Cavan Women's Institute will hold its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs Harry Tinney on Thursday afternoon, March 18th.

Miss Gwendoline Hunter accompanied her friend, Miss Alma Perrin, home from Lindsay on Friday and remained at her home for the social evening under the auspices of the young peoples' class.

OL' TRUSTY.

I'll have to admit that my lid looks like heck So old that it's faded with wear. It's given real service till now it's a wreck, but anyway, whadda I care?

I toss it around 'cause I can't do it harm. I know that it's already spoiled. I tuck it right carelessly under my arm—this skypiece that's terribly soiled.

Whenever it rains I just laugh in its face. My feeling is, shucks, let'er pour. I grab up my trusty and slap it in place. That's what an old bonnet is for.

It may be real ragged and faded a lot but, frankly, if truth must be said, to me this old lid is the best one I've got 'cause it feels so dern good on my head.

The spirit walks of every day deceased. —Young.

Eczema Was So Bad Could Hardly Sleep

Mrs. G. Jones, Kitscoty, Alta., writes:—"I had eczema on my left hand, and my first finger was so swollen, sore and itchy I could hardly sleep at night.

I got a prescription from my doctor, but it did me no good, so I finally began to take

Burdock Blood Bitters.

After I had taken three bottles I was completely relieved of my eczema, and would advise any one suffering from any disease of the blood to use B.B.B., as it's worth its price many times over."

ROBBER SEIZED AFTER PURSUIT

WOUNDED IN CHASE.

DETROIT, Mar. 13 (Canadian Press)—Surprised by a policeman as he was holding up a Michigan state bank branch yesterday, a robber was shot and captured after a short chase. The policeman walked in carrying a sawed off shot gun just after the robber entered the bank. The robber immediately snatched off the scarf concealing the lower portion of his face and started outside the door. The policeman gave chase. The man fled down an alley and leaped into the canal. The officer fired at him, wounding the fugitive in the back.

In spite of the wound, the man swam to the other side of the canal, pulled himself out of the water and started to run. Another shot wounding him in the head, he fell. Police have identified the man as Marvin Andrews, who was a witness for the police five years ago, when the same bank was held up and robbed. The wounded man is expected to recover.

SUFFERED FROM KIDNEY TROUBLE FOR YEARS

Mr. Wm. L. Whitman Suffered From Kidney Complications and Found Relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Beaver Harbour, N. S., March 12. —(Special.—"My trouble started from a cold and strain. I have suffered for years from kidney trouble. Rheumatism, Bright's Disease and Lumbago being some of my chief troubles. My head used to ache and my appetite was fitful. I have taken Dodd's Kidney Pills and found them very satisfactory. I think they are truly a wonderful medicine. Really they are not used half enough by a good many people."

Bright's Disease is one of the most serious forms of kidney disease. It can be successfully treated with Dodd's Kidney Pills. But the better way is to guard against such diseases as rheumatism, dropsy, diabetes and Bright's Disease by using Dodd's Kidney Pills when the kidneys first get out of order.

INVESTIGATE DEATH IN MONTREAL HOTEL

Verdict of Suicide Not Accepted By Attorney General.

MONTREAL, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Further investigation into the death of Joseph Steen, 63, of Morrisburg, Ont., who was found with his throat gashed in a local hotel, and who died later in hospital, was recommended by the police here late yesterday. An inquest was held some days ago and a verdict of suicide returned, but yesterday instructions came from the Attorney-General's department at Quebec to re-open the investigation. The body, which was to have been sent to Morrisburg, is being held in this city.

Biographical Sketches

"We read our future history in the history of the past. Let us live, therefore, so that those who come after us will say that we did our best—and no man can do more.

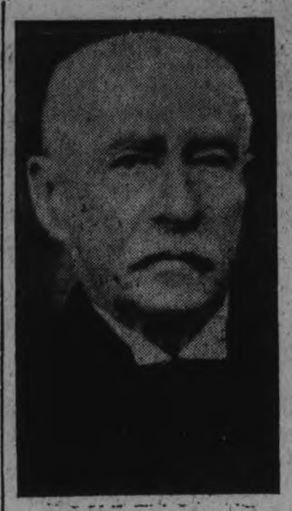
"Those lives are noblest which are a record of plain and simple duties simply done. The most valiant of swimmers may fail to reach the ship, but his success lies in trying, and we rejoice at his example and in the fine quality of his courage. They only 'succeed' who play the game of life fairly, win or lose, and only on the wings of well-doing reach their place in the sun. Money cannot buy what poverty can win.

"Those whom fortune favors exceedingly owe that debt to fortune. Only the humble are truly great." —Grotius.

(This series of Biographical Sketches began in the Examiner of Feb. 20 with the sketch of John Westlake, the Cavendish pioneer.)

"What is the difference between a portrait, a picture and a biographical sketch?" The portrait is what the subject appears to be; a picture is the subject glorified and idealised and then portrayed: the biographical sketch is the truth. The most celebrated of portrait writers is Cunningham, of picture-maker's, Macaulay, and of biographies, Boswell. Boswell wished to write a picture, was thought to have made a portrait but his success lies in his having undoubtedly written the truth. We all need puttying-up a bit no doubt. Human nature is perfect in no one. But if we can avoid boasting of our goodness and if we have the virtue of modesty and do not boast of that, but "strive" to be the real thing, we may not be a picture or even a portrait but will at least be the truth. The Bible says that the worst of men is the living lie—the hypocrite who is one not only bad but steals from the goodness of others in order to pretend that he is good. So that the answer to the question really is that if we are fitted for a biographical sketch it is well; for a portrait it is doubtful: but for a picture we stand condemned. A battered penny is better than a counterfeit crow. Solon said that "no man can be called happy until he dies"—Since anything mya happen in the interval and since no man can be called good in his youth for the same reason, biographies are easily witten of the young. He who thinks himself a model for others is a model for no one, but is ridiculous say the Scriptures; but he who is thought a model by others is a model indeed.

However, while these remarks may answer the inquiry with which this sketch begins, they need not interfere with the short and simple annals of those whom we like to hear about and delight to honour.



J. D. COLLINS

Mr. Collins came out from Ireland to Canada in 1857 to his uncle, Mr. A. C. Dunlop, who lived at "Malone" the large rough-cast house still standing near the railway, on Dunlop St., which is the first short street running west to east, above Smith street, on the east side of the river. At Auburn, which then had no factories to boast of, dwelt further up than "Malone" just opposite the present golf links and on the site of the Hon. Robert Hamilton's property The Stewarts and the Reids, friends and countrymen of the Dunlops. In these early days before the formal opening of Little Lake Cemetery the dead were buried where they had lived, and whilst nearly all have since been removed to the Little Lake Cemetery; one solitary plot remains in the field north of the Hamilton house, enclosed with a fence and marked by a small tombstone to denote the last resting place of William Dunlop. In those days there were few roads. The forest covered the country. Deer and other game were plentiful within easy reach. Mr. William Dunlop had come up from Demarara to visit his brother Charles. He and J. D. Collins were invited by Wheeler Armstrong, who lived about a mile out the Warsaw road to join in a deer hunt in that vicinity when Mr. J. D. Collins and his uncle William had been placed on their watches by Wheeler Armstrong. The dogs were started and the deer began to move. At that time there were no sporting rifles, merely shotguns loaded with ball in one barrel and buckshot in the other. They were muzzle-loaders with caps and the old-fashioned hammers. William Dunlop presently sighted a buck and wishing to get a better view, shouldered his gun with the muzzle to the fore and the hammers down instead of at half cock. His foot caught and he stumbled forward, sending the stock forward off his shoulder and turning the muzzle, which he held in his hand towards himself. When the gun struck the ground the concussion fixed the caps and the charages which went through Mr. Dunlop's upper thigh down through the calf of his leg and out through his boot. Doctors were summoned but the patient had lost so much blood that he could not stand the shock of amputation and when a few months later the leg was taken off as a last resort the patient succumbed and was buried as we have described. A settler dug the grave and dug it so deep thato when later it was desired to remove the body it could not be found and it lies there in God's own acre to this day. Subsequent to this time Mr. Collins went up to visit his uncle, Joseph Dunlop at Pandash Lake, 20 miles above Apsley, where the latter lived until his removal to Sandy Point, Clear Lake. As we have said, there were few roads in those days and in the North no regular roads at all. Travellers used the water-routes and the trails through the woods altogether. Whilst game abounded Mr. Collins was struck with the great number of lynx which seemed to be everywhere, but which now have almost disappeared. Mr. Collins warned Miss Hay, daughter of the late well-known Dr. Hay of Peterborough and settled down in this thriving town. He is now in his 87th year and is in good health, looking back upon the past and recalling his most interesting experiences. Mr. Collins was known as an expert shot and as a most successful hunter. He was for many years in the office of Meps, Dennistown, Fairbairn and Cassels, barristers, of Hunter St.

Mining Exchange Active Market Is Generally Firm

TORONTO, Ont., March 13. —(Canadian Press).—Standard mining exchange was more active this morning and the tone of the market was generally firm. Dome advanced 40 at 19.90, and Hollinger 20 at 18.65, while Teck Hughes sold up three at 323 and Tough Oakes a half at 61. Castle Trethewey advanced 3 at 162, and Argonaut 1½ at 33½. Weaker issues were Kirkland Lake, down one at 109, Premier down five at 250, and Noranda down 15 at 13.65.

Smelters and Dome Lead Quiet Session at Toronto

TORONTO, March 13 (Canadian Press).—A weaker tone was shown on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, though no remarkable losses occurred. Smelters and Dome were the outstanding stocks in the rather quiet session. Smelters climbed four points at 216, but receded to close at 210¼, a loss of 1 3-4 points. Dome climbed 32 cents to 19.82. Another firm spot was Massey-Harris Common, the newly listed stock, which gained five at 45. Brazilian eased a half at 92, Nickle one at 38, and C.P.R. a half at 156½. Others were mostly unchanged.

ST. JAMES CHOIR CONCERT

The annual choir concert of St. James' United church was held in the church last night. The program consisted of selections by the choir, the male voice quartette, and Sunday School orchestra, also solos by Douglas G. Carlisle, Mrs. A. A. Perrin and Mrs. Aida Kitney.

The choir of forty voices rendered its selections in a fine style showing much preparation. St. James' church is to be congratulated on having a choir of such a fine standard.

An eight piece orchestra supplied the music before the concert. The orchestra showed talent on the part of the players as well as a wise and comprehensive training under the leadership of F. W. Chenhall. The soloists rendered the fine service for which they are noted in this city, and the male voice quartette gave two selections in which they sang well together. The program was as follows:

1, Mortet—"Gallia" by the choir; 2, "Arm, Arm, Ye Brave" and "A Spirit Flower" by Douglas G. Carlisle; 3, "The Alpine Rose" by Mrs. A. A. Perrin; 4, Male Quartette, "A Song of the Sea" by Messrs. Lee, Turner, Worrall and Baldry; 5, "The Golden Sceptre" by Sunday School orchestra; 6, "Moonlight" by the choir; 7, "Song of the Robin," by Mrs. Aida Kitney; 8, "Song of the Vikings" by the choir; 9, "The Horn" by Douglas G. Carlisle; 10, "The Nightingale" by Mrs. A. A. Perrin; 11, Male Quartette, "Dreaming Alone in the Twilight," Messrs. Lee, Turner, Worrall and Baldry; 12, Chorus "'Tis Thy Wedding Morning" by choir and orchestra.

The pianist was Miss Mary Woods; organist, M. B. Chenhall, A.R.C.O., and the conductor, F. W. Chenhall.

STEAMER ON FIRE.

BALTIMORE, Md., Mar. 13 (Canadian Press)—The British steamer Tasna, sugar laden, from Cuba for Baltimore, was reported on fire near Sandy Point, twenty miles below Baltimore this morning. Two local fire boats were sent to her assistance and residents along the shore in that vicinity telephoned that they were along side the Tasna about nine o'clock. Smoke was pouring from the ship, they said.

MOVIES SHOWN AT THE SHELTER

Five Films Run Through For Kiddies By Fred McNeeley.

MUCH ENJOYED.

Friday afternoon Fred McNeely of the Y.M.C.A. staff transported the moving picture outfit of the "Y" and several reels of films to the Shelter, to give an hour's entertainment to the shut-ins who are laid up with colds and troubles incident to the rather severe weather. He was expected and hailed with shouts of approval. It was a Red Letter day for the twenty-six kiddies confined to the house.

Five films were run through the camera: "Nature's Rogues," depicting the sneak and the burglar and the hold-up man all in animal life, with lively incidents of encounters and adventures; "Logging in British Columbia," showing the colossal scale on which the forests of that province are being depleted, with much action and spirited work in this film; "Tunis," in North Africa, showing the vagaries of life in that civilization; "The Orange Kindergarten," a picture of Nature's handiwork and the development of plant life and the coming in of the flowers and fruits; and "Martin Chuzzlewit," a Dickens film, beautifully set out and full of pictures of English life and action, nearly one hundred years ago.

At the finish came shrill and boisterous cheers and approval for Mr. McNeely, and he was expected to come again. Such an afternoon makes a bright spot in the lives of the little people, who deeply appreciate any effort made to bring to them something of enjoyment and interest.

MARKET CROWDED BY MANY BUYERS

Butter Sold at 45 to 48 Cents —Eggs Were 32 to 35 Cents.

There was a large crowd of buyers in the basket section of the farmers' market this morning, the people jostling each in the aisles. Butter sold for 45 to 48 cents a pound and eggs ranged in price from 32 to 35 cents a dozen. Chickens had a wide range too, from 25 to 35 cents a pound.

Meat and vegetables were at the usual prices on the open market. Apples of the cooking variety were $1.75 a bareri, sweet yellow apples were 35 cents a peck and small Spies were 40 cents a basket.

Potatoes were $2.90 a bag and 60 cents a peck.

Every mission constitutes a pledge of duty: Every man is bound to consecrate his every faculty to its fulfillment. He will derive his rule of action from the profound conviction of that duty.—Mazzini.

ANTI-GOVERNMENT PRESS MAKES FIERCE ATTACK ON CHAMBERLAIN FOR "BACK STAIRS BARGAINING"

Daily News Says His Attitude Should End Official Life.

BLUNDER A CRIME.

Attitude of Brazil and Spain Brings Forth Criticism.

LONDON, March 13 (Canadian Press).— Yesterday's tragic incidents at Geneva have given a shock to those here who had built hopes on a new era of international peace and security arising from the meeting of the League of Nations Assembly by electing Germany to membership.

Most of the London morning papers refrain from commenting on yesterday's deadlock on the question of permanent seats in the League Council, but the anti-Government and Liberal papers fiercely denounce Sir Austen Chamberlain, accusing him of supporting "French intrigue." The Daily News says it will be a public scandal if Sir Austen's attitude in Geneva does not end his official career.

The New Statesman declared that Sir Austen with the most honorable and pacific intentions and with sincere friendship for France has got the country into an unnecessary mess. "His blunder" it adds, "is a crime—The crime of having introduced into Geneva methods of back stars bargaining—and this merely to save his own face. If Germany is black-balled, the League will be virtually dead—killed by the hero of Locarno."

None of the pro-Government papers editorialize on the situation. The independent Daily Mail finds a source of trouble in the "damnable vendetta of a mischievous clique of international busybodies calling itself the League of Nations' Union, which is rapidly degenerating into a pro-German society."

The attitude of Spain and Brazil draws only one comment from The Daily Chronicle, which opposed both Sir Austen Chamberlain and France. "If Brazil and Spain left the league," it says, "no tears would follow them, for by leaving it under such circumstances they would show a spirit incompatible with full membership. If Brazil went further and vetoed Germany's admission, the League Assembly would put that right next autumn by wiping Brazil off her elective seat in the council, not to be restored for many a long day."

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent cough and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchical asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or 'flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CREOMULSION

ROTARY LADIES' NIGHT.

Ladies' Night held at the Empress Hotel last evening under the auspices of the Rotary Club, was a very successful affair, attended by about eighty guests. The banquet which formed the opening of the evening's entertainment was followed by the presentation of a series of slides, showing the trip to be taken by the Rotarians this year in attendance at the International Convention at Denver, Colorado. A feature of the programme was the singing of a new vocalist to the city, Madame Helen Farnum of Toronto, and the presentation of a cheque for $500, the gift of the Rotary-Anne to the Rotary Club for their boys' work at the Rotary Camp.

President J. H. Seels presided over the banquet, and welcomed the Rotary-Annes and their friends as the guests of the club. Community singing was led by Gerald McClelland, Miss Agnes Logan playing the piano accompaniments.

The toast to The King was followed by a toast to the Ladies, proposed in a humorous spech by Dr. A. W. McPherson, and acknowledged by the president-elect of the Rotary-Annes, Mrs. Claude Rogers, whose brief- pleasing remarks were greeted with much applause. Mrs. B. L. Barns, treasurer of the Rotary-Annes then made a short speech, which ended with the presentation from the ladies' society of a cheque for $500, enclosed in a inflated yellow balloon, and destined for the use of the boys' camp at Clear Lake. C. H. Rogers, acknowledging the gift for the Rotarians, outlined the valuable assistance which has already been given the Boys' Camp work by the ladies, and thanked them very heartily for their generous donation.

Mr. Douglas Fletcher, the "baby member" of the club, and new manager of the Capitol Theatre, was then introduced, and outlined briefly his project for putting on a concert under Rotary auspices at the Grand Opera House, on April 5th and 6th. A splendid programme is promised by Mr. Fletcher, who is donating the funds from this concert toward Rotary work. One of the assisting artists will be a 12-year-old boy violinist, who recent appearance in Massey Hall, Toronto, created a sensation in musical circles there, and another contributor to the programme will be Mr. Fletcher's guest of last evening, Madame Helen Farnum of Toronto, whose superb contralto voice, heard in several solos, "charmed and delighted and thrilled" her audience, as F. L. Roy expressed it later in the evening, when extending the thanks of the club to Madame Farnum. Possessor of a brilliant contralto voice, with a wide range and a rich, warm timbre, Madame Farnum sang two numbers with their accompanying encores, the beautiful "Trees" song, "The Song of the Heart," "Thank God for a Garden," and a humorous little negro dialect song "Run Along Home, Nigger." Renewed applause greeted each of the songs, rendered with finished ease and charm.

Th travel talk, illustrated by lantern slides, which followed, was given by Rotarian George Vaux of Toronto, the lantern being operated by R. A. Cill of Toronto. The International Rotary Convention, which wil be held this summer in Denver, was the subject, followed by some interesting views of Salt Lake City, Utah, and of beauty spots in California.

The slides, beautifully colored in many instances, and showing the lovely scenery of Denver and the beauties of the great Yelowstone Park opened with a brief description of the progres which has been made in transportation methods, the speaker contrasting the 18-day stage coach trip of olden times from the Mission River to Sacramento with the present speedy air mail flight from Chicago to Sacramento.

The City of Denver was shown, with the "Welcome" and "Mizpah" signs which greet the incoming and speed the outgoing guest; Lookout Mountain, burial place of Buffalo Bill; the winding road around Pikes Peak, the Rocky Mountain Estes Park, the famous Hallett Glacier and Grand Lake, Echo Canyon, with its wonderful rock erosions, and the Yellowstone National Park. Scenes from this great national park were exceptionally interesting and included views of many of the freak geysers. Here is the "black growler," which spouts not water, but steam and is surrounded by what is known as the earth's thinnest crust; the Christmas Tree Park, the mammoth paint pots, colored by minerals, the Firehole River the Excelsior geyser, dormant and in action; Emerald Pool and Biscuit Basin; the Morning Glory Spring with its beautiful tints; the Grotto geyser, the small Economic geyser, which takes back its own overflow; the Punch Bowl; the Handkerchief Pool, where a handkerchief may be dropped in, laundered in the boiling water and returned to its owner perfectly clean; Old Faithful geyser, which is inactive only one hour during the day; the tame bears and birds which live unmolested in this sanctuary; the Great Falls, twice as high as Niagara; Pulpit and Minerva and Cleopatra Terraces; Eagle Crag, remnant of the great Ice Age; Obsidian Cliff, a mountain of black glass 200 feet high, and the Ribbon Falls.

Views of Utah included many interesting scenes, the Great Mormon Temple in Salt Lake City, with the Angel Moroni at its peak; Seagull Mountain reminder of the birds who saved the country from a plague of crickets; Brigham Young's monument; the colored rocks of the Narrows; the Great White Throne rock, venerated by the Indians; the impressive Three Watchmen; the prehistoric rocks of Mount Majestic; the wonderful formations of the Cathedral rock and Thor's Hammer, with the rocks resembling folded, colored cloth.

Views of California showed some of the natural beauties of that lovely state; the orange orchards, the famous Elysian Park; the century-old grapevine of the San Gabrial Mission; Lincoln Park, with its wonderful tropical growth; Santa Catalina Island and the Seal Rocks; Santa Barbara, rebuilt after the earthquake; the Mision of Padre Junipera Serra and the old San Diego Mission. The City of Portland was also shown, with some of the marvellous gloats in the annual Rose Festival.

A hearty vote of thanks to Messrs. Vaux and Gill was voiced by President Seels, and followed by the presentation by F. L. Roy, who made a brief speech, of bouquets of roses to Madame Farnum and Miss Agnes Logan, and a box of cigars to Mr. Vaux.

Dancing, with music provided by Ken. Blood and card games finished the evening's programme.

The YELLOW STUB

by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago, and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy accuses her of marrying for money.

Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as IKE JENSEN.

Olga tells Jimmy that Church, because she had refused to have anything to do with him, had caused her to lose several jobs.

Mary writes Jimmy a letter, explaining that she has broken with Church. The office boy sticks the letter in his pocket and forgets it.

Barry and Jimmy, coming from a theater, run across a street fight. One of the participants, after knocking the other down, starts to run as the crowd yells to stop him.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXIX

There was a wild upheaval in the crowd as the man who had left his opponent unconscious on the sidewalk lowered his head and plunged through.

There were cries of "Somebody grab him!" but not one attempted it, perhaps because of that peculiar inertia that seems to afflict crowds so often, perhaps because of fear, for he was a menacing figure, even in flight.

As he broke through the outer edge of the throng and passed Jimmy and Barry, perhaps some ten yards away from them, Jimmy got a glimpse of him with his disheveled hair, his battered nose and his collar and necktie askew.

Then he was gone, and when he had disappeared from sight Jimmy was assailed with the uneasy feeling that he should have tried to stop him. Something familiar about that fleeing figure raised the question whether it hadn't flashed before his eyes before. . .

They were picking the other man up from the gutter. He was conscious, but there was a deep cut in the back of his head where it had struck the curb. A policeman arrived, ordered the crowd back and rang for a patrol wagon.

"Come on, Barry," said Jimmy. "It's all over. Just a street fight between a couple of toughs."

Then he saw Thomas Fogarty, surveying the scene through amused eyes. A cigar stuck at a rakish angle from his mouth. He removed it to spit on the sidewalk, and then he laughed, a quiet, contemptuous laugh.

Jimmy touched his elbow. "Hello, Mr. Fogarty."

"Why, hello, Mr. Rand. Haven't seen you for a long time. Did you see it?" He jerked a casual thumb in the direction of the patrol.

"Yes, I saw it, all right." He introduced Barry Colvin.

"Glad to know you, Mr. Colvin."

"Nice boys, weren't they?" Barry said with his ever-ready grin. "And how that little guy—the one who got away—could sock!"

"Yeah," said Fogarty. "I've seen 'em before. One of 'em was Kid Divis. He used to be a pug. Used to be a pretty good preliminary boy, but he wouldn't train."

"Good Lord!" Jimmy groaned, "Now I know where I've seen that face before. When he ran past me I knew there was something familiar looking about him, but for the life of me I couldn't place it.

"It was his nose, of course. You said he was a fighter. I can place him now. It was that broken nose of his."

He turned to Barry. "That man was one of the pair that followed me that night. He was the one who came running with the gun. What a dumbell I am! In my hands and out again—just like that!

"If he'd had a cap on, I'd have known him in a minute, but he didn't, and his hair was all mussed and his collar torn. If I'd only had more time to think."

"What the devil are you talkin' about?" asked Fogarty through lips that were tightly clenched on his cigar. And Jimmy told him the story of the encounter he had had.

"Does this Kid Divis, as you call him, travel around with a man by the name of Ike Jensen?" he asked Fogarty

"Sure. Regular buddies. That is, they used to be. I haven't seen Jensen for some time. By the way, do you know Ike?"

"Slightly," said Jimmy, and he was about to add why he was so anxious to find him, but he thought better of it.

Instead, he turned to Barry Colvin. "Come on, Barry, we're going down to police headquarters to see O'Day."

"Kid Divis? Sure, I know him." Lieutenant O'Day reached in the drawer where he had cached his "chewing." "Why?" he asked.

"We just saw him in a street fight," Jimmy explained.

"This man Divis," said O'Day, "was one of the first we brought in here when we first began to search for Ike Jensen. Someone tipped me off that Divis was an old associate of Jensen's, but he swore up and down, when we got him in here, that he hadn't seen Ike for weeks. Said he must have left town."

"He lied to you, then," Jimmy declared. "Divis was with Jensen the night Jensen and I had that little mixup. He was the fellow I told you about that came running up afterward with a gun."

"Good Lord!" O'Day spit savagely into the cuspidor. "And we let him go!"

"You remember, Lieutenant, I described the man as a fellow with a broken nose? We looked for his picture in the Bertillon room."

"Sure. But we didn't have it. The Kid's never had anything proved on him. But how could we know, Rand? Believe me, we got a lot of buys with broken noses when we started pulling in the boys we thought could steer us onto Ike Jensen."

Barry Colvin laughed. "I imagine so. Nice boys—all of them."

Jimmy said: "Well, I'd bet my last nickel that Kid Divis was the man who was with him that night. I wish we had him now."

It was early the following afternoon that Mary Lowell, not back long from luncheon, looked up to find beside her desk a stockily built young man with a pug nose, carefully parted black hair and an engaging smile.

"Miss Lowell?"

"Yes."

"I—er—" he stammered and looked down at his hat, which he was crushing in his hands in his embarrassment.

His fat cheeks turned a rosy red. "My name is Barry Colvin. I wanted to talk to you about something important. First," and he lifted his eyes to meet hers, "I hope you won't throw me out before I finish." His mouth widened in a grin as he spoke.

"Sit down, Mr. Colvin." Mary indicated a chair, and smiled, for there was something about Barry Colvin's manner that was hard to resist, a contagion in his smile, a downright friendliness, even, that in any other person might be considered impudence.

"First of all," he began, placing his hat on her desk, "let me repeat that I want to finish before you throw me out." He grinned again. "No, I'm not an insurance agent, and I'm not going to try to sell you a lot or an automobile. And I'm not a big silk stocking man from the east."

"Good heavens!" she cried in mock horror, "Then you must be a book agent."

"Wrong again," he laughed. "I'm a salesman, but not the ordinary kind. I'm what you'd call a specialist."

"No," she said, "You're a lawyer. I saw you when you were in here yesterday."

His eyes were suddenly serious as they sought hers. "I'm also a friend of Jimmy Rand," he remarked.

Then, at the quick, inquiring look and the troubled frown that his words produced, he threw up his hands, simulating despair.

"There you are, I knew it. You're getting ready to throw me out now for butting in on somebody else's business. Let me talk, will you, please? I didn't come from Jim. I'm no ambassador. If he knew I was here he'd probably give me a good licking—and he could do it, too."

Barry clasped his hands around his knee, lifting his foot several inches from the floor and gazing at it as he went on. "It's none of my business, Miss Lowell, but Jim Rand is the best friend I have in the world—and about the most stubborn individual in the world, too—"

"I wish," she interrupted, "you'd say what you have to say. I don't want to appear rude, but it's difficult for me to—"

"I know," he put in. "I'm sorry. I'll get right down to the point, Miss Lowell. I'm going to tell you why Jim Rand came to Chicago. You don't know, do you?"

"No."

"Well, Jim Rand came here because his father was murdered several weeks ago and a clew led him to Chicago."

"Murdered!" she gasped. "Oh!"

"Yes, the most mysterious thing I ever heard of. I won't go into it all, because it's a long story. We don't know who did it and we can't imagine why it was done. But poor Jim hasn't been himself, naturally, since the thing happened.

"Suspicion first pointed to a certain man in this city, but he proved an alibi. Then it pointed to a girl—a girl named Olga Maynard. Jim found her—he found her in a restaurant one night while you and he were together."

She was staring at him in wide-eyed amazement. "Then that was the—" she broke off. "Go ahead, Mr. Colvin."

"He met her the next night—in the same place. At first he tried to trap her into an admission. Then, when he told her the police were looking for her on a murder charge, she fainted dead away. Jim told me that you saw that, and that you quite naturally failed to understand it.

"Now he's convinced that the girl was absolutely innocent of any connection with the murder. In fact, she's been helping him in his search for the suspect.

"That's all, Miss Lowell. I won't bother you any longer." Barry picked up his hat. "I just had to tell you, because I thought you'd like to know and that, as far as Jim was concerned, you ought to know. He wouldn't tell you himself. He said it was too late."

Her hand fluttered to her throat. She blinked to hold back the tears. "It isn't," she whispered. "You were kind to tell me, Mr. Colvin."

When Barry saw Jimmy Rand that evening, he said: "Jim, I want you to remember this day. If you've got a notebook, mark the date in it. Some day you're going to appreciate me for what I am—a great benefactor to mankind."

Where Tea is "Coin of the Realm"

TEA, pressed into small bricks, passes for money in Siberia, Mongolia and Persia. The custom is at least 1000 years old and is a sign of the great value these people place on their tea.

Canadians value their tea in another way. To an Oriental it depends on the size of the brick—with us the standard is quality.

To be worth what you pay for it your tea must have fine flavor and richness.

Such is RED ROSE TEA—a standard of very high quality for over 30 years. The finest grade is RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA—made from the youngest, juiciest leaves of the bush. Yet it costs very little more than ordinary tea and goes much farther. You will be delighted with it, and like very many others whose judgment and taste is unquestioned will praise its choice quality even more than we do.

It is only sold in sealed packages, and you should always ask for it by the full name—RED ROSE ORANGE PEKOE TEA—as the name is your guarantee.

And our personal guarantee is, that if a package of RED ROSE TEA ever fails to please you, the money you paid for it will be refunded. Will you try it, please?

SPRING SIGNS AT BAILIEBORO AGAIN

Crows Return After Winter's Absence.

BAILIEBORO, March 13.—The first signs for this season of the coming of spring have been noticed this week, when the crows returned, and once again the woods are alive with the noisy crows. One farmer stated that the last he saw of the crows last fall, was when they were picking the corn off the cobs in his corn stocks, and the first crows of season that he noticed this spring were several of the black robbers back on his corn stooks on the same stooks they had inhabited last year.

One man has declared that on Monday last, although very cold, he heard a robin cheerfully singing in the apple orchard.

It is generally considered by the farmers that spring will open very rapidly when it commences.

The farmers are actively engaged in getting their wood sawed and split, getting a good supply of grain made into chop at the grist mills to tide them over spring work, getting their seed grain cleaned and ready for sowing, as well as repairing and getting ready their harness and implements, so that there will be nothing to detain them when king winter has passed, but that they may go ahead and get their grain and seeds into the ground as soon as the soil is in shape.

Trappers along the lake front have already got their signs posted up along their marshes, for trespassers to keep out, and are eagerly awaiting the breaking up of the ice so that they can get started to trap the muskrats. It is generally considered that this year there will be a good run of rats.

She Could Hardly Do Her Housework Nerves Were So Bad

Mrs. L. M. Parks, Consecon, Ont., writes:—"I had heart and nerve trouble, and became so short of breath I could hardly do my daily housework, and was so nervous I could not think of staying alone, as every little sound I heard felt like a shock to me.

I Saw MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS recommended, so I tried a box, and after taking the second one I am now feeling like a different woman."

This preparation has been on the market for the past 32 years and has achieved a wonderful reputation for the relief of all heart and nerve troubles.

PUBLIC MEETING OF MISSION CIRCLE

Missionary Worker From British Columbia Gave Address.

MILLBROOK, March 13.—The public meeting, under the auspices of Golden Links Mission Circle, Mrs. J. McKnight, President, held on Tuesday evening, provided a programme full of interest and instruction, though attendance was lessened by a number of counter attractions and the unfavorable state of the roads.

Rev. F. H. Howard was chairman, and the pageant, "Inasmuch," by the circle girls, presented the missionary situation in a most appealing manner.

A recitation, "Sleep, Little Baby of Mine," by Bernice Smith, carrying her big baby doll, preceded the pageant, the characters being:

Hazel McMahon—Spirit of Missionary Societies.

Elsie Spence—Spirit of Missions.

Dorothy Crossley, Etta Peel, Wilma Fallis, Margaret Howard—Missionaries.

Mrs. D. Lunn, Jean Burnham, Edith Sheppard, Marjorie Skitch—Churches and Sunday Schools of Canada.

Mary Burnham, Bryar Edmunds, Madeline McDowell, Helen Mitchell, Lenore Lambert, Bernice Smith, Charlotte McMahon, Marjorie McDowell — Countries in Heathen Darkness.

A solo, "Shall It Be You?" by Mrs. H. W. Johnston, with a trio, "God Has Been Good to Us," by Jean Burnham, Margaret Howard and Etta Peel, and a number of choruses, added much to the effectiveness of the pageant.

Miss Paul, who is now retired after thirty years spent in missionary work in the West, chiefly in British Columbia, gave a most interesting address.

Miss Paul's field extended from Frank, a mining town, and Fernie, in the southeast part of the Province, to Skagway, almost on the border of the Yukon, in the northwest, with some time in Vancouver and Victoria in connection with the Oriental work.

"Every ninth baby born in British Columbia is an Oriental," said the speaker, "and since we can't very well put out these Easterners who are here, though the cry is 'Don't let any more in because they are spoiling the country for our own laborers,' the only thing we can do is to Christianize the number who are in Canada."

One mission band among the Indian children where Miss Paul labored raised $240.00 for missions, and one auxiliary raised $200.00. To do this they worked all the year round, the boys having a share by contributing a prize of $2.00 won in a tug-of-war to the fund.

Work among the foreigners has taught Miss Paul that all these people have some good thing to contribute, if rightly used, to the welfare of Canada building up a stronger nation than she would be without this contribution.

Speaking on the drink question, she said: "I have lived now under three methods—the open bar, prohibition (with which there was some bootlegging) and Government control (which I call Government sale) and now the beer parlors. Neither of the latter methods have stopped bootlegging in my experience, which covers thirty years.

"We don't have to go into all the world now to reach all nations; they have come to us, and we will make disciples of them by just neighboring, by the Sunday School, by Canadianizing them and Christianizing them as we live our Christianity."

An earnest appeal for more workers, three times as many as are at present in the field being needed, closed Miss Paul's address.

A recitation, "If I Were a Japanese," by Lenore Lambert, with a few words from the chairman, followed by the benediction, brought a helpful gathering to a close.

Miss Ella Elson was the accompanist of the evening.

ORLAND NEWS

ORLAND, March 13.—Mark McCullough is very much improved and will soon be able to be out.

Will Dunbar has taken the farm lately occupied by Mrs. J. Poole to work and will soon be moving.

Roy Packard is leaving the farm secured by him through the Soldiers' Settlement Board and is moving to the West, where he and his wife have secured employment with an uncle who has been there some time. Mr. Packard claims he is not getting on as well as he would like to, and is having a sale at once preparatory for his removal.

Frank Plue's team ran away recently from the bush, where they became frightened at a falling tree, bolting across a field on to the mill pond, where they were caught by Mr. Dorland, very little damage being done.

The Brighton Township Council report a very quiet March meeting, and was enabled to proceed with extra work for the session and finish in extra early time.

The funeral services of Mrs. Willet Simpson of Brighton were attended by a few from this locality, as Mr. and Mrs. Simpson at one time resided not far from here and were held in very high esteem. The services were held at her late home in Brighton and interment in Wood's Cemetery, a few miles west of the village.

Many cellars were flooded with the recent heavy rain, and many hoped that it would mean the break up, but the weatherman seems to have had a considerable supply of winter up his sleeve, which is being doled out with no niggardly hand.

Very few attended the pork and bean supper at Hilton from here on account of the extreme cold.

Mr. Woodland has closed the special services at Wooler.

HIGHWAY BAD.

OSHAWA, March 13.—The roads within 15 miles of Peterborough are in such bad condition that it is impossible for trucks to reach there from the west. Coleman's cartage failed in an attempt to get a truck through to Peterborough on Thursday.

My Vanity Case

HEALTH is, after all, the foundation of beauty and attractiveness. The sparkling eye, the healthful glow and color of the skin, the elasticity of movement—these are the essentials of beauty.

You must feel well to look well. You cannot possibly look your best when you are tired, nervous and irritable. Dr. Chase's Nerve Food beautifies by forming new, rich blood, by restoring color to the faded cheeks and by building up the vitality which makes one cheerful and vivacious.

The beneficial results of using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food are lasting because by its use you build up energy and vigor in the human system. You feel better and look better, you rest and sleep well, enjoy your meals and know the joys of healthful living.

IT PAYS TO ADVERTISE.

The Gypsy!

By Juanita Hamel.

"Cross my palm with the coin of confidence and I your life will foretell, pretty lady!" coaxes Dan Cupid. And unable to resist his blandishments, the pretty lady breathlessly holds out her palm and Dan seriously studies the lines engraved thereon. Of course, he knows exactly what he is going to tell her, for he has waited for this moment a long time.

She has been leading such a butterfly existence and keeping the one whom Dan has chosen for her, in heartbreaking suspense, that he decides to take a hand and settle the question once and for all. So he tells her, "I see a tall dark man. Ah lady, you're cruel, for I see that you are flirting with him, and he truly loves you.

"His love line and yours are plainly marked here, right together. Ah, they join, and I see naught before you but happiness. May the luck of the gypsy god of love, follow you."

And thus does Cupid turn her thoughts to the one whom he has chosen for the Butterfly Lady, and she follows his advice and so—they were married and lived happily ever after."

Menus for the Family

By Sister Mary

Breakfast—Canned apricots, cereal, thin cream, eggs poached in milk, on toast, crisp graham toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Barley and mushroom soup, croutons, whole wheat peanut butter bread, apple and celery salad, molasses cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Stew of mutton and vegetables with rice, beet greens with lemon sauce, grape fruit pie, graham bread, milk, coffee.

This recipe for whole wheat peanut butter bread is a little out of the ordinary and quite delicious. It's worth keeping in mind for picnic use as well as the school lunch box. A filling is not needed in sandwiches as the bread has a rich, nutty taste all by itself.

Whole Wheat Peanut Butter Bread

Three cups whole wheat flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 cup sugar, 1 cup peanut butter, 1 1-2 cups sour milk, 3-4 teaspoon soda, 1 egg.

Mix salt, sugar, flour and baking powder. Work in peanut butter. Add egg well beaten. Dissolve soda in 2 teaspoons cold water and stir into sour milk. Add to first mixture and beat until smooth and thoroughly blended. Pour into a greased and floured bread pan. Cover and let stand 20 minutes in a warm place. Bake 50 minutes in a moderately hot oven.

The milk should be "clabbered," that is, soured until thick.

MORE DOG BITES.

Montreal Hospitals Can Find No Symptoms of Rabies.

MONTREAL, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Ten new cases of dog bites were reported at different hospitals yesterday, but so far as could be learned, not one of the victims who are under observation has shown any symptoms of rabies. The war on stray and unmuzzled dogs and cats continues, and the police of this city destroyed 137 of the former and 40 cats during the day.

(By Allene Sumner)

WELL OF ALL THINGS!

Paris won against America when Parisian jewelers outbid American ones for the Russian crown jewels, sold by the Soviet government. Paris bid $3,015,000 which was $140,000 more than the Americans bid! Poor Paris, so poor since the wrl, and that terrible war debt of hers which stingy America won't forget all about!

THE GLAD RAGS

Have you ever worn $50,000 worth of clothes at one time? Perhaps not. But we are told by a New York fashion writer that any number of women sit in the Golden Horseshoe of the Metropolitan Opera House any evening of the opera season wearing costumes which cost this sum. And this does not include their jewels.

One woman dressed in $53,475 worth of clothes wore a $50,000 sable coat, a $2000 French gown, $200 costume slip, $250 chemise, $75 slippers, $25 hose, $100 head dress, and $825 worth of handkerchief, fan and scarf.

They tell of a millionaire who married a chorus girl, gave her $100,000 with which to buy the most expensive outfit in New York, and was angry when she returned $50,000, explaining that one could not spend any more for one outfit in New York!

INTERESTING LADIES

Lanvin is a name to conjure with in the fashion world. Madame Jeanne Lanvin is a mature, motherly type of woman whose pictures would say that she knows infinitely more about baby raising and how to cook spinach than to create dress confections of beauty!

Queen Ena of Spain writes a letter full of all the court gossip to a country vicar's daughter each week. The daughter and the queen studied under the same governess when children, and the queen still says she loves this woman more than anyone else outside her family circle.

PIN MONEY IDEAS

First study yourself and pick out your best talent. If you are fitted for these suggestions, do them!

Organize a children's story or play hour, and thus take care of your neighbor's children one afternoon a week. Teach bridge or sewing. Repaint and stencil old furniture. Sell candy, cookies, bread, cake, preserves to your local delicatessen store. Make layettes or a distinctive house dress or apron.

ESCALLOPED OYSTERS

Grease ramekins or a shallow baking dish with olive oil or butter. Drain and wipe the oysters, Have ready cooked spinach, fresh or canned, crumbled toast or cracker crumbs, butter or olive oil, and lemon juice. Dot a layer of oysters with butter and paprika, add crumbs, then a layer of spinach mixed with melted butter or olive oil and lemon juice, more crumbs, another layer of oysters, and so on. Pour a little lemon juice and oil or melted butter over the top of the dish and cook in moderate oven until done.

MAKING FAIR LADIES!

Honey heals chapped hands. A mixture of lemon juice and plain soda will bleach the face as well as any clay pack. A splendid hair tonic is made from 1 oz. tincture cantharides; 2 drams bisulphate of quinine; 14 ozs. listerine. Rub into scalp night and morning.

THE BOOK

Many people have been kept from going abroad because of that tedious volume called a Baedeker. Now Robert Forrest Wilson gives you "Paris on Parade," which is a guide book as funny as "Mr. and Mrs. Haddock Abroad" and much more entertaining than even "Three Weeks." And if you read it you'll have the time of your life in Paris. Read it even if you aren't going abroad. It's worth an evening at your club, too.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

ANNIE LAURIE:

If a friend whom you have been going with, takes another girl to the show, do you thinks he still likes you then?

O. C. S.

O.C.S.: Yes, it is quite probable that he still likes you and he may also like some other girls that you know nothing about. Liking is not controlled by a measure, and man's fancy, just the same as woman's, is liable to change at any time. As long as you are not engaged to him, you cannot demand that he pay exclusive attention to you alone.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

What would you advise me to do when I like a boy and he doesn't seem to think much of me, although he speaks friendly. S. O. C.

S. O. C.: There really isn't much that you can do except to keep on liking him, if you think that he is worth your especial attention in this way. There are so many men in the world that you might meet someone else who would like you just as much as you like him, a much happier fate than the lukewarm affection you may receive if you persist in thinking solely of this man. However, if you feel that he is your soul mate and that none else in the wide world can make you happy, try to please him in every way. Flattery is quite a powerful weapon and it flatters a man, even though he may pretend that he is indifferent, to perceive that a girl is attracted by him. If he is worth while, he sees instantly that she is a lady of discernment. If he isn't, he realizes that the girl who adores him hasn't much sense. This may be the case with the man you admire, so instead of felling badly about it, you should realize that you are simply putting a young man on a pedestal who has no liking or inclination for an exalted place in the world.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

We are two young girls in our 'teens, coming to you for advice.

(1) Is it right for us to ask a boy friend to escort us to a dance? (2) Is it right to skate with a fellow if he comes and asks us to go, but have never had an introduction to us? (3) Is it wrong to refuse to dance with one fellow and then dance with another instead?

Hoping to see our answer soon as we are leaving town, we are PALS

PALS: None of these things you ask about are really wrong, and they are quite modern and up-to-date. You can do all of them with the happy feeling that they are done by countless other young girls growing up at the present time, but you can't do any of them and feel that you are a real lady. However, although real ladies are no longer fashionable, they have never yet lost their place in the regard of the world and probably never will. ...just depends on whether you want ...ave a good time in an indiscrimin... way as you look for fun in your youth, or whether your ideals are reaching out for something a little better. If they are, and you persist, you will probably find some more worthwhile men later on who like the ladylike type.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I be a young men from the country. I am in luv with a gerl. Hir fother dont luv mee. Her bruther dont luv mee wy? I bee a good young men. uther felleys luv hir. Hir luv me, i gott 35 dollers saved, shude hir and mee gott marreed withut hir fothers cunsent? i dont sea wy hir fother dont lov mee becuz I bee bettir eddicated then the uther fellys i cant help thatt can i? i got swell farm of 20 akers wich has gott pigs cous horssess and lotts of poletree i gott a grate house wich has too rooms kan you tell mee wott too do? i beg too remane yores trooly,

SOME TASTY SALADS

The usual green salad plants contribute but little energy and protein to the diet, but are rich in mineral matter vitamine content.

Appropriate dressings should be selected for each kind of salad. A mayonnaise used for fruit or vegetable salads should be made without mustard. The right dressing to use with an alligator pear salad is made of lime or lemon juice, pepper and salt. Special melted butter, melted over hot water and strained through a bit of damp cheesecloth, should be used to make a fish salad dressing, instead of oil. For a delicate fruit salad, solid whipped cream may be used to whiten and thin the mayonnaise.

Fresh Fruit Salad.

Remove the pulp from a large, firm grapefruit, removing all the white skin. Cut up three large, firm oranges, removing all the pips and white skin. Dice two apples, after paring and coring, and sprinkle them with the juice of a lemon. Slice thin two bananas. Remove the skins and seeds from enough white grapes to make a cupful. Mix all together, sprinkle with a tablespoonful of powdered sugar and set aside in a bowl to chill. Just before time to serve turn into a strainer and let drain, then heap on lettuce leaves, mask with white mayonnaise and garnish with red cherries.

Cream Cheese Salad.

Take two small packages of cream cheese and place in a bowl. Add the juice of an onion, a heaping saltspoonful of salt, half as much red pepper, a teaspoonful of sugar, a teaspoonful of Roquefort cheese, a tablespoonful of melted butter and enough sweet cream to blend. Blend with a silver fork and set to chill. When ready to serve arrange crisp, dry lettuce leaves on the salad plates and put the cheese through the dicer, a fair portion for each salad. Garnish with stuffed olives and a heaping teaspoonful of white mayonnaise on top of each portion.

Novel Hot Salad.

Parboil in salted water two pairs of sweetbreads. Blanch in cold water, trim and split open. Dip in melted butter, dust with pepper and salt and broil the breads delicately. When done place on lettuce leaves and add a tablespoonful of melted butter, tablespoonful of grated pineapple and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Garnish with stuffed olives.

Charming Frocks Appear in Printed Silks

Printed silk of graceful design is admirably adapted to this straight-line frock, cut with oval neck, and revealing a shaped yoke front and back ending in short kimono sleeves. Fine tucks provide front fulness, and a tie belt has a bow in front. The pattern provides long sleeves, and the accompanying diagram pictures the simple design of No. 1144, which is in sizes 16, 18 and 20 years, or (34, 36 and 38 inches bust only). Size 18 years (36 bust) requires 3 yards 36 or 40 inch material; long sleeves ¼ yard additional. Price 20 cents.

The secret of distinctive dress lies in good taste rather than a lavish expenditure of money. Every woman should want to make her own clothes, and the home dressmaker will find the designs illustrated in our new Fashion Book to be practical and simple, yet maintaining the spirit of the mode of the moment. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

THE TEMPTATION OF SALES

Spring sales are among the temptations that are hard to withstand. The shops vie with one another in offering real bargains. The wise woman will go through her linen closet and carefully note the things she most needs to replenish her stock, always putting the necessities first.

Next a tour of the china closet will find out what has been broken and what must be replaced.

Then the kitchen closets, after close inspection, are sure to need a few new things. The household sales offer things in grouped sizes and nested to take their place at very low rates.

The cleaning closet also has brush and broom needs, and these sales shade the prices so we can acquire double as many things if we know just what we need.

After we have gone over our entire possessions and have our needs down in black and white we can then sally forth and purchase understandingly. Our one warning is that we must buy first only what the list contains.

In the white sales there are many short lengths in dish toweling offered that are worth while buying. In the first place, if we are there on the first day of the sale we can often pick up enough of the same color and pattern to make up our dozen. And if there are odd pieces, they can be used up in bibs and aprons.

Odd Summer blankets may also be found at the sale that are appreciably less in price than when their season actually arrives. Odd ones are all right for the cottage or Summer home, as only one is apt to be used to each bed in warm weather.

Crisp, Delicious

DISCOVERED.

I had just stepped away from the rack for a moment and as I was returning I heard someone shout:

"Why, Judy Dean, where did you come from?"

I hardly knew the tall chap who rushed toward me with outstretched hand, but, as he came nearer, I recognized the Irish-gray eyes, red hair and even freckles of Jimmie Costello.

I almost kissed him right then and there, I was so eager for the sight of someone from home.

"Judy, Judy, where have you been? When I came home from my first trip on the road about two months ago, they told me that you had gone away and left no address. I asked your father and he politely told me that it was none of my business, that his daughter had written to him and asked him to keep her address from everyone in the town. All he could say was that you were doing well and very happy. I don't think it was fair for you to act like that, Judy? What are you doing here? May I dine at your table?"

I saw him glance in a wondering manner over my black dress and tiny apron which he seemed to have noticed for the first time.

"I have no table, but you may hang your hat on my hat rack."

"What!"

"Yes, Jimmie, times have changed since you used to bring the groceries to the back door of the Dean's. Dad probably did not give anyone my address because he was so angry over the fact that I was really earning my living. You see he expected me to come back in about two weeks. However, if he knew that I was the check girl in a large, Bohemian restaurant, I think he would drag me back home by my hair. That's one of the reasons I've had it bobbed since I came here."

"Can you shake the hat rack long enough to come out and eat with me?"

"I think so," I answered eagerly. "Come over to the rack and I'll ask Mamie."

"There! I've caught you at it, girlie," said a guttural voice close to my ear. "I knew you were just pretending to be so very precious. It's easy enough for you to make a date, isn't it, if it's only with the right man?"

"What do you mean, you cur?" snapped Jimmie, wheeling about.

"What is it to you? Does she belong to you?"

For answer, James Costello's arm shot out and the man sprawled his length on the floor.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

IF WISHES CAME TRUE.

"Oh, dear," Peggy yawned lazily as she lay back in the hammock watching a gay-colored butterfly, "I wish I were a butterfly. Nothing to do all day long but fly over the meadows in the sunlight."

"Well, that's easily fixed," laughed a tiny voice, as the gay-colored butterfly settled on the end of the hammock and touched Peggy's hair with her long feeler. "Anyone who really wants to be a butterfly can be one," she said gayly.

Peggy felt a queer sensation creep from her head to her feet and when she glanced down at her feet, instead of two feet, she had six. Her own two feet still had shoes and stockings on but the four new legs and feet were just like the gay-colored butterfly's. Her shoulders felt heavy, and glancing back, Peggy discovered two lovely gauzy wings were attached to them——

"Now, there! You are a lovely butterfly," cried the gay-colored butterfly. "Now don't forget that all butterflies when resting on a blossom, must be very careful to keep their wings held up and close together, like you see mine."

"I Wish I Were a Butterfly."

"And what's that for?" Peggy asked, closing her wings above her back. "I like the upper side best. They are much prettier colors."

"Certainly, they are prettier on the upper side," laughed Gay-colored Butterfly. "That's why we close them, so folks won't see us so plainly and snap us up."

Peggy tried to walk off the hammock, but the four extra legs and feet got in her way.

"How in the world do you manage to walk with six legs?" she asked. "I can't seem to walk at all."

"Butterflies very seldom walk at all," replied Gay-colored Butterfly. "We like to fly best. Now just lift your wings, spread them out and follow me.

"Do just as I do," and the gay-colored butterfly spread her wings and sailed away.

"Look, look dear, at the pretty butterfly I found sitting on the hammock, right by your head," cried Mama.

Peggy looked around and sure enough Mama held the very butterfly to whom she had been talking in her dream.

"Oh, Mama, let it go!" she cried. "Goodness! I thought someone was catching me." Then she told her mother about her dream. "I'll never wish I was someone else again."

"But I thought you were collecting butterflies," said Mama.

"I was," replied Peggy, "but I don't think I'll ever collect any more. Think what might have happened if you had gotten hold of my wings, instead of that butterfly's."

So Mama set the pretty butterfly down upon a leaf and the gay-colored creature spread her wings and sailed away. They sat and watched her until she disappeared.

"My, how foolish to wish oneself something else!" laughed Peggy, as she gathered up her doll and ran out to play.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'E CROSSWORD PUZZLE

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NUMBER TEN—PRICKLES PORCUPINE SNEAKS OFF

The burglar alarm over the tub in Scrub-Up Land went "Brrrr! Brrrr! Tinkle, tinkle, tinkle, brrr!"

Rubadub jumped.

"Hey, Mister March Hare!" he called sharply. "Come back! Someone's trying to sneak off without getting spring-cleaned."

"You don't say so!" exclaimed the March Hare, who was just about to leave with the Twins in search of some more Meadow people to scrub up so they could go to the Land-Where-Spring-Is-Coming.

Spring was getting very near now, and there were still ever so many of them not finished.

"Whose number is it?" said the March Hare, looking over his spectacles at the little clock-shaped affair that told you whose house was being robbed—or at least whose front door was being opened without the fairyman knowing about it.

"I think it says 'Prickles Porcupine'," he remarked. "Come, Nick, and tell me whose burglar alarm is ringing. There it goes again. I can't see very well."

"It's Prickles Porcupine," said Nick.

"Prickles Porcupine!" cried Mister Rubadub and the March Hare together in none too pleased a voice, or rather none too pleased voices.

They both were thinking the same thing—that of all the people they had to barber, or bring to be barbered, Prickles was the very worst. Indeed he was just about as dreadful as anyone could possibly be.

Prickles appears to be just as soft and pleasant as a lamb to look at. His long brown hair lies down so flat and slick against his sides, that you never would dream that right under it is a whole coat of daggers.

Yes, sir! Stiff, sharp, spiny daggers! They grow out of his skin, too, like the brown hair, but oh, how different!

And if anything displeases his Royal Porcupiness, he just gives his skin a jerk and up go all his little quill daggers until, instead of a little lamb, he looks like a battleship with a thousand guns sticking out all over.

And then, woe betide anybody who comes near enough to touch him!

He just gives his tail a slap (all sticking full of jaggers just like the rest of his bristling body) and whomever he touches gets a lot of jaggers stuck into him and they won't come out!

So no wonder that Mister Rubadub and the March Hare were looking as though the world had turned a somersault.

"He ought to be spring-cleaned," said Rubadub. "Why don't you go and get him, Mister Hare?"

The March Hare rubbed his nose tenderly.

"I was just wondering," he said slowly, "if he's so very dirty. If he really needs spring-cleaning!"

"We'll get him," said Nick. "Nancy and I can get him in two minutes. He'll come for us, I'm sure. And Mister Rubadub can barber him."

It was Rubadub's turn to look thoughtful.

"I wonder if he is so very dirty?" he mused. "It might be that he didn't get so very dirty this winter after all. Maybe if he goes to the Land-Where-Spring-Is-Coming, he'll get caught in a shower. That would wash him off and he would do for another year."

"Why Mister Rubadub! And Mister Hare!" said Nancy in a shocked voice. "I do believe you two are afraid of Prickles Porcupine!"

Mister Rubadub began to fuss about busily. "Afraid! No such thing! But there isn't a bit of use trying to catch him now. It's quite ten minutes since the alarm rang."

"Not the least bit," the March Hare assured them. "It would be a waste of time!"

Weren't they the old scalawags though!

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

I read this the other day: "The longer man lives the less he uses his legs in walking."

Every grown person old enough to remember the world as it was before the automobile invention will recall how much more the legs were used for walking. I have in mind a town in the Middle West where all the business and professional men used to walk to the stores and offices.

Today it is a rare thing in that town for a man to walk to business. He cranks up the flivver or calls his chauffeur. Legs are not used for walking.

It is a pity the times have changed. I do not mean it is a pity the automobile was invented. On the contrary, I rejoice in its invention. It has killed the isolation which made life so gloomy for the country folks, especially the country women. It has added to the convenience and happiness of the human family.

But it is a pity that with the new conditions walking has become less common. There is no better exercise for anybody than brisk walking. To get out in the open means fresh air, deep breathing, firm muscles, red blood and good appetite.

There are plenty of apparently healthy persons who never walk if they can help it. But where physical indolence of this sort and apparent good health are associated, it is not difficult to find a reasonable explanation for the exception.

The purpose of all exercise is to make the breathing deeper and the heart's action more rapid. These stimulated functions cleanse the blood and send it in a powerful stream to every part of the body.

Once in a while you meet a person who is so full of enthusiasm and so pleasantly excited all the time over his work, that the heart is pounding fast all the time. This overflowing soul needs no special exercise to keep fit. The emotions do for these rare individuals what exercise is required to do for the rest of us.

The modern inventions—the electric street car, the motor bus and the automobile—have displaced the old-fashioned uses of the legs. The temptation is to ride instead of walking, even a few blocks.

I have told you before of my friend who calls a taxicab to ride the six blocks from his office to the gymnasium where he plays handball. He associates exercise with a sort of ceremonial. Plain, old-time walking with the legs is not exercise to him. There must be appropriate dress, sweater and shoes. No matter what the season is, outdoor walking should be practiced every day of the year. In the Winter when the snow is on the ground, in the Spring when the buds are swelling, in the cool mornings of the Summer, and in the glorious colors of Autumn, walking should be a real joy.

Most of the men and women of your acquaintance who have reached an unusual age will be found to be walkers. They have kept fit by daily exercise of this sort. You can do no better than to follow their sensible example.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

SUNDAY AND MONDAY, MAR 14 AND 15.

Sunday's horoscope is a most important one, forecasting a sudden change which may be radical in nature and of far-reaching benefits. Substantial growth with rewards in employment of advancement and financial success.

Those whose birthday it is are at the brink of a wonderful year, with important change and financial success with many splendid opportunities. A child born on this day will be well equipped for the splendid position in life ordained for it by important planets. It may travel afar.

Monday's astrological chart shows much activity, especially as applied to letters, contracts, etc., as well as in finances. Affairs of heart and home shall also prosper and bring happiness, but beware some duplicity.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a busy year, with new contracts and fortunate dealings with publishers, merchants, etc. It will also be a prosperous and happy year in all personal relations. A child born on this day will be clever, ambitious, popular and successful.

BETHEL NEWS.

BETHEL, March 12.—Mr. Fred Nelson of Norwood spent the week end at his home here.

M. J. Elmhirst, who has been visiting friends in the neighborhood, has returned to his home in the West.

Mr. S. Armstrong is able to be about again.

Mr. H. McKay, who has spent the past three weeks at Nicholls Hospital, is home and improving fast.

Clifford Fife of Norwood spent Sunday with his uncle, Mr. H. McKay.

Harry Garnett spent the past week in Peterboro on business.

Mr. E. Mann is installing a saw mill on his lot this week and expects to start sawing in a few days.

Miss G. Harper of Peterboro was the guest of Miss L. McKay on Saturday.

Perhaps you are trying to the pull to open the door to success when you should push ahead.

You know of its economy and convenience. Write The Borden Co. Limited, Montreal, for a free copy of the famous St. Charles Recipe Book. It gives dozens of tempting, simple recipes. We print a specimen recipe here.

Escalloped Macaroni with Cheese

1½ cupfuls Borden's St. Charles Milk.
3 cupfuls cooked, drained macaroni cut in two-inch lengths.
1¼ cupfuls grated cheese.
1½ tablespoonfuls flour.
1½ tablespoonfuls butter.
½ teaspoonful salt; scant 1/8 teaspoonful pepper.
Few grains paprika.

Make a white sauce of the flour, butter, seasonings and the milk undiluted. Stir in the macaroni. Thoroughly oil a rather shallow baking dish, put in a layer of the macaroni, then one of cheese, continuing in this way until all is used and making the last layer one of cheese. Bake in a moderate oven until browned, about 35 minutes.

CENTRE OF MUSIC IN PETERBORO' CONSERVATORY HAS DONE MUCH TO INCULCATE IN PEOPLE'S MINDS

Has Been Training Youth of City For 21 Years.

ITS PURPOSES.

Professor Gliddon Has Been Head of School From Start.

Peterborough has often been referred to as a "commercial" town, and the adjective, when used in this connection, has usually conveyed the somewhat contemptuous impression that it is a place devoted to pursuits which are the very antithesis of cultural subjects. But the city possesses a great many devotees of the musical art, enough to refute to a certain extent the reproach contained in such a phrase, and the hub of this musical appreciation and centre of instruction in the city for many years has been the subject of this article, the Peterborough Conservatory of Music. The many private teachers of different types of music do their bit to inculcate in the community and in the rising generation a love for music, but the nucleus of the music of the city is in the big red building at the top of the hill on Hunter Street. For twenty-one years the Conservatory has been training the youth of Peterborough in musical taste and ability, and it celebrated its coming of age on the 13th of February this year with a fine record of achievements in the musical line.

In the eight-page, small paper of that period, in a copy of "The Daily Examiner" of Tuesday, February 14th, 1905, appears a long account of the formal opening of the Conservatory of Music. The concert hall was built some three years later. R. M. Dennistoun, now Judge Dennistoun, resident in Western Canada, delivered the opening address in 1905, and Miss Alice Roger, now Mrs. Collins of Elora, acted as accompanist for the musical programme. In his remarks, Mr. Dennistoun summed up the objects of a Conservatory of Music as being: upon a system both logical and scientific.

(1) To afford musical instruction

(2) As part of such a system, to advance pupils in regular progression and to pay particular attention to individual pupils by means of a curriculum carefully prepared.

(3) To afford opportunities for musical intercourse, which tends to develop a lively interest in music itself. Playing in recital before audiences develops confidence and self-control, and exposes the pupil to educated criticism.

(4) To afford opportunity to many who have no particular talent for technical work, to master the theory and fundamental principles of music, and enable them to cultivate a musical taste, opening thereby great and delectable sources of improvement.

Some time in 1893, Professor Gliddon, the director of the Conservatory of Music, came to Peterborough and started classes in piano forte work. Later, he bought the old Lech property at the top of the Hunter Street hill and here, in 1905, the Conservatory of Music was formally opened, with a staff of teachers which included the well-known Herr August Wilhelmj, teacher of vocal culture, Miss Helen Davies, voice; Miss Estelle Foy, kindergarten; Mr. Gilbert Markle, violin; Mr. Harry Field, piano; Rev. E. A. Langfeldt, M.A., German: Mr. W. E. Fairclough, A.R.C.O., organ theory; Herr Heinrich Klingenfeld, violin; Miss Alice Roger, piano theory; Miss Wilhelmina Gumpricht, piano; Miss Amy K. Bennett, art; Miss Ivy Coventry, physical culture and Swedish gymnastics; Mr. Alfred Davies, piano and theory; Mr. E. W. Gibbs, clarinet and saxaphone; Mr. L. N. Watkins, mandolin, guitar and banjo, and Mr. J. V. Cusin, French and Italian.

During the successive years that have passed since its inception, with a steadily increasing patronage that has now brought up the weekly total of lessons given in this building to the sum of between six and seven hundred, the standard of instruction and the aims and ideals of the institution have always been of the best, the director striving at all times to give the highest possible type of musical grounding to the junior and senior pupils who come here for training. Among the distinguished members of the staff who have from time to time been added to its list of teachers have been Harry Field, teacher of piano, now resident in London, England; Mrs. Alice Roger Collins, the well-known composer pianiste of Elora, her present home; Miss Jennette Killmaster of Toronto, teacher of piano; Carlos Buhler, teacher of piano, now of London, England; Miss Lina Adamson, violiniste, of the staff of the Toronto Conservatory of Music; Mrs. Cameron Wilson, now of Ottawa, violinist, and daughter-in-law of Rev. J. P. Wilson, a former pastor of Trinity Church; Miss Laura Newman, pianist pupil of Leschetizky; August Wilhelmj and Henry Loutz, both outstanding instructors in vocal music; Miss Adelaide Heath of Toronto, elocutionist; Mrs. Pearl Burford Curtis of Toronto, pianiste; Mr. Earl Newton, pianist, now in charge of a School of Music in New York State, and Ferdinand Filion, violinist, now director of a Pittsburgh School of Music.

Distinguished pupils of the Conservatory of Music who have received their musical training within its walls and gone out to achieve distinction, include Mrs. Julia Choate Graham, violiniste, now resident in the West; the late Miss Gladys Seward, who went abroad to finish her musical tuition in Germany; Miss Agnes Logan, recently returned from a year's tuition in London, England; Miss Edwina Palmer, who received the groundwork of her training in violin work at the Conservatory, and gained her degree of L.R.A.M. at the Royal Academy, London, England; Miss Marguerite Burnett, violiniste, now in New York City, and Miss Kathleen Wallis, violiniste, now in Toronto.

To Professor and Mrs. Gliddon belongs the credit for the progress made by the Conservatory of Music in the past twenty years and the excellence of the tuition afforded its many pupils in that time. Mrs. Gliddon has kept an ever-vigilant eye on the various functions of the institution, and Professor Gliddon has used his talents for the furtherance of its musical pre-eminence and also in connection with other musical efforts of the city. The many presentations which have been made him during these years by various musical organizations bear mute testimony to the ability with which he has conducted many enterprises. As bandmaster of the 57th Regimental Band, he was favored for twenty years with an engagement for the band to play at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, the engagements lasting from one to three days, and on one occasion, had an eight-day engagement for the band at Scarboro beach. When Sousa and his famous band visited the city some years ago, Professor Gliddon was asked to conduct one of the numbers on the programme, and the same invitation was extended him by Herbert Clarke, who brought his band to Peterborough some years back.

Professor Gliddon was conductor of the choir of St. John's Anglican Church for a number of years, giving up the position to devote all his time to the direction of affairs at the Conservatory of Music. He was also director of the Madrigal Club of about sixty voices which took part in the Earl Grey competitions in music in Toronto, and produced at different times several operas and oratorios, including Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore" and "Trial by Jury," and the oratorio, "Queen Esther." For five years past, he has been one of the judges in the daily musical competitions at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto. For some time, he has devoted much of his energy to the building up of the Peterborough Symphony Orchestra, which is a development of the old Conservatory Orchestra. This is a splendid organization, which took part in the annual musical competitions at Massey Hall, Toronto, winning on its first appearance there, a challenge shield which also became its property the next year, along with a second shield and a second prize award.

The Conservatory of Music does not confine itself exclusively to musical advancement. Other kindred subjects have their home here. The list of teachers on the staff includes instructors in French, elocution, painting, modelling and wood carving, and there are also competent instructors in band and orchestral instruments. The staff at present includes several visiting teachers from the Toronto Conservatory of Music, with which the local Conservatory is affiliated, and is as follows:

Miss Jean Anderson, A.T.C.M., teacher of piano playing and theory; Mrs. W. McKee Bingham, teacher of elocution, dramatic and speech arts; Mrs. Pearl Burford Curtis, piano virtuoso, visiting artist teacher from the Toronto Conservatory of Music; Miss Bessie Elcome, A.T.C.M., teacher of piano and organ playing, theory, rudiments, history, harmony, counterpoint, form and sight singing, pupil of Healey Willen, Dr. H. A. Fricker, Ernest Seitz and Leo Smith; Miss Cameron Edwards, pupil of F. McGillivray Knowles, R.C.A., teacher of painting, modelling and wood carving; Miss Olga Fowler, A.T.C.M., teacher of piano playing and theory; Professor Rupert Gliddon, teacher of piano playing; Mr. Otto Gliddon, piano, visiting teacher from the Toronto Conservatory of Music; Mrs. W. A. Greenslade, teacher of piano, vocal and theory; Miss Mary Harstone, A.T.C.M., teacher of piano playing and theory; Miss Olive Johnston, A.T.C.M., teacher of piano, rudiments, harmony, counterpoint and form in composition, pupil of Frank Welsman and Dr. Healey Willen; Miss Mathilde Masson, teacher of vocal, piano and Meyrs method for children; Miss Isobel McKee, A.C.A.M. teacher of piano playing and theory; Mrs. Dorothy Allan Park, soprano soloist, St. Andrew's Church, artist pupil of Signor Giovanni Clerici of Florence, Italy, and Mr. Dalton Baker, of Toronto, teacher of singing; Miss Edwina Palmer, L.R.A.M., solo violinist, graduate of the Royal Academy, London, England, teacher of violin playing; Charles Peaker, Mus. Bac. A.T.C.M., pupil of Dr. Healey Willan, Dr. Ernest McMillan, Mr. Ernest Seitz, organist and choirmaster Knox Church, teacher of piano, organ and theory; Francis Sutton, A.T.C.M., A.R.C.M., pupil of Louis Kreidler, Carl Craven, Marinus Paulson, Chicago, organist and choirmaster Murray Street Baptist Church, teacher of violin, singing and sight singing; Miss Florence V. Saunders, A.C.A.M., teacher of piano playing; Mrs. Lois H. Winslow, pupil of Mr. W. O. Forsyth, teacher of piano playing and theory; Miss Elizabeth Webber, teacher of piano playing and theory; Madame Bonnaure Walsh, graduate, University of Paris, ex-secretary of the Minister of Commerce of France, teacher of French conversation; Mr. Harry Wagner, visiting teacher from Toronto, on the Hawaiian guitar, ukulele, and tenor banjo, teacher of dancing.

The Conservatory of Music has been responsible also for bringing to Peterborough many of the noted musical artists of Canada and the United States, giving opportunity to the residents from time to time to hear outstanding musicians who would in the ordinary course of events never visit the city.

YOUNGEST EXHIBITION MEMBER EXPRESSES APPROVAL OF FAIR IN MOST DECISIVE LANGUAGE

Jim Bond Replies "Oo!" To All Questions About Fair.

TWO YEARS OLD.

Smiling Youngster Is Not Reticent, Giving Long Interview.

Meet the youngest member of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition. His name is Jim Bond. He is two years old and already gives promise of taking an active part in the work of the Big Fair.

The Examiner, realizing that youth should interest itself in the development of the Exhibition, sent a reporter to interview the youngest member for the purpose of discovering what it was about the exhibition which appealed to Jim most strongly.

Not knowing the reception which he would be accordedd the reporter approached Jim's home with a circumspect air but at it developed the timidity was shared to a greate degree by the subject of the interview. Jim didn't want to talk. Instead he grasped his mama' dress, and feignedly seeking protection from the shell fire of questions which the reporter asked.

The reporter saw that he had adopted the wrong tactics. He had not sized up his prospect correctly. On being informed that Jim had cut his finger on a big sharp knife, the reporter proceed from a new angle. "Did oo tut ums finger?" he articulated in an effort to recall a lost language.

Jim responded. Here was something he understood. He held out the finger for inspection, and it was examined with grave concern. Jim's countenance relaxed and his big brown eyes regarded the reporter with slightly abated suspicion. Finally he cast all objections to the winds and permitted the inquisitive man to hold him on his knee.

DELIGHTED WITH FAIR.

JIM BOND
Youngest member of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition.

The reporter seized the opportunity: "What induced you to become a member of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition?"

Jim pondered this query for some time, then brightened up.

"Oo"! he declared.

"Have you seen in the exhibitions which you have attended anything which would indicate that years of expansion and progress lie ahead"

The youngest member did not pause to consider and his reply had that spontaneous quality which indicates thorough conviction. One could see that his belief in the future of the Peterborough Fair must have been based on substantial knowledge. Emphatically and decidedly he said "Oo!" and his face radiated with an expansive and confident smile.

The reporter wanted Jim's "opinion" about the exhibition. The reporter's knowledge of child language was fast returning to him so that he experienced little difficulty in translating the next "Oo." He discovered Jim thought that the fair was probably Peterboro's greatest asset, and that it was performing a great function in effecting a closer relationship between rural and urban dwellers. Jim was saying that the exhibition promoted better farm stock and improved machinery.

Following the above lengthy expression Jim's stock of patience was becoming visibly exhausted. The reporter knew the signs; he could tell that if Jim had been 10 years older the interview would probably have ended long before this. He could read in Jim's movement a burning desire to kick the questioner through the portal.

So the reporter stood not on the order of his going, but went, pocketing his pencil and notes as he fled, intact.

To sensible man there is no such thing as chance.—Tieck.

RUTH'S SHOWING WORRIES YANKS

But Supporters Say He Has Not Yet Hit His Stride.

BRAVES IMPRESS.

NEW YORK, March 13 (Canadian Press).—The failure of Babe Ruth so far to show anything approaching his old-time clouting consistency in the training camp battles is beginning to worry the Yankees' followers.

The big fellow's more ardent supporters feel that it is too early to become alarmed; that it is only a question of time before the Yankee star strikes his real stride.

The entire and highly-touted slugging cast of the Yankees thus far has not distinguished itself, judging from reports. Tony Lazerri, the Coast League cannonader and infield candidate, is playing second fiddle for the present, while Mark Koenig occupies the shortstop post and Spencer Adams plays the keystone bag.

While these mournful notes are being struck by Yankee correspondenrs, reports from the camps of other clubs which occupied second division depths in 1925 are more encouraging. This is especially true of two National League trailers of last season, the Boston Braves and Phillies. Under the hustling leadership of Dave Bancroft and Art Fletcher, two former lieutenants of John McGraw, these clubs are convincing observers they will be stronger pennant factors than was anticipated.

MARMORA HOCKEY.

Scratch Game Between Fats and Leans.

MARMORA, March 12th. — The return hockey fixture between the Fats anc the Leans took place on the local arena on Thursday night. Four periods extending for ten minutes each, were played.

The Leans turned the tables on their opponents in winning by four goals to nil, each goal coming from the stick of Earl O'Connor, a past hockey player of note. His goals were evenly divided between the first first two periods. The Leans throughout showed superior speed, and many good shots apart from the successful ones, were peppered in. The Fats looked looked like scoring in the final period but what was doubtless over-eagerness spoiled the attempt on a couple of occasions.

Mr. William Flynn, Junior, was in charge of the game to the satisfaction throughout of the rivals. The teams were as follows:

Marmora was unable to raise a team to play in Tweed on Wednesday evening, much to the regret of the sporting fraternities of both towns.

EXCITINNG CONTEST.

PITSTBURGH, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Pittsburgh subdued Boston here last night in a hard fought contest 2 to 1. Darragh netted the winning goal after 11.51 minutes of the sudden death overtime period.

The Pirates gained an early advantage when McCurry scored a goal in the opening session, but the Bruins pulled up on even terms in the second period, Hitchman scoring the goal.

OMEMEE TEAM WON.

Defeated Dunsford Players By 6 1.

OMEMEE, March 12.—On Wednesday night, the Omemee hockey sextette defeated the Dunsford boys to the tune of 6 to 1. It was a fast game, replete with spills due to the heavy body check handed out. As this was Dunsford's return game, there was a fair crowd out to see the fracas. The fastest hockey was played in the first and last periods, there being no score in the first stanza and one all in the second. In the third period, Omemee scored five clever counters through combination work and several good individual rushes.

For Omemee G. Morton, N. Clemett and J. Crafton scored, while M. Board scored for Dunsford.

The line-up was as follows.

Dunsford—Eberts goal; M. Board and O. Board, defence; Thurston and Arnott, wings; Hudson, centre; Kennedy, sub.

Omemee.—S. Tripp, goal; A. Clemett and L. Adams, defence; J. Crafton and G. Morton, wings; N. Clemett, centre; A. Stephenson, C. Mackey, W. Morton, subs.

EXHIBITS OWN HORSES.

Lucille McRae of Vancouver, B.C. is only 13 years of age, but that did not prevent her from exhibiting her own horses at the Oakland, California, horse show. She drives her small hackneys tandem, four-in-hand, rides gaited horses and puts her jumpers over the high hurdles.

HOCKEY SCORES.

Hockey games played last night resulted as followa:

National League.
Pittsburgh 2, Boston 1.
(12 mins. overtime).

Memorial Cup Elimination.
Kingston 11, Sons of Ireland 6.

Western League.
Victoria 3, Saskatoon 3. (Tie).

Intermediate Intercollegiate.
R.M.C. 2, McMaster 0.

Central U. S. A. H. A.
Soo 4, Duluth 8.
10 mins. overtime.

TENNIS FINAL TO-DAY.

Miss Wills Meets Boston Opponent.

NICE, France, March 13 (Canadian Press).—In the finals of the Nice tennis tournament today Miss Helen Wills of California will meet Miss Isabella Lee Mumford, of Boston.

In a one-sided match yesterday the California girl eliminated Mme. Peterie of Hungary, 6-2, 6-2.

The outcome of the other semi-finals match between Miss Mumford and Mis. Eilean Bennett of England was something of a surprise, for although the New England girl has played at Wimbledon, her game was not considered strong enough to overcome Miss Bennett. Using a slow stroke, which apparently puzzled Miss Bennett, Miss Mumford succeeded in winning the match, 4-6, 6-4, 6-0.

BIG CURLING BONSPIEL COMMENCES MONDAY

Seconds and Leads in Competition—A Great Curling Event.

Never in the history of Curling in Peterboro has there been as much interest taken in that grand old game as there has been this season. The committee in charge this year have had numerous competitive games, which have kept up the interest in the sport. The latest one now to be held is the Seconds and Leads' big bonspiel, commencing on Monday night. Not a skip or vice-skip will be in action and there is bound to be some great curling when the fellows who believe they are the backbone of the rinks get going.

COBOURG, March 13.—Cobourg curlers are finishing up the last of the curling events and one of these that has just been completed was the vice-skips' bonspiel. W. Arnold Staples' rink won from Lt.-Col. A. E. Hopper's rink by a score of 14-5.

The first rink was O. F. Allison, Chas. Swaddling, Jack Delaney, Arnold Staples, skip

Their opponents were W. Allen, Stuart Jacobs, Bert Kernaghan, A. E. Hopper, skip.

MILLBROOK, March 13. — A rink of Millbrook curlers went to Orillia on Friday to compete for the Carew Cup, losing out by only three points, the score being 15-12.

Those going were J. Steele, skip, Ross Edmunds, W. G. Hetherington, and H. B. Allen.

It will be recalled that Millbrook won the cup last season, but held it only about two weeks, when Stouffville defeated them on their own ice. The local rink won from a rink of the Granite Club, Toronto. R. H. Edmunds skipped on that occasion, the others being H. J. Grassett, W. E. Ball and G. W. Sayles.

Inside Sporting Dope

By A Wise Cracker

Somewhere in Ontario with the Petes,
Mar. 10.

Mister Sporting Editor:

Me and the rest of the gang has done so much cheering since Tues. night that even my fountain pen is hoarse. However, I'm taking time between train jumps to drop you a line as to the general situation. This travelling around with a championship hockey team don't leave none too much time for correspondence, for they is only one thing that can move faster than the Petes and that is the Allan cup people when it comes to scheduling play-off games. Those birds seem to think that a team oughta to be able to play about 6 nights a week and a occasional matinee, and so the Petes has marching orders to hike to Niagara Falls for a game Thurs. with the New Hamburg steaks, then back to Andy Taylor's ice palace for the 2nd tilt Sat., which means me and the rest of the crew ain't going to enjoy no home cooking until along about Sun., and a long, long trail ahead after that if the Petes put away the Hamburgers, because a serious with Varsity follows right along next week. It looks like a tough deal to stake the winners of 3 hard serious right in against the fresh students, but hockey is supposed to be a winter game and they naturally want to get the Allan cup pawned off on somebody before the Toronto Leafs open their new ball park.

I suppose, Mister Sporting Editor, the old town busted wide open Tues. night when the final figgers come in. Believe me, it ought to, because these lads in the blue sweaters is a bunch of battling babies what would do any community proud. No lounge lizzard of a team could of taken this London outfit, and take it from me, they took some taking in the Tues. battle, because Mister Bill Marsden's lads was wearing no hobbles in that red-hot argument, and they had the backing of 4,000 of the loudest voiced fans what I ever had the pleasure of hearing. That new arena of Mister Goldie Prodgers seemed to sway when the mob gave tongue, but there was a pleasing lull through most of the 3rd period when it could be seen with the nude optic by the most greenest of fans that it was all over but finding just who and where the Petes played next.

BOUQUETS FOR THE GANG.

All the gang deserve a whole florist shop of bouquets for what they have did in this London serious. With Mister Parker out altogether and Mister Collins sick in the 1st game and Messrs. Bogardis and Rose sick Tues. night, the Petes was under a handicap all through, but that bunch of fighters just refused to curl up. Mister Dwyer's work in both games was the elephant's bathrobe, the cat's piejamas and the whole issue, and believe me, if the talkative Joseph had been even a shade off colour the Petes might be home now reading about the Raven-Hamburg steaks clash. And the rest of the gang was great all the time and everywhere. They're real champs these blue shirters, and one guy the fans shouldn't overlook is Mr. Eddie Wright, which is the bird responsible for getting this team together, keeping them together and piloting them through to a championship. He had a man sized job. I hope to tell you Peterboro shouldn't be backward in letting him know they appreciate what he has did.

Before I forget it, I want to say right now that the Petes owes a vote of thanks to the bird what presented Capt. Starkings of the Ravens with a floral horseshoe just before the battle began. The crowd cheered the presentation, but wise old owls settled back to watch the jinx work. Did it work? Well, you may have noticed as how Mister Frankie Collins lobbed a soft goal by Mister Alfie Moore just 5 seconds after she started. And for fear the floral horseshoe wouldn't work, some other good friend of the Petes hung a real one over the London net. No wonder the Ravens croaked.

THAT KREUSCHEN FEELING.

After you have been nosed out 2 years hand running ain't it a grand and glorious feeling to come through with a championship? It ain't exactly a new experience for some of the boys. Mister Bert McLeod figgered on 3 intermediate and a inter-collegiate title. Mister Dwyer goalied for Sarnia when they win the intermediate, and Mister Parker was with the Hamilton intermediate champs. It was the 1st senior title for all of them, however, and the 1st of any kind for the rest of the bunch, and if they was any happier nine hockey players anywhere in Canada Tues. they must have been right off their noodles. There is the right spirit among them lads, and anybody which watched them rush over and clap the fellow which scored on the back didn't need to be told that. They was still thumping Mister Collins as he come back from that record 1st goal before the London crowd hardly knew the game was on.

The boys is Wednesdaying in London and Toronto, and the schedule calls for a jump to the Falls Thurs.—not this time, like last year and the year before, to play Gene Fraser and Co., but to clash with a new enemy, New Hamburg. It oughta to make a great serious and everybody around the honeymoon peninsula will be out to see the 1st game.

Sportfully yours,
A. WISE CRACKER.

SINCLAIR LAIRD ISSUE CHALLENGE.

Dean Sinclair Laird of MacDonald College has agreed to back up his recent statement to the press that persons desiring can make a comprehensive trip across Canada and back for no more than $330 by chartering a special train for the purpose of accommodating all those who may be inclined to accept his challenge. He averts that the trip, which provides for stop-overs at all points of interest between Toronto and Victoria, westbound via the Okanagan Lake and eastbound by the main line, including rail and water transportation, meals, accommodation and all other expenses can be made as comprehensive as could possibly be desired, and he is prepared to accept the amount stated, $330 as a blanket charge for all expenses.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, which is interested in several all-expense tours this season, is acting as his booking agent. Dean Laird plans to leave Toronto July 19. The route he has planned is via Port Arthur and Fort William, Winnipeg Beach, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Banff, to Windermere across the Rockies by auto, to Kootenay Landing thence by steamer to Nelson and through the Doukhabour country to Hope and Vancouver. The return from Victoria will be made via the Selkirks and Rockies and stop-overs have been arranged, among other places, at Lake Louise and Devil's Gap Camp, Kenora. A trip across the Great Lakes to Port McNicoll, thence rail to Toronto will terminate the excursion.

Dean Laird contends that this trip wilu not be an experiment as he has made two previous trips of like nature as organizer of teachers' tours. This trip he is throwing open to all and sundry, the only stipulation being that members of the special train party be chosen as being compatible with the whole.

Apply Dean Laird, MacDonald College, Ste Anne de Bellevue, or any Canadian Pacific Agent.

SPORTS NIGHT AT LAKEFIELD

Louis Sabatino Won Two Mile Race — Crowd Was Record.

BARREL JUMPING.

LAKEFIELD, March 13.—The annual sports night at the Lakefield skating rink, held under the auspices of the Rink Company on Thursday evening, broke all records and was a success in every respect. More than four hundred people were present, and, judging from the number of entries and the applause and the comments of the spectators, everyone was more than satisfied with the splendid programme. Every race was well contested, but the married ladies' skating race which was omitted, as there was only one entry.

The men's two-mile race was very interesting and brought out ten entries, and of these five finished, Louis Sabatino winning the race, with G. H. Loosemore second.

The barrel jumping contest was something new in the village, and brought out eight entries. The barrels were laid side by side and each man jumped one; another barrel was added after each trial till a total of eight barrels was the obstacle to be cleared. Jack Ridpath was the winner of this event. Among the runners-up who were notable were Fred Webster, Sam Trude, Wes. Cummings, Tom Hampton and Bill Hamblin. Babe Wannamaker, the midget hockey star, went over like a bird till the sixth barrel was added.

The most unique race and one which was the most amusing, was the dog race. The prize was a handsome silver cup, and six boys and their dogs entered. The dogs were harnessed to sleighs, and drew their young masters, who proudly lined up at the judges' call. The entries were: Elwood Bickell and "Trapper," Harding Stuart and "Bobs," Clarence Payne and "Laddie," George Wannamaker and "Sport, White and "Wolfe," and Charlie Tanner and "Cheekapor." Three times round was the course, and all got off to a good start, but alas! for human hopes, the dogs had evidently not grasped the importance of the event, and few turned the first corner, but apparently preferred the centre of the ice. They were constantly being set back in the course by their masters, but in the meantime Elwood Bickell and "Trapper" were making the rounds and won the race, the silver cup, and the greatest amount of applause given any winner, and that is saying something, as every winner was applauded to the echo.

Skating Races.

Boys, 12 years and under—Holly Jewell—quarter mile.

Girls, 12 years and under — Dorothy Sutton—quarter mile.

Boys, 16 years and under—G. H. Loosemore—half mile.

Girls, 16 years and under — Mae Irwin—half mile.

Married men's race — Braden Blewett—one mile.

Partners' race—Evelyn Northey and Jack Ridpath—half mile.

Men's race—Louis Sabatino—two miles.

Barrel jumping—Jack Ridpath.

Dog race — Elwood Bickell and "Trapper."

Foot Races.

Boys, 16 and under—G. H. Loosemore—quarter mile.

Men's race—Jack Ridpath — half mile.

After the races the Grove and the Rink Rats played "Broom-a-loo" for two ten-minute periods, with Braden Blewett handling the bell. The game is similar to hockey, but is played with brooms and a football, and provides thrills and laughs in abundance. Last year the game was played without skates, but was much better in every respect this year. The score was 2-0 for the Rats, Northey and Stabler doing the scoring. The boys played a splendid game, and the teams were well matched.

The following is the line-up:

Rink Rats—Goal, W. Hamblin; defence, Ridpath and Sherin; centre Wannamaker; wings, Northey and H. Hamblin; subs., Stabler and Junkin.

Grove — Goal, Moore; defence, Loosemore and Pullen; centre, Hudson; wings Griffiths and Cockburn; sub., Strickland.

After the game the prizes were presented to the winners of the races by Mr. E. W. Bailey, president of the Rink Company, and for the remainder of the evening the ice was open for skating, and a large number took advantage of the opportunity afforded.

This is the fifth season of the new rink, and Thursday night stands out among the red letter nights in the history of the rink and the village.

ONTARIO BALL LEADERS BUSY

Annual Meeting of O. B. A. A. Will Be Held in Early April.

THREE WEEKS TO-DAY.

Baseball is on the way, according to a bulletin issued by the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association, which announces the annual meeting of the Ontario body on Saturday, April 3rd. Hockey is occupying the attention of Peterborough fans just now, but some interest is being shown in the summer pastime, and there will be plenty of baseball here this coming summer. The O.B.A.A. bulletin says:

The constitution and by-laws provide that notice of any proposed alteration or amendment, as well as all nominations for the officers and the executive of the association must be filed with the secretary of the association, in writing, at least two weeks prior to the annual meeting. The date by which such notices must be filed will, therefore, be Saturday, March 20, 1926.

As all are aware, the Executive is guided by the constitution and by-laws in all decisions and rulings. Many times during the year, League or club officers have asked that special exceptions be granted in their cases, viz.: Residence of players, play-off games, time limit for signing players, third game rule, etc., etc., but the Executive were forced to refuse such requests simply because they did not have the power to act. It is therefore earnestly requested that affiliated leagues submit any alteration or amendment that they may deem in the best interests of the Association.

Among others, the following matters were brought up at the semi annual meeting in November. Thes, should be sponsored by the leagues interested and brought up for discussion:

(1) Sudden death games in all minor series.

(2) Minors—New age limit of 21 years, 18 years and 16 years.

(3) Time limit for calling all twilight games.

(4) Later date for declaring a winner in the minor series.

(5) New certificates to embody a declaration of continuous residence, also date of birth.

(6) Certain intermediate leagues which should be classed as seniors.

1925 Champions.

LESS GASOLINE

with the Famous Valve-in-Head Motor of the Better McLAUGHLIN-BUICK

FOR over seventeen years the McLaughlin-Buick Valve-in-Head motor has proved its worth to owners. A positive proof that the Valve-in-Head principle is correct.

The net result of the Valve-in-Head construction is more perfect combustion than any other type of motor—less loss of heat resulting in greater power with less gasoline consumption.

Improved carburetion and manifolding has contributed to the increase in power in the Master Six, which is 75 h.p.; and Special Six, 60 h.p.

Only when you have driven the Better McLaughlin-Buick will you realize fully the power—speed—and inexpensive performance—one of the many reasons for the popularity of McLaughlin-Buick.

The new low GMAC financing rates are available to purchasers of McLaughlin-Buick on time.

Rendezvous of Old-Time Printers is Hive of Wisdom

2. Girl employees of union await movie camera men on banks of the lily-pond, Typograhpical Terrace.
3. South tower of the Union Printers Home, Colorado Springs, Colo.
4. "Dad" Holland, comedian, in the Typographical Union's motion picture, "His Brother's Keeper."
5. Old-time hand typesetting contest at the Union Printers' Home.

Picturesque figures and quaint characters abound in the motion picture, "His Brother's Keeper," produced by the International Typographical Union, which will be shown at the Regent Theatre here next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday as a special added atraction.

Old-time printers, now residents of the Union Printers Home in Colorado Springs, included globe-trotters of the Victorian era, gold-rush pioneers, men who set Colonel Watterson's copy, men who knew Dana, McCullagh, Bret Harte, Mark Twain and Eugene Field not to mention a few who saw Lincoln.

Any historian who wants facts from eyewitnesses may call at the Home to find out what stroke won the Civil War, who hit Billy Patterson, or who turned in the alarm on the Chicago fire. Men of retentive memories, who, as printers, helped to illuminate world events over three-quarters of a century, and, as "tourists," visited nearly every city and hamlet in the country, now rest in the shade at the Home, disputing and exchanging eminiscences.

Unexpected supplies of histrionic talent were discovered at the Home in the course of the motion picture's filming. In one scene veteran typesetters engaged in an old-fashioned "handset" contest, using the stick and rule, indispensable to the trade from the days of Gutenberg until the invention of typesetting machines. Rheumatic old fingers proved they had not entirely lost their cunning.

The motion picture opens with scenes laid at Typographical Terrace, headquarters of the Typographical Union, in which employes including charming stenographers, took part.

INTERNATIONAL GAME.

GLASGOW, March 13.—(Canadian Press.) — The English team won the Inter-League soccer match with Scotland to-day by two goals to nil.

These matches were started in 1892 and of the series played between England and Scotland the former has won eighteen, the latter seven, while six have been drawn. The Irish League also figures in the games.

MIDGET LEAGUE.

On account of not being able to get the Chamber of Commerce, the meeting for presentation of cups and shields by Hon. G. N. Gordon and Mayor Holloway will be postponed until further notice.

CURLING

A curling tournament took place last night at the curling rink. Five rinks from the Lawn Bowlers challenged five "All Comer" rinks, the losing rinks to donate a bag of flour to the St. Vincent orphanage. Mr. R. F. Downey, the esteemed president of the curling club, after having played many games this season, in which he showed much stratagem, was on the low end of the score sheet, 22-12. Although James Bacon of the "Lawn Bowlers" and his rink of noteworthies lost their game, the result does not indicate the mode of play used by the said gentlemen. Les Turner's rink usually got the wrong "turn" on the stone, as the result of their game indicates.

It is rumoured that as a result of the game between Alex. Kay and James Seymour all other bets are called off. When the points for each side were added up, it was found that the "All Comers" had to donate the bag of flour.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Colliers' Magazine.

GENE SARAZEN — LEARN BY WATCHING EXPERTS.

I also make this suggestion to all who are aiming to improve their game any time you go out to watch a star in action, don't merely follow the flight of the ball. Watch how the star addresses the ball, how he grips the club, how he takes the club back and how he follows through. Note the manner in which he hits all his shots.

You will find yourself assimilating knowledge of his game so rapidly you will have to discard most of that knowledge and use only that which can be fitted into your own game. That's what I have done and am doing constantly.

I began caddying when I wasn't more than nine years old. However, I never had a club of my own until I was 13. George Hughes was at that time caddiemaster of the Apawamis Club of Rye. He gave me a brassie one day, and for the rest of the season I put in many an hour hitting the ball with that club.

Before I got possession of the brassie I used a shinny stick with which I struck at every object in sight.

NATALIE HAS BACKGROUND
By Russell J. Birdwell.
NEA Service Writer.

HOLLYWOOD, March 12.—Blue blooded ancestry and the romance of early California form a background for Natalie Kingston, who in two years has become one of the screen's reigning beauties.

She is a direct descendant of Gen. M. G. Vallejo, the first governor of California. Her family tree also includes Agoston Haraszthy, who brought the wine grape from Hungary to California. Her father was an Englishman, Sigard Kingston.

Miss Kingston ran away from school to join the dance team of Franchon and Marco. She was soon a featured dancer and spent a year at the New York Winter Garden. She was "discovered" by Mack Sennett, and now is to have a leading part in Raymond Griffith's Paramount picture, "Wet Paint."

AT THE REGENT

FILM VERSION OF KATHLEEN NORRIS NOVEL IS COMING.

"Rose of the World" Has Patsy Ruth Miller as Heroine.

Kathleen Norris's popularity as a novelist is so unquestionably established that a picturization of one of her books is always considered in the nature of a treat by picture-goers. Her novels are equally popular in photoplay form because her characters are vital and true to life and her plots absorbing and thoroughly plausible. She writes of real people with real problems and "Rose of the World," produced by Warner Bros. and opening at the Regent Theatre on Monday, is said to be one of her finest and most dramatic stories, lending itself admirably to screen production.

This dramatic romance concerns the love affair between Rose Kirby (Patsy Ruth Miller) and Jack Talbot (Alan Forrest); she poor but lovely, he wealthy and socially prominent. When his scheming mother (Helen Dunbar) breaks off their engagement, and marries him off to little Edith Rogers (Pauline Garon), Rose furiously vows to be revenged. In pique and loneliness she marries Clyde Bainbridge (Rockliffe Fellows), the manager of the Talbot Works, but her marriage, like Jack's, is an unhappy one.

Bainbridge is obsessed with the search for a missing contract which will make Rose mistress of the works, and his insane greed repells his wife. When the contract finally is found, and a means of revenge lies in her hand, she cannot bear to hurt the man she had once loved. From this point on the story takes an unexpected turn, showing the skill of the author who knows human nature in all its weakness and all its strength.

FIRE DESTROYS BUSINESS BLOCK WITH BIG LOSS

McIrvine Block at Galt Totally Destroyed By Fire To-day.

NEW STRUCTURE.

Firemen Have Hard Struggle Saving Other Buildings.

GALT, Mar. 13 (Canadian Press). —The combined efforts of the Galt and Preston fire departments finally subdued and brought under control under difficulties, accentuated by sub zero weather, a fire which was discovered at 4 o'clock this morning, and which totally destroyed the McIrvine block, with damage estimated at between $100,000 and $150,000, and threatened for a time to extend much further into Galt's business district.

The McIrvine block was a comparatively new structure. On the first floor were the Loblaw store, F. N. Couch and Co., J. F. Cairns and Co., and other premises. Upstairs the Galt Chamber of Commerce, a local euchre club, various dentist and other offices were quartered. The losses in all cases will be heavy, though largely covered by insurance.

The May Queen Carnival to be put on by the Kiwanis Club of Peterborough promises to be one of the most spectacular events ever presented here. The young lady making the best record in a competition to be announced later will be made Queen of the May, and the runners-up will be her attendants. Beautiful costumes will be provided and there will be a body guard and a pretty pageantry, followed by a May Pole dance. Dates have not been definitely decided, but it is expected that the event will be held around May 24, which is the earliest date when good weather can be expected. The festival and ceremony will be free to all.

Speakers at Kiwanis luncheons this year have been of outstanding character. At next Friday's luncheon the Boy Scout Commissioner will be present, and as the Kiwanis Club has taken a great interest in the movement locally, considerable significance attaches to the visit.

The attendance competition is in full swing, and yesterday the extra tables were under requisition. The bright and instructive character of the luncheons warrants a hundred per cent. attendance every week.

MOON MAY BE TRIED AT AUTUMN ASSIZES

Charge of Murdering Clayton McWilliams May Be Traversed.

BELLEVILLE, March 13 (Canadian Press). — David Arthur Moon may be tried at the assizes here in the autumn on the charge of murdering Clayton McWilliams on April 6, 1925. Yesterday afternoon, Mr. Justice E. Kelly granted the motion of County Crown Attorney Donnan to traverse the murder charge, at the request of Crown Counsel J. A. Munro, who went to Toronto last night in connection with the case. This motion was made without prejudice to the defence counsel's application to hold hearing of arguments, probably in Toronto, tending to show that proceedings in a further trial of murder are unnecessary.

OBITUARY.

FUNERAL AT TRENTON MONDAY AFTERNOON.

The death occurred yesterday in Chatham of Rev. W. H. Dafoe, former pastor of Bethany, aged 63 years. He was a son of the late W. S. Dafoe, of Norwood.

He leaves a sorrowing wife, one daughter, Beryl, and one son, Clifford, of Chatham, also his mother, two brothers, J. H. Dafoe of Oakland, Calif., and F. V. Dafoe, Indianapolis, Ind., and two sisters, Mrs. A. A. Torrance, Peterborough, and Mrs. A. A. Lyman, of Downer's Corners. Funeral at Trenton on Monday afternoon.

MRS. ANTHONY RANKIN

CAMPBELLFORD, March 13—The funeral of the late Mrs. Anthony Rankin, who died at her home at Collins Bay early Sunday morning, took place on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Rankin was a Presbyterian in religion, later going into the Union with her church. The services were held at the home at two o'clock and were taken by Rev. Mr. Sisco of Renfrew, who is a friend of the family, and Rev. Mr. Cooper, pastor of the church. The pall-bearers were all members of the legislature of which Mr. Rankin is a member. Interment was made in Cataraqui cemetery. The chief mourners present were her husband and two children, her father, Alexander Innis of Crow Bay, two sisters, Mrs. Robert Linn of Menie and Mrs. Thomas Dunk of Crow Bay, and her brother, Hugh Innis of Campbellford. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful. Besides flowers from the immediate family, Premier Ferguson sent a wreath and the Legislature a pillow.

The late Mrs. Rankin was a great church worker, was prominently connected with Women's Institute work and was a tireless worker in aiding her husband in his political campaigns.

MRS. JAMES O'CONNELL.

(Contributed).

With the passing of Mrs. James O'Connell, one of the most exemplary mothers of the age passes. After a short illness she departed most peacefully at her home, 587 Armour Road, on Friday, March 12, at 10.30 p.m.

The late Mrs. O'Connell was born in Limerick, Ireland. She was a mere child, the youngest of a large family who came to Canada many years ago. Little Catherine was indeed the favorite of the flock, and her life in this city of Peterborough, where she had resided ever since, has indeed been a potent example of the good woman that the Bible describes as 'The gem brought from afar.'

She received her first Holy Communion, was confirmed and married at St. Peter's Cathedral.

She had eight children, three boys and five girls, seven of whom grew to manhood and womanhood.

Her greatest ambition was to have her children educated, and that she accomplished nobly, and many a time has she been quoted as a stimulus to mothers in bringing up their children.

She was possessed of a wonderful courage that carried her most successfully through all life's vicissitudes.

Her fine thrift and business ability, her keen intuition and her decisiveness of character, her tolerance, her guilelessness, and her simple and unwavering faith in God, were some of the other virtues she possessed in a high degree.

Her intellect was bright and keen, and she was always interested in the current events. Her disposition was ever cheerful, and she loved the society of young folk, in fact she herself never grew old.

She was a firm believer in St. Paul's words, "In all labor there is profit," for she loved work and reaped the benefits thereof far beyond her most sanguine expectation.

Her kingdom was her home, and while fidelity to duty always came first, she was possessed of so many natural gifts, that she always found time for the wholesome amusements of life, music, singing and dancing, and many were the pretty gems of poetry that she had at her disposal, of which the following might be appropriately quoted here:

"Do they miss me at home, do they miss me,
At morning, at noon, or at night,
Or linger one gloomy shade round them,
That only my presence can light.

Are joys less invitingly welcome,
Or pleasures less hale than before,
Because I am missed from their circle,
Because I am with them no more.

Do they set me a chair near the table,
When evening's home pleasures are nigh,
When candles are lit in the parlor
And stars in the calm azure sky.

And when the good-nights are repeated,
And all lay them down to their sleep,
Do they whisper good-night I am with them,
Do they whisper good-night whilst I sleep?"

Her husband, one daughter, Catherine, and one son predeceased her.

She leaves to mourn her loss two sons and four daughters: John T. and Jas. S. of Peterboro, Mary A. O'Connell, B.A., of Peterborough; Elizabeth O'Connell, B.A., Ottawa, and Marguerite E. O'Connell, M.A., of Toronto.

The funeral will take place from her late residence, 587 Armour Road, on Monday, March 15, at 9.30 a.m., to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, and thence to St. Peter's Cemetery.

CHARLES BRADY.

MARMORA, March 13. — On Sunday morning last, a former respected resident of Marmora township passed away in Toronto in the person of Mr. Charles Brady. Death was the result of a paralytic seizure the previous day. The late Mr. Brady spent the major portion of his life in this community, moving about twenty years ago to Orillia and later to Toronto. He passed away in the seventieth year of his age. His wife predeceased him several years ago. He is survived by two daughters, Jane and Mary and also by two brothers, James of Marmora and Patrick, resident in British Columbia. The funeral service, which was held in St. Helen's church, Toronto, on Tuesday morning, was attended by Mr. and Mrs. James Brady and son Eugene of this town, who left for the city on Monday.

R. A. CAMPBELL.

Mr. R. A. Campbell of Keene, passed away at 11 o'clock noon today.

The funeral will take place on Monday at 2 p.m., from the Keene United Church (Presbyterian.)

FRANCES NICKAWA.

Many Peterboro residents will be delighted to again have the opportunity of hearing Miss Frances Nickawa, the Cree Indian entertainer, who has just returned from a world tour. Miss Nickawa left Toronto in July, 1923, travelled 600 miles by canoe among her own people, the Crees, and, proceeding westward, reached Australia in March, 1924. She was taken up by the Rotarians to such effect that her stay was prolonged from six to fifteen months. Since Miss Nickawa's return to Canada she has been enthusiastically received by large audiences in our leading cities, particularly Toronto.

Miss Nickawa will be a guest of our Rotary Club at luncheon Tuesday next, and is giving an entertainment in Trinity Church in the evening. 1d-62-692

OPTIMISM EXPRESSED BY FRENCH ALTHOUGH SERIOUS SITUATION IS EXPRESSED BY ALL NEWSPAPERS

Even Echo de Paris, Which Belittles League, Admits Danger to France.

"DON'T LOSE HOPE."

French Premier Says Allies Have Conference With Germans To-day.

PARIS, March 13. Canadian Press. —French opinion refuses to believe the Geneva situation altogether hopeless. It feels that Premier Briand's great diplomatic powers, stimulated by the danger of seeing his master work, started at Locarno, destroyed, in the end will find a compromise. There is no disposition on the part of the newspapers to disguise the serious situation for France. Even organs such as the Echo de Paris, which generally belittle the league, and all its works, admit that France is in considerable danger of seeing its prestige badly damaged.

DON'T LOSE HOPE.

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 13. —Canadian Pres — "Don't lose hope," said one Frenchman to-day, in discussing events in Geneva which threaten to destroy the whole fabric of European conciliation and imperil the future of the League of Nations. That the rupture of negotiations with Germany on the council membership question, is not yet a certainty was evidenced by Premier Briand's announcement that he and his allied friends "were going to have another cup of tea" with the German statesmen this afternoon. Should the last minute attempts to find a solution fail there is a possibility that the entire problem will be turned over to the Assembly for discussion of the practicability of adjourning the question of Germany's entrance into the league to a later date.

Meanwhile the Assembly to-day held a brief session and voted without a dissenting voice, to erect a magnificent assembly hall on the shore of Lake Leman, and likewise a new league secretariat, the whole to cost 17,000,000 Swiss francs, which would be lightened by the sale of the present headquarters.

The delegates thus gave an impressive demonstration of their belief that the league has come to stay.

The Assembly meeting was opened this morning with great solemnity, all the delegates being visibly impressed by the seriousness of the crisis between the Allied Powers and Germany over the council membership question.

The galleries were crowded. The Assembly began its session by paying homage to the memory of Leon Bourgeois, one of the founders of the League, and the delegates rose and observed a moment of silence in his honor.

Upon leaving the assembly hall M. Briand announced that the Locarno Powers and later the council members planned to met again this afternoon in hopes of finding a solution.

OFFER RESIGNATIONS.

GENEVA, March 13. United Press —Belgium and Sweden to-day offered to resign their non-permanent membership on the League of Nations in favor of Poland, as the fifth day of angry, frantic negotiations began at Geneva.

The embarrassing impasse, which threatens to wreck the reputations of all the statesmen engaged in an effort to overcome it, appeared to be less hopeless, however, when it was announced that the League of Nations' Council would not be convoked for a final vote on German's entry into the Council.

YOU ARE ENTITLED TO KNOW THE FACTS!

Over 700,000 motor vehicles now travel the Canadian highways.

Safety for this vast army of travelers is a national issue, and where safety is involved plain speaking is a public duty.

It is high time the public realized—as experts have long realized—that automobile bodies should be made of steel—not of wood or any other fragile material.

Indeed, it is one of the mysteries of this usually progressive industry that the all steel body is not already in universal use.

It will be before long. Public opinion will demand it—as it now demands that railway sleeping cars be all steel.

For even a child knows that steel is stronger than wood—that steel will not splinter or burn—and that all steel bodies will stand up under impacts that would crush ordinary bodies to bits.

That is why Dodge Brothers pioneered in introducing the all steel body—pioneered again recently, in improving and perfecting it—pioneer, now, in urging its adoption by every automobile builder in the world.

The issue is plain—

Manufacturers must build safely if the automobile industry is to hold its present high place in public usefulness and esteem.

And the all steel body—as exemplified in Dodge Brothers Motor Car—is the greatest single advance in motoring safety made in the last fifteen years.

The car will continue to be a "four." No reasoning buyer will be distracted from the issue of QUALITY by mere CYLINDER propaganda.

GERMANY MAY NOT BE ADMITTED TO LEAGUE OF NATIONS COUNCIL UNLESS POLAND ALSO ACCEPTED

No Progress in Crisis at Geneva Over the Week-End.

ASSEMBLY TUESDAY

Chamberlain Says Obstructionists Must Publicly Bear Responsibility.

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 15. — (Canadian Press).—A direct statement from highly placed French sources that unless Germany is willing to find Poland at the table of the Council of the League of Nations when she herself sits there, Germany will not get into the Council, indicated last evening that no progress had been made in the league crisis, and how perilous the situation had become.

As for Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Foreign Secretary, pessimism, already extreme, had, if anything, increased. He had apparently, though with great reluctance, reached the conviction that it was unavoidable to have the assembly of the league pass upon the supreme issue of whether Germany or the Allies are to be held guilty before world opinion of the present imbroglio. The British spokesman said that as there were only thirty-six hours to the opening of the assembly Tuesday, those who were creating obstacles must publicly shoulder their responsibility.

Opinions Fixed.

Throwing the conflict into the assembly Tuesday seemed, therefore, early Sunday night as inevitable unless today some agreement between the Germans and Allies is reached. A new angle of the general situation developed last night from British circles, where it was pointed out that the question had become delicate, almost impossible of solution, became public opinion of the various countries concerned in the conflict had taken strong positions one way or the other and that it would be difficult for the delegates to make further concessions because of the high state of excitability of home opinion.

Hence, it was logical and right, in the opinion of the British, that the dispute should be brought into the open and publicly discussed by the representatives of all lands, so that the people throughout the world might have a better opportunity to place the responsibility.

The French spokesman declared that France would not budge an inch from her position of favoring a non-permanent seat for Poland simultaneously with a permanent seat for Germany, and voiced the French conviction that the majority of the assembly would support the allied position as one of conciliation and generous compromise.

Last Hour Pressure.

This information, it is believed by most of the delegates, was not only put forth to express the attitude of the allied delegations, but also as a sort of last hour pressure on the Germans to make them realize that the allied Governments were in earnest.

From German headquarters came a slightly optimistic note, which was found in the fact that the German jurists had been sitting all day struggling over the composition of a formula which, as one official spokesman said, "would bind Germany morally but not legally" to support Poland's candidacy.

A number of representative delegates not connected with the present crisis, with whom the correspondent of the Associated Press talked, seemed hopeful that the controversy would be regulated. They refused to believe that the question of six months' time, which in effect was all that divided the Allies and Germany, could be made justification before international opinion for the destruction of the Locarno pacts and endangering the future of the League of Nations. Most of the delegates feel confident that Poland could be elected to a non-permanent seat in September; so that the point really at issue is whether she will be elected immediately or later.

THE WEATHER.

While the temperature this morning was comparatively moderate (10 above zero) yesterday (Sunday) morning gave us 8 below zero. While this March has been colder than usual, we have not had, as yet, at least, much of the high wind that usually characterized March weather. I pass on to the reader an old saying or proverb which I came across this morning: "If we have April weather in March, we shall have March weather in April." Little April weather has been experienced in this section of the country. If boys and girls—and adults as well — in the city or country — who use their powers of observation, see anything that is worthy of note, either in animal or bird life, or the gradual awakening of spring, will send me a line or two, it will help to make these weather notes of more general interest, not only to themselves but to others as well. Boys and girls in the country have opportunities that city children have not.—W. P.

NOW, HONESTLY—

'Sfunny how people go into a restaurant, read over the menu, and complain 'cause nothing looks good.

We just don't stop to think that maybe it's our fault—instead of the restaurant's.

It's purty dern difficult to give folks what they want, when they don't know what it is.

And that's the position of an eating place is in some of the time.

When you can't make up your mind as to what will please the palate, you can't expect the menu card to have it scheduled.

Most anything tastes good—if you're in a good frame of mind.

NO AGREEMENT IS REACHED YET

Session of League Assembly is Postponed—Sweden May Resign.

OPTIMISM EXPRESSED.

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Again today members of the League of Nations Council separated, after a secret meeting, without reaching an agreement concerning reorganization of the council in connection with Germany's entrance into the League. In order to gain more time, it was decided to postpone the session of the Assembly scheduled for tomorrow, until Wednesday.

The Brazilian spokesman announced that his country continued actively to stress her demand for a permanent council seat.

Before the opening of the secret council session, a projected solution of the problem of Poland's desire for a seat developed in the direction of having one of the smaller European countries surrender its non-permanent council place immediately, followed by an election to fill the vacancy thus created.

The French spokesman said the German statesmen had promised they would not oppose such a plan.

Sir Austen Chamberlain of Great Britain, emerging from the secret session, said the situation looked more hopeful.

Under the new plan Sweden would resign and Poland would take her chance on receiving majority support in the Assembly as substitute for Sweden.

Both Count Quinones De Leon of Spain and Afranio Mello Franco of Brazil left today's meeting depressed in appearance—the Brazilian statesman particularly so—thus creating the impression that their case for permanent seats had not been advanced.

Stresemann Hopeful

GENEVA, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Gustav Stresemann, German Foreign Minister, on returning to his hotel late last night after having dinner with M. Under, Swedish Foreign Minister, said:

"I am hopeful for tomorrow. Of course our hopes depend upon the attitude of other people. That is all I can say now."

It is understood that Dr. Stresemann and M. Unden have arranged a compromise formula which will be submitted to the League Council today.

COBHAM, BRITISH ACE, BACK IN LONDON AFTER 15-DAY FLIGHT FROM CAPE TOWN

Achievement Lauded as Forward Step in Linking Up Aerial Communications of British Empire—Great Welcome on Saturday.

CROYDON, England, March 15 (Canadian Press). — Only fifteen days out of Cape Town, more than 8,000 miles away, Alan J. Cobham, England's greatest long distance flyer, reached Croydon flying field Saturday, completing a round trip aerial journey from England to South Africa.

Cobham's remarkable flight won a race against the liner Windsor Castle, which sailed from Cape Town the day of his departure, February 26, and is not due at Southampton until to-day.

The aerial welcome accorded him when he approached his goal on his final jump from Lyons by way of Paris, has rarely been equalled. As soon as he was reported passing over the French coast a fleet of planes went up from Croydon field to met him, his wife being a passenger in one of them. The fleet included several passenger planes, and many aviation enthusiasts paid four guineas (about $20) each for the privilege of participating in the welcome.

Cobham's achievement is hailed as a great forward step in linking up the aerial communications of the British Empire. The return journey was made at remarkably consistent speed, in spite of the difficulties of flying over the African tropics, in temperatures that he described as "appalling" even when flying at 100 miles an hour.

Received By King.

King George received Cobham at Buckingham Palace Saturday night and had the aviator relate the story of his great air voyage.

Cobham delivered to the King a letter from the Earl of Athlone, Governor-General of South Africa, the first message ever brought direct to England by airway from Cape Town. King George conversed for a long time with the airman, warmly congratulating him on his achievement.

OFFICIALS HOLD NEW INTERVIEW WITH DR. WEST

Object Seems To Be Gaining of Information For Inquest.

REALIZES TRAGEDY.

Doctor is Still in Dazed Condition, However—Body in Vault.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

WARKWORTH, March 15.—Dr. Stewart West, whose house was destroyed by fire last Tuesday morning when his wife and child perished in the ruins, was in the village Saturday, accompanied by his brother Charles, at whose farm, a short distance from here, the doctor has been staying for the past few days. The brothers arranged for a casket for the dead woman, whose headless skeleton lies in a rough wooden box in the vault at the cemetery. Neither her skull nor the body of the child have yet been found, though a search was made for them as soon as the ruins cooled sufficiently to permit of this work. The cellar of the building is filled with debris and it is believed the missing remains will yet be located. The charred remains of the unfortunate mother were placed in the vault after a short religious service by Rev. W. D. Jones, pastor of the United church. There are no burials in the Warkworth cemetery during the winter season since the vault was built.

Official Investigations.

Inspector Gurnett, of Belleville and Provincial Constable Cousans of Cobourg, seem to have completed their investigations. They had a long interview with Dr. West at the home of his brother, and although Constable Phillips of Warkworth, went with them to the brother's home he was not in the room during the hearing. Another private hearing was held in the town hall here on Friday, when the doctor was present, and the object of which seems to have been to secure further evidence for the inquest, which will be held on the 25th. Whatever the nature of the information secured it is kept a close secret. Dr. West is still in an apparently dazed condition, although he does seem to realize the nature of the double tragedy of which he is the sole suvivor.

On the evening before the fire the doctor was at the house of a neighbor, Mrs. Charles Gooding, assisting her with some work, when his wife brought to him a message that had come by long distance telephone. She had left the child in the house, the boy being asleep at the time and when she returned home with her husband, as nearly as it can be learned, she went to her room and that was the last the doctor saw either mother or baby.

Dr. West is held in grateful regard by at least one family in this village, a family that would be slow to believe any rumors to his detriment. The father of that family died of cancer last summer after a long illness. During the final stages of the disease Dr. West was the only person who could be found to wait on the invalid and he was faithful and constant in his attendance up to the end, rendering a service which it was impossible to adequately compensate.

GILBERT IS SENTENCED TO-DAY TO 18 MONTHS' IMPRISONMENT ON THREE BLACKMAIL CHARGES

Convicted on First Charge, He Pleads Guilty To Others.

MILLBROOK CASES.

Public Admitted To Trial At Cobourg—Joseph Wearing Defends.

(By a Staff Reporter)

COBOURG, Ont., March 15—Harold Gilbert was this afternoon sentenced to 18 months in Ontario Reformatory on each of three charges of blackmail, the sentences to run concurrently. He was found guilty on the first charge, and changed his plea from "not guilty" to "guilty" on the remaining two.

The trial opened this morning before Judge J. E. McGlade. Gilbert was committed for trial at a hearing at Millbrook a few weeks ago when the complainants were protected by the court and the session was held behind closed doors. Today's trial was in open court, and about fifty people were present for the opening.

Crown Attorney W. F. Kerr, K. C. of Cobourg, is prosecuting, and Gilbert is defended by Joseph Wearing of Peterborough.

The charges arise out of alleged threats to publish defamatory libel made by Gilbert while representing himself to be an organizer in this district for the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire, with full authority in Peterborough, Millbrook and other centres.

James Peel of Millbrook, was the first witness to-day. He said he first saw Gilbert on the night he joined the Klan, and afterwards at his house, accompanied by Mrs. McNeely of Peterboro. Gilbert told him, witness averred, that he had been investigating a case, and it would cost him $500 to keep it quiet.

"He threatened to expose my daughter, as he said she was going to places that I would not like. I told him I was a poor man, and Gilbert said he would reduce it to $35. I went down and borrowed the $35, and brought the money to Brochard's office. Gilbert as not there, but they referred me to one door west. Gilbert was there and came to the door where I gave him the money.

Cross-examined by Mr. Wearing, the witness said his daughter, Mrs. McNeely and himself were present, when Gilbert called.

Mr. Wearing: Did he say you had to pay him $500?

Witness: "No; he said it was worth $500, but he would let me off with $35."

Mr. Wearing: "Did he say what paper he would publish it in "

Witness: "No."

Thousands Of Pet Birds and Monkeys Die In Fire While Firemen Struggle To Penetrate Building

NEW YORK, March 15 (United Press) — Five thousand canary birds, 40 monkeys and many parrots and other pets died in a fire today at Bartel's House of Pets, No. 5 Cortland street.

Overcome by smoke and many burned to death outright, the birds and animals died while firemen fought unavailingly to penetrate the building and answer the shrieks of the monkeys and parrots, that set up a bedlam.

When the fire was out and the smoke cleared away from the building firemen found ten monkeys huddled sorrowfully over the bodies of 40 dead companions, hundreds of cages with the lifeless bodies of birds in them and many more pets burned completely to ashes.

NO DECISION ON CABINET PLACE

Finlayson Mentioned To Succeed Lyons—May Unite Portfolios.

NO STATEMENT.

TORONTO, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Premier G. Howard Ferguson today declined to make any announcement regarding a possible appointment to the vacant portfolio of Lands and Forests. Concerning the rumor that W. Finlayson (Conservative, Simcoe East) was the probable choice, the Premier only replied "The matter has not been considered."

Speculation among the members of the Legislature regarding the vacant cabinet post also included the possibility of the Department of Mines being amalgamated with that of Lands and Forests, in which event the Hon. Chas. McCrea, present Minister of Mines, would combine the two portfolios.

AROUND THE CITY.

On Saturday at 4 p.m. the fire brigade was called to a chimney fire at 219 Reid street. While the brigade was there the roof caught fire burning a hole in it and causing damage of about $10.

At 6.50 p.m. they were again called to 618 Aylmer, the cause of the fire being overheated stovepipes. No damage was caused.

At 6.15 this morning they were called to a chimney fire at 474 Park street north.

FIRE DESTROYS OLD BUILDINGS

Three Original Structures of Alberta Town Burned.

LOSS $15,000.

EDSON, Ayta. March 15 (Canadian Press).—Fire destroyed three of Edson's original buildings built in 1910 and 1911, on Third Avenue today.

The Gem Hotel, the "C.P." Hotel, and J. H. Grigg's store were destroyed, with $15,000 loss.

OLD PROSPECTORS YIELD TO RED LAKE'S LURE AFTER RETIREMENT

Looks Better Than the Klondyke, is Opinion of Jake McDonough, Veteran Miner of Ottawa, Who Will Fly to New Field.

SAYS SURFACE SHOWINGS WONDERFUL

OTTAWA, March 15 (Canadian Press).—The lure of gold at the world's new Klondyke — Red Lake, Ont.—has enticed men of all nationalities and types, including old prospectors who had retired several years ago, according to Jack McDonough, well-known Ottawa prospector, and a member of the famous McDonough family of mining fame.

McDonough left Ottawa last Saturday night for Toronto, and he will immediately proceed to Hudson, Ont., and will fly from there to Red Lake to continue his mining operations.

"I think it has Klondyke beaten," said McDonough. "The surface showings there are the most wonderful I have ever seen."

It takes 36 hours to get to Red Lake from Ottawa, McDonough said. It is cheaper to fly from Hudson, Ont., to Red Lake than to "mush" with a team of dogs, he added.

A prospector can load from 75 to 100 pounds of supplies on a 'plane and ride himself for $200, while it costs about the same for dogs and their feed. "You can get more supplies in by 'plane than by mushing," said McDonough.

It takes an airplane exactly one hour and 20 minutes to get to Red Lake from Hudson, while the prospector "mushing" his way in usually takes from four to six days and suffers the discomforts of a hard trail, McDonough said. It is 125 miles of hard mushing, too, he added.

Gills In Throat Proof Of Evolution, Say Doctors

NEW YORK, Mar. 15 (Canadian Press).—Discovering what they consider to be another proof of the soundness of the evolution theory, surgeons have found gills in the throat of a patient at the Long Island City Hospital. Gills appear, they say, as the result of arrested pre-natal development.

TERRIBLE TOLL AS TRAIN JUMPS BRIDGE TRACKS

Wreck on Costa Rican Railway Costs Nearly 300 Lives.

EXCURSION TRAIN.

Cars Roll Down Embankment Into River—Many People Hurt.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Two hundred and forty-eight persons were killed and ninety-three injured in Sunday's disastrous train wreck on the Costa Rican Railway, it has thus far been established. Three cars were demolished, one fell to the bottom on the Varilla river from a bridge over the stream and two others were left hanging from a 190 foot precipice.

TRACK MAN DIES FROM COLLISION

OTHERS HURT.

CHATHAM, Ont., March 15. — (Canadian Press).—John Stockton, of Ridgetown, was instantly killed yesterday morning when a gasoline "jigger" on which he was riding crashed into a freight caboose on the M.C.R. between Highgate and Ridgetown. Percy Wills and John Lamb, also of Ridgetown, are in Amazawood Hospital, St. Thomas, the former with both legs broken and internal injuries, which are thought fatal. Lamb, it is believed, will recover.

John McDonald was badly cut about the head, and is at his home in Ridgetown. The four men, members of a M.C.R. section gang, were returning to their homes in Ridgetown after the usual Sunday morning track inspection when the collision occurred.

BIRTHDAY PARTY.

A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory on Wednesday, March 10, when over fifty friends of Mrs. Gregory gathered together to wish her many happy returns of the day, it being her 58th birthday. The evening was spent in cards and dancing. Splendid music was given by the Childerhose Orchestra also by friends on the piano and violin which was much appreciated by the dancers and others. A light lunch was served at midnight, after which dancing was resumed until 2 a.m.

Amusement is the happiness of those that cannot think—Pope.

ENTERPRISING THIEF CLIMBS THROUGH A STOVE PIPE HOLE TO PLUNDER EAST CITY STORE

Boyle's Grocery Is Visited By Marauding Band—Supposedly Boys.

ADMITTED OTHERS.

Other Buildings Fell Before Sunday Attack, With Small Loss.

Some time last night thieves broke into Boyle's grocery store at 60 Hunter Street East. The entering of the store must have been accomplished by a small boy, as the entrance was gained through a small window in the cellar. From the cellar he went upon into a room filled with packing boxes. This room enters into the store, and as he could not get in through the door, it being locked on the inside, he pulled half a dozen packing boxes on top of one another, climbed to the top of these boxes, pushed the covering back over a stove pipe hole and crawled through this small hole, gaining admittance to the store.

When in the store it is thought he opened the two doors to the outside, letting in his comrades.

Knew the Ground.

This work must have been done by some one who knew the place, for when he was in the cellar he pulled the electric light plug, cutting off all light to the store. The till was ransacked, but only $4.50 in coppers had been left on the top of the till. The candy counter was gone through, and chocolate bars taken. The thieves did not carry all their plunder away before sampling but threw around some candy and Easter eggs half eaten. About 1,000 marbles were also taken.

This is not the first time this store has been broken into; about 18 months ago candy and peanuts were taken, the entrance then being gained through the transom.

A gang of young rowdies has been prowling around that part of the city lately on Sunday afternoons, swinging on the awnings, breaking into the automatic peanut machines, and also breaking their way into the tool houses of the Quaker Oats skating rink and the city open-air skating rink, it is said.

Measles Outbreak Alarms Officials Of Two Villages

BELLEVILLE, March 15. — (Canadian Press).—Due to an alarming outbreak of measles in Cannifton and Corbyville, villages just north of the city, Dr. Ward, Thurlow Township, medical officer of health, has ordered the temporary closing of the United Church at Cannifton and the public school attended by pupils from both villages.

MANY QUESTIONS ASKED IN HOUSE

Over 100 To Be Answered To-day—Private Members' Day.

KING TAKES SEAT.

OTTAWA, March 15 (Canadian Press).—The opening proceedings in the House of Commons today will have the air of an endless query. Pages and pages of unanswered questions have piled upon the Order Paper and over a hundred different questions, it is understood, will be answered this afternoon. So many questions, to be answered at one sitting are believed to be without parallel.

It will be the first private members' day of the session. The first motion on the Order Paper is that of J. W. Woodworth, Labor member of Winnipeg, that Canada should refuse to accept responsibility for complications arising from the foreign policy of the United Kingdom, but it is doubtful if, in view of the present situation at Geneva, there will be a disposition to proceed with the motion. Up to noon today, the final decision as to what motion should be proceeded with had not been reached.

The main estimates are expected to be brought down shortly after the House assembles. These are reported to contain a considerable vote towards the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway.

GOOD HEALTH IMPOSSIBLE WITHOUT GOOD EYESIGHT
Eye strains are the direct cause of all sorts of nervous disorders. Depression, insomnia and headaches are only a few of their bad effects. Most people are unaware of their eye troubles. SCOUT NEWS.

Peterborough Troops Nos. 5 and 8 held their regular weekly meeting on Friday evening in the Assembly Hall of All Saints' S. S., under the direction of Scoutmasters B. Walker and F. Hully. A short inspection of the troops was conducted by Mr. Hully. Following this the patrols separated for a short instruction period. An emergency meeting will be held on Wednesday evening to invest Lindley Pratt into 5th Peterborough Troop. Games were held and a jolly time was had by all. Instructions in signalling were then given.

At council fire Mr. Hully, who is a veteran of the South African war, told some very interesting stories. The troops were called to attention and dismissed. Court of Honor was then held.

A Scout rally will be held in All Saints' Hall on Friday, March 19th, at 7.30 p.m. All Scouts are requested to attend.

HAROLD GILBERT TRIED TO-DAY ON FIRST BLACKMAIL CHARGE

Mr. Wearing: "You took it for granted he meant a newspaper?"

Witness: "He said he would let the public know all about it."

Witness said he had an envelope which Gilbert gave him to put the money in, but he did not use it for that purpose. He produced the envelope which was filed as an exhibit.

Mr. Wearing: "Did you accuse Gilbert of getting money out of you by false pretences?"

Witness: "I may have used those words; I found out afterwards that he could not publish those things."

Judge—"Did Gilbert ever tell you what he would say about your daughter?"

Witness—"He said that she was driving cars to Peterborough without my knowledge."

Emma Peel, who was the next witness called, said that Gilbert, accompanied by Mrs. McNeely, came to their house on January 26. Her father came in and Gilbert said something about me going to Peterborough in my father's car and wanted 500 dollars. My father said he was a poor man, so Gilbert said he would reduce it to 35 dollars.

Mr. Wearing asked that the charge be dismissed, as there was no grounds for defamatory libel in the evidence that had been heard.

Judge—"I am sorry, Mr. Wearing, but I cannot agree with you."

Harold Gilbert.

Harold Gilbert, the prisoner, was the next witness. Examined by Mr. Wearing, the accused said that he resigned from the Klan two weeks previous to the opening of the meeting in Peterborough. He had heard that the members of the Klan in Millbrook were Cavan blazers, and that a Catholic could not live for them. Peel's application to the Klan was given to him by a Millbrook garage man. "I saw Peel on the street; I told him I would like to have a word with him. Peel invited Mrs. McNeely and myself to his house that afternoon. While Mrs. McNeely and his daughter were in another room, Peel said to me, 'I am glad this has happened, as it will do her good.' Peel asked Mrs. McNeely to take his daughter's application to the Klan, as he thought it would do her good. The thirty-five dollars was the initiation fee. When he met me down town and gave me the money I found that there was forty-five dollars, and Peel said what is over is for yourself."

In answer to counsel, the accused said he knew nothing about the girl that he could tell.

Mr. Wearing—"You were charged before with obtaining money by false pretences?"

Witness—"I was, but the accusors made a public apology afterwards."

Cross-examined by Crown Attorney Kerr, prisoner said he was more or less surprised when he saw the money in the envelope. He didn't remember Peel saying he was a poor man.

Prisoner, in reply to Mr. Kerr, said he simply could not understand how "that man Peel could give such evidence."

Mr. Wearing said that it had been found impossible to subpoena Mrs. McNeely, as she had left the city. He naturally was forced to close his defence, although, in his opinion, the evidence of this witness would have had considerable bearing on his case.

The Judge—"It seems surprising to me that Peel and his daughter should give this man 35 dollars for joining what is nothing more or less than a fool's society."

Mr. Wearing, in summing up, said that Peel's evidence might stand alone. He had not cross-examined the daughter as her evidence tallied exactly with that of her father. He maintained that the case did not come under defamatory libel.

Mr. Kerr—"The only case we need discuss is defamatory libel. This is just the old, old story of getting just all the traffic would bear."

The Judge said the whole point of the case was whether there had been defamation or not. He would reserve judgment.

NO AGREEMENT

timistic of an agreement at Geneva, but elsewhere there is fear that the international misunderstanding has gotten entirely out of hand. It has been suggested that the Geneva impasse might result in an attempt to form a second League of Nations around Soviet Russia, the Scandinavian countries, Turkey and Germany.

Swedish Press Protests

STOCKHOLM March 15 (United Press).—The parliamentary foreign affairs committee was to meet today to discuss Foreign Minister Unden's suggestion that Sweden resign from the League of Nations' Council in favor of Poland.

The entire press contends that Unden could not resign Sweden's seat without Parliamentary sanction. So far no new instructions have been forwarded to Unden in Geneva.

Flour has dropped some. Best grades sell at $4.55 a hundred weight and pastry flour is $1.10 for a twenty-five pound bag.

AT COBOURG

COBOURG, March 15 — There was a fair-sized market at Cobourg on Saturday and no marked changes in prices. There were many baskets of eggs and the price varied from 30c to 40c. A number of vendors had their eggs graded and asked from 30c to 32c for seconds, 35c to 37c for firsts, and 38c to 40c for extras. A lady who sold extras for 38c said a dozen weighed twenty-six ounces. This made the buy a better one than the smaller eggs at cheaper prices. Some stores in Cobourg were selling extras for 37c also. Butter brought from 45c to 48c on the maket. In the stores some creamery butter has advanced a cent and sells now for 49c a pound There were some very nice chickens and fowl sold today, considering the season, for it is always expected that when hens are laying, it is only the poorer class of birds that are marketed in the spring. Many offered on the market were very nice and prices ranged from 25c to 30c. There were many baskets of apples of many kinds, although Wagners, Spies and Tolman Sweets predominated. The small baskets sold for 20c and 25c and eleven quart baskets from 30c to 40c. There were not many vegetables; a few narsnips and beets, last year's growth, and a few onions being all. White beans, however, could be bought at 5c a pound. Headcheese was 15c a pound, and the vendor who supplied this appeared to do quite a thriving trade. There were few potatoes. Several butchers were on hand cutting up meat. Beef sold all the way from 5c to 20c and 22c, and pork from 15c to 26c. Fillet of veal was 25c. Fish was another offering. Herring, white fish and flounders sold from 15c to 17c a pound.

There was no wood offered.

A Severe Illness Caused Constipation

Mrs. Wm. Hill, Wapella, Sask., writes:—"Three years ago I had a very severe illness, and ever since I have suffered with constipation.

A few months ago a friend advised me to use

MADOC PEOPLE LEAVE FOR U.S.A.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Thompson and Daughter Given Club Bags.

MADOC, March 15. — On Tuesday evening a group of about 30 friends gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Thompson to say farewell and wish them Godspeed before they left for Seattle, Wash., where they intend taking up residence.

After a game of cards and friendly chat, Miss Marena Birket presented Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and Miss Sadie with two club bags as a token of the esteem and affection, in which they are held by their friends, and Mr. D. Barry read the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and Sadie: We your many friends and neighbors are assembled here this evening to bid you farewell prior to your departure for the United States.

We could not let you leave us without showing you some esteem of our love and affection towards you. You have ever endeared yourselves to us and as a slight token of our respect we ask you to kindly accept these gifts, and with them our very best wishes for a safe journey and every success in your new home.

Deeply regretting that our connection must be severed, we shall gratefully remember our associations in the past and hope always to be held in pleasurable remembrance by you.

Signed by—

Margeurite Feeney.
Marena Birket.
William Stewart.
D. J. Barry.

Mr. and Mrs. Thompson and Miss Sadie replied, thanking their friends for their thoughful gifts and expressing their regret at parting. Refreshments were then served and a pleasant hour spent in conversation.

Among those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Robert McGhee, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Barry, Mr. and Mrs. Will Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. S. Mulrooney, Mr. and Mrs. R. BONES FOUND IN KITCHEN RUINS

May Be Those of West Baby or of Domestic Animal—Being Analyzed.

FAR FROM MOTHER.

(B ya Staff Reporter.)

WARKWORTH, March 15.—In the ruins of the kitchen of the Dr. West home some small bones have been found. It cannot be told whether they are the bones of small domestic animal, such as a cat, or of the child. The bones have been sent to Toronto for examination to determine whether they are human bones or not. If they turnout to be those of the child the question will then arise as to how the child ever got there, so far away from the mother's room, where it slept.

Inspector Gurnett, of the Provincial Police, said before he left for Belleville that it would probably require three weeks to make analysis of the bones and it is not likely that anything will be done till after the inquest.

Many of the people here seem to think that conditions called for an investigation and that the officers have done everything in their power to solve the mystery. Even if there were no unusual circumstances connected with the affair, such a tragedy would warrant the fullest investigation, such as has been made, so that all doubts might be set at rest.

OBITUARY.

LINDSAY, March 15.—(Special).—The sad death took place at the Ross Memorial Hospital on Friday evening of Pearl Hutchinson, a member of the nursing staff, and daughter of W. S. Hutchinson, formerly of Peterboro. The deceased took ill on Sunday, her illness developing into pneumonia of a most virulent type.

MRS. ALFRED DUNFORD.

YOUNG'S POINT, March 15—A gloom was cast over the village on Monday last when the news of the death of Mrs. Alfred Dunford was learned.

Left to mourn the passing of a loving wife, daughter, mother and sister are her sorrowing husband and two babies, Leah aged two years, and an infant daughter, one week old; her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Freeburn; two sisters, Edna and Ethel, and two brothers, Frank and Charlie, all at home.

Mrs. Dunford had lived all her life in the village and was loved and respected by all. She was of a bright and loving disposition and her sudden death at the early age of twenty one years has aroused the sympathy of the community.

The funeral, which was held on Thursday afternoon from the home of her father, was very largely attended.

The service, which was most impressive, was conducted by Rev. S. A. Kemp of Regent street United church, Lakefield. During the service two beautiful hymns were softly sung, "Asleep in Jesus" and "Nearer My God To Thee".

Interment was made in the Lakefield cemetery, the remains being tenderly carried to their last resting place by Messrs. Vincent Dunford, Ernest Dunford and Hilliard Dunford of Dummer, Ernie Dunford and Garfield Dunford of Lakefield, and Frank Booth of Burleigh, all brothers-in-law of the deceased.

Among the beautiful floral tributes were a large spray from the family; a beautiful wreath from A. W. Spence and staff and T. A. Brown and employees of the new locks; a spray, Mrs. McNaughton and Eva; a spray, Mrs. B. Bullock and family; a spray, Mrs. Wilson and Dorothy.

ST. PATRICK'S TEA

CAMPBELLFORD, March 13. — The ladies of St. John's United W. M.S. society whose initials are from N. to Z. held a successful shamrock tea on Thursday evening in the Sunday school rooms. The president, Mrs. Haig, acted as chairman and opened the social with a few well chosen remarks, after which the following programme was given:

Instrumetnal duet—Misses Cherrie Turner and Irene Stephens.

Recitation, 'My Portion'—Billy Richardson.

Solo, 'Killarney'—G. W. Lucy.

Cornet solo—Walter Lowe.

CEMENT MAKING IS TALK SUBJECT

INTERESTING FACTS.

The Enginering Institute of Canada met on Thursday in the Chamber of Commerce Rooms, the subject of the paper being "Manufacture of Portland Cement." The speaker was H. S. Van Scoyoc, manager of publicity for the Canada Cement Co., Montreal.

The speaker introduced his remarks by a reference to the nature of cement. It is finer than flour it will harden under water as well as air and is unaffected by flames.

In giving a resume of its development the speaker pointed out that a crude cementy material was used by the Egyptians in building the Pyramids, and that structures were built by the Romans and Carthaginians were made of a hydraulic cement (one hardening under water). A 70-mile aqueduct made by the latter is an example to this day of their work. The concrete dome of the Pantheon, 142 feet in diameter, was made by the Romans, which is still a splendid example.

The art of cement making disappeared with the Roman Empire, and was not revived until 1757, when interest in its manufacture was reawakened in England by John Smeaton, searching for a cement in building the Eddystone Lighthouse. He discovered a material that would harden under water from a mixture of clay and limestone. This materail was really a hydraulic lime. In 1796 Joseph Parker in Kent secured a patent for "Roman Cement," which was obtained by burning lime and clay at a higher temperature than that for making lime. It would harden either in air or under water, and became generally used in structures during the first half of the 19th Century.

In 1810 Edgar Dobbs of Southwick, England, patented an artificial Roman cement. Instead of burning the lime and clay as found naturally, he mixed these two materials. In 1824 Portland cement was discovered and patented by Joseph Aspdin of Leeds, England, the name Portland being given to it from its resemblance to the building stone quarried in Portland Dorsetshire. This marks the beginning of present day cement.

It was not until 1850 that the general use of cement was made.

In the States, natural cement was first used in the construction of the Erie Canal in 1818. It continued to be used in great quantities until the highwater mark was reached in 1890, when its consumption began to fall. Portland cement in the States did not get under way until the first plant near Kalamazoo, Mich., was opened. This company, however, went to the wall after a very few years' operation. In 1875 a plant at Wampun, Pa., and David O. Saylor's plant were started, and their products exhibited at the Centennial Exhibition in 1876. Production grew apace from 40,000 barrels in 1880 to 150,000,000 in 1925.

In Canada hydraulic cement was first made by Major-Gen. Baddley, R.E. in 1856, but it was in the year 1887 that Portland cement was first put on the market.

Portland cement is made from a variety of materials, argilaceous (clay) and calcareous (limestone) in proper portions, which are burnt at a very high temperature. No rigid specifications of materials are laid down, but the finished product must conform to the rigid specifications of the American Society for Testing Materials.

The process of manufacture is closely watched step by step by numerous tests, and it has assumed enormous proportions.

Two general processes are employed, the wet and the dry. In the former water is aded so that a soupy mixture is used for working. This is inherently more expensive, as this water has finally to be dried off.

The intense heat required for burning 2,400 to 2,700 degrees Farenheit, is obtained by burning finely powdered coal, requiring 200 lbs. per barrel.

Fineness—Seventy-eight per cent must pass through a seive having 40,000 holes per square inch.

In filling, the sacks are first of all sewen up across the top then inverted and the nozzle of a packing machine passed through the Bates' vale in one bottom corner. This valve has a flap over it which is held closed by the weigh of the cement.

The objects of increasing this high early strength is to enable more work to be done in the winter.

By adding 2 per cent calcium chloride a 40 per cent increase in the 24-hour strength is obtained. Raising time of mixing to three or four minutes instead of the usual minute greatly adds to the early strength.

ROAD BLOCKED

COBOURG, March 15 — Four members of the Cobourg Rotary Club and of St. John's Lodge, No. 17, A.F. and A.M., attempted to go by motor to Peterborough on Wednesday to attend the funeral of the late Dr. P. McNaughton, but the condition of the roads was such that they could not get through. Dr. McNaughton was for three years superintendent of the Ontario Hospital here.

ANOTHER BOOKLET for FARMERS

In pursuance of its policy of friendly co-operation with the farming interests of this country, the Bank of Montreal is now issuing a new text book for farmers, entitled "Hogs for Pork and Profit." The booklet is a practical guide to the breeding and feeding of pigs, and its value is greatly increased by photographs illustrating every point that is made. A copy may be obtained, without charge, on application at our nearest Branch.

Previous booklets distributed by the Bank are—

"Diversified Farming"
"The Cow, the Mother of Prosperity"
"Poultry for the Farm and Home"

The Bank has distributed tens of thousands of these booklets throughout Canada, and numerous farmers have expressed their appreciation to our local Managers.

AUCTION SALE.

Good Prices Paid For Stock Sold By Peter Robinson.

KEENE, March 13.—The auction sale on the farm of Peter Robertson on Wednesday, two miles from Keene, was well attended, and prices for his implements and stock were good, cows going as high as ninety-seven dollars, while a team of horses brought three hundred and fifteen dollars.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Rennie entertained about fifteen friends on Tuesday evening. Games and songs were indulged in until about 12 o'clock, when supper was served. All present enjoyed themselves immensely.

Mrs. John MacFarlane, of Peterborough, was a Keene visitor on Tuesday.

The Keene baseball Club is holding the annual St. Patrick's dance on March 17th. A five-piece orchestra will be in attendance.

wards off Disease—builds up the body

For both child and adult, good cod-liver oil is a builder of strong, sturdy body-tissues, and a stout wall of resistance against infection and disease.

It is the A and D vitamin content in cod-liver oil which makes it really valuable. "A" is the growth-promoting and disease-resisting vitamin. "D" is the factor which prevents and cures rickets. Each lot of Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil has been tested and proved exceedingly rich in both these body-building and disease resisting vitamins.

In ordinary cod-liver oil the vitamin content may soon be lost through exposure of the oil to air incident to its preparation and handling. But Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is prepared by an exclusive process which not only preserves the Vitamins, but at the same time renders the oil more palatable. When kept on ice and taken cold, Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil is practically tasteless.

MONDAY, MARCH 15 1926.

SIR GEORGE E. FOSTER.

The veteran statesman and orator is to speak on a most interesting subject, "Canada, Whence and Whither Drifting," but it would be difficult to think of any subject that Sir George Foster could make uninteresting.

There are many orators, but few Fosters in this country, and that thought must have struck many radio enthusiasts who heard Sir George give an address in Boston some weeks ago, his remarks being broadcasted.

Canada was his subject on that occasion, and it was magnificently handled, but not any more effectively than were the questions hailed at the speaker from his audience at the conclusion of his address.

He adroitly answered every questioner, and the net result was the supplying of much information about this country to a large visible audience that was multiplied hundreds of times over by the invisible auditors at the earphones or within hearing of the loud-speakers of numerous receiving sets all over the continent.

Although no longer in Parliament, Sir George Foster's oratory is still serving the country he loves so well.

SATURDAY'S RECEPTION.

Peterboro left no doubt on Saturday night as to the extent of its enthusiasm over the record of its hockey team in winning the senior Ontario championship.

Thousands of citizens waited in the cold at the Canadian National station to cheer the members of the team on their arrival from Toronto, and the only regret was that there was not a better opportunity of seeing the boys who have put Peterboro on the sport map in bright red letters.

Unfortunately, the station platform was so densely crowded that the members of the team were in the motor cars that awaited them at the back of the station before many of the people knew they had left the train, and later on when an impromptu reception was held at the Empress Hotel only a fraction of the crowd could be accommodated inside.

However, there will be a more pretentious function in the course of a few weeks, and Saturday evening's demonstration at least served the dual purpose of allowing local fans an opportunity to let off the steam they had been holding since Tuesday night and of showing the players of the victorious Peterboro team that their fellow-citizens are solidly behind them.

The Peterboro team, fighting against odds in the form of injured and sick players and a very exhausting schedule, are seeking to bring further honours home.

In that attempt the whole community is with them.

MAKING THE "PROS" PAY.

The Examiner quotes today an editorial from the Brantford Expositor in reference to the Ontario Athletic Commission's suggestion that professional hockey, football and baseball should be called upon to help finance the commission's activities.

The Expositor does not approve of the idea, and yet, especially in the case of professional hockey, there is no real reason why a percentage of the receipts should not be levied for the encouragement of amateur sports, precisely as is done now in connection with professional boxing and wrestling, which have been compelled to contribute their share.

Once a young amateur begins to show form the professional organizations have scouts on his trail seeking to land him into the professional ranks.

If he makes good he becomes a box-office attraction; if he doesn't make good his salary is cut off.

Either way the professional club cannot lose much, and the suggestion that the organizations which make a business out of hockey should help to pay for the amateur sport from which their players are drawn is not a half bad one.

If it is justifiable to take a percentage from professionals in one line of sport, it should be justifiable to take a percentage from professionals in all lines of sport.

ENCOURAGING AMATEUR SPORTS.

In its annual report the Ontario Athletic Commission, which operates under the aegis of the Provincial Government, states that its only source of revenue is a percentage of the receipts of professional boxing and wrestling matches. It says that its program for this year will involve an expenditure of $18,000 and suggests that professional hockey, baseball and football should now contribute to its revenues. Since it is obvious that the work of the commission in fostering and developing a love of clean sport among the boys and girls of the Province cannot be carried on without funds, the question of how these are to be raised is quite pertinent. But it is doubtful if the commission has fully considered the facts.

Indeed, so far as the Expositor is aware, there are no professional football clubs in Ontario. Toronto is talking about a professional soccer league which has not yet come into being. In hockey only Toronto and Ottawa had professional teams this season. Baseball on a professional basis has not had any secure footing anywhere, except through the International League club in Toronto, for a number of years. Western Ontario and other smaller professional leagues have not had the financial success that would permit of a turnover to the Athletic Commission. Two hockey teams and one baseball club could not be expected to finance the commission, even with the help of boxing and wrestling revenues, though the two latter have done very well.

But, after all, if ample revenues are to come from professionalized sports, is there not implied an obligation on the part of the commission to turn the minds of the youth of Ontario toward that as an objective? Whereas the greatest aim of the commission is to foster a love of athletics and sports for the sake of bodily and mental training, to that end they visited and fostered activities in nearly 100 places last year. To swimming especially they devoted attention with considerable success among the boys and girls. A straight Government grant, backed by an appeal to the public, might be a better way for getting money to assist simon-pure sport than a tax on professional sports. There are some interesting angles opened up by the report.—Brantford Expositor.

PASSES AND BUSINESS.

In certain centres in Canada merchants are faced with an exceedingly annoying problem where railway shops are operated and where the employees of the railway are given free passes to almost any place they want to go.

Canadian Grocer finds that while the merchants of these centres do not complain so much, public-spirited men of the towns and cities feel that the free pass system is working a great hardship on the community. This is because the merchants are losing so much business to outside centres since an employee of the railway shop, or his wife, may jump on the train in the morning, visit some larger point and come back at night with goods that often could have been bought for the same money or less. Sometimes the seating capacity of entire cars is almost taken up with this type of passenger.

Stratford, Ont., is a case in point. Here, the shops of the Canadian National Railways owned by the Government of Canada are located. This company, despite the fact that its deficits are being paid by the country as a whole, permits not only employees but the wives of employees to travel free, providing the man himself has been working in the shop for a certain number of years.

Each employee can usually get five or six passes for trips out of Stratford each year by making application for them, no matter how long he has been there.

When a man has been employed for fifteen years or more he gets a permanent pass that can be used by himself or his wife. One report referred to a couple who had secured a free trip to California and back.

There are over 1,000 on the C.N.R. payroll in Stratford and a large percentage of the employees are men who have been there for more than the fifteen years. This means that an employee or his wife can go to Toronto or any place else at no expense whatever. Saturday is the big day, as this is a holiday in the shops. They can do as much or as little of their buying out of town as they want to and carry home their parcels at no cost. That they are doing it is evidenced by sights that any one can see almost every evening and especially on a Saturday evening as the trains pull into the city. One Stratford woman who is loyal to the home town and who recognizes the importance of local trading told Canadian Grocer that there are times when a railway coach looks almost like a baggage car, so many parcels are being brought home. Many women, she claimed, have the idea they can purchase so much better in Toronto or somewhere else, when they actually lose money. She stated an instance of a feminine acquaintance who had bought a rug in Toronto. The two later went into a Stratford store and found exactly the same rug at $4 less money. Another case was cited where a local merchant was charging $50 for bed, springs and a mattress that were $55 at a big store in Toronto. One woman whose credit is not good for more than $15 in her home town and never pays cash goes out of town every month on buying trips. A Stratford resident told of one man who travels to London every Saturday morning to buy his butter. Another woman goes to Kitchener to deal at a self-service chain grocery store. She gets her canned tomatoes, pork and beans, and corn a cent or so per tin cheaper. Once last year a large number of Stratford people went to London to see a game. Several employees of the Canadian National Railways were on board. Coming back a special train had to be requisitioned. Passes were no good on the special and the conductor collected $76 return fares from those who had gone down without paying and who occupied two cars. The railways too lose in freight and express when goods are carried home.

One business man contended that an average of at least $5,000 was taken out of Stratford this way every week. This would amount to a quarter of a million dollars a year.

As intimated above, the merchants of Stratford do not complain. The information given here was secured from public-spirited residents who hold that the Government through the Canadian National Railways has no right to permit such free uses of railway passes. It would be quite all right, they contend, if only the employee himself could travel on the pass. It prevents strikes perhaps. But when his wife can use it and since she can take a trip any day in the week, it simply throws open every store in outside centres to the women buyers of Stratford at no transportation expense and does not give the local merchant a fair chance.

Some may say it is the local merchant's own fault if he loses this business. This is no doubt partially true. Good stores, bright store fronts, proper advertising, fine window displays, fair prices, business merchants and courteous clerks are real assets in keeping business at home. But apart from all these things women of a roving disposition always want to go somewhere else if they can get there at no expense. They like to tell about their alleged "conquests" in some store somewhere else.

In centres of population where there is a community spirit being developed it is usually found the merchants are the backbone of it. This is true in Stratford. A definite plan has been mapped out in this city for the beautifying of it and making it a more pleasant place in which to live. This plan includes parks along the river's edge, bathing beach, driveway, artificial islands, grass, flowers, the planting of trees and a bird sanctuary. Merchants of Stratford have taken a keen interest in this development. In spite of this there are many Stratford citizens who go to these other centres to do much of their buying.—Canadian Grocer.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The "Petes" received a warm welcome on a cold night.

Now that the tax has been removed from soft beverages there is no "kick" about those drinks either.

With the Federal House re-opening this week March can surely be called the windy month.

Between its hockey team and the various criminal cases in its vicinity, it is impossible to keep Peterboro out of the news these days.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

DUMMER SCHOOLS.

To the Editor of The Examiner,
Dear sir:

The Township of Dummer has, of late, been quite prominently before the public and in a manner not at all to be desired. There are, however, some facts with which the public should be made acquainted and your editorial, in that connection, last night was timely.

It should be kept strictly in mind that the conditions brought to light by recent events are confined to a limited portion of the township. The greater part of Dummer compares favorably with any other community in this district either as regards the character of the people, their social standing or anything else.

There is one matter, however, to which I desire to call attention. At a meeting of the Presbytery in Peterborough some days ago, according to report, reference was made to the schools and it was stated that they were very poor having in attendance from one to five children. The district in which the recent deplorable events took place is in the north eastern corner of the township and is surrounded by four schools, all of which are in charge of qualified and competent teachers. At the time of my last visits, these schools had in attendance, respectively, 20, 18, 16 and 15 pupils which is very far from the picture in the report. It is true that part of the district is not situated conveniently to any of these schools, but in that particular region there are few, if any, permanent residents and only for short periods, have there been children that were out of reach of school. The speaker at Presbytery, who made reference to the schools, must have had in mind some other section, or have been misinformed.

Thanking you for giving space to this, I am

Yours truly,
RICHARD LEES,
P.S. Inspector.

"EQUAL RIGHTS."

Dear Sir,—Would you allow me a small space in your paper, in reply to the statement as given in your paper of the 10th inst., reported to have been made by Rev. Mr. Cameron.

While I do not know him, I am sure that if he made the statement he does not know the facts, because in the first place, without going into the matter to any great extent, I know personally of at least eight Public schools in the Township of Dummer, not counting some which are situated on the boundary and are union schools, drawing their taxes from both townships alike.

To my mind I think before making such statements as this, those making them should make some efforts to get facts, which they could back up when called upon to do so.

I also doubt very much his statement about only one pupil attending one of these schools.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor for this space in your paper I remain,

Yours For Equal Rights Tod All.

USE OF CANTEEN FUND.

Sir: May I submit the following suggestion re "The use of the Canteen Fund," viz.:

The first duty that the veteran owes to his country, his family and himself, is to keep himself physically fit. To assist him in doing this, he should have good medical advice readily available.

This would necessitate a medical officer being retained in each locality who would be responsible for his retaining fee.

The Canteen Fund should be invested and the trustees thereof should be responsible that the interest therefrom be distributed, pro rata, to each locality for the sole purpose of assisting in paying the retaining fee of the local medical officer.

In passing it should be remembered that if the fund be divided among the veterans they would not receive more than five dollars each. This amount would be considerably reduced by the cost of distribution.

If a hospital or home is provided, the majority of the fund would be absorbed in buildings and equipment leaving very little for maintenance and operation. Only a limited number could be accommodated in such an institution, which would necessarily be centrally located in the province and by this reason would be of practically little use to veterans in the outlying districts.

Educational facilities are already amply provided for. They are considered to be the best in the Dominion, if not in the world.

In conclusion the veteran must realize that as he grows older and his vitality becomes lowered he will suffer from the effects of his overseas service in proportion.

A. P. MILLER.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal

MONTREAL GRASS AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., March 14—(Canadian Press)—There was a fairly good inquiry from foreign buyers for most lines of grain in the Montreal market on Saturday, but the bids made were out of line and the volume of business transacted was small.

Further strength was displayed in the market for spring wheat grades and prices were marked up another 20c per barrel which makes a net rise for the week of 40c per barrel. The market closed strong with car lots of first patents quoted at 8.80, second patents at 8.30, and strong bakers at 8.10.

A weaker feeling prevailed in the market for fresh eggs and prices closed with a net loss of 1 to 2 per dozen for the week. Supplies were ample and a good demand was noted. Active business was done in a jobbing way with final sales of fresh extras at 40 to 41, firsts at 34 to 35 and seconds 30 to 31 cents per dozen. Receipts Saturday were 485 cases.

No important change was noted in the butter market and sales of Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery butter were made at 47c per pound; Western and Australian No. 1 pasteurized at 45 1-2, and New Zealand No. 1 pasteurized at 45 1-2 to 46 per pound. Receipts, 38 packages.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 13 (Canadian Press)—Milling demand for wheat at the highest price so far this season left Chicago today with virtually no wheat on hand to fill May delivery contracts here. With the United States visible supply total expected also to show a decrease on Monday and with diminishing stocks abroad, wheat prices took a fresh upward swing, closing unsettled, 3-8 to 1 1-8 net higher, May (new) $1.65 7-8 to $1.66 and July $1.43 7-8 to $1.44. Corn finished unchanged to 1-4c higher; oats unchanged and provisions unchanged to a rise of 12 cents.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, Que., March 14 (Canadian Press) — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here Saturday as follows:

Sterling demand—$4.87 3-8.
Sterling Cables—$4.87 7-8.

MEN PAID OFF

No More Logs to be Cut by Cooperage Company This Year.

TRENT RIVER, March 15.—The paymaster from the Trenton Cooperage Company arrived on Wednesday to make settlements with th men who have been employed cutting the timber which was recently purchased by the above company. The work of felling the balance of the trees will not be resumed till another year.

Mr. and Mrs. Matt Greenly and Douglas returned on Wednesday from Havelock to take up residence at their home. Mrs. Greenly and Douglas will go back and forth to their work at Havelock daily.

Mr. Joe Dunn is making a good recovery from his recent accident and is able to be about again.

Mrs. Thomas Tyler and Miss Mabel and Master Albert are all ill, but are making good recovery.

The trappers will have to wait for some time yet before the shores are clear for their work. The back channel is frozen from shore to shore.

The sawing machine, owned by Robert Carnrite, is busy in this vicinity.

Mrs. Claude Insley and son Billie of Healy Falls were recent visitors with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pollock.

The condition of Mrs. W. Cross who is ill in the Havelock hospital is very critical, having become much worse the past few days.

Fellowship of Prayer

MONDAY.

The Life After Death.

Read Jn. 14:1-6. Text: 14-2. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you for I go to prepare a place for you.

Meditation—The King's "house" is a vast palace, with "abodes," apartments not only for the King and the heir to the throne but for all the princes of the blood, no matter how numerous. They who live the life of love are His immortal children and their dwelling places are to be with the Father. They are eternal sharers in a royal family life not of intrigue and strife, but of love, peace, and of power unsullied and glorious. Not the immortality of glibbering bat-like shadows of earthly days, but the completed heavenly glory of an incomplete earthly beginning.

Prayer—O Almighty God, the God of the spirits of all flesh, who by a voice from heaven didst proclaim, Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord: Multiply, we beseech Thee, to those who rest in Jesus, the manifold blessings of Thy love, that the good work which Thou didst begin in them may be perfected in them unto the day of Jesus Christ. Amen.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

ONE REASON FOR FAILURE

Undismayed and unafraid, the audacious spirit presses on and on and on, while the less venturesome loiters and waits.

Intrepidity wins; timidity loses.

Fearlessness is necessary to success. To be afraid reaps no harvest other than more fears.

To achieve, we must work with courage and hope and vision. A mind clouded by doubts, by indecisions, and without a concrete picture of the goal to be attained, is a good deal like a rudderless boat without a pilot and with no power.

A well-defined end and a well-thought-out plan of procedure are essential to any undertaking, though no plan is feasible that is not amenable to change and all goals should have ascension possibilities.

It is not given to man to see in its entirety the way to, or the end of all things, and it is impossible to know how long it will take to succeed.

Of one thing, however, we may be sure—success is farther away than most folks are willing to concede.

This, perhaps, is the greatest contributing factor to failure. You cannot hurry achievement and you lose all when you give up before the goal is reached.

Labor is discovered to be the grand conqueror, enriching and building up nations more surely than the proudest battles.—Channing.

By speaking of our misfortunes we often relieve them.—Corneille.

Safe as the Bank of England

NEVER has a policyholder suffered loss through the failure of a regular life assurance company operating under charter from the Dominion of Canada. Can as much be said of any other class of business?

The soundness of each Canadian life company is rigorously tested, and the renewal of its license each year depends upon the result of an examination into its affairs by inspectors from the Government Insurance Department. Where else are trust funds so carefully guarded?

To guarantee the fulfilment of policy contracts, the Dominion Government has fixed a minimum standard of reserves to which every company is obliged to conform. The Imperial Life maintains reserves greatly in excess of the Government standard.

Every regular life assurance company in Canada must at all times provide security of an amount at least equal to its liabilities to policyholders. The Imperial Life provides security of more than $120 for every $100 of liability to its policyholders.

A deposit is required to be made with the Receiver General by each regular life assurance company doing business in Canada. The Government deposit maintained by The Imperial Life is more than four times the amount required by law.

MILK PRODUCERS TO BE LICENSED

Lakefield Council Imposes Fee on Vendors, Too.

COUNCIL MEETING

LAKEFIELD, Mar. 15 — The regular meeting of Lakfield Council was held on March 8.

A communication was read from the Canada Cement Co. undertaking to bear expense of vote on by-law to give transmission line franchise; and to construct manhole and pipeline to carry main drain of village across raceway, corporation to supply pipe.

Frank Pringle was appointed and an arrangement made with him to remove night soil, garbage and tins at charge of 40c per month per dwelling. Night soil, garbage and tins must be kept in three separate receptacles.

A deputation from the hill at the east end of Reid and Albert streets requested establishment of water tanks for fire protection for the east side of the village. The matter was referred to committee of Councillors Clark and Tedford and Messrs. W. J. Webster and Robt. Lennox for report at next meeting of Council.

By-law No. 647 to license, regulate and govern producers and vendors of milk for the village was. The producer's license fee fixed at $2.00 for 5 cows or less and $5.00 for more than 5 cows. Bottle vendor's license fee at $10.00. Dr. Kennedy was appointed inspector under the above by-law. The By-law was submitted to the Minister of Agriculture for approval and comes into force on receipt of his written approval.

The Clerk was instructed to write the Highways department for a ruling on certain points in interpretation of grants for work on the village roads which are connecting links in the County system.

The finance report was adopted and accounts ordered paid as follows: B. Marling, $30; R. Webster $24, Bell Tel. Co. $5.12, W. J. Charlton $127.72, H. E. Comm. $2, H. E. Comm. $330.66, petty cash account $2.24, H. G. Fitzgerald $17.25, T. Garvey $26.60, Pay roll $55.50, Theo. Crawford $5.50, Spence and Sons $1.46, Porter Co. $5.00, G. Scriver $4.10, G. Scriver $4.25, W. Clifford $17.60, A. G. Clysdale $7.45.

The account of the H. E. Comm. for hall lighting was held over for investigation.

NOTE TO CHINESE.

TIENTSIN, March 15.—(Canadian Press.)—A conference of British, French, United States and Italian naval ocmmanders aboard the warship Foxglove Saturday decided to notify the commanders of Chang Tso-Lin's fleet and the commander of the Taku forts to cease all military interference with the port by March 16.

Chinese Apology Confusing.

TOKIO, March 15.—(A.P.) — Foreign Minister Shidehara and Navy Minister Takarabe were consulting Saturday over the Taku firing and some decision by the Cabinet is expected, probably Monday.

The destroyers returned the fire, but made no attempt to hit the Chinese.

The Chinese apology and explanation that the entire affair was a misunderstanding is considered surprising and confusing.

One destroyer is proceeding to Port Arthur with the wounded. Two others are anchored off Taku awaiting instructions.

Bullets Replace Tonics In Beauty Parlor Belt

CHICAGO, March 15. — (United News).— Bullets replaced hair tonics as the surest hair-raising element in the South Side beauty parlor belt here on Friday.

A trade war broke out over the price of a marcelle and rolled up what may prove to be a permanent wave of ill feeling between organized beauty parlor owners and the independents.

The latter claim they are being "terrorized" because they refuse to bring their marcelle price up from fifty cents to $1. The campaign of threats has been accented in several cases by the hurling of bald headed paving stones and bullets through front windows, hair-tonic displays.

Police are patrolling the district following reports of violence against the establishments of Mrs. Myrtle Ellsworth and Mrs. A. Simon, prosperous independent.

SEEK TO BUY SEIZED VESSEL

FOR ARCTIC TRIP

NEW LONDON, Conn., March 15.—(United News).—A staunch ship which once transported heavy cargoes of forbidden liquors is being sought to carry a sturdy crew of explorers into the frozen north land. Sponsors of the Harrison Williams expedition were here this week with a view to buying the British schooner Palara, seized by the government in 1924 off Long Island with 4000 cases of whiskey. In subsequent court action the vessel was forfeited to the government and now is moored at the United States Coast Guard Academy here. Captain Robert A. Bartlett, Arctic explorer and Robert Perry, son of the famous discoverer, inspected the boat and sought to purchase it, but coast guards informed them of their inability to sell. The two men with George Palmer Putman, author and publisher, announced they would start immediately negotiations with Washington officials for the boat.

MINING RIGHTS GRANTED

BIG TIMBER DEAL

Soviet and Japanese Governments Enter Into Lumber Agreement.

MOSCOW, March 15.—(Canadian Press).— The Soviet government and a group of the largest Japanese timber companies are carrying on negotiations for exploitation by the latter of nearly five million acres of rich timber lands in the maritime provinces of Eastern Siberia. A provisional agreement has been initialed by both parties.

The proposed concession will be for 40 years and will include the manufacture of wood pulp. The Japaneses will pay Russia a comprehensive tax of 25 per cent on all the timber exported from the concession area.

Verdicts of Guilty Returned by Jury in Vancouver Trial.

ONE DAY IN JAIL

Four Companies Also Found Guilty of Conspiracy and Fined.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 15.—(Canadian Press).—Four individuals, J. A. Simington, head of the Nash-Simington, Ltd., Minneapolis; S. P. Lloyd, Winnipeg; W. E. Colquhoun, Regina, and W. E. Carruthers, Calgary, were found guilty of conspiracy in a verdict returned Saturday by the jury which heard the trial of charges against fruit firms operating in Western Canada. The men were ordered to pay a fine of $25,000 each, and were sentenced to one day in jail.

Four companies, Mutual, Vancouver; Mutual, Calgary; Mutual, Winnipeg, and Mutual, Regina, were also found guilty and fined $25,000. All other defendants were acquitted.

SPRINGVILLE W.M.S.

Preparations Made to Send Bale to Boy in Indian School.

The Springville auxiliaries of the W.M.S. met on Tuesday afternoon, March 9th, at the home of Mrs. S. Staples. In spite of the inclemency of the weather and bad roads, about twenty members attended and the meeting was an enthusiastic one. Preparations were made to send a bale to an Indian school for boys in Alberni, B.C. Arrangements were made for the annual Thank offering of the Society to be held at the evening service on Sunday, March 21st. The Rev. Mr. Richards, of Mark street, Peterborough, will be the speaker on the occasion and it was decided to have a woman's choir for that evening.

After the meeting was closed a pleasant social hour was spent by $75,000 JEWEL THEFT.

Five Armed Men Robbed New York Store.

NEW YORK, March 15.—During the height of the Saturday evening traffic at one of the busiest corners in the Bronx, five armed men held up the proprietor and two clerks of the jewelery firm of William H. Sims & Co., Inc., at 2,486 Grand Concourse, and escaped with diamands and jewellery estimated to be worth $75,000.

The robbery occurred a few minutes before 8 o'clock last night when hundreds of automobiles were passing along the Concourse and while two police were on duty at the intersection of Grand Concourse and Fordham Road four doors away.

William Sims, the President of the concern, and two clerks, Daniel Howe and Adolph Hofmeyer, were behind the counter when two young men walked in through the double doors. One went to the left where Sims was arranging fountain pens in a case, while the other walked to the other side of the store and engaged the attention of Hofmeyer by asking to see some watches. A few seconds later one of the pair whistled softly and three other young men walked briskly in.

COL. DONALDSON DEAD.

Former Prince Albert Conservative M.P.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., March 15.—(Canadian Press.)—Col. S. J. Donaldson, at one time Conservative member in the Federal House for Prince Albert, died Sunday morning from heart failure. In the war he raised and commanded the 188th Battalion, C.S.F. Proceeding with it to England where it was absorbed by field units. He returned to Canada but stood down in the 1917 election in favor of Andrew Knox, who ran as a Unionist. For many years, Col. Donaldson was a member of the Provincial Legislature and held the position of Conservative whip. He saw service in the Reil rebellion as a member of R.C.M.P. He was also a prominent member of the Masonic order.

LINDSAY, March 15.—(Special) —Mr. and Mrs. John Copp, of Fenelon Falls, parents of Mrs. Wm. Cresswell, and Mr. W. J. Copp of Peterboro, celebrated their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary in that village last week. Owing to the illness of Mr. Copp the event was quietly observed.

Mr. and Mrs. Copp were married in Lindsay in 1869. There are eight children living; also twenty-four grandchildren and seven great grandchildren.

FEDERAL HOUSE RESUMES TODAY AFTER HOLIDAY

Practically None of the Regular Business Yet Done — Main Estimates Due.

MANY QUESTIONS

Premier King Takes Seat in House Today—Debate Concluded.

OTTAWA, March 15 (Canadian Press).—After a recess of twelve days, the House of Commons resumes sittings to-day with practically the full work of an ordinary session before it. Beyond conclusion of the debate on the address, practically none of the regular business has been done. The financial year ends with the close of the present month, but estimates have still to be brought down. Main estimates will probably be tabled to-day or, if not, within a few days. An interim supply bill will be necessary, but this cannot now become law till after the close of the financial year as the Senate does not meet again till April 6.

The order paper is piled up with scores of questions, and with sufficient private members' motions to keep the House going for weeks. Of the latter, one of the first to be considered will be that of J. W. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg North Centre, that Canada should not accept responsibility for complications arising from British foreign policy. But while so many private members' motions remain to be considered, there are now only two private members' days a week remaining — Mondays and Wednesdays. For the first four weeks of the session, Thursday is also a private members' day. But Thursday has already automatically lapsed as a private members' day for the remainder of session, although the House this year has not yet seen a single private members' day.

Premier King took his seat in the House this afternoon, and the introduction of Government legislation on old age pensions, rural credits and for the return of natural resources to Alberta, is expected shortly. The main estimates will, it is reported, contain an appropriation for completion of the Hudson Bay Railway.

A Deputy-Speaker will be appointed, probably this week. A number of names has been suggested for the appointment. That of W. A. Duff of Lunenburg, N.S., has recently been added to those mentioned.

The Customs probe resumes on Tuesday.

THREE CAPTIVES IN LINDSAY WAR ON RUM RUNNERS

One of Them Arrested at Train With Gallon of Alcohol.

HELD FOR TRIAL

Hearing Adjourned on Account of Illness of Magistrate's Mother.

LINDSAY, March 15—The campaign waged by the local Provincial officers against the bootleggers in town and district still continues. This week three alleged vendors of liquor of doubtful quality were gathered in by Provincial Officer Storey and License Inspector Porter. One of the trio, a man named Madill, is out on bail, while the others, Sproule and Kellett, are in jail awaiting trial.

Sproule was nabbed by the officers a few evenings ago as he stepped off a train. He was carrying a grip, and the courteous officers volunteered to take charge of it. It was found to contain a gallon of pure alcohol. Sproule was taken before Police Magistrate Bradford, and was remanded for a week. Madill was in Sproul's company at the time of the seizure, and he was later taken into custody.

Kellett, the third man, left the limits some months ago after the officers had searched his house and seized a goodly supply of alcohol. A warrant was issued for Kellett's arrest, but he evaded the authorities and was finally located in Oshawa, where he was arrested on Thursday.

The charges were billed for hearing Saturday but owing to the absence of Police Magistrate Bradford were adjourned.

There was a crowded court room to hear the cases, with a battery of lawyers representing the accused. Mayor Wilkinson and Deputy-Reeve Moore, Justices of the Peace, were on the bench, and the counsel for the accused asked that the charges be proceeded with. County Crown Attorney Anderson said that out of common decency as well as through sympathy for the Magistrate, whose mother was dying, the hearing should be adjourned. The lawyers pressed their requests, and the County Crown Attorney threatened to with draw from the court and report the situation to the Attorney-General. The bench finally adjourned the cases for eight days.

The authorities refuse to give out any information but it is rumored that they have been able to trace the source of supply and that interesting developments will follow.

CANADIANS BUY MORE INSURANCE

OTTAWA, Ont., March 15. — (Canadian Press.) — Canadians took out new life insurance to the value of $807,097,091 in 1925. This was an increase of nearly $110,000,000 over 1924 business and brings the total of life insurance in effect in Canada at the end of 1925 to $4,254,908, 778.

Of this total insurance, $2,761,-763,559 is held by Canadian companies, $112,320,099 by British companies and $1,380,854,620 by foreign companies. Of last year's business Canadian companies got $523,710,785, British companies got $18,288,123 and foreign companies $265,098,183. Canadian and foreign companies secured during the year an increase of fourteen and nineteen per cent. respectively; British companies did about the same business as in 1924.

Taking all companies together, policies to the value of $255,111,-942 lapsed during the year and surrendered policies are valued at $90,939,162. All these figures are given out by the Federal Department of insurance.

An increase of 2 per cent. in the premiums written and a decrease of nearly 6 per cent. in the losses incurred sums up the experience of fire insurance companies in Canada in 1925 when compared with that of 1924.

Net premiums written, licensed reinsurance deducted amounted to $53,044, and net losses incurred $28,116,864, the loss ratio being therefore $53.01 per cent. compared with 58.80 per cent. in 1924.

The premiums written by Canadian companies amounted to $8,-718,282, by British companies $24,-055,290 and by foreign companies $20,271,387 as compared with $9,-002,447, $23,552,080 and $19,571,-944 respectively in 1924.

World Leadership Brings Low Prices

It is a vital, practical thing that means satisfaction and money to buyers.

It means satisfaction because public demand is based on satisfaction — and the demand for Graham Brothers Trucks is growing greater every day.

It means money to buyers because large demand means large production—and large production is the secret of low prices.

Graham Brothers are the largest exclusive truck manufacturers in the world. By that fact the buyer profits.

He profits by the quality that created the demand — and by the astonishingly low prices that demand made possible.

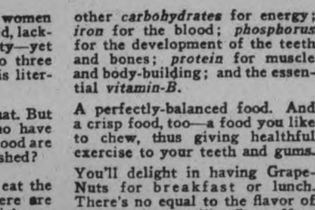
The Five Precious Elements in This Food Protect You Against Malnutrition



UNDERNOURISHED — yet sitting down each day to three meals at which the table is literally loaded with food!

THERE are men and women who are undernourished, lacking energy, low in vitality—yet sitting down every day to three meals at which the table is literally loaded with food!

We all know people like that. But why is it that people who have access to an abundance of food are not always properly nourished?

It is because they do not eat the right kind of foods. There are certain food elements which our bodies must receive every day for perfect health and strength. Too often the foods we eat are lacking in one or more of these vital elements, or do not give them to us in sufficient quantities and in correct proportions.

Just for this reason, an expert in food values originated Grape-Nuts. He designed it expressly to supply the body with the following essential elements of nutrition: Dextrins, maltose and other carbohydrates for energy; iron for the blood; phosphorus for the development of the teeth and bones; protein for muscle and body-building; and the essential vitamin-B.

A perfectly-balanced food. And a crisp food, too—a food you like to chew, thus giving healthful exercise to your teeth and gums.

You'll delight in having Grape-Nuts for breakfast or lunch. There's no equal to the flavor of the crunchy, nut-like Grape-Nuts grains. And Grape-Nuts is easy to digest. A special process of baking transforms the precious nourishment in Grape-Nuts into a form that your body can take up almost immediately.

Have Grape-Nuts to-morrow just as it comes from the wax-wrapped package, with milk or cream. Four teaspoonfuls to a serving—costs less than one cent. Grape-Nuts is sold by grocers everywhere.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGES OF GRAPE-NUTS!

Mail the coupon and we will send you two individual packages of Grape-Nuts free — enough for two breakfasts. We will also send you "A Book of Better Breakfasts". Follow the menus which this book contains and form the habit of healthful breakfasts.

THE HOME OF GOOD VALUES

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago and later is attacked by two men but escapes.

Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—he as one of his assailants, she as the man who got the stub. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness causes her to break their engagement. Mary writes Jimmy a letter, telling him about it. The office boy sticks it in his pocket and forgets it.

Barry and Jimmy, coming from a theater, run into a street fight. One of the men, who runs away, is later identified by Jimmy as one of the pair who had attacked him.

Barry, without Jimmy's knowledge, seeks out Mary Lowell and tells her who Olga Maynard is. Later that day he tells Jimmy to mark the date in his note book.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XL.

Jimmy said to Barry Colvin, as they were getting ready for bed: "There's been a lot in the last week or so to take my mind off my real job here. Seeing that fellow Kid Divis last night made me realize it. I'm through mooncalfing around. I'm going to find that man Jensen or bust. And when I find him I'm going to learn who's at the bottom of it all. I don't think he is."

"What did O'Day tell you about Divis? Did he locate him again?"

"No. But we will, don't worry. Barry, has it occurred to you what a strange, weird sort of mystery this whole thing is? Our newest clue, you might say, is this man Divis. Checking back from him the other links in the chain are Jensen the anonymous letters, Olga Maynard, Tom Fogarty and the yellow ticket stub."

"Yes, and the little shooting party that was planned for you. Don't forget the famous shot in the dark, Jim, or the rendezvous with Jensen."

"The one thing we can be thankful for most of all is the yellow stub. Thank God for that. If we ever do run this thing down, it will be because of that insignificant little piece of cardboard. Without it we'd have been lost; we'd still be in Grafton, most likely."

"There's an old saying, Jim, that there is no murderer smart enough to get away without leaving some clue behind. I'm beginning to believe it. I've never heard of one that succeeded in doing it, and I've read about quite a few murder cases."

"It's a law of retribution, Barry—or something that amounts to the same thing. You know, I imagine I can just visualize that murder, and trace the man who did it through every step he took. . . . After it was over, of course God! I can't bear to think of the actual—"

"I know," said Barry softly.

"I can see him," Jimmy continued, "as he put on his hat and overcoat, then fumbling through his pockets and pulling out the handkerchief and laying it on the dresser. In this case, you know, the murderer was so confident of not being traced that, out of sheer bravado, he deliberately left the handkerchief on the scene."

"Maybe not bravado entirely" put in Barry. "Perhaps he calculated to throw the police on to the wrong scent by bringing in the woman angle. You know how they persisted in believing that some woman was mixed up in it. And then, of course, when Olga Maynard entered into it, they just knew they were right. They still think so back in Garfton, Jim."

"Well, of course, the handkerchief wouldn't have led us anywhere, but the murderer failed to reckon with the yellow stub. You know, Barry," he said musingly, "that phrase, 'the yellow stub,' sort of fascinates me. It isn't just a theater ticket coupon. To me it's always been the yellow stub, ever since that night in that awful room when someone—oh yes, it was a newspaper reporter—picked it up and remarked that it would make a good headline. He called it the mystery of the yellow stub."

"They never used the headline, did they?"

"No. Detective Mooney got him aside and asked him, as a big favor, not to mention it in his story. Mooney explained that they wanted the murderer to think that the handkerchief was the only clue. He said the reporter kicked like the devil but finally consented, inasmuch as none of the other newspapers knew about it, because of some favors Mooney had shown him in the past."

"I'll be seeing Mooney tomorrow—about that ring, and Marie Real. I'm leaving for Grafton early in the morning."

"Oh yes—and by the way, Barry, here's a funny thing." Jimmy produced a letter from the pocket of his coat, which was hanging over the back of a chair. "I got this letter today. Now, as a smart young criminal lawyer, suppose you see what you make of it."

Barry read it. "Who is this Miss Caton?" he asked after he had finished, referring to the signature.

"She was a stenographer and a sort of secretary to that fellow Porter how fired me from my job with the laundry."

"And she says she thinks you were the victim of a frame-up." He read from the letter: "'A man came in that morning and asked if Mr. Rand worked there. I showed him to Mr. Porter and the two of them talked a while and I heard them mention your name. Late that afternoon you were discharged. I'm sure that's what they were talking about. The reason I wrote to you is that I saw the same man today, riding in an automobile'."

Barry raised his head from the letter. "There you are—framed, all right. The bozo who is so anxious for you to clear out is trying to make it easier for you."

"Don't talk about it," said Jimmy. "I'm weary of it and I'm going to sleep."

Barry left for Grafton the next morning, taking with him the ring and promising to be back as soon as possible.

"You need a bodyguard, you chump," was his parting shot at Jimmy.

Left to himself, Jimmy retreated to the quiet of his room and there sat down with valiant resolve to apply his mental machinery to the formulation of some plan which might lead him to the root of the mystery.

Fogarty, Jensen, Divis, Olga Maynard, O'Day, Thaddeus Rand—the images conjured by these names floated mistily before his eyes, and, disappearing again, left him groping vaguely in an attempt to rationalize the strange procession of events.

"Did Thaddeus Rand have any brothers or sisters?" he asked.

O'Day sat and pondered. "I'm not sure," he said finally. "There was some talk or rumor that he had a sister, but it's been too long to remember. I sort of think there was a sister."

Jimmy said: "Barry Colvin brought a ring when he came here. It had the name Marie in it and my father's initials on it. It was Marie Real, of course."

"More than likely," assented O'Day, "but does it mean anything?"

"Nothing, except that I'm going to run it down if I can. I'm sure that the motive for my father's murder comes somewhere from out of his past. That's why it's worth investigating."

He reached for his hat. "If there were any way of tracing my grandfather—if he did have any sister that might be able to tell us something, or that might help us clear up this, this fog—then we might get somewhere."

"You can never tell, Rand. Maybe someone who loved Marie Real and was jealous of your father—"

"Hardly. She would be as old as my father now. It would be waiting a long time for revenge."

"But people are strange. Sometimes they do wait for the right chance—some of them."

He felt certain, as he threaded his way home, that old Thaddeus Rand somehow held the key to this baffling mystery.

Perhaps old Thaddeus was dead, and, if so, the secret might be locked with him in his grave. Perhaps Marie Real, if she were still alive, could point the way. . . .

He reflected that this thing that had happened to Henry Rand could have happened to few men. There were very few about whom so little was known—even by their own families. Henry Rand himself, he admitted, was nearly as much of a mystery as his murder.

Pleasure bound crowds, headed for an evening at the theater or some other form of amusement, jostled him as he walked heedlessly on. . . .

He had firmly resolved to put Mary Lowell out of his thoughts, but despite himself she filled them and his attempts to decide on a plan of action were futile.

Back in his room, he flung open his window and, heedless of the cold, he sat gazing at the distant lights.

Electric signs, blocks away, flickered and danced as they conveyed their sales messages to a public whose pocketbook responded to advertising as to no other thing.

An illuminated billboard, not so far away, proclaimed the virtues of a certain brand of automobile. He studied it and grew cold.

He heard the gentle jeering of Barry Colvin's laughter in his ears and missed his amiable companionship, and his continual banter. . . . The sign had faded. Instead, he saw Mary Lowell's eyes, and the loneliness that filled him was almost more than he could endure.

How long he had sat there he did not know, but the ringing of the telephone bell downstairs aroused him with a sudden start.

Mrs. King had gone to bed. He waited, debating whether to go downstairs and take the message, and decided to let it ring. . . . Still, he reflected, it might be for him. Better go down.

Unwillingly, he pulled himself together and started slowly down the stairs.

He lifted the receiver, said, lazily: "Hello."

"Jim! Is that you?" It was Olga Maynard's voice, tense, strained.

"Yes." Alarmed at her tone, he said: "What's the matter?"

"Thank God you're there!" Her voice came over the wire in a hoarse whisper. "I've found Jensen. He's in a house across the street. Come quick—oh!"

A sudden, gasping cry—then silence. He called frantically into the phone. "Olga! Olga!"

But the echoes of his own voice, sounding strangely in the dark, empty hallway, were his only answer.

CHINA PROTESTS JAPANESE SHIPS IN PEIHO RIVER

Japs Enter Counter Protest Because Gunboats Were Fired On.

Chinese Say Boats Should Have Informed Forts of Intentions.

(By Randall Gould, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

PEKING, March 13.—China today protested to the Japanese legation against yesterday's invasion of the Peiho River by two Japanese gun boats.

Japan countered with a protest to the foreign office, that the Taku fort's attack on the gunboats was unjustified and announced that the matter would be taken up with the Powers signatory to the Boxer protocol.

The Japanese gunboats were driven off by the Chinese. They retreated toward the sea, ineffectively returning the fire of the land batteries. The commander of the flotilla was among the three wounded Japanese.

China's protest says that the gunboats entered the river without previously informing the Chinese Nationalist troops manning the forts that they were coming.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, March 15.—Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Gillman leave this week for Peterboro where they will remain for two or three weeks.

Mrs. Thomas Junkin is visiting friends in Toronto.

Mrs. J. C. Strickland is in Toronto for a few days.

Mr. William J. Condon of Macklin, Sask., is visiting his mother, Mrs. William Condon.

Mrs. E. H. Northey was called to Toornto last week by the illness of her sister, Miss Jessie MacGregor.

Dr. S. J. Gibson and Master Jack were in London this week visiting friends and attended the final game between Peterboro and London.

Mr. Fred Brown was in Peterboro on Friday.

Messrs. C. E. Strickland and G. J. Elmsley were in Toronto on business this week.

Miss Allee and Master Jack Brown entertained about twenty-five of their young friends on Friday last. The young people spent a very pleasant evening.

The Girls Auxiliary of St. John's church and the Senior Girls' Class combined for a most enjoyable skating party on Wednesday night going to Mrs. H. J. Stuart's home for refreshments, after the rink.

Crows have made their appearance and a robin's arrival has been reported so one feels assured that spring is near. The warm suns have made a slight impression on the great banks of snow piled everywhere, but the night brings more frost and north winds.

WENT ON RAMPAGE WITH ARMY RIFLE

Three Men and Girl Shot at Party.

SILVER CREEK, N.Y., Mar. 15—Four persons were injured late Thursday night, when Arthur Nelson, 30, of West Irving, went on a rampage and with an army rifle shot up a shack nearby where a number of young people were holding a party.

A bullet passed through the side of the shack, struck Miss Wilcox in the mouth, knocking out several teeth and imbedding itself in the opposite wall. Mozell was shot through the body. He was taken to Brooks Memorial hospital at Dunkirk, where an X-ray examination showed vital organs had been penetrated. The injuries to the other two were slight.

TORONTO, March 13 (Canadian Press).—Two young men were placed under arrest last night, charged with the theft of an airplane, the property of K. R. Kerr, of Orchard View Boulevard, which was stolen from its hangar at Leaside last year.

The engine of the machine was found in a cellar on Danforth Avenue, and other parts were recovered from a house on Pape Avenue. The fuselage was located in a second-hand store in the city.

BUSINESS MEN AT CUSTOMS ENQUIRY

R. P. Sparks Making Arrangements To Have Many Witnesses.

TORONTO, Mar. 15 (Canadian Press)—A "business men's week" in the customs enquiry will be held during the week of April 12. R. P. Sparks, head of the Commercial Protective Association, while in Toronto today said he was making arrangements to have the witnesses representative of all the trades and industries affected by smuggling brought before the committee during that week. "Probably it will not be possible to hear more than twenty," he said, "though we could easily produce hundreds.

We desire to present the committee with authorative expressions of the opinions of the business community as to the extent of smuggling and the great losses it occasions."

Mr. Sparks addresses the Manufacturers' Credit Bureau this evening.

REPORTS TO UTILITIES COMMISSION

ACCOUNTANT'S REPORT.

I beg to submit for your information and approval the financial statements of the Electric Department for the year ending December 31, 1925.

The earnings from electric consumers totalled $219,499.32, being an increase over the previous year of $11,850.84. The divisions of the increase are as follows:

	Increase	Decrease
Domestic Lighting	$ 6522 82
Commercial Lighting	8291 50
Power		$2771 50
Street Lighting		191 98
	$14814 32	$2963 48

In the operating expenses are included depreciation on trucks at 2% of original cost, and of office furniture and equipment at 10% of original cost, totalling $1,788.58, also an allowance of $719.04 to establish the workmen's compensation reserve at $10,000.00 and a plant depreciation charge of 2% on the plant value of $466,184.51, plus 4% on the accrued reserve of $47,507.93, making a total charge for this purpose of $11,224.00. Interest and sinking fund paid to the city on the debenture debt of this department amounted to $32,736.28. The costs incurred due to the investigation of the Campbell Milling Company's power account were $859.57. The charge from the Hydro-Electric Power Commission on the thirteenth power bill, being the adjustment between the actual cost of delivering power to Peterborough and the amount paid on the interim rate for 1925, was $15,789.39, to which must be added the interest charge on the accumulated deficit from October 31, 1924, to April 30, 1925, on which date it was paid of $756.18. Adding the general operating expenses to the above enumerated expenses, there is shown a total operating expense for the year of $218,197.20, leaving a net profit on the operations of the year of $1,302.12.

During the year there was expended in construction the sum of $26,560.23 for lines, transformers, meters and street lighting equipment and on reconstruction of existing lines the sum of $4,989.68.

Domestic Consumers	3459943 K.W.H.	Increase	340483 K.W.H.
Commercial "	2486909 "	Increase	75134 "
Power "	6536653 "	Decrease	776922 "

During the year there were 264 consumers added to the system as follows: 221 domestic, 36 commercial, 7 power, and the total number of consumers in each class on December 31, 1925, were: 5,487 domestic, 802 commercial, 131 power.

ENGINEER'S REPORT

I beg to report herewith on the activities of the Electrical Department for the year ending December 31st, 1925.

DISTRIBUTION SYSTEM

The principal item of construction was the extension of the primary circuit to the new Sewage Disposal Plant.

This included a River Crossing on 70 foot poles, and we now have a complete circuit, especially for this power, from the Substation.

There were the usual extensions to the lines necessitated by increased load and new business, and also a certain amount of reconstruction. These totalled 3000 feet of primary and 6000 feet of secondary.

Plans and estimates were prepared for the reconstruction of all the lines north of King Street and west of Park Street, and a start was made on the work by setting most of the poles needed.

TRANSFORMERS

There are now 667 transformers in the system, the total capacity of which is 8855 K.W., of these 4343 K.W. are for Power Service to industrial plants. About 600 K.W. of transformers were added to the total in 1925, and 10 were burned out, totalling 63 K.W.

METERS

We now have installed on the system 6656 meters of all kinds, practically every service being metered. During the year 246 new meters were set and 1320 tested by the Dominion Government Inspector.

All power meter installations have been checked and in many cases rewired. An inspection embracing all parts of these installations is now being made periodically.

A Portable Duplex Recording meter was purchased and is now being used to get complete information regarding the customers' loads.

A Dodge truck was purchased and is being used in the day time in the meter department and at night by the man on duty in the Trouble Department.

STREET LIGHTS

New brackets were installed on George and Water Streets north of Smith Street, with 200 watt lamps, all operated by time clock. Subsequently, these have been changed to 100 watt, as the latter size was found sufficient.

During the year designs were made for Street Lighting in East City and the Commission is now installing a new system similar to that in the northern part of the city.

The Magnetite Arcs have given considerable trouble and the burning out of a coil in one of the machines in the substation brought to a head, a proposition, to replace these with incandescents of equal power. The Commission has authorized the change to be made on one circuit and the work will be proceeded with as soon as the material arrives.

At the request of the City Council, the Commission designed and installed new wiring and lighting for the Ashburnham bridge and this work has been completed.

The Commission is now experimenting with a view to the determination of the proper style of street lighting suitable to this city's local conditions. When the City Council decides to improve the street lighting in other parts of the city, the Commission will be ready with the proper information.

The man on duty in the trouble department patrols all the street lights taking different routes each night so that the whole city is covered each week.

This patrol in addition to the notifications received from the citizens has enabled us to keep up the efficiency of the system.

STORMS, etc.

There were only two complete interruptions, on February 26th and September 18th, which were caused by trouble on the Central Ontario System and not by any local disturbance.

It is gratifying to note that these interruptions are becoming less and less of late years.

TROUBLE DEPARTMENT

125 trouble orders were received and attended to. A lineman is on hand every night until 10 o'clock to look after any troubles that come in during the evening, and we have found it of great benefit to have an experienced man on call.

TREE TRIMMING

Last year considerable trimming was done in East City, and the results have been gratifying indeed. The local interruptions have been almost entirely eliminated and the street lighting has been greatly benefited also.

SUBSTATION

The station has operated satisfactorily for the past year with no trouble of any description.

A concrete floor was laid in the basement of the street railway annex, and this now forms a continuation of the store room a work shop.

STORES DEPARTMENT

All stores of both departments are now in charge of a storekeeper who issues all material on requisition only.

SYSTEM LOAD

A systematic method of reading the charts from the graphic meters was installed and a daily check is made of the load.

The maximum load for the year occurred on Dec. 8th, at 4.40 P.M. and amounted to 5403 h.p.

The maximum load for 1924 occurred on the 9th of the same month and amounted to 5415 h.p.

The total K.W. hours delivered to the system in 1925 was 15, 516,300 as compared with 15,293,400 in 1924.

	1924	1925
Maximum monthly peak	5415.5	5403.4
Date	Dec. 9th	Dec. 8th
Time	4.40 p.m.	4.50 p.m.
Average monthly peak	4595.5	4704.0
Total K.W. hours	14,295,400	15,516,300
Average Daily K.W. hours	41785	42510
Load factor, yearly	30.5	50.4

RECORDS

A plan was made showing all primary circuits and copies placed in the substation and other points so that the operators are fully informed as to the details of this part of the distribution system.

Plans are also in process of preparation which will show in detail all the primary and secondary lines, and all structures. These will be completed in 1926 and are similar to those that have been in use in the Waterworks Department for the last five years.

Information that was present only in the brains of one or two men will soon be down on paper where it will be on record.

All transformers were listed and information regarding them recorded in a proper book and a valuation of them is now under way.

A meter record card system was installed and by means of it a complete history of each meter will be available.

RECOMMENDATIONS

It is recommended that a Graphic Watt meter be installed in the substation in such a way that it can be switched to each feeder, thus giving us a record of the load and its fluctuations.

This information would be very valuable in connection with the design of the feeders and in many other ways.

We should also have an indicating power factor meter installed in the substation so as to read the system power factor before correction by the synchronous motor.

The installation of lightning arresters to protect the transformers could be more general, as this is line with the general practice.

SET NEW TRIP RECORD

Roger Longe, of Kenora, set a new record when he covered the 130-mile trail from Red Lake, the scene of the present gold rush in Northern Ontario, to Hudson in three days, or 33 hours of actual travel. He is shown, at the upper left, with one of his dogs, and a close-up of the animal is shown below. At the upper right are two views of an Indian woman and her papoose, carried in native fashion. The mother and child were photographed near Hudson.

GOOD SUM FROM ANNUAL TAG DAY

Workers Pleased With Generous Response Made By Citizens.

TOTAL OVER $1,200.

Saturday's Tag Day for St. Vincent's Orphanage netted the institution and the workers the splendid sum of $1,200.04, with several more donations anticipated. This is one of the biggest amounts yet received for the annual Tag Day effort, and the workers were especially pleased with the result of their efforts. Last year's total was $1,056.09.

Some 52 boxes were utilized in the tag day effort on Saturday, 11 in the south end of the city, in the Sacred Heart Parish, where the work was in charge of Mrs. C. Bacon, and where the box with the largest amount, No. 3, with $74.30, was collected by Mrs. John Denny; 8 in East City, where Monsignor McColl divided the district into sections, and where Box No. 23, with $56.28, received the largest amount, collected by Mrs. M. Mulcahy and Miss Josephine Brisbois, and the balance in St. Peter's Parish, where Mrs. J. J. Lynch acted as general convenor, assisted by Miss Annie Simons, and where the largest amount of all, $157.99, was collected in Box No 55 by Mrs. W. J. Young. The second highest total here was in Box No. 56, with $77.42 collected by Mrs. T. McQuillan, one of the most energetic and faithful of the annual Tag Day workers. Miss Annie Simons collected from St. Peter's and St. Mary's Schools, her box realizing the nice total from the pupils of over $30.

Ladies in charge of the lunch, which was served the workers in St. Alphonsus' Lyceum, and their assistants, were the Misses Nevin and J. McCarthy, Mrs. T. McQuillan, Mrs. J. Coughlin, Mrs. D. Donoghue, Mrs. T. LaPlante, Mrs. J. W. Fitzgerald, Mrs. M. Daly, Mrs. A. Sharpe and Miss M. Croft.

Organizers of the annual Tag Day for the Orphanage, in 1914, were the late Mrs. N. T. LaPlante and Mrs. Anna Dunn, the latter still taking an active and unceasing interest in its furtherance and success.

REPORT READY FOR SIGNATURES

Ontario Agriculture Committee Advocates Co-operative Marketing.

TO BE TABLED.

TORONTO, March 15 (Canadian Press).—The report of the Agricultural Inquiry Committee of the Ontario Legislature has been completed, and only awaits the signature of all the members of the committee before being tabled in the House. Prominent among the policies advocated are, it is understood, the co-operative marketing of cattle upon the Manitoba plan; protecting of certain early and other fruits and vegetables by a tariff, and co-operation in export marketing of the provinces under Federal leadership or of the provinces acting together should the Federal Government not be prepared to act, or of Ontario farmers acting alone should the sympathy of the other provinces prove impossible to marshal.

The report may be tabled in the Legislature to-day.

FIRE CONSUMES SIX COTTAGES

Summer Residences Destroyed By Fire Early This Morning.

HAMILTON, Ont., March 15. — Canadian Press. — Fire early this morning completely destroyed four summer residences on the beach near Station 22 and partially destroyed two others. The cause of the fire is not known. Loss is placed at $7500.

The owners of the houses are R. G. Harkness, L. S. McKenzie, J. Leckenby and the Judd Estate which owned three of the six burned places.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin. —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

B. I. T.—You have had a good deal to contend with, young as you are. Life has not been by any means roses to you, but you have a character strong enough to combat it, and a temperament that turns many little disappointments into smiles. This is a very fortunate type of disposition. "To the brave and faithful nothing is difficult." You may need, as you go through the world, much of tact and patience, but you will have a worthwhile life, because you have the ability to know and seize an opportunity when you see it, and you are a good mixer. Why not try to reach out for something better than what you have now? Even if you intend to make marriage your ultimate goal, there is much time before you. You are really worth something more than you have achieved yet and the opportunity lies in your own two hands. You have an aptitude for mechanical trades but like better a life that brings you into contact with many people. Why not capitalize the mixing qualities you possess to better advantage? You would make a good milliner, or designer, a teacher, or a business executive. As you go through the world, while thinking of yourself, think also of others. The more joy and happiness you bring to the lives of those about you, the more you will reap for yourself. It is a happy way of life. You were born on Saturday. Your colors are the tan shades. The day you ask about, a Thursday, is one for being patient and agreeable and making no important purchases.

W. W. J.—Your nature is strong and active, but you do not always consider the rights of others as much as your own, putting your own desires always in the foreground. In doing this, you do not think you are selfish, but merely wish to do what you want. If other people get in your way, that is not your fault, and you feel always that you are right, as you have an inborn conviction that you are just as good as anyone else. This is quite right. You probably are, in some ways, but not in all, as long as you persist in being selfish to those who are unselfish. And this attribute of self first has a very particular bearing on your future existence, as the only way in which you will succeed and find happiness or love is to put others first and to think mainly of their joy and comfort before your own. It is a rather hard job that you have to face, is it not, and means making yourself over, practically. You would probably find it quite worth while, however. Unless you do this, certainly do not marry the type of girl you ask about. She will be a lady who will feel that she is quite superior, and how are the two of you going to get along? You had better marry the clinging vine type and then be very good to her. March, May or August would be better for you. February and November are your good months, Wednesday your lucky day. You were born on Monday. Your color is flame in all its many shades. You do not ask about a particular day, only a month. That is too wide a range.

ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.

The miracle of the loaves and fishes multiplied in the wilderness was the subject of the sermon preached by Rev. P. Costello at the morning Masses at St. Peter's Cathedral yesterday. This miracle, the reverend speaker declared, was a pre-figuration of the feeding of the souls of the faithful by Christ present in the Blessed Sacrament. God did not need to suffer in His earthly lifetime as He did, nor did He need to give Himself in the Blessed Sacrament to comfort and fortify the souls of the faithful, but out of His infinite mercy and love He had done these things for His children.

Rev. Father Costello, speaking for the Sisters of St. Vincent's Orphanage, thanked very heartily all who had helped to make Saturday's tag day such a success, the taggers who stood in the cold, the ladies who provided the lunch, and all who contributed, including the generous support given by non-Catholics of the city.

Mention was also made at the morning Masses of the anticipated decoration of the walls of the sanctuary and side altars at the Cathedral.

A special sermon on St. Patrick, the patron of Ireland, was preached at the Cathedral last evening by Rev. J. Finn.

SCHOOL CONCERT.

Afternoon Entertainment at Queen Mary School—Good Programme.

Under the auspices of the Queen Mary Home and School Association a very successful entertainment in honour of St. Patrick's Day was held in Queen Mary school on Saturday last from 3 o5clock to 6. The hall was tastefully decorated with shamrocks and green streamers. In the absence of the president, Mr. Allison, the vice-president, Mr. E. G. Wagar, took charge of the programme. There were piano solos duets and choruses by various groups of children. Contributors to the programme were Mrs. F. A. Hodgson, Mrs Scholey, Master George Scholey, J. and B. Gray, Jessie Scholey, Gladys Murray, and the Fletcher Tots. Mrs. Bugg had charge of the choruses and performed in her usual efficient manner.

The attendance was good and the whole affair most gratifying to the executive of the Association.

RADIO MESSAGE.

Peterboro' Boy Sends Best Wishes To His Mother, Ill in Hospital.

Percy Naish of Windsor, formerly of Peterboro, while singing at Detroit with the choir of Central United Church for the radio, sent the following message to his mother who is sick in Nicholls Hospital: "Kind greetings and hoping for a speedy recovery."

George H. King is organist and choir leader of this choir and several Peterboro people are members.

"Me and the Boy Friend"

You know them, bless their hearts. A pair of youngsters, really, in spite of their self-reliant air and their fast-vanishing teens. The girl — slim, clear-eyed, merry; the boy—flippant, a bit arrogant, full of secret, earnest plans for success.

They like each other. They go to the movies together, dance, quarrel a bit. They don't believe in early marriages. But her eyes shine when she speaks of him. "Me and the boy friend."

One of these days, suddenly, they'll be grown up. Man and wife, those fearless youngsters. A home to plan, life to face. A budget, a savings account, economies.

They'll make mistakes, but they'll learn quickly. She'll begin to be canny in the spending of money—to question prices and values. She'll begin to read about the things she plans to buy, to find out all she can about them. She'll become a regular reader of advertisements.

They'll help her to become the capable, wise housewife she wants so much to be. They'll tell her what clothes are best and what prices to pay for them. They'll tell her about the foods to buy, the electric appliances, the linoleums and draperies. They'll help her, as the advertisements in this newspaper can help you.

And she'll meet her responsibilities and fulfill her duties easily and well. She won't become a tired, flustered, inefficient drudge. Because her home will be modern, attractive, well-run, she'll keep young—through the speedy years she'll retain much of that shining-eyed, merry freshness. She and the "boy friend."

Menus for the Family

(By Sister Mary.)

The family who enjoys a late, leisurely Sunday morning breakfast may be interested in this menu. It would be a pity to rush through country sausage and new maple syrup without lingering to "taste the taste."

The black bean soup, too, is worthy of the attention of the whole family and is a suggestion for those occasional days when the men folk are home at noon time.

Black Bean Soup.

Two cups black beans, 3 medium-sized carrots, 1 head celery, 1 teaspoon dried summer savory, 1 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon pepper, 1 slice fat salt pork, 1 small onion, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 tablespoon Worcestershire sauce, 1 cup cream, 2 hard-boiled eggs, 1 lmeon.

Wash and pick over beans. Put into kettle and add 8 cups cold water. Let stand over night. In the morning cook in the same water until soft about four hours. When beans have reached the boiling point and boiled hard for 15 minutes add carrots, scraped and cut into match-like strips, celery cut into dice, onion cut in thin slices and fried in the butter, summer savory, salt, pepper and salt pork. Cook until vegetables are soft. If the bones from a beef roast or steak are at hand add with the seasonings. When beans are soft, remove pork and beef bones and press the whole through a fine colander or coarse sieve. Return to kettle and add flour stirred to a smooth paste with a little cold water. Add Worcestershire sauce and bring to the boiling point stirring constantly. Remove from fire and add to cream. Serve in soup plates and garnish with slices of egg and lemon.

Any meat bones can be used but beef or mutton are much the best.

REV. R. POGUE HEARD ON RADIO

Sermon By Former Minister of St. Paul's Broadcast By C.F.C.A.

RECEPTION GOOD.

Rev. Robert Pogue, a former minister at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and now in charge at St. Enoch's United Church, Toronto, was heard by local radio listeners yesterday morning, when the services at the church were broadcast by CFCA. The reception was excellent. Mr. Pogue opened a week of special services. A. E. Greenlaw, well-known in Peterboro, was the assisting soloist.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Musterole relieves the congestion and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Rub it on with your finger-tips. First you feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief. Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. The Musterole Co., of Canada, Ltd Montreal.

Vanity

By Juanita Hamel

A woman's vanity—the most powerful thing in the world. Wars have been fought because of it; kings and queens have lost their lives through it; kingdoms have been overthrown—and won—on account of it. Truly it can be said that history is made through woman's vanity. Impossible? Not at all! The selfish vanity that causes destruction, that brings heartaches, and misery is all to obvious. But there is the other vanity that brings sweetness and loveliness and happiness—the vanity of loving and being loved that makes a girl the dearest thing in the world. There's no selfishness, no sordid ambition in this, just the vanity of a loved one's achievements. And this is the vanity you should cultivate. Search your heart and see in which class you belong—and then, turn into the right path to search for your happiness.

The Woman's Day

Written by a Woman for Women.

Touching brightly on woman's every major interest in life from books and babies to politics and psycho analysis.

(By Allene Sumner)

FUNNY DOINGS!

Jane Addams opines that "truly wise women do not join either national party but stand alone if they would yield real power. In the same breath she champions the woman voter and the woman who does not vote by saying that "women are little different from men in respect to voting." Do we sniff the weak, rodent of inconsistency?

They keep right on insisting that women will wear tuxedo suits for evening dress this season.

GARNISH AND SERVE!

Sometimes when the unexpected guest arrives the plain supper may be made festive by "dressing up" the foods. The pound cake, for instance, can become a pudding with the addition of a foamy sauce. Foamy sauce can be used in a myriad ways. Beat one egg white stiff, beat in 1-2 cup powdered sugar gradually. When light add 1-2 teaspoon vanilla and beaten yolk and stir in 1-2 cup whipped cream or 1 1-2 tablespoon of milk.

HANDY TO KNOW.

Bedraggled feathers may be curled by shaking over a fire and curling with a blunt silver knife, taking a few fronds at a time, and turning under.

Successful ink removing depends on the kind of ink and the material stained by it. Fresh stains can often be taken out by plain soap and water if the garment will permit it. Soaking in milk is often effective. Oxalic acid, diluted, is often good. Be sure to rinse well in cold water.

FOR YOUR CHILD.

"I want to read my boy the old Greek and Norse myths instead of plain fairy tales. What books do you suggest for a boy of 10?"

Brown's "In the Days of Giants"; Cook's "Nature Myths"; Calum's "Children of Odin"; Hawthorne's "Tanglewood Tales."

WOMAN STUFF!

Beautiful Queen Marie of Rumania figures in yet another part. A Berlin answers a matrimonial paper ad by sending Queen Marie's picture as her own. The man who received it was much agog. When he saw the "original" he filed suit.

Louisa May Alcott, author of "Little Women," is honored in London with a bed installed in memory of her in a new hospital.

"DUDS."

Nightgown makers are beginning to wail even as did the petticoat makers when the slip shooed the petti. It's pajamas that have completely shooed the nightie, they say.

Two-piece frocks make their bow on the Rue de la Paix for evening wear, thus proving that the sports design will not down.

"EDDYKET."

Wedding invitations should be sent at least two weeks before the wedding and a month is not too long. It gives the relatives a chance to decide whether they shall give a cut glass pickle dish or a silver nut bowl.

THE CLUB.

"I'm on the program for a talk on famous women and can't think of one but Madame Curie," Mrs. B. writes me. Here's a tip, Mrs. B.

Go to your library and ask for Bookman for February, 1923. On Page 777, you will see "a piece" called "Famous Modern Women." In the "Woman's Home Companion" for June, 1916, Page 35, "Ten Leading American Women."

WARKWORTH NOTES.

WARKWORTH, March 15.—Miss Aletha Steenburg, of Picton, and Mrs. Walter Carr, Morganston, visited Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Baker on Wednesday.

William E. Herminston intends moving to the farm that he recently purchased from Bart Blake, and Mr. Blake is moving to the farm that he rented from Mr. Herminston.

Miss Olive Moore has returned after visiting her sister, Mrs. Sidney Wood, Port Hope.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of St. Paul's church was held on Tuesday. The outstanding feature of the meeting was the election of officers. Honorary Presidents, Mrs. George McCleary and Mrs. James McCracken; President, Mrs. W. J. Harper; First Vice, Mrs. John Dick; Second Vice, Mrs. (Rev.) W. W. Jones; Recording Secretary, Mrs. William H. Barringer; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Thomas G. Smith; Treasurer, Mrs. George B. Bowen; Organist, Mrs. Herb Henry; Superintendent of Christian Stewardship, Mrs. Alvin Smale; Strangers' Secretaries, Mrs. Jas. E. Thompson and Mrs. James Sykes.

Don't Cough Your Head Off Don't Cough All Night Long

Mrs. Thos. Gilbert, Welland, Ont., writes:—"Some time ago I took a very severe cold, and it settled on my lungs.

I coughed day and night, and had such severe pains, in my chest I could hardly bear them, but finally I sent and got a bottle of

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

After I had taken a couple of doses I found that my cough was relieved and the pains were all gone, and by the time I had finished taking the whole bottle I was completely rid of my trouble.

Now, I will never be without a bottle of 'Dr. Wood's' in my home."

WEEK'S ACTIVITIES.

The interest of the local Y.W.C.A. members in the foreign work of the Association is being shown in a practical way. During the past week each member has been asked to save, earn or solicit among friends the sum of 50c. A large calendar poster on the bulletin board in the hall records the contributions under the slogan 50c marks off 1 day. Over 50 days have already been marked off. The month of March which the house girls have taken as their month leads with 12 days marked off. The Japan council ask that those who have envelopes out have their contributions in this week if possible. This Sunday will be the last sing-song of the season. Special programme and a welcome for all.

There is still need for help with the sewing for the gymnasium pageant. All who will volunteer to help will be most welcome any Monday, Wednesday or Friday afternoon.

Two special items of interest in connection with the gymnasium this week are basketball games.

The final game between the Y Seniors vs. Normal team for the Gordon trophy will be played Friday evening at 8.30. All teams of the Basketball League are invited to be present. After the game there will be presentation of trophies. Refreshments will be served. Saturday — Oshawa vs. Y Seniors. This game will take place at the Y.M.C.A. at 8.30. Preliminary game of volley ball by Y.M.C.A. business men's class. Admission 25c.

Activities for the weeks are:

IRISH BLOOD.

In a moment all was confusion. Sterns the manager, and Sellers, the house detective were immediately on the spot.

Horton had managed to plant one good blow in Jimmie's face, but he had caught his tooth in his lip and he was a mess in a bright red stiff bosom shirt as the detective helped him up.

Sterns tried to push Jimmie and me into his office, but the moment he laid his hand on me, Jimmie's fighting blood was up. He would have none of it. He hauled off and looked so fierce that the manager backed down.

"Young man," he said, "you can't make a rough house here. You get out and you too, young woman. You go with him. I've had quite enough trouble with you ever since you've been here. You don't seem to remember that I took you in when you were on your uppers."

"Cut it. Cut it out," said Jimmie with his fists clenched in the manager's face as he opened his face to say more. "You can make up your mind I'll be glad to get out of this blasted dump. Come on, Judy."

We started for the hat-checking counter, when the manager bellowed.

"Here, I want your name and address, young man. And, didn't I hear you call this young woman by some other name than the one she gave us?"

Jimmie looked at me in consternation. He did not know whether he had spilled the beans or not. At the sight of my face he recovered and blurted out:

"You go to hell, will you?" With this he turned and followed me to the hat rack.

"Get your hat and coat quickly, Judy. Let's get out of this. I guess we've picked up a devil of a rumpus, enough to last these people for some time."

Mamie had started forward as she saw me coming and she was helping me on with my coat.

"Say, Julie, is that your gentleman friend?"

"No, dear, I'll introduce him to you if you like. He's a nice chap. Miss Riley, this is an old friend of mine from home, Jimmie Costello. I guess you know enough about what's just happened to know that we're not very welcome around here. We're going out to have some dinner now."

Mamie understood immediately. She knew I didn't want Jimmie Costello or anyone else to know that I was friendless in the city of Toronto. She neglected a man who wanted his hat and was asking if he couldn't get a little service while she talked to Jimmie and me.

"Let him take you out to our apartment when you've finished your dinner and I'll come home as soon as I can."

THE SECRETS OF CHARM

By Lucrezia Bori.

Dieting to grow thin has become a pastime with many women of the type who are never satisfied.

Now, do not gather from this that I am against dieting, for I decidedly am not. It is fine in its proper place and by far the most effective way of taking off pounds that are really excess baggage.

But I do object to seeing women who are already thin going about dieting to become thinner. They are not satisfied with slimness, but they a parently aim at becoming positively emaciated. I urge those of my readers who fall in this class to ponder well before they let themselves get into the condition where the skin of their faces and necks grow saggy—too loose for what it covers. This condition, instead of imparting a youthful appearance of slimness, we leave them looking older than they really are.

All this is apropos of the fact that pleasingly rounded curves are in fashion now. The rage for the positively lank figure has subsided to a great degree, as all fads which go to extremes are likely to subside. This leaves women at least in the state where they realize that to be bony and flat-chested does not mean to be beautiful or even in styles and the realization is bringing about a tendency to greater normality.

I am delighted at this, for I do enjoy seeing women whose bodies are lithe and graceful and still pleasingly rounded. A certain feminine softness of curves, to my mind, must be the criterion of feminine beauty.

You will see that the new fashions for Spring take this into accounta that most of them show an intelligent consideration for the women whose figure is more fully rounded than that of the under-developed girl. There are short skirts, of course, for trim legs and ankles are always identified with the lovely woman. But there are also pleats in strategic places, which help to give an easy fulness and freedom of movement to the frocks which they grace.

When you take stock of your plans for new Spring clothes take judicious stock of your figure, with an eye to the normal lines and curves. If you find that a certain amount of judicious dieting is necessary to bring certain parts down to the proportions you desire, diet systematically and quietly. Don't go about talking about the fact that you are dieting, for, to my way of thinking, the army of women who make dieting a topic for table conversation are great bores.

The Home Kitchen

By Jeannette Norton

FOOD SANITATION.

The care of food from the time it is purchased until it reaches the family table is a matter of vital consideration. If improperly cared for, it becomes an economic loss that puts a dent in the budget system. If allowed to become contaminated with germ life, it is a menace and may result in food poisoning. Dust from the city streets abounds in germ life, and all vegetables and fruits should be washed carefully before using.

The refrigerator should be in the best condition, the waste-pipe free and clear, racks, if metal, washed and kept clean, if wooden, sun-dried occasionally to keep them sweet. A steady stock of ice must be maintained to keep the box at the right preservative temperature. Butter should be kept in a glass or china container and kept covered, milk and cream in covered bottles, eggs boxed and rinsed before using. All the canned foods should be removed at once from the can and be placed in a china container, covered and placed in a cool place until used.

Fish should be rinsed when it arrives, dusted with pepper and a little salt, wrapped in waxed or the new vegetable paper and be placed next to the ice. Meats should be carefully inspected and placed in a china or enamel dish in a cold place until cooked. Do not leave meat where there can be any fly contamination or put it away in blood-soaked papers.

All cooking utensils should be carefully washed every little dried fleck or lump of food left may become germ infected and contaminate the next food that is cooked in the vessel. Even if a pot or pan looks clean, rinse it well before using. Wash out all dish towels after each meal. Put out dish cloths and mops daily, throw them away and get new ones often. Keep hand soap and towel in the kitchen and insist that the cook uses them before starting to prepare a meal, or before she handles any newly arrived foods.

Warm over a food but once. Cover all left-overs before putting them in the cold chamber of the icebox. Do not allow roast turkey or chicken to stand on the bones more than two days. Remove all meat, putting it into a china bowl and covering it until used. The racks, if sweet, may be used in soup stock with other bones and ingredients.

If potatoes are boiled in their jackets they will keep better for use in salads or other dishes. Carrots and parsnips should be scraped instead of being peeled. Jerusalem artichokes may be pared thinly under water. Oyster plant should also be scraped and celery should be carefully washed and trimmed. Squash, Winter variety, must be washed well if cooked in the skin or peeled. Beets are boiled and skinned with the hands under cold water. All lettuces should be carefully washed leaf by leaf. Cauliflower should stand in salted cold water for twenty minutes.

DECISION APPEALED.

Steamboat Company Asks Reversal of Finding About Apples.

COBOURG, March 13.—The Anchor-Donaldson Line has filed a motion by way of appeal to the Appellate Division against the judgment of Judge McGlade of Cobourg of the County Court of Northumberland and Durham which found them liable to Matthias Bros, of Colborne for $800 and to Robert Coyle and Son of the same place for $780. The appellants also ask for an order dismissing the claims of the respective claimants. Messrs. Matthews Bros. and R. Coyle and Son are well known apple exporters and the action against the steamboat company was over cargoes of apples shipped from Colborne via Portland to Glasgow, Scotland, by means of the Grand Trunk Railway and Anchor-Donaldson Line, and which did not arrive, it is alleged, at their destination in good condition. The decision of Judge McGlade, who found against the steamboat company, is being appealed.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

FOR THE LOVER OF BRASSES.

In the matter of home decorations, the lover of brasses will find a wonderful assortment to choose from at reasonable prices.

The popularity of the brass candlestick has brought forth many attractive models. A few old English designs with a deep tray that holds the old snuffer, and the extinguisher are very charmings Some are round, eight inches or so in the diameter of the tray which is rather shallow and has a turned-up, scalloped brim. Others are oblong and rectangular in shape. Some have the old-fashioned shade rod that holds two glass discs set in brass frames that are very decorative.

The tall, brass, dinner candlesticks vary in shape, but follow the lines usually of the more expensive silver ones. Then there are the floor or cathedral candlesticks that are much sought after to place at either side of an open fireplace. They stand from three to four and a half feet high and are proportioned accordingly. Many of the sticks are antique, taken from small Russian churches, but the reproductions are very lovely and well worth having.

There are all manner of cigarette boxes in all sizes and shapes, some with trays and tiny ash trays of different shapes. There is also a nested Chinese ash receiver that has six trays in one.

For the woman who likes a large letter seal there is a small but fearsome looking Chinese Foo Dog. He is heavy enough for the purpose and has the characters that spell out the usual good luck and success messages for the seal under the base.

Incense burners are as varied as candlesticks, but some of the old Lotus leaf models are especially attractive. Then, there are wee figurines of Chinese occupational figures, and wee Buddhas from different sections distinguished by the head gear. One from Ceylon sits on the coils of a cobra whose head rises above to shade him from the sun.

ADVICE TO GIRLS

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

As I have read some of your good advice to other girls I thought I would come to you for advice.

I am a girl sixteen years of age. I have been flirting with a fellow, and got a knock-down to him the other night. I would like to have him for company. How am I to get him.

Yours sincerely,
DIMPLES.

DIMPLES: This matter of "getting" a young man seems to engage the attention of many girls of sixteen years of age. Although it might seem just as well to have him worry about "getting" you, I suppose the frank question contained in your letter is an honest expression of the opinion of modern girls, who have transformed themselves in many instances into chasers of men. Well, you had better make a point of being where he is as much as possible, and dressing as attractively as you can. As you have been introduced to him and wish to get a line on him, you had better go at the matter scientifically. Find out whether he prefers a girl who is a good dresser, or likes a girl who is interested in sport, or in music, or whether he likes the quiet type who makes a killing by listening attentively to the man's conversation and interjecting remarks only at suitable intervals. Or perhaps he likes a good cook. When you discover his particular leanings, govern your self accordingly. You can get the desired information from his own conversation or from judicious enquiries from his friends.

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl in my 'teens, considered pretty and go out to most of all the big dances.

I go with a boy for about two to three weeks and no longer. I can't seem to keep to one "steady" boy, which I would like. So could you please describe to me some way that I may keep one.

Thanking you in advance.

BLONDE.

BLONDE: This is rather a difficult question, but I don't think you should worry too much about it. If you are still in your 'teens, you have plenty of time to think of a "steady" friend. As you must know your own nature to some extent, you can decide for yourself whether your inability to have a "steady" is your own fault or that of the boys you have been going with. If you are inclined to be fickle and get tired of these young men after two or three weeks, you had better try to conquer that failing, which is one that will keep you back in many ways. If you think you are not attractive enough to hold a man's attention longer than that, the remedy lies in your own hands. Size yourself up and see where your shortcomings, either physical or mental, exist. On the other hand, if these young men are "petters" and you are not, that may be the difficulty. If so, keep up your own attitude and forget them when they fade away after a short time. And if it is just because you haven't met the right one yet, don't worry—you have plenty of time. There was a girl once who said that she always kept her distaff and spindle ready, knowing well that God would send her the flax. Of course, a beau doesn't always come from the hand of God, but the idea of preparedness is a good one, in any case.

BREAK A CHEST COLD WITH HEAT OF RED PEPPERS

Ease your tight, aching chest. Stop the pain. Break up the congestion. Feel a bad cold loosen up in just a short time.

"Red Peper Rub" is the cold remedy that brings quickest relief. It cannot hurt you and it certainly seems to end the tightness and drive the congestion and soreness right out.

Nothing has such concentrated, penetrating heat as red peppers, and when heat penetrates right down into colds, congestion, aching muscles and sore, stiff joints relief comes at once.

The moment you apply Red Pepper Rub you feel the tingling heat In three minutes the congested spot is warmed through and through. When you are suffering from a cold, rheumatism, backache, stiff neck or sore muscles, just get a jar of Rowles Red Pepper Rub, made from red peppers, at any drug store. You will have the quickest relief known. Always say "Rowles."

Man passes away; his name perishes from record and recollection; his history is a tale that is told, and his very monument becomes a ruin. —Washington-Irving.

Women Dispose

Of this new hygienic pad as easily as tissue —no laundry

COUNTLESS women have discarded old-time "sanitary" pads for a new and better way.

A way that offers far greater protection. A way, too, that banishes the old-time problem of disposal.

Right in 10 better-class women now use "KOTEX."

Five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads.

Deodorizes, thus ending ALL danger of offending.

Obtainable at all drug and department stores simply by saying "KOTEX." You ask for it without hesitancy.

Package of 12 costs only a few cents Proves old ways a needless risk. In fairness to yourself, try it.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

When we read the story of death statistics we rejoice and are glad. This is because of the encouraging fact that with every decade we find the expectation of long life increasing. If the last half century, twelve or fifteen years have been added to the average length of life.

Out of a thousand persons living in one section there are individuals, from babies just born to the old folks who, surviving all the accidents of life, have endured into the eighties and nineties. Between these extremes are the young persons, others of the middle-age groups, and those just past middle life, but not yet really old.

An average is arrived at by considering the thousand persons of all ages. The more persons who survive in any group, for instance among those under twenty, or among those past seventy, the higher will be the general average, of course.

The fact is, the more favorable figures of the present are due to two causes. The first of these is what has been accomplished in wiping out the fatal intestinal diseases of very young children. The second, is what the doctors have done to prolong the lives of old people.

Through what has been accomplished in the extremes of life the average of the race has been elevated a lot. But the pathetic truth is that in the middle-age groups the chance of living is less than it was thirty or forty years ago.

The increase in heart disease is alarming. Its prevalence should be a warning to everybody to guard against its ravages.

The surest guarantee against heart trouble is to lead a temperate life. Temperance in all things should be the rule. Temperate eating, temperate drinking, temperate exercise, temperate hours, temperate emotions, temperate everything—these must be practiced every day of the year.

Nature is long-suffering, but Nature is the best bookkeeper in the universe. Your ledger account with her contains no oversights. She charges you with every item of the wear and tear of your body. She may wait a long, long time, but just as sure as fate, Nature will hold you strictly to account for every error in your life.

Heart disease is one of the penalties for neglecting the rules. Over-work, over-worry, over-eating—I don't need to enumerate the things you have done. You know what they are.

But you knew these things would hurt you. Even before you developed heart or kidney disease, you knew as well as you do now that people develop serious diseases by neglecting the simple rules of hygienic living.

It takes a lot of character to lead the right sort of physical life. It is too hot or too cold to exercise. The food or drink is too appealing to resist. The dentist might hurt is reason enough for neglecting his attention.

You can escape heart disease, kidney disease and the degenerative diseases by governing your life. If you wish ten years added to your own particular, individual life, you have it in your power to gain that decade. Is it not worth while?

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

MABEL P. Q.—What remedy is best for kidney trouble? 2. What causes backache, pains in the stomach and sides?

A.—This condition is sometimes due to faulty diet and constipation. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and restate your question.

F. J. C. Q.—Is electrical treatment good for nervousness?

A.—Yes, in some instances it is very beneficial. If you try to improve the general health the nerves will also benefit. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

KING CAMP GILLETTE—THE SAFETY RAZOR KING

"Something which, once used, is thrown away, so that the public has to keep coming back for more."

That was the idea, but what? And King C. Gillette, traveling salesman, as he tumbled out of his berth at all hours of the night, repeatedly vowed that he would yet invent something that the world needed.

Invention ran in his blood. The Patent office files are cluttered up with records of the Gillette family inventions that "missed fire." But one member of the family was destined to hit upon an original idea that would put him in the twentieth century vintage of plutocrats.

King Camp Gillette was born at Fond du Lac, Wis., Jan. 5, 1855. The family moved to Chicago, where the youth began his career in a hardware store. In a couple of years he secured a job in New York, where he attracted the attention of a big hardware firm, with headquarters in Kansas City. They sent him over the entire Western territory and, though only 21, he made such a favorable record that he was sent to England to establish and manage an agency.

Returning to America in 1891, he married, though he did not "settle down." Again he went on the road as salesman for the Baltimore Seal Co. That corrugated disk, lined with cork, with which most everybody has at some time struggled to remove from a bottle was put on the market by Gillette. That cork, "once used and thrown away," gave him many long thoughts.

It was while shaving himself with a dull razor one day that the great idea was born. A razor blade that could be removed and thrown away! As he stood transfixed before the mirror, shocked with the sudden discovery, every detail of the safety razor assembled themselves in his mind. He made his model and had machinery developed for automatic production.

The Birth of an Idea.

But success came slowly. Six years dragged by before the American Safety Razor Co. was finally launched.

But it was nine years from the time Gillette conceived the big idea before the first factory was built in Boston in 1904. Then plants were established in nearly every country in the world, with 250,000 agencies.

The Boston and Montreal factories have a total capacity of about 33,000,000 dozen razor blades per annum. The "Yankee invention" has become a mighty industry, which reaches to the four corners of the earth.

During the war the United States Government made a safety razor kit a part of the equipment of every soldier and sailor.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

BUNNY RABBIT GOES VISITING

Dicky stopped. He knew he heard some one crying and yet there wasn't any one in sight.

"Boo-hoo, boo-hoo, boo-hoo! I'm lonesome," cried the squeaky voice.

"Well!" exclaimed Dick, puzzled. "I'd help you if I knew who it is in trouble. Come on out and let me see who you are."

A poor, little bunny rabbit hopped out from under the bushes at the side of the road.

"It's me," he sniffed. "Won't you stay and play with me? I'm so lonesome. My mama and sisters all went away and left me, and I'm all alone."

"Sure, I'll play with you," answered Dicky, pinching his arm to make sure he wasn't asleep and dreaming.

"I wish I could go some place," sighed Bunny Rabbit. "I've never been away from this meadow."

"Oh, I know!" cried Dicky, excitedly. "I'll wish for Squeedee and ——"

"And here he is," cried another voice. Dicky and Bunny Rabbit turned around. Sure enough, there stood a wee little elfin all dressed in green, smiling at them. "Come along, youngsters. We'll visit Bunny Rabbit's cousins in the South."

"Goody, Squeedee!" Dicky exclaimed, shaking the wee elfin's hand. "I knew you'd help us spend a lovely day."

Before Bunny Rabbit had a chance to ask about his cousins, he found himself standing under a tall tree with queer, shaped leaves on it.

"I'm So Lonesome!"

"Here we are in the South," declared Squeedee, "and your cousin, Antelope Jack Rabbit, will be along here pretty soon, I'm sure. We'll just wait."

Dicky, Squeedee and Bunny Rabbit sat down, and, sure enough along came a great, big rabbit. Much larger than Bunny Rabbit. His coat was a yellowish-brown on top and so was his throat, but his sides were white. As he bounded over the ground towards them it was plain to see his legs and tail were much longes than Bunny's.

Squeedee introduced Dicky and Bunny. Then Mr. Antelope Jack Rabbit showed them how he could change his coat from yellowish-brown to almost white.

"It's just by moving the muscles on my back," he declared, proudly. "Then, too my tail is longer than yours. Down here we use the flash of white as a signal to our friends."

He bounded into the air, and when the sunlight caught his coat of white it shone like snow.

"How's that?" he laughed, when he came back to Dicky and Bunny Rabbit.

"Mighty fine," replied Dicky. "No wonder they call you Antelope Jack Rabbit. Well, how about it, Bunny Rabbit, would you like to stay and live with your cousin?"

"Better not stay long," advised Antelope Jack Rabbit. "unless you can jump and run fast, for we have so many enemies here, it keeps us hustling to keep alive."

Bunny Rabbit moved over to Squeedee and Dicky.

"I think I'd rather go back home with you, Dicky," he said simply. Before they even had a chance to say goodby, they found themselves standing in the meadow where they had first met.

Bunny Rabbit's mama and sisters hadn't returned, so Dicky invited him home with him. Bunny Rabbit was very happy and he hopped over the ground after Dicky.

If you should ever happen to pass Dicky's home, run in. He'll show you Bunny Rabbit; for where you see Dicky, there you'll also find little Bunny Rabbit—the happiest, little rabbit in the world.

WHERE JEWELRY IS JUDGED BY ITS WEIGHT

There is a strange fascination in the name "Burma." We have read in song and story of the Burmese and there is a sort of poetry in the name. And Burmese women particularly have always been famed for their beauty.

Perhaps one of the secrets of the fascination of Burma is the fact that it exists today just as it existed centuries and centuries ago. The advances of civilization seem to have little or no effect on it. The British have taken possession of it, but that has made little difference in their mode of living. They still wear the same clothes, eat the same foods and have the same customs that they have had for centuries.

Among the customs that exist in any primitive people none is more important than that group which governs marriage, and the man of Burma today who wishes to marry turns over his ornaments and his jewelry to his wife just as his ancestors did centuries before the coming of the British.

Jewelry is the symbol of wealth among the Burmese. By the amount of jewelry his wife wears is his wealth judged. And, since brass is the much-coveted and expensive metal, the wife of a wealthy man must be physically strong in order to carry about the weight of the ornaments with which she is bedecked. It is said that they often weigh as much as fifty pounds.

About her neck there will be as many rings of brass as she can well put there. Her arms will be laden down with bracelets of brass extending from her shoulders to her wrists. About her legs there will be as many as twenty rings of brass. Then below the knee she will have a sort of garter, from which hang great rings in abundance. The rest of her costume is negligible. There will be a short jacket effect something like our combing jackets, reaching just below the waist. The rest of her clothes will consist of a tight skirt. There is

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NUMBER ELEVEN—REDDY FOX GETS A LIFT

"Come here, children," said the March Hard to the Twins. "I want to tell you something, but I can't speak above a whisper, because no one must hear."

So the Twins came up close, and when they all had their heads together, the wise old hare said, "There is one person who simply must not be allowed to go to the Land-Where-Spring-Is-Coming."

"Who?" said Nancy and Nick together.

"Sh!" said the March Hare. "Not so loud! It's Red Fox. He's asleep in his hold in the ground, and I've a good notion to roll a big stone over it so he can't get out all summer. I'm sure that all the wood folk and meadow people would be a lot happier and feel a lot safer."

"Look!" whispered Nick suddenly pointing over Mister Hare's shoulder. He turned just in time to see a red tail whisk behind the little secret bush that marks the path to Scrub-Up-Land.

"Lands save us!" cried the March Hare, wriggling his ears excitedly. "He's out already. That's Reddy Fox himself! And he's in the very worst possible place he could be. Everybody has to pass that bush on his way to the barber-shop in Scrub-Up Land and Reddy's the boy that knows it."

"Can't we do something?" said Nick.

"I was just thinking," remarked the March Hare. "Yes, sir! I have an idea! We can get a rope and make a lasso and catch him and tie him up and he can't follow his nice, kind, little neighbors to the Land-Where-Spring-Is-Coming. We can shut him up in Scrub-Up Land and lock the gate tight."

Now everything was going finely when something unexpected happened.

The little spring lamb got lost from his mother, and at that minute he came along crying, "Baa! I want my Mama! Baa! I've lost my Mama! Baa! Baa!"

And there he was, wobbling along on his wobbly legs, and looking as thought he had just walked out of a toy store. He had pretty nearly reached the little secret bush where Reddy Fox was hiding.

"I'm lost!" bleated the tiny spring lamb. "I want my Mama."

"Come with me, dear," said old Red Fox, as softly and sweetly as custard pie. "I'll take you home. Just come right along."

"I know how he'll take him home," said the March Hare. "He'll take him home in his stomach—to his own house. We'll have to get that old fox someway."

"Come, little lamb," Reddy was saying. "We'll go this way. There aren't so many stones to hurt your tiny, little feet. You're very tender, aren't you, little spring lamb! You can't be more than a week old!"

Nobody noticed two angry figures that had appeared at the top of the hill. One was Mrs. Sheep. The other was cross old Mister Ram.

"There's our child!" cried Mister Ram. And suddenly down he rushed, like thunder.

And before Reddy Fox could jump out of the road Mister Ram had lowered his head and butted him clear over the top of the hill right into the middle of the Land-Where-Spring-Had-Almost-Come.

"Now you've done it!" cried the March Hare.

"Done what?" said Mister Ram.

"Send old Red Fox where he isn't wanted," declared the hare.

"Sorry!" said old Mister Ram.

But that didn't help any.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

TUESDAY, MARCH 16.

According to the conflicting lunar aspects this day may be subject to many annoyances and complications. This applies to business and to all personal relations. It might be well to be careful in embracing new opportunities which may offer, but which may be jeopardized by rash or impetuous moves. But new projects should be very fortunate if judiciously managed. There may be many unexpected benefits and changes.

Those whose birthday it is are under excellent promise, with important change and unexpected benefits, but they should not jeopardize such fine opportunities by tumultuous or irritable actions or behavior. A child born on this day may be independent, resourceful and have many excellent opportunities in life, but it should be given early discipline in quick, rash and tempestuous conduct.

PILES DISAPPEAR

No Cutting or Salves Needed

External treatments seldom cure Piles.

Nor do surgical operations.

The cause is inside—bad circulation.

The blood is stagnant, the veins flabby.

The bowel walls are weak, the parts almost dead.

To quickly and safely rid yourself of piles you must free the circulation—send a fresh current through stagnant pools. Internal treatment is the one safe method. Ointments and cutting won't do it.

J. S. Leonhardt, M.D., a specialist set at work some years ago to find a real internal remedy for piles. He succeeded. He named his prescription HEM-ROID, and tried it in 1000 cases before he was satisfied. Now HEM-ROID is sold by druggists everywhere under guarantee. It is a harmless tablet, easy to take, and can always be found at McDermid and Jury, who will gladly refund the purchase price to any dissatisfied customer.

Calomel Acts Upon the Liver

Takes away all previous days waste

To feel your best day in and out, to eat well, work well, sleep well, digest well, you must keep your liver active or the system will immediately become filled with poison causing a multitude of troubles as indigestion, headaches, gas on stomach, constipation, kidney pains, foul breath, biliousness, rheumatism, etc. One Tanol Calomel tablet taken before meals or two at bedtime, then the next morning jump from your bed, take a glass of water, and away goes all the previous days wastes and poisons. Be sure you get Tamol Calomel as it is much better than ordinary calomel; no salts or seidlitz are needed to remove from system. Get a few from F. C. Webber, druggist, Charlotte St., Peterborough, and you will be surprised how effective they are.

Eight Players Crowded Penalty Box After Noble and Joliat Started Fight.

MAROONS WON 4-2

Canadiens Scored When Teams Reduced to Two Men Each.

MONTREAL, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Bitter rivalry between the Montreal Maroons and the Canadiens, local teams in the National Hockey League, developed in all its rancor during their final clash of the season at the Forum Saturday night. The result was that 8,500 spectators witnessed a repetition of the former guerilla battle waged by these adversaries in the winter campaign now concluding in which fighting, deliberate slashing and tripping, bickering between players and officials and other minor fouls produced a game which provided plenty of excitement, but ruined the contest as a hockey spectacle. Twenty-eight penalties were inflicted by the referees and at one stage of the first period the teams were reduced to a goalkeeper and one forward each, four men on the ice out of twelve. Out of the mess, the Montreal Maroons emerged victors, 4—2.

Play opened with a spurt that indicated that the teams were both out for a triumph, despite the fact that nothing was at stake in contest beyond the satisfaction of a win. But there was early evidence of the bad feeling which later broke into the open. Coutu and Siebert engaged in a verbal duel within the first few minutes after Coutu was benched for tripping. A minute later Billy Boucher checked Nelson Stewart around the Canadien net after Boucher had lost his stick. The pair all but precipitated a fight, Stewart resenting Boucher's language and tactics and sending over a right. They were separated and both benched.

Hostilities Begin.

And then the first big blow up broke like a flash. Canadiens were rushing the Montreal net and Noble and Joliat got tangled up in one another's arms. They went to the ice like wrestlers. Players converged on the scene and Captain Bill Coutu elected to take a jab at Babe Siebert. The referees were in the thick of the frav and benched Noble and Joliat for minors and Coutu for a major.

It was only the beginning. Coutu skated down to the Canadian bench and was relieved by Mantha. Referee Billy Bell skated over to Manager Dandurand and informer him of Coutu's penalty and ordered Mantha taken off the ice and Coutu to proceed to the penalty box. The Canadien manager objected and wanted Siebert put off for attempting, as he claimed to kick Joliat while the later was down on the ice. Referee Bell informed the Canadian management that there had been no kicking. That he had ben on top of the mess and knew what had gone on. The debate held up play and started to become general. There were threats of the contest ending there and then—but this was soon shown to be unfeasible, with Managing Director Northey, of the Forum, acting the role of peacemaker around the Canadien bench.

The affair was straightened out according to the ruling of the referees. And then the panalty parade started in earnest. It exceeded that of the previous week when the two teams landed into a somewhat similar mix-up, eight players going off at one time, Benedict and Broadbent were on the Maroon side and Rheaume and Pete Lepine represented Canadiens. Not since 1910 has such a situation arisen in pro-hockey here. Late-comers were dumbfounded as they entered the Forum and amid the din enquired, "Where are the players?"

Four-Man Contest

Rheaume and Pet Lepine got the break over Broadbent and Benedict in the abbreviated battle between the two sides, Pete Lepine getting the puck in full flight and beating out Broadbent, who had to turn to back-check. Lepine drew Benedict and scored. It was almost certain that one side or the other would count with only two men aside and it was just a case of whether Broadbent or Lepine broke clear first.

Back came the offenders in a bunch and before the period had ended Stewart passed out behind to Noble in front of the Canadian net and the score was evened.

There was a conference between President Calder and the two referees at the first interval and between the league head and the two club leaders, Leo Dandurand and James Strachan. The upshot was a straight talk to the players before the second session started. This was loudly applauded by the spectators, who apparently showed little sympathy with the players in their displays of temper.

It had but little effect. Ten penalties instead of twelve, as in the first period, was the upshot. The Canadien left winger was flashing rare hockey and he took advantage of a lapse by Stewart in clearing the puck away from the Maroon goal mouth to steal it from the Montreal centre man and jab it behind Benedict.

Straight Hockey Wins.

Manager Gerard decided to pull his regulars as far as possible. He sent out a sub forward line and put Siebert on the defence with Noble and so the Marons played for the last half of the game. Phillips, Carson and Rothschild were intent on playing straight hockey and leaving the tripping and slashing to others. And it was this which brought victory to the Maroons in the final period.

With a one-goal lead, Canadiens kept trooping to the penalty bench in the final session. They were continually one player short. Bill Phillips took advantage of this to tear down centre ice behind Broadbent and even the tally on a back pass which he took from the Maroon right winger at the goal mouth. It was a smart play.

The Maroon sub forward line kept up a hard-working passing game, with Phillips at the helm. Carson whipped out a pass from behind to Phillips, and the former Soo Greyhound amateur drove on Rheaume. The Canadien goalie saved the puck going to the corner. Dinsmore recovered it and, clireling around Coutu, beat Rheaume, to put Montreal into the lead for the first time. It was the first goal scored by Dinsmore on home ice this season.

It was a rush by Phillips near the end of the game which clinched the win for Montreal. Phillips got clear through the Canadien defence, passed the puck, and Carson shot true.

Line-up.

Canadiens—Rheaume, goal; Coutu and Leduc, defence; P. Lepine, centre; Joliat and Boucher, wings; Larochelle, Mantha H. Lepine, Paulhus, subs.

Montreal.—Benedict, goal; Noble and Stewart, defence; Phillips, centre; Broardbent and Siebert, wings; Carson, Dinsmore and Rathschild, subs.

MISS WILLS SHARES DEFEAT IN DOUBLES

With English Companion Defeated by the French.

NICE, France, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Miss Helen Wills and Charles S. Kingsley of England went down to defeat before Mlle. Vlasto and Henri Cochet, the French stars, in the final of the mixed doubles of the Nice tennis tournament Sunday. The score was 4-6, 7-5, 13-11.

Thus the French players duplicated their Mentone victory over Miss Wills and J. H. Van Alen, but only after they had been through a battle and 46 games had been contested. The noisy crowd favored the French couple, and there was much excitement at critical points of the match.

With one set to the credit of each, Cochet and his partner succeeded in getting a lead of four to one in the third set. Miss Wills then went to the net, leaving her partner on the backline, and by superlative efforts and skilful handling of her racquet, captured the next three games.

The nine game, with Kingsley serving, went to deuce fifteen times, before Miss Wills succeeded in placing the deciding stroke.

The games see-sawed back and forth, many times at deuce, with the exception of one, until the score stood 11 all. Miss Wills then lost her service and Cochet won his service, concluding the set with the score of 13-11, and the match, which had occupied two hours and a half.

Made major league debut with Athletics in 1912. With Macks over four season.

In 1915 sold to Boston Red Sox when Connie Mack started his famous house-cleaning affair. In 1916 he was sent to Buffalo on option and later recalled.

In winter of 1922 Red Sox traded him to Yankees, where he's since remained.

Had best season in 1923, winning 19 games, losing six. Following year turned in 21 triumphs against nine defeats.

Last season ranked second to Stanley Coveleskie in effectiveness.

Has been in two world series—1914 and 1923. Won two games, lost none in the latter.

REGINA VICS TAKE THREE-GOAL LEAD

Defeated Vancouver Towers in First Allan Cup Game.

REGINA, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Speed and a sound defence gave the Regina Vics a 5—2 decision over the Vancouver Towers here on Saturday in the first game of the series to decide which club represents the four western provinces in the Allan Cup playdowns. Unless the British Columbia champions can overcome that lead tonight, the Saskatchewan title-holders will move on to face Port Arthur in the Western final on Wednesday and Friday of this week.

The home club displayed a flashy attack that the invaders couldn't stop, and they skated too fast for the Towers. Taking a 3—1 lead in the first period, the Vics held their rivals even in the second and increased the margin to three late in the final chapter. Freddie Wilson led the Regina team with two goals and an assist, while Pettinger, Ingram and Hackney contributed the other tallies.

Cunning's goal-tending was a feature and he was much more dependable than Lett in the Vancouver nets. Two thousand fans saw the game, the cleanest championship fixture played here in many years.

WELSHMEN WIN FROM THE IRISH

SCORE WAS 11 TO 8

SWANSEA, Wales, March 14 (Canadian Press cable).—Ireland's international rugby fifteen concluded their football year Saturday with disaster. A severe defeat at the hands of Wales furnishing a deplorable anti-climax to what had up to Saturday been a sensational season of victories. The Welshmen subdued the Irish by 11 points to 8.

The feature that made the subjugation of Ireland still more crushing was the fact that at half time the Hibernians had a margin of three points over the Taffies the score at the intervals was: Ireland 8, Wales 5. It was the second half that brought catastrophe to the Emerald Isle. The Welshmen entered into that frame with a stubborn resolve to pull the fat out of the fire and it was only when the resumption had been six minutes in progress that Lewis sent Herrarra over for an unconverted try, thus bringing the teams level.

Inspired by this turn of events the Welsh settled down to administer a defeat to the Islanders and for the greater part of the half the visitors were plainly in distress. Victory came to the wearers of the leek when Rowe Harding signalized his return to the Welsh team by scoring a brilliant try. The kick at goal narrowly missed bringing out major points.

From the moment, the Welsh did not allow the Irish to come much into the picture. They hammered away at the visitors and kept the game in Ireland's territory, and even when the home fifteen were playing a man short, due to injury to Cornish, Ireland were unable to take advantage of the situation.

The international standing is:

Team.	P	W	D	L	F	A	P
Ireland..	4	3	0	1	41	26	6
Scotland	3	2	0	1	28	14	4
England..	3	1	1	1	29	22	3
Wales	3	1	1	1	19	19	3
France..	3	0	0	3	6	42	0

The next game is between England and Scotland at Twickenham for the historic Calcutta Cup or for the losers) the "Wooden Spoon" will be played next Saturday.

ALLAN CUP HOLDERS DEFEAT FORT WILLIAM 1-0 IN OVERTIME GAME

Port Arthur Come Through Three-Game Series With One-Goal Margin.

OTHER TWO TIED

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., March March 15.—(Canadian Press.) — Port Arthur won the championship of the Thunder Bay Hockey League and entered the semi-finals of the Allan Cup play-off when they defeated Fort William, 1 to 0, here Saturday night.

The teams ended a two-game series designed to settle the championship with the goal score tied and Saturday's game was played to break the deadlock.

The Ports are the present Allan Cup holders.

The previous games had resulted in ties of 2 all and 1 all, the Ports won the series 4 to 3.

Saturday's contest went into overtime and hockey fans of the Twin Cities are recuperating from three of the most thrilling games of hockey ever played at the head of the Lakes.

Tremendous Speed.

Saturday night's contest started off at the same tremendous speed that had been maintained in the two preceding encounters with Port Arthur on the aggressive from the sound of the bell. Langtry in the Fort William goal was called on to make spectacular saves and it was his fine work that kept the home team on even terms until the end of the period. Clever work by the Fort William defence and hook-checking of Huard cleared the Fort William net time after time.

The second period was a replica of the first with Port Arthur out to break the tie and on the aggressive all the time.

The third period witnessed the teams battling on an even basis, Fort William replied to Port Arthur rushes with splendid combination dashes down the ice and the speed of the two preceding periods was maintained.

Overtime Required.

The first half of the overtime ended without a goal, but three minutes after the second half began Cox, subbing on the Port Arthur forward line, grabbed a free puck, eluded the Fort William defence and shot on Langtry from close quarters to score the winning goal. Fort William played five men on the forward line in an attempt to equalize, while the Port played out the time on the defensive. Line-up:

Fort William—Goal, Langtry; defence, Tuckwell and Davis; forwards, Whyte, Huard and Hacquoil Subs, Cook and Bates.

Port Arthur—Goal, Chabot; defence, Wilson and Brydge; forwards, L'Heueux, Gray and Pudas Subs, Chapman and Cox.

HOCKEY NOTES

(Ottawa Journal, Saturday).

Gunners are marking time and are awaiting the result of the St. Francois-Sons of Ireland series over the week-end before stepping into the Allan Cup eliminations against the Quebec champions. The Q. A. H. A. senior and intermediate representatives are competing in a two-game series, and the winners of the round will go up against Shrapnels. Frank Shaughnessy and Donald Smith are handling the Quebec series, and Bobby Hewitson will officiate in the game here and in Montreal.

Gunners are all in good fettle and are confident that they will make a good showing against the Quebec champions. Bouse Hutton put them through two good practices and has them right in top form. They will wind up their work with a light practice to-night from 7 to 8, and will then rest until the first game.

Shrapnel supporters are tickled pink with the showing of the Red Shirts, while fans in general will be on hand to cheer them against the Quebec champions. Sons of Ireland are favored to take the title.

Playing Off.

The intermediate team, St. Francois, may upset the apple cart, however, and there is no gainsaying that they are a strong team. The second game of the Quebec series will be staged in Quebec City tomorrow night and the winners will hop on the train and make for the Capital with all speed. This gives Gunners a slight advantage as they have a fine rest before taking on their opponents.

Interest in the Allan Cup playdowns is high, both here and in outside cities. The Quebec teams are rated high, but Gunners have come along well in their last few games and are ready for a hard series. From goal out Shraps are strong and if they show the same form as in their past few games, there is a strong possibility of the eastern title coming here. The winner of this series will be pitted against the winner of the Varsity-O.H.A. series.

(From Brantford Expositor).

The Observer, while at Niagara Falls, heard Gene Fraser remark that he would have five new senior players relegating some of the present squad to the intermediates. He was highly pleased with the financial results of the New Hamburg-Peterboro game, the big gate being split four ways, each team, the O.H.A., and the rink management getting $848. The Falls manager thought the score should have been 3-1 or 3-2, saying that Dwyer was very lucky on two occasions.

(Lindsay Post).

Congratulations to Peterboro on winning the Senior championship of the O.H.A. The victory of the Petes in London Tuesday night was received with great joy in Lindsay. Although Lindsay and Peterboro are always keen rivals in any branch of sport, yet Lindsay fans are always glad to see the honors come Peterboro way, when Lindsay has been excluded from competition. The Petes have put up a fine game all season and deserved to win. They played great hockey last season when they reached the finals. It's great to have a winning team and the victors are deserving of praise. A feature of the game Tuesday night was the playing of a former Lindsay boy, Jos. Dwyer, who learned the game on the winding Scugog some years ago. Hats off to Joe!

MARMORA JUNIORS WIN.

Defeated Deloro Junior Team By 9-2.

MARMORA, March 15.—Marmora Juniors and Deloro Juniors met on the Marmora rink on Friday evening for the return game. The home lads gained an overwhelming victory by nine goals to two.

Clarence Campion, for Marmora, was the first to find the net. A second goal coming from Hugh Brady made the score read Marmora 2, Deloro 0, at the end of the first period. In the second period, Campion, the outstanding player on the ice, added two more goals, whilst Arthur Phillips beat Warren with a nice shot, making the score 4-1 in Marmora's favor at the period's close. In the last period McInroy, Brady and Shannon scored for Marmora, the latter twice registering, and McCroden of Deloro put the puck through his own goal. Phillips scored another for Deloro on one of the few occasions in the game when they came near the Marmora nets.

Mr. Ralph Neal refereed the game.

GIRLS BREAK RECORD

LOUISVILLE, March 15 (Canadian Press)—Nellie Todd and Norma Zilk, of the Midwest Athletic Club of Chicago established world's records here Saturday night in the Kentucky Amateur track meet. Miss Todd set a world's record in the 80-yard hurdles, running the distance in 12 2-5 seconds. The old record was 13 2-5 seconds.

Miss Zilk set the record for the 80-yard dash. She ran it in .09 2-5 seconds. The former record of 10 4-5 was held by Ethyl Dryer, of Temple University.

HEAVY SCORING IN OLD COUNTRY SOCCER LEAGUE

Blackburn Rovers Prominent With 6-3 Score With Burnley.

GLIMPSE OF GAMES

Huddersfield Found Little Opposition From Manchester United.

LONDON, March 15. Canadian Press Cable. — Heavy scoring was the order of the day in the first division of the English Football Association Saturday, and this was especially so at Blackburn where the Rovers administered their second defeat of the season over the tail-end Burnley club, the score at the end of the day standing six to three for Blackburn. Buth Rigby and Puddefoot had their day on, for the former obtained three of Blackburn's goals, with the ex-Flakirk registering two. Harper completed the count. Burnley's response came from Richards, who duplicated Puddefoot's performance, shooting in a couple of goals for Burnley, while Bruton was responsible for the third.

The league leaders walked through Manchester United at Huddersfield in such a manner as to indicate that the old Trafford team are foccussing their attention on the cup and are content to let the league go. Huddersfield had a field day, with Devlin, their recent acquisition from Cowdenbeath of the Scottish League, and at the time of his departture for the Yorkshire club, the most prolific scorer in that division, showing up in fine form. Devlin justified his purchase by counting twice for Huddersfield, a feat that was equalled by Cook, while Smith rounded off the score. Manchester United were outplayed and their defence was poor.

Arsenal repeated the victory they enjoyed over Everton in the first half of the season when they travelled to Lancashire and emerged from the game with the one goal in five. Scoring was confined exclusively to a couple of players, Brain of Arsenal and Sam Chedgzoy of Everton.

Brain performed the hat trick, that is to say, gathered in all three of his team's goals in succession, while the former Grenadier's coach replied with two counters.

Bury Defeated.

Bury ran into a snag when they went down on their own grounds before Leeds United, the latter thus squaring accounts for the three-two defeat they suffered at the hands of Bury last October. Armand and Jennings were the stars for Leeds while the Lancastrians went scoreless.

Two of the three London teams in the first division were defeated, West Ham losing to Manchester City at Manchester, and Tottenham Hotspurs succumbing to Leicester City on their own ground. In the former game Roberts and Murphy registered for the city, while at Tottenham Lochead, Hine and Chandler were the stars for Leicester, with Osborne getting the 'Spurs orphan.

Other first division scorers were:

Birmingham (1): Crosbie, Newcastle United (1)—Urwin.

Sheffield United (2): Johnson, two goals, Boyle one, Notts Co. 0. Bolton Wanderers (2): Bagcot, 2 goals, Jack 1; West Bromwich 0.

Declared Advantage.

A curious situation featured the encounter at Sunderland where Liverpool were defeated three goals to two. Scoring for Liverpool, England, Jones left back for Sunday.

PETES LAUDED FOR FINE VICTORY

Many Telegrams of Congratulation Are Received By Manager Wright.

Following their great victory in the Senior series last week, the Petes were deluged with telegrams of congratulation, Manager Wright receiving a flock of wires from far and near. In fact some of the telegrams started before the series. Manager Ed. Wright received the following from Kitchener before the first game:

"Best wishes for to-morrow night's game. Our boys pulling for you to win the championship."

—Kitchener Senior Hockey Club.

"Success to your team to-night."

After the Petes had won the championship the following wires were received:

"Congratulations to all the boys and don't forget your old manager."

—Father L. E. Gorman, Kingston.

"Congratulations. You made a god job of it."

—J. Skinner and Staff, Peterboro.

"Heartiest congratulations to the team and yourself."

—G. Stewart Cameron, Peterboro.

—W. H. Kidd, Acting Secretary, Peterboro Kiwanis Club.

"Please congratulate the champs for me. Have been with you all the way through, and am more than proud of the boys from the old home town. Hope Snap is O.K."

—Alex. Fortye, Portland, Oregon.

"Hearty good wishes on continued success of your boys."

—E. A. Peck.

"Congratulations and best wishes for next games."

—V. J. McElderry.

"Accept my heartiest congratulations for you and team. People here are most delighted with your wonderful success."

—G. N. Gordon.

"Congratulations on wonderful game."

—J. K. Sheehy.

"Heartiest congratulations from all the old Peterboro boys here on wonderful victory at London Tuesday. Please convey to the boys of the hockey team our appreciation and best wishes."

—A. P. McLean, Regina, Sask.

"Congratulations on splendid win. Bert Belleghem and other Peterboro boys over here all delighted."

—W. T. Fortye, Chicago, Ill.

SENATORS ON TOP.

TORONTO, March 15 (Canadian Press). — The professional hockey season in this city ended on Saturday evening at the Arena, when the league-leading Ottawa Senators and St. Patricks left the ice at the end of 20 minutes overtime with the score deadlocked, one all. By dividing the points the Senators made certain of finishing the schedule on top and securing a bye into the final series for the National League championship, and the Irish are now in fifth place, one point ahead of New York in the standing. The passing of the pro. grames for this year was quiet and peaceful.

Made major league debut with Athletics in 1912. Sent to minors after brief trial. Returned as Clevelander in 1916.

Led American League pitchers in 1925. Won 20 games, lost five. Also led in effectiveness, allowing 2.84 earned runs per fracas. Topped list in 1923 with 2.76.

In 1917 and 1918 hung up nifty performances. Permitted only 1.82 runs to game in 1917; 1.83 following campaign.

Has won 20 or more games five times, four in succession. The quartet came in 1918, 1919, 1920, 1921.

Had best season in 1925, his tenth consecutive in big time. Hurled two four-hit frays.

Has been in two world series, winning three games, losing two. In 1920 series whipped Brooklyn thrice, being one of few pitchers to turn such a feat.

Spent nine seasons with Cleveland.

SINGLE GAMES IN SEMI-FINALS

Two Quebec Teams and Ottawa Gunners Must Play This Week.

SUDDEN DEATH.

OTTAWA, March 15 (Canadian Press.)—Silver Quilty, president of the Dominion Amateur Hockey Association, last night announced that in view of the deadlock at Montreal between the Sons of Ireland and St. Francois Xavier teams to decide the Quebec champions in the Allan Cup playoffs a sudden death game will be held in Montreal on Tuesday evening. The winners will play Ottawa Gunners, Ottawa district champions, in a sudden death game here on on Thursday. It had been planned that the Quebec champions and the Gunners would play a two game series, commencing in Ottawa on Monday evening.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Colliers' Magazine.

WALTER HAGEN—FORCE CANNOT REPLACE RHYTHM

Force, and force alone, can never take the place of rhythm and correct timing. I know any number of powerfully built men who can not drive a golf ball 200 yards to save their necks. They have been naturally endowed with strength, but they have never learned the art of using it properly.

One man in particular, a friend of mine of long standing has been especially anxious to learn the game and to play in good form. I have given him lesson after lesson and, realizing that it was a hopeless task, turned him over to other pros, thinking that they could discover weaknesses and help him, but after a short time they, too, have given up.

It is not that he is muscle bound. Some men are, I will admit, but this does not always prevent them from hitting a long ball if they will learn to hit it scientifically.

There are many little chaps who drive a very long ball and who apparently are using no great force at all. As a matter of fact force is applied to the shot but it is so evenly and beautifully distributed that it is hardly discernable.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

HOME RUN BALL.

Figures do not always tell the truth in sport, but they sure hit the nail on the head relative to the lively ball.

In the middle of last season a change was made in the ball used by the majors. It was toned down considerably. Almost overnight the pitchers seemed to regain much of their old-time effectiveness.

At first the manufacturers scoffed at the suggestion that the ball had been changed, but finally admitted it.

In going over some world series data the other day, I came upon some facts that best tell the sotry of the lively ball and the home run orgy that have prevailed in the majors for the last three years.

In the world series games from 1905 to 1922, 18 meetings between the two big leagues, a total of 35 home runs were made, an average of about two a series.

In the last three world series, 1923-24-25, home runs because common, 31 being made. Thus in the last three classics, nearly as many home runs were made as in the 18 previous events.

And still there were those foolish enough to argue that it was the same ball as in the days of old.

SERIES FIGURES.

Four home runs had been the record mark up until the 1923 event. In that series the figure jumped to 10. The following season it was one less. Last year all records were broken with 12 circuit swats.

While the ball played its part in the dozen homers made by the Pirates and Nationals, a certain amount of the blame must be placed on the curtailed ball parks.

Both clubs shortened the playing territory of the outfields considerably and some of the home runs of the last series were the sorriest of jokes, particularly those that went into the temporary stands on the bound.

I am inclined to think the fans didn't enthuse over the home runs of the last series as much as usual.

Sooner or later it will be made compulsory that the world series games be played on the same fields on which the pennants were won.

LEGISLATION NEEDED.

With the ball that was in use 10 years ago, the distance of 235 feet from the home plate called for a worthwhile swat to produce a home run.

This is proved by the fact that such great hitters as Frank Baker, used to lead the American League in home runs with a total or eight or nine for the season.

While every fence or stand in the majors is more than 235 feet from the home plate to-day, the lively ball has made it a soft matter to get home runs, that on good-sized playing fields would be easy outs.

I believe I am conservative in venturing the opinion that but for curtailed playing space, the outfielders would be able to catch half of the fly balls that drop into the stands for home runs.

Regulation playing fields, each park having the same distance in the outfields and from the base lines to the stands, are certain to come in baseball.

COOLIDGE OUT OF DRY BATTLE

President of U. S. Volstead Law Enforcement Going Well.

COMBAT IN SENATE.

WASHINGTON, March 15. — When the battle between the wets and drys raged anew in Congress on Saturday and committees of both branches had under consideration bills looking to public hearings on modification of the Volstead law, a delegation of Anti Saloon League officials called upon President Coolidge, and laid before him proposals for more rigid dry enforcement measures.

The "dry" delegation hoped that they might prevail upon upon the President to make a statement regarding the present drive for a milder enforcement act, but Mr. Coolidge was not inclined to enter the controversy.

When the "wet and dry" combat, which has been enlivening the Senate and House for days, was resumed in the Senate Senator McKellar of Tennessee, taking up the burden for the "dry" made an attack on Secretary Mellon in which he charged that Mr. Mellon is still interested in the liquor business and therefore if the law was applied, is disqualified to serve as a member of the Cabinet.

Mr. McKellar deplored what he described as the "turning down" of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews by Secretary Mellon, who he said, was "an exemplification of the old adage that "it is difficult for a shoemaker to change his last.'"

While Mr. McKellar was praising prohibition, Senator Edwards of New Jerseys, one of the leaders of the "wets" gave out a statement in which he charged that the "drys" are back "at their old game, intimidation and using collusive methods on Congress.

"The criminality and outlawry of Volsteadism," said Senator Edwards, "reaches right in to the capitol itself. The time to end pussy-footing on the liquor question has come."

He urged a prompt and sweeping inquiry into the situation. Senator Willis of Ohio, he described as the "mouth piece" of the Anti-Saloon League.

SARNIA MAN SUICIDES.

Used Paring Knife To Stab Himself Through the Heart.

SARNIA, March 15 (Canadian Press). — Henry A. Schnildnecht, aged 30 used a paring knife as a suicide weapon yesterday afternoon, at his home. He stabbed himself in the heart. Ill health is given as the cause of his accident. It is reported that about six weeks ago he attempted to take arsenic of lead, but was frustrated in this attempt. Survivors are his widow and two small children.

AT THE REGENT

"ROSE OF WORLD" WITH PATSY RUTH MILER AS 'ROSE'

Which is stronger — love or revenge, the nobler or the baser motive—is the question presented in "Rose of the World," the Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen which will begin a three day' engagement at the Regent Theatre to-day. This picturization of the popular novel by Kathleen Norris was directed by Harry Beaumont.

Rose Kirby, glowing with love and happiness, is engaged to marry the son of the wealthiest man in town, Jack Talbot. His mother, however, interferes and Jack jilts her for a girl in his own set, Edith Rodgers. Humiliated and maddened by Jack's marriage to Edith, Rose swears that she will find a way to revenge herself. It finally comes when she marries Clyde Bainbridge, the manager of the Talbot Works, who finds a missing contract which gives the Talbot millions to Rose. Rose's opportunity for revenge goes by because she finds she cannot bear to hurt the man she has loved but in her frenzied race through the storm to warn Jack that her husband has the contract, she brings disaster to Jack's wife. From this point the story takes an unexpected turn, and the question of which is stronger—love or revenge—is answered by the climax of the picture.

AT THE CAPITOL

FILM STARS SHINE IN NEW PICTURE.

"Reckless Lady" Cast Headed By Ben Lyon, Belle Bennett, Lois Wilson, Kirkwood, Sherman and Murray.

Film fans are expected to be able to find their favorites in the cast of Robert T. Kane's First National picture, "The Reckless Lady," which is coming to the Capitol theatre on Monday.

Belle Bennett, Lois Moran, Ben Lyon, James Kirkwood, Lowell Sherman and Charlie Murray, head the all star cast. The film is an adaptation of the Sir Philip Gibbs novel of the same name. Thomas Holding, Marcia Harris, Julia Hurley and Edwin August complete the cast.

"The Reckless Lady" tells the story of a great love between mother and daughter and of the sacrifices of the former to preserve the happiness of the latter. The majority of the scenes are laid in Monte Carlo, the playground of the world. The colorful and spectacular carnival procession, with its galy decorated floats and its hundreds of people in an unheard of variety of costumes, figures prominently in the picture.

Sada Cowan, who prepared the scenario of Kane's "The New Commandment" and Howard Higgin, who directed it, served in the same capacities in the present picture.

Mary Charleston, wisest of the stars of yesterday's group now trying to regain lost laurels along the cinema trail, is seeking to stage a "come-back" by playing character parts. Mary, in private life the wife of Henry B. Walthall, is probably the only one of the old-time stars, who could step back into the youthful niche she held so long ago.

To be truly great in cinema stations one must first be born for comedy, is a film-town proverb. Sponsors for this belief cite the cases of the following who began their movie careers in the Mack Sennet pie-throwing parlors! Charlie Chaplin, Gloria Swanson, Bebe Daniels, Phyllis Haver, Louise Fazenda, Marie Prevost, Mabel Normand, Mae Busch, Syd Chaplin, Charlie Murray, Ben Turpin, Ford Sterling and Wallace Beery.

I have just been gazing through motion picture magazines, noting in particular the manner in which movie actresses must disrobe themselves in order to gain publicity. There is only one pose remaining to be executed—an actress in her first apparel, the diaper, to be published under the caption: "Like the Movies, Still in Her Infancy."

The numerous floral designs were evidence of the high esteem in which the family was held by the entire community. Interment took place in Little Lake cemetery.

MISS URSULA MULHALL

COBOURG, March 15.—One of the saddest funerals seen for some time took place here on Saturday, when Miss Urusula Mulhall a graduate nurse, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Mulhall, Cobourg, and formerly of Grafton, was buried. Miss Mulhall died in St. Mary's Hospital, Rochester after a week's illness from pneumonia following the flu. She was a graduate of that hospital, and two nurses from the institution came with the remains here. Seven sisters and two brothers, besides her parents, survive. They are Mrs. T. Heenan, Grafton; Mrs. Richard Heenan, Cobourg; Mrs. Allen, Colborne; Miss Gertrude Mulhall, Toronto; Miss Annetta, Rochester; Miss Patronella and Aileen of Cobourg; Mr. Harold Mulhall, Grafton; and Mr. Arthur Mulhall, Oetroit.

Among those from out of town who attended the funeral were Mrs. Thomas McCabe and Miss Aileen McCabe, Peterborough.

At K. of C. Alleys

The closing weeks of the ladies' scheduled games at the Knights of Columbus' bowling alleys hold quite a lot of interest for the many players who have been striving all season for a place among the first five to head the list of twenty teams. With only two weeks more to play the Orioles (Miss Alma Fontaine, captain) still hold the first place, with 39 wins and 12 losses out of the 51 games played up to last Saturday night. The Wrens (Miss Myra Moloney, captain) come second, with 36 wins and 15 losses, and the Marigolds (Miss Nora Shevlin, captain) with 35 wins and 16 losses are just one game behind the second place, and only one ahead of the fourth, occupied by the Bluebells (Miss Gertrude Doyle, captain) with 34 wins and 17 losses. The Tulips (Miss Josephine Hunt, captain) come fifth, with 32 wins and 19 losses, and the Regler Fellers (Miss Florence Giroux, captain) are close behind, with 31 wins and 20 losses.

STATE TO CLAIM WATER POWERS

OWN POWER PLANTS.

NEW YORK, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Governor Alfred E. Smith, in a statement reviewing the proposal for a state water power authority yesterday asserted that no reasonable or sensible argument could be made against the State retaining ownership and control of the power plants required for the generation of electrical energy.

"Over and above every other consideration, the State should own these power plants in order to prevent the Federal Government from encroaching upon the domain of the State," the statement says.

"Another encroachment upon the State's right can be found in the treaty between the Dominion of Canada and the United States, providing for joint development on the St. Lawrence River. No one will deny the right of the Federal Government to make a treaty with the Dominion for the purpose of promoting navigation, but this treaty also provides for water power development, and the United States has assumed its right of control over the water power on the United States side as clearly as it has assumed its right over the navigation. The creation of a State water power authority will be a challenge to the right of the Federal Government to assume any ownership or control over the waterpower now conceded to be the property of the State of New York."

INTERESTING PLAY FOR SEVENTEENTH

Annual Entertainment Promises To Be Real Comedy.

Something entirely new and very interesting in the way of the annual 17th of Ireland play is "Paddy Turns the Trick," to be presented at the Grand Opera House on Wednesday evening by the Dramatic Section of St.Alphonsus' Lyceum, under direction and stage management by Messrs. J. J. Southern and Jack Primeau. The plot of the play centers about the efforts of an Irish new rich family in New York City, to break into society, and there are several unexpected twists and complications in the plot, involving a dashing Bolshevik lady and a pair of diamond smugglers. With a very interesting theme a well directed presentation and a cast that includes many new faces and much real talent, "Paddy Turns the Trick" promises to be one of the most entertaining of the annual Irish plays. Specialties between acts will be introduced by the popular entertainers Messrs. George Wesley and Dave Quinlan. 1d-63-707

BURNED TO DEATH.

Four Other Members of Family Escape When Residence is Destroyed.

MONTREAL, March 15.—(Canadian Press.)—William Clarke, of Longueil ,Que., across the St. Lawrence river from Montreal, was burned to death this morning when fire destroyed his residence and store. Four other members of the family escaped.

IN POLICE COURT.

When the police court opened this morning, one young man was brought before Magistrate O. A. Langley for being intoxicated in a public place. He pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs, it being his first offence.

In the second case two neighbors were brought before the magistrate, one neighbor accusing the other of assault. G. N. Gordon, K. C., appeared for the defence and V. J. McElderry for the plaintiff.

The plaintiff stated that when she was hanging out her clothes one day a quarrel started with her neighbor. She got an axe and started to cut down a small fence which is on the right of way between the two lots. The defendant took his snow shovel and stopped her cutting down the fence. In the fray her right arm was hurt.

The defendant was called and he stated that there had been a quarrel for some time between him and his neighbor. She had hung a pair of drawers on his clothes line, where they could be seen from the street, and his wife had pulled them down. The plaintiff hung them up again. Then the plaintiff started to chop the fence and he resisted her with the shovel, allowing her to chop the shovel instead of the fence.

The plaintiff seeing that she was gaining nothing with the axe tried her fists, and the defendant said his jaw was so sore for some time afterwards he was not able to eat meat for sometime and after feeling his jaw in the box was able to tell which one it was as it was still sore. He claimed that plaintiff hurt herself when she was chopping his snow shovel. Mr. Gordon said in conclusion that the plaintiff took every deliberate effort to start the row and contended that there was no assault as defendant was just looking after his property. Mr. McElderry said evidence showed the plaintiff trying to live peaceably and asked for a committal and that defendant should be bound over to keep the peace. Judgment is to be given on Wednesday.

FINE PICTURES ARE UNVEILED

Two Given By Col. and Mrs. Herbert Cox Hung at Conservatory.

HANDSOME GIFT.

The unveiling of the two pictures recently donated to the Women's Art Association by Colonel and Mrs. Herbert Cox of Toronto, took place in the studio of the Conservatory of Music on Saturday afternoon and proved to be a very interesting event, attended by a large number of the members of the society.

The president of the association, Mrs. Wm. Blackwell, made a brief speech, welcoming the members who had come to share in the pleasure of the society in this handsome gift, and speaking of the suggestion made by Mrs. V. Eastwood, Senior, some weeks ago, that Mr. Cox, if he knew of the local association, might donate to it some of his pictures, as he was doing to The Grange in Toronto. This suggestion was followed up by a letter to Mrs. Cox from her friend, Miss F. Edwards, a member of the local society and the two pictures were at once presented to the association, Mr. Cox making a point of including as one, his mother's favorite picture, "Sheep in Heather," painted by a sister of Rosa Bonheur.

Short addresses were then made in turn by Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., His Worship, Mayor W. T. Holloway, and E. A. Peck, M.P., who arrived later. The gentlemen congratulated the ladies on such a spendid addition to their budding art gallery, which already contains specimens of the work of Miss Katherine Wallis and F. McGillivray Knowles, spoke of the influence which art and its attendant cultural subjects exerts on the minds and lives of those who make a study of their beauties, and hoped that this beginning would prove the nucleus of what in time would be a real Art Gallery in the city, situated in appropriate quarters and containing many fine objects of artistic worth.

The unveiling of the two pictures was done by Mrs. V. Eastwood, and much congratulatory comment was passed on these two beautiful specimens of the painter's art. They are large, beautiful paintings and give an added interest to the room in which they are hung, the studio occupied by the Women's Art Association at the Conservatory of Music. The two pictures are in entirely different styles, and both are very interesting. The painting by Madame Peyrol (Juliette Bonheur) entitled "Sheep in Heather," is more freshy colored than its companion, and the brightness of the green background makes an admirable setting for the placid sheep. In the foreground is a fine specimen, with faintly pink ears and white wool, its two companions grazing peacefully in the clumps of green heather. The second picture, while not perhaps so attractive at first glance, offers more thought to the careful observer. It is a much older painting, and the sombre colors used conform admirably to the subject chosen, a delineation of "Turnberry Castle," a ruined stronghold on the coast of Ayr, in Scotland. Above the shattered walls of the ancient keep fly seagulls and dark waters lap the shores of a deserted land.

At the conclusion of the short addresses, afternoon tea was served, and a musical programme given, which included a French song and its encore, sung very charmingly by Miss Mathilde Masson, and selections by a small orchestra, whose playing was received with much appreciation. Led by Francis Sutton, A.T.C.M., its personnel included Miss Helen Spencer, Mr. Sutton, Roy Rome and J. Northrupp, violins; W. F. Skitch bass viol; W. Layfield, cornet, and Miss E. Webber, piano. Miss Agnes Logan played accompaniments for the vocal numbers.

Tea was poured at a table prettily centered with daffodils, presided over by Mrs. A. E. Sherwood and Mrs. F. C. Neal, assisted by Mrs. F. D. Kerr, Mrs. W. Sangster, Mrs. H. E. Connolly, and the Misses E. Munro, M. Masson and M. Rush. Present at the unveiling ceremonial were several of the past presidents, Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Mrs. A. E. Sherwood, Mrs. F. C. Neal, Mrs. V. Eastwood and Mrs. J. E. R. Munro.

The rooms were decorated in very attractive style with a quantity of ferns pink tulips and daffodils, kindly donated for the occasion by Jordan Brothers.

FINE SINGERS FOR ROTARY CONCERT

Madame Farnum and Miss McIntosh To Be On Programme.

The concert to be put on under Rotary Club auspices on April 5th and 6th in the Grand Opera House, for which Douglas Fletcher, manager of the Capitol Theatre, is providing the programme, the funds to be used for the furthering of Rotary work at the Boys' Camp, will be a musical treat for the citizens of Peterborough, if the quality of two of the musicians who will appear on the stage that evening is a guarantee of the balance of the entertainment to be provided.

A few people were present in the Capitol Theatre on Saturday afternoon after the picture performance, to listen to Madame Farnum, contralto, of Toronto, practise with her pupil, Miss Catherine McIntosh of Toronto, formerly of Fenelon Falls, and a "find"of Madame Farnum's who has been training her in voice culture. This young lady possesses a remarkably fine voice, a lyric soprano that will be a delight to Peterborough audiences. With a bright pure tone, a range that is capable of difficult coloratura work and a lovely quality, Miss McIntosh's voice makes a perfect foil for Madame Farnum's beautiful contralto. They will be heard together in duet and in solo numbers that will include some very fine numbers.

Madame Farnum was the visiting soloist at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church yesterday, charming her hearers with her splendid rendition of sacred numbers that included "He Is Arisen," "Abide with Me," and "Hold Thou My Hand," the latter a particularly striking presentation of thrilling music.

SAY FAREWELL TO BURNBRAE COUPLE

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Petherick Give Them Chairs.

BURNBRAE, Mar. 15—A considerable number of friends and neighbors of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Petherick gathered on Wednesday evening at their new home on the Innes farm, 8th concession. Mr. Earl Fairman acted as chairman for the evening and read the following address:

To Mr. and Mrs. Harry Petherick and family.

Dear Friends,—We, a few of your friends and neighbors have met here tonight to express our feelings of regret at your removal from our midst, but delighted are we to know that your future home has not taken you far from us. During the years spent in our community we have found you to be staunch and true friends, ready to lend a helping hand. We appreciate very much the interest you have shown in all matters of social welfare. You have won for yourself a place of high esteem among us.

We would therefore ask you to accept this gift not for its intrinsic value but as a slight token of our gratitude and esteem for you during your sojourn among us.

It is our sincere desire that you may be blessed with health and happiness in your new home and we feel sur that you will fill a worthy place in your new field of labor as you have done among us.

and birch at $4.00 half cord, also sented with two handsome library chairs.

A short programme was given, consisting of a vocal duet by Mrs. R. Miller and Mrs. H. Simpson, reading by Miss Gladys Simpson, and short addresses by Robert Miller, Ernest Lloyd, Alfred Barnum, Lindsay Anderson and Everett Fairman.

The remainder of the evening was pleasantly spent with cards and dancing. Music was furnished by Spencer's Orchestra.

YOUNG PEOPLE VISIT

Omemee League Puts on Programme for Bethel Branch.

OMEMEE, March 15. — About forty young people, representatives of the Young People's League, journeyed by sleighs and cutters to Bethel on Wednesday evening to put on the programme for the sister society at its regular weekly service. The musical part of the programme consisted of vocal duets, instrumental duets and a piano solo, while the topic was in the hands of the honorary president, Mr. F. G. Sandy. "The Open Road" was the subject for consideration in which the chief idea which Mr. Sandy conveyed to his hearers is, "the matter of necessity for breaking away from conventional ways when a principle is involved." This address was splendidly given and the hearty applause given Mr. Sandy testified of the appreciation of the entire gathering.

At the conclusion of the programme the Bethel young people took charge and put on a couple of contests, both of which provided much entertainment, after which they served refreshments.

A hearty vote of thanks was extended to Bethel for the kind hospitality and the meeting closed in the usual manner, both societies having expressed their pleasure with the evening's programme.

Massey Harris Is Firm On the Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Mar. 15 (Canadian Press)—International Nickel, Massey Harris and Consolidated Smelters were the leaders on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning when, in line with Wall Street and Montreal, a moderate decline set in. Smelters sold down to 204 1-2 but recovered to 207, a loss of three and a half points, while Nickel lost one at 37. . Massey Harris was one of very few firm spots. Common climbed six at 51 and Preferred one at 97. British Columbia Fishing and C.P.R. each eased one point at 70 and 155 1-2, and Atlantic Sugar after an active session closed half a point lower at 25. Brazilian was also slightly lower at 91 3-4. Dome Mines after touching 19.99 receded to 19.30, a loss of 50 cents and McIntyre lost 45 cents at 25.00.

Wheat Has Downward Drop Liverpool Shows Weakness

CHICAGO, March 15.— (Canadian Press.)— Wheat prices here took a sudden early downward turn to-day, influenced chiefly by the unexpected weakness of quotations at Liverpool. Chicago opening prices: 7-8c. to 2c. lower, May (new) 164 1-4 to 165 and July 142 to 142 3-4, were followed by numerous minor changes and then by something of a rally.

Corn and oats were affected by the depression of wheat. After opening 1-2c. to 3-4c. off, May 78 to 78 1-8, corn market recovered a little.

Oats started 1-8c. to 3-8c. down, May 40 1-4 to 40 3-8, and held near to intial range.

Provisions went lower with hogs and grain.

Tough Oakes Weak Issue At the Standard Exchange

TORONTO, March 15.— (Canadian Press.) — Moderate declines and light trading were characteristic of this mornings session of Standard Mining Exchange. Dome, Tough Oakes and Noranda being the weakest issues. Dome was sold down 55 cents at 19.35, Tough Oakes 5 1-2 at 55 1-2, and Noranda 55 at 13.10. Teck Hughes lost four at 319, McIntyre 1 5at 25.10 and Premier 10 at 240. Mining corporation eased two points at 390, while Canadian Lorrain advanced three at 80.

Railroad Shares Take Drop Operators Bid Up Stocks

NEW YORK, March 15. Canadian Press. — Weakness of Southern Railroad shares due to heavy selling inspired by widespread rumors of over extended land speculation in Florida, was the outstanding feature in to-day's reactionary stock market; Atlantic Coast Line broke 12 3-4 points to 208 1-2; Seaboard Airline Common dropped 5¼ to 33 3-4, and preferred 2¼ to 37 3-4, all new low records for the year. Southern Railway also sold down 2 points below last week's close. Sporadic efforts were made by operators for a rise to rally the list by bidding up special stocks.

GOLD MOVEMENT REACHES HIGH MARK

Nearly $30,000 in Yellow Metal Sent to the States.

NEW YORK, March 15 (Canadian Press).—The movement of gold from Canada to the United States during the past two weeks has, according to reports in financial circles here, reached the $30,000,000 mark. This is the largest movement of yellow metal involving New York since the imports from Great Britain last fall.

The gold remittances are said to have been induced by the discount at which the Dominion's dollar has been selling recently. This discount, however, has been diminishing during the last few days, and at present is less than one-third of one per cent.

$345,771,351 TOTAL EXPENDITURE FOR GOVERNMENT SERVICES, AND $31,000,000 ADDITIONAL FOR C.N.R.

Reduction of $19,000,000 in Amount For Canadian National Railways—$202,783,000 For Statutory and Post War Demands—$3,000,000 For the Hudson Bay Railway.

HON. J. A. ROBB'S FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Increase of $1,000,000 For Pensions— $14,000,000 For Welland Ship Canal—Separate Budget For the National Railways.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 16 (Canadian Press)—Main estimates for the next fiscal year, amounting for government services to $345,771,351 were tabled in the House of Commons by Hon. J. A. Rodd, Minister of Finance, Monday. This is a decrease of $5,652,672 from the total estimates of 1925-26. Estimates for the Canadian National Railways amounting to $31,000,000, as compared with $50,000,000 last year were also tabled.

Of the total amount of the main estimates, $202,783,000 is required for statutory and post war expenditures leaving $142,988,000 for other public services. Provision for construction and betterments on the Hudson Bay railway amounting to $3,000,000, is made.

An official summary says: "The amount required for interest on bonds outstanding in the hands of the public is $125,120,130. This is a decrease of $392,418 under the amount required in this connection in the year 1922; the decreases being due to the reduction of debt and refunding from time to time maturing loans at lower rates of interest. The remaining services under the heading "public debt," for sinking funds and other lesser liabilities, show an increase of $421,569 over last year's requirements.

Pensions Increase Million

"With the exception of the item for pensions, which has been increased by $1,000,000 due to the revision of the Pensions Act by parliament last year based on the report of the Ralston commission, the chief expenditures arising from the war show decreases as follows:

Soldiers' Land Settlement, a decrease of $1,125,000.

Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment a decrease of $791,500.

Adjustment of war claims a decrease of $185,000

"Increases are shown for penitentiaries $111,735; Dominion lands and parks $137,599; customs and excise $376,761, and post office $257,540, and in minor amounts for several other branches of the public service. The increase in customs and excise is due to an enlarged amount of $90,000 for secret preventitive operations in connection with smuggling and the investigation of reported frauds against the revenue.

"An item of $1,690,000 is submitted under miscellaneous for remission of excise duties paid on automobiles remaining in the hands of dealers and unsold at the time when the so-called luxury taxes were repealed by order in council in December, 1920.

Some of Reductions

Civil government, $67,009.

Agriculture, $96,706.

Immigration and Colonization, $412,201.

Railways and Canals Income, $147,679.

Public Works Income, $2,756,480.

Fisheries, $131,000.

Trade and Commerce, $1,004,450.

Miscellaneous, $487,986.

"While the total vote for trade and commerce shows a decrease of $1,004,450, there are two items which show substantial increases, namely, $280,000 for the administration of the Grain act and $500,000 for the Bureau of Statistics to meet expenses of the western census of 1926.

Railways and Canals

"Capital expenditures show—Railways and Canals capital, increase $2,055,895, including new item of $3,000,000 for the Hudson Bay railway and an amount of $14,000,000 for the Welland ship canal, a reduction of $1,000,000 last year's vote.

"Public works capital, including marine department, is reduced by $2,173,305 and contains provision for —Ottawa parliament building, $225,000; Esquimalt dry dock, $570,000; Porth Arthur and Fort William harbour, $500,000; St. John harbour, $225,000; Toronto harbour, $94,000; River St. Lawrence ship channel, $1,490,000.

The vote under National Defence for military, naval and air services totals $12,538,835, which is a decrease of $8,268 from 1925-26.

"Provision is made of $100,000 towards the Banting research foundation.

Provision of $25,000 is also made for expenses of a Royal Commission to inquire fully into the claims of the Maritime provinces.

C.N.R. Requirements

"The budget requirements of the Canadian National Railways are $31,000,000 as compared with $50,000,000 last year. This includes provision not only for the amount by which it is estimated the lines will fall short of meeting their fixed charges due the public in 1926-27, but also for current capital and refunding requirements. The estimate for the Canadian Govenment Merchant Marine is $600,000, a decrease from last year of $68,000.

NOW HONESTLY—

Every now and then you ridicule somebody for being what you choose to call foolish—or silly.

Just because that person gets a laugh out of any old thing—or is chock full of the dickens—or just can't seem to take anything seriously.

Foolish? Perhaps. Silly? Well, mebbe so!

But, far be it from me to ridicule them.

I frankly envy such a soul.

Life is to serious at best—and when a person takes a moment, or a day off, and sees only the light side—

Well, I wish I wuz them!

Old Age Pension Bill To Be Introduced In House

OTTAWA, March 16 (Canadian Press)—The Old Age Pensions bill, which the government intends to bring down in the house,, provides for a maximum pension of $240 per annuum, subject to reduction by the amount of the income of the pensioner in excess of $125 per year.

The pensions are to be paid on a half and half basis with the provinces and will be paid to qualified persons over 70 years of age in provinces which adopt legislation bringing the pension scheme into effect.

Candidates for the pension must be British subjects and must have resided in Canada twenty years and in the province where application is made for five years. The pension scheme does not apply to Indians.

DISQUIETING RUMOR THAT ITALY IS BACKING BRAZILIAN DEMANDS CIRCULATING IN LEAGUE LOBBIES

Reported That Mussolini Will Demand That Germany Stop Actions.

POWERS FEARFUL.

Little Entente Worried at Offer of Czechs To Resign.

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 16 (Canadian Press).— Disquieting rumors spread through the lobbies of the League of Nations palace today that Italy was prompting Brazil from the wings in her insistence upon receiving the permanent seat in the League Council at the same time as Germany.

It w · reported that either Premier Mussolini would make a statement or a speech in Rome demanding that Germany cease atetmpting to thwart another Power obtaining a permanent seat at the same time she was accorded one, or that one of the Italian representatives here might read a statement inspired by Mussolini from the floor of the Assembly when it convenes tomorrow morning.

Italy's interests were described as demanding the continued amity of Brazil, to which country a sizeable portion of her surplus population emigrates annually.

The action of Czecho-Slovakia and Sweden in offering to refrain from standing for re-election to their council seats next September, has aroused the apprehensions of the Little Entente Powers.

Matteotti Murder Case Reaches Last Stages

CHIETI, Italy, Mar. 16 (Canadian Press)—The trial of five men accused of having kidnapped and murderded the Socialist Deputy, Giacomo Matteotti, in June 1923, thereby creating a political scandal which for six months rocked the foundations of the Facist regime, began this morning in the local court of assizes before Judge Danza, in the presence of an array of Fascist notables.

The proceedings here constitute the closing chapter of what is considered the most important politico-legal case since the Dreyfus trial in France. Matteotti was the arch-enemy of Premier Mussolini, and his murder, which anti-Fascists charge was order by the Premier, excited a tremendous struggle between Italy's dominant regime and its opponents.

HYDRO OFFICIAL TELLS COUNCIL COMMISSION WILL NOT CONTINUE TO OPERATE RAILWAY AT LOSS

If City Doesn't Purchase the System It Will Be Shut Down.

WOULD PAY WAY.

Expenditure of $65,000 on Equipment Would Make It Carry Itself.

W. R. Robertson, superintendent of railways for the Hydro Electric Power Commission, told the City Council, sitting in commitee of the whole last night, that $65,000 spent on the street railway would put it in good condition so that a surplus of $14,000 a year over operating costs could be made. The Hydro, he said, had no money for this purpose and would likely stop operating the line if the city didn't take it over.

Mayor Holloway opened the meeting with an explanation that it had been called on the suggestion of the chairman of the Hydro Commission, in order that the aldermen and citizens interested in different phases of the transportation problem might hear and consider the facts. He then called upon Mr. Robertson to explain the position.

Mr. Robertson said that all present knew the railway problem of Peterborough. The hydro lacked the money to put the system in proper shape and as a result all the equipment had been allowed to run down. The track, he said, was good except for one or two sections, and the two one-man cars could be repaired economically. Some of the others could be fixed up for emergence use.

It costs too much to operate with the present equipment, said Mr. Robertson, adding that good equipment was necessary for profit. The track had been laid out so that three of the lines came in on the same track, which made for a high car mileage. In 1924 the operating costs were $80,000.

Speaking of the changes made when the buses were put on Mr. Robertson said that it was estimated from counting the number of people who crossed the Hunter street bridge that the revenue would be about $10,050 per year. About $1825 extra would be gained from the C.G.E. line from rerouting and the same from the Jackson Park line, while $2,720 would be made in extra revenue from Sunday service the year round.

At this Alderman Hancock asked if a loss was not being incurred from the Sunday service, but Mr. Robertson said that as the fixed charges had to be met anyhow there was really no loss.

The Guelph Railway.

Speaking of the Guelph street railway Mr. Robertson said that the loss had been reduced, after it had been rehabilitated, from $30,000 to $18,300 and that part of this had been for interest on old capital expenditures such as on pavement, which had been scrapped. He figured that the loss had been about $7,000 on the year's operations, and said that the net loss for January had been $115.00. The cost per car mile had been reduced from 38.4 to 22.3 cents. Comparing the two systems, Mr. Robertson gave the following figures:

	Guelph	Peterboro
Track work	$1402	$1417

BRITAIN, FRANCE AND GERMANY IN AGREEMENT

Briand and Stresemann Both Announce Unity on League Matters.

CONFERENCE HELD.

Briand Says Adjournment May Be Necessary if Troubles Come.

GENEVA, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Premier Briand of France made the categorical statement this afternoon that Germany, Great Britain and France are now absolutely united on all questions connected with the controversy over reorganization of the League Council, but he added that if new difficulties began to surge on the horizon, the only thing left to do was to adjourn the assembly to September.

GENEVA, March 16 (United Press).—A spokesman for Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany announced at 4.10 to-day that complete agreement had been reached regarding the League Council membership dispute.

The announcement followed a conference between Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Minister, Premier Briand of France, and Chancellor Luther and Herr Stresemann of Germany.

DUMMER TOWNSHIP COUNCIL PROTESTS PUBLICITY GIVEN THROUGH THE DWYER TRIAL

Resolution Authorizes Reeve To Proceed Toward Obtaining Denial.

SAY "SLANDEROUS."

Low Moral Conditions Indignantly Denied By Deputations of Ratepayers.

The Township Council of Dummer is protesting the publicity given it through the arrest and trial of Mr. and Mrs. George Dwyer on charges of neglect of their children. At a meeting of the Council on Friday a resolution was passed, after several ratepayers had made protests, authorizing the Reeve to procure any help needed to contradict the "false' statements said to have been made. A statement will be placed before the public denying the erroneous statements the council says have been made.

The Examiner, which is included in the condemnation of Dummer Council, has several times pointed out editorially that the lamentable conditions complained of exist in only a part of Dummer township. On Friday it was said: "Whether the terrible stories of ill-treatment (in the Dwyer case) are true or not, it must be remembered that this is but one instance. There are, according to the latest census, 1,505 persons in Dummer Township and only eight of them were involved in this lamentable case. There are, in Dummer, several thriving villages, populated with citizens of the highest type. There are on the farms in Dummer agriculturists of hardy stock and high pinciples. The entire township must not be lumped in a sweeping condemnation."

The statement regarding the poor school attendance in Dummer was not made by The Examiner, as alleged by Dummer Council but by a minister attending Peterborough Presbytery, and so reported.

The resolution passed by the Council reads: "That members of this Council having read the slanderous statements in the daily press regarding the township, especially the falsehoods in regard to the school situation, which The Examiner knows to be absolutely false, having had the opportunity of printing the County Inspector's report wherein the facts are altogether different, and we are further amazed that at a meeting of Clergymen held in the City of Peterborough, whom we would expect to have full regard for the truth, would broadcast such erroneous statements regarding the conditions in this township, also that the Council give the Reeve authority to procure such necessary assistance as he may require in further contradicting the false statements made and in securing a suitable retraction, and that this matter also be brought to the attention of the local member for East Peterborough."

No information could be obtained by The Examiner as to what action, if any, will be taken by Dummer Council.

Other Business.

On motion the following accounts were ordered paid:

John Payne, 9 days, road overseer, $33.75; to Muskoka Hospital board for patient, $46.50; Aaron Com stock, ambulance service, $3; J. Tedford, fence viewer service, $2; B. Douglas, fence viewer service, $2; Arthur Edwards, fence viewer service, $2; Silas Harding, refund, $1.50.

Tenders for an engine to operate road machinery were considered and on motion the tender of Carveth and Payne was accepted.

On motion a committee of the whole Council was appointed to convene with the road superintendent to lay out the expenditure appropriations for the various roads, the committee to be called together by notice of the Reeve.

ASHES OF WEST HOME SIFTED BY CONSTABLE SEEKING TEETH OF WOMAN LOST IN FATAL FIRE

Diamond Ring and Other Jewelry Also Remain Unfound To-day.

THOROUGH SEARCH.

Dr. West's Clothing Analyzed To Check Alleged Blood Stains.

(By a Staff Reporter).

WARKWORTH, March 16. — A. Phillips, village constable, with two assistants, on Monday afternoon resumed the gruesome task of digging in the ruins of the Dr. West home, looking for further evidence that might tend to throw light on the tragedy in which the doctor's wife and child lost their lives on Tuesday morning of last week. All the coarser debris has been removed from the cellar, so that nothing now remains but a pile of cinders. The searchers provided themselves with a large screen such as is used for preparing sand for a mortar bed, and the cinders were slowly put through this, and everything was carefully examined. It is known that the late Mrs. West wore a valuable diamond ring, and no trace of this has been found in the ruins. Other articles of jewellery, which it is believed would not have been entirely consumed, are also missing.

The Child's Foot Supports.

It was thought that an important discovery had been made when the searchers in the ruins found one of the foot supports that had been worn by the child, this article being recovered in the rear part of the premises, some distance from the room that was occupied by the boy and his mother.

The child had worn these foot supports since infancy to correct, as far as possible, the deformity in his feet, for which he had been taken to Toronto several times for expert surgical treatment. On the Sunday before the fatal fire the use of these supports had been abandoned, and on that day the late Mrs. West, with all a mother's pride, showed a neighboring lady how her child had been so benefited by the Toronto treatment that he was able to walk without artificial aid, and to wear shoes for the first time.

Another Puzzle.

Another point in the case which is puzzling the police is the claim set up that at the time of her death Mrs. West was at least partially clothed. When her remains were found the steel springs in her corsets were found around her charred body, and the police are at a loss to understand how a woman who is believed to have met a tragic end at 2.30 o'clock in the morning, would have been so attired. Other portions of the body besides the head are still missing. The police seem to agree that while the skull and other parts of the body may possibly have been burnt to ashes, the human teeth will resist the action of fire, and it is for these that the most careful search is now being made.

The Bloodstains.

It has been already stated that

Let Us Reason Together

Come let us reason together and face the plain facts.

Our population has made a small increase in ten years.. Our assessment has nearly doubled and our taxation rate has more than doubled during this last ten years. It is quite apparent that this state of affairs is most unsatisfactory even to the most casual observer.

Why has this City not attracted new industries? Is it not because this City has thrown away its natural birthright and one of its great natural advantages? Is it not because this City has been "buncoed" by the Hydro Electric fakirs? Many of our citizens may be deceived by Hydro Electric fakirs but after ten years' experience of stagnation our citizens must now appreciate that manufacturers seeking new locations cannot be deceived into locating in Peterborough under the pretense that they are going to get power at $16 per H.P. when as a matter of fact the city itself pays $22.50 per H.P. and to that must be added an average cost of $20 per H.P. for the cost of distributing it among our local consumers.

The Chairman of the Local Commission claims that the Peterborough Utilities Commission takes advantage of the fact that all consumers are not all using power at the same time and hence they are in a position to sell power below cost but the fact remains that the Manufacturer desiring to locate a new industry is not deceived by such transparent nonsense.

Any consumer of power in Peterborough must realize that our manufacturers are "power factored" and "peak loaded" to the limit and our domestic light users are also now being "floor spaced" and "peak loaded" to an extent that they now realize the fact that this City is not blessed with cheap electric power even though it is supplied with "power at cost."

The report of the Public Utilities Commission which appeared in Monday's Examiner amply bears out these statements. For instance our domestic light consumers paid $6522.82 more for domestic light in 1925 than they did in 1924 and commercial light consumers paid $7291.50 more for commercial light in 1925 than they did in 1924.

But that is not all; our domestic light consumers during 1925 paid just twice as much for electric light as they did in 1918 and over twice as much as they did even in 1919 and our commercial light users paid over twice as much for electric light in 1925 as they did in 1918.

From year to year the cost to consumers has been constantly going up and the worst feature is that the cost to consumers is continuously going up. In other words the consumers of electric light both domestic and commercial are being "peak loaded" but their own experience must show that they cannot always continue to be humbugged.

The revenue from the sale of electric power in 1925 was only $66,498.04. That is less than it was in 1924 and still less than it was in 1923 and over $10,000 less than it was in 1921.

These figures must be convincing proof that our manufacturing growth is at a stand still and power bills are so excessive that one industry has seen fit to put in a steam plant of its own.

It is to be hoped that our Chamber of Commerce, our City Council and our Local Members will awaken to the fact that the best interest of this City is being betrayed by not investigating and looking into the possibilities of developing real cheap power from the dams that are located to the north of this City.

BROCK ST. RINK SKATING TO-MORROW

Scratch Matches To-night and Thursday Nights.

Owing to the hockey games in Toronto there will be scratch matches only, at Brock street rink to-night and Thursday nights. To-morrow there will be skating and again on Friday night. To-morrow is gents' gift night, with another valuable prize for the lucky gentleman skater.

Friday night will be gift night again for the ladies, with a real surprise.

The ice continues to be as good as it has been all season and this may be the last week of skating.

Ambition can creep as well as soar.—Burke.

Divorce, Cheap and Quiet, Promised By Yucatan Ring

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Mar. 16 (Canadian Press).—Federal officials to-day were investigating an alleged international ring to obtain divorces fraudulently in Yucatan.

Agents of the ring, the headquarters of which are believed to be in Merida, Yucatan, were said to have been operating in New Orleans, San Francisco, New York, Philadelphia, and other American cities. For $800 prospective clients were alleged to have been promised divorces within thirty days and "without the knowledge of the other spouse."

SINCLAIR LAIRD ISSUES CHALLENGE

Dean Sinclair Laird of MacDonald College has agreed to back up his recent statement to the press that persons desiring can make a comprehensive trip across Canada and back for no more than $330 by chartering a special train for the purpose of accommodating all those who may be inclined to accept his challenge. He avers that the trip, which provides for stop-overs at all points of interest between Toronto and Victoria, westbound via the Okanagan Lake and eastbound by the main line, including rail and water transportation, meals, accommodation and all other expenses can be made as comprehensive as could possibly be desired, and he is prepared to accept the amount stated, $330, as a blanket charge for all expenses.

The Canadian Pacific Railway, which is interested in several all-expense tours this season, is acting as his booking agent. Dean Laird plans to leave Toronto July 19. The route he has planned is via Port Arthur and Fort William, Winnipeg Beach, Winnipeg, Regina, Calgary, Banff, to Windermere across the Rockies by auto, to Kootenay Landing thence by steamer to Nelson and through the Doukhabour country to Hope and Vancouver. The return from Victoria will be made via the Selkirks and Rockies and stop-overs have been arranged, among other places, at Lake Louise and Devil's Gap Camp, Kenora. A trip across the Great Lakes to Port McNicoll, thence rail to Toronto will terminate the excursion.

Dean Laird contends that this trip will not be an experiment as he has made two previous trips of like nature as organizer of teachers' tours. This trip he is throwing open to all and sundry, the only stipulation being that members of the special train party be chosen as being compatible with the whole.

Apply Dean Laird, MacDonald College, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, or any Canadian Pacific Agent. 3d-13-16-20

SWEDEN AND CZECHO-SLOVAKIA SACRIFICE SEATS TO POLAND BUT BRAZIL STILL OPPOSES GERMANY

Swift Change in Drama at Geneva—Brazil Insists on Council Seat.

APPEAL BY NATIONS.

GENEVA, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Brazil, no longer Poland, held the key to the League of Nations crisis last night. With amazing swiftness the focus of interest of the big political drama being enacted at Geneva has shifted from Warsaw to Rio Janeiro, and apparently the only obstacle impeding solution of the Council controversy is Brazil's insistence that she will vote against Germany for election to the League and, what is vastly more important, against Germany for a permanent seat in the Council.

An urgent cablegram has been sent to the Brazilian capital embodying an earnest appeal from the League Council that the Rio Janeiro Government modify the instructions heretofore binding on Senor Mello Franco, and authorize him to vote for Germany. This appeal was transmitted through Mello Franco, and hardly had it started on its long journey to South America when there began a specially convoked meeting of representatives of Latin-American states to discuss the situation created by the Brazilian attitude, which was that Brazil would veto the election of Germany to the Council unless she herself got a permanent place.

An European Question.

The delegates of eleven Latin-American countries attended the meeting, which adopted a resolution that Germany's election to the League was particularly an European question and that American states had no right to prevent it. The sense of the meeting also was that although the Latin-Americans did not wish to pass on Brazil's candidacy for a permanent seat, they were unanimous in holding that the exercise of the right of veto against Germany did not have the approval of the other Latin-American countries.

Both Sweden and Czecho-Slovakia have agreed to sacrifice their non-permanent seat in the Council in order to permit the immediate election of Poland to one of the vacancies thus created. Such was the big development yesterday in the Polish aspect of the crisis, and it opens the way for the settlement of the problem which for the past five days has endangered the Locarno accords and even the whole League.

Both Germany and France in a spirit of compromise have accepted this plan. Poland's friends feel convinced they can elect her, and that when Germany takes her seat in the Council she shall find Poland there.

This solution of sacrifice was not achieved without a struggle. The German statesmen steadfastly opposed the proposal that Sweden alone should resign—for M. Unden, the Swedish Foreign Minister, decided that he should go in order to prevent the great tragedy of rupture. The Germans declared that this would not please German home opinion that they had abandoned their friend in favor of a potential enemy.

Desire to Save League.

To avoid the sting of such a solution they suggested that two countries should give up their seats, thus permitting a more general election. Then Dr. Edouard Benes, Czecho-Slovakia's popular Foreign Minister, came forward and lined himself up with M. Unden, saying simply that Czecho-Slovakia wanted to save the League and remove from peril Locarno's happy accords of European reconciliation.

A scene impressive and solemn marked this double offer of sacrifice. To most of the harassed and discouraged members of the Council, and especially to Premier Briand and Sir Austen Chamberlain, it was a light in the darkness. They accepted the two-fold renunciation, but with expressions of profound regret that it should be found necessary.

Wet Leader To Seek National Referendum In United States.

NORWAY PLEBISCITE.

Vote Proposed On Continuing Present Prohibition of Liquors.

WASHINGTON, March 16 (United Press).—A national referendum on prohibition would be sought in Congress to ascertain if newspaper polls hitherto showing pronounced wet sentiment represented the actual feeling of all the people, Senator Walter E. Edge, New Jersey, Republican and wet leader, announced Monday.

OBITUARY.

JOHN PARKS.

BURNBRAE, March 16. — The people of this community were inexpressibly shocked on Monday morning to hear of the sudden death of Mr. John Parks, of Hoard's Station. An illness which set in on Thursday last developed into acute appendicitis, and although expert medical advice was called in on Sunday, the case was too far developed for an operation. The end came suddenly at 5 a.m. on Mond-.

The deceased, who was 56 years of age, was a man of sterling character, who was respected by a large circle of friends both at Hoard's and in the surrounding communities. He was at all times active in church work, and was one of the recently elected elders of St. Stephen's Church, Hoard's. On account of his serious illness, the Sunday afternoon service was withdrawn, the pastor, Rev. C. D. Daniel, remaining at the bedside throughout the afternoon.

For a number of years Mr. Parks had been stationmaster at Hoard's, and was a universal favorite with railwaymen and local shippers. Always a keen sportsman, the deceased had recently taken a great interest in the Tuxis Boys' class and the skating and hockey club at Hoard's. His passing leaves a vacancy in the community life that can never be filled.

There are left to mourn his loss, besides the sorrowing wife and adopted son and daughter, three sisters and two brothers: Mrs. William McKenzie, Rawdon; Mrs. Frank Spencer, Rawdon; Mrs. Alfred Merrill, Percy; Mr. Reuben Parks, Madoc, and Mr. James Parks, Campbellford.

JOSEPH SAUVA

ORLAND, March 16 — Joseph Sauva, an old and widely known citizen of this locality passed away at his residence in the third concession of Brighton Township at 1.30 p.m. on Saturday, March 13th, at the age of 75 years. He was born of French parentage in the town of Merrickville on May 22nd, 1852.

He came to this locality as a boy of ten years to reside with his aunt, Mrs. Edward Matt, and at the early age of 15 went to work in the shanty as a lumberman which vocation he followed 57 years during the winter months, and river driving during the summer till the lingering illness of three years ago began to weaken his remarkably strong constitution.

His parents were the proud possessors of a family of eight boys and eight girls all of whom have predeceased him except one sister who is at present residing in Ogdensburg, N.Y., and two brothers, Levi of Washington and Elson of Nebraska.

On account of his long connection with the lumbering industry he is well known by almost every lumber jack in the province as he was employed at some time or another in nearly every camp.

He held the Roman Catholic faith throughout his whole life. He married Miss Mary Wright, daughter of the late James Wright of this place, some forty years ago. She bore to him a family of seven children of whom two boys and four girls together with his widow survive, one girl having predeceased him about thirty-four years ago.

Mr. Sauva is the father of Major Harold Sauva who was with the C. E.F. in France, and also father of Miss Mamie Sauva, a recently graduated nurse of Bowmanville hospital, Mrs. Thomas Webber of Orland, Miss Millie and William at home and Mrs. Floyd Mutton of Wilton.

He was confined to his bed in October last and was a patient sufferer until relieved by death on Saturday last.

The services were conducted in the Roman Catholic church at Wooler, interment being in the Protestant (McPhail's) cemetery at his request beside his little daughter, Tuesday, March 16th.

BELGIAN FRANC FALLS HEAVILY CAUSING ALARM

United States' Senate Failed To Ratify Belgian Debt Agreement.

CABINET CRISIS.

Special Meetings Held Monday—Sale of Francs Suspended.

BRUSSELS, March 16 (Canadian Press).—The sensational fall of the Belgian franc against foreign exchange, causing two special Cabinet meetings Monday, was due to Washington and London manipulations, according to the general opinion expressed in political and financial quarters last evening.

Failure of the United States Senate to ratify the Washington-Belgian debt agreement, and the insistence of British bankers on obtaining close control of the Belgian national railroads brought unrest in financial circles and heavy sales of Belgian securities, entailing depreciation of the franc.

A rumor which gained popular credence that the American bankers concerned in the proposed loan to Belgium had demanded supervision of the Belgian Congo, was also responsible in part, it was asserted in well-informed financial circles.

Rumors Denied.

Official information was to the effect that all the foregoing was untrue, that no harm had been done; there was a wave of selling of Belgian stocks and the purchase of foreign securities, which the Cabinet hopes, with the help of the Belgian bankers, to stem to-day.

Depreciation in the past two days has caused a loss of 14½ per cent. in Belgium's national wealth.

M. Janssen, the Finance Minister, is reported to have admitted at a Cabinet Council yesterday "mediocre success of the London negotiations" without mentioning the United States. A Ministerial crisis is regarded as certain, and it is believed that M. Vandervelde, Belgium's representative at the League Assembly, will be recalled from Geneva.

The Cabinet Council decided to suspend all buying of foreign exchange temporarily and to institute a close investigation of recent deals in dollars and sterling and also stocks quoted in foreign exchange on the Brussels' bourse.

HUSKY PUP TORE BABY TO DEATH

Little Girl Died of Terrible Lacerations and Shock.

WERE PLAYMATES.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., March 16. — Canadian Press. — Terribly mangled by a husky pup, Mary Sharpe, aged two and a half years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. Sharpe, farming near Flint, died from hemmorage and shock on Sunday.

The husky was four months old, and he and the little girl had been playmates and there was no suspicion that he was dangerous.

On Saturday Mr. Sharpe went out in the evening to do the chores at the barn and little Mary followed him as she often did. But when he returned to the house he missed the child, and returned to see where she was. To his horror he found her in a snow bank close to the barn with the puppy tearing at her. Her body was terribly lacerated and the flesh almost gnawed from her left leg. In spite of all that could be done she died the next morning. The dog was immediately shot.

It is believed that while playing the pup's teeth drew blood and the taste of this excited it to attack the child and tear her flesh.

PREMIER KING RESUMES SEAT

AN UNIQUE COUP.

OTTAWA, March 16.—The green chamber broke out into bloom yesterday in preparation for the formal entry of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, member-elect for Prince Albert.

Chas. B. Howard, Liberal M.P. for Sherbrooke, had placed on each desk a boutonniere—a pink or red carnation. Liberal, Progressive, Conservatives and Independents were treated alike and with true sportsmanship the Conservatives wore the favors as well as all the other members of the House.

When, therefore, the Premier entered the whole House presented a festive appearance unpredecented in the history of the Chamber. Mr. Howard's coup was entirely successful and the Premier's entry was unique.

Liberal cheers broke out as Mr. King entered escorted by Hon. Ernest Lapointe and Hon. W. R. Motherwell. Not a Conservative cheer was heard, however, and it only dawned on them later that the posies they were by this time wearing were in honor of the Prime Minister.

After his introduction to the Speaker the Premier took his seat. The business of the House was then resumed.

Portfolios Now 16.

Henri Bourassa raised the Locarno question and asked the Government if the correspondence with the Imperial authorities could be tabled in order that the members might be informed as to the present state of affairs, so far as they affected Canada.

The Prime Minister stated that he had cabled Downing Street, but that the Imperial Government was not in favor of the publication of the correspondence at the present time, an exception might be made, however, with reference to the correspondence respecting the Imperial conference.

In answer to Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Mr. King stated that the number of portfolios had been reduced from 18 to 16 and would be reduced further to 14. The Secretary of State Department would be added to that of Justice, and the Department of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment would be added to some other department.

So far as Messrs. Marler, Massey and Sinclair were concerned, these gentlemen had retired from the Government before Parliament met. As to new Minister, he himself took his seat to-day, he hoped to announce another Minister to-morrow (Mr. Dunning), and two weeks hence a third Minister (Mr. Elliott).

Put Over Question.

None of the retired Ministers had been attending Council with the exception of Hon. George P. Graham, former Minister of Railways and Canals, who had attended council at the Premier's request until just recently.

Mr. Meighen also asked if the Government would state its policy as to Canada's adherence to the Locarno treaty. The Premier replied that he had intended to refer to this matter and to ask the member for Centre Winnipeg to put over his motion on foreign relations for a short time owing to the critical situation at Geneva.

"The Geneva conference will only last two or three days more and then we will be free to discuss the matter," said Mr. King.

Mr. Meighen agreed and the matter dropped.

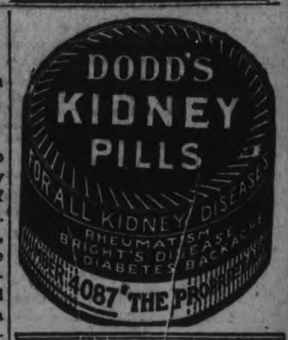
BURNBRAE LADIES' AID.

Vestry of the Presbyterian Church Redecorated—Some Quilting Done.

The Ladies' Aid of Burnbrae Presbyterian church spent a very enjoyable day in the basement of the church on Thursday, March 4th. Although cold weather prevailed, there was a good attendance. The vestry was redecorated and refurnished. The ladies also quilted two quilts. Tables were set and a hot dinner was served. It was decided to hold the next meeting in the basement of the church. The collection amounted to $14.25.



Many a temptation comes to us in fine, gay colors that are but skin deep.—Henry.

POLICE PROTECTION.

The activities of a band of housebreakers over the week-end has intensified the demand from residents of East City that that section of Peterboro should be given police protection.

Merchants and householders in the eastern part of the city complain that while they are taxed like all other citizens for the maintenance of the Police Department, East City is not patrolled by the police, and is more or less open to attack from those who prey upon society.

The Police Department doubtless feels that there are not enough men on the force to give all parts of Peterboro the protection that is considered desirable, but at the same time the request of the citizens of East City, as voiced to the Examiner by residents of that section, is a legitimate one and should receive due attention.

The people of East City have been inclined to think that in the matter of public services generally they have not received justice on all occasions, and in this matter of police protection they have excellent reason to ask for a readjustment that will guard their property against attack.

A CURB UPON APPETITES.

The Provincial Government of Quebec has discovered a new way of securing funds for the maintenance of hospitals—a way that will commend itself to most people as sensible and fair.

A bill, fathered by the Provincial Secretary, Hon. Athanase David, has been introduced into the Legislature providing that every meal costing the consumer more than $1.00 ordered in a restaurant anywhere in the Province will be taxed 5 per cent. and the money raised in this way will be applied to the funds available for the hospitals.

Probably Hon. Mr. David is going on the theory that the individual who can afford to pay more than a dollar for a meal can afford to pay something for hospital maintenance, and possibly has the further thought in his mind that people who eat expensive meals are sooner or later going to need hospital treatment and may as well begin to contribute their share now.

At any rate the bill, coming as a Government measure, will undoubtedly be carried by the House and will become law.

A NUISANCE REMOVED.

The abandoning by the Provincial Government of the tax upon carbonated beverages, as announced by the Provincial Treasurer, the Hon. W. H. Price, in his budget speech last week, has been received with applause throughout the Province.

Of all the troublesome taxes the people of Ontario have been called upon to pay this beverage tax was the most unpopular and the least productive.

The Examiner condemned it when it was introduced, and frequently called upon the Government last year to do away with this nuisance, and it is a source of satisfaction now to know that the Provincial administration has realized that the press generally was right in its attitude towards the beverage tax.

The levy only raised $80,000, and in return for this revenue the manufacturers of carbonated beverages, the retailers who handled them and the consumers who had to pay for them found the tax an intolerable nuisance that led to varying prices for "soft" drinks and general confusion and indignation.

The wiping out of the tax by Hon. Mr. Price will give general satisfaction; the Provincial Treasurer was wise in frankly admitting that a mistake had been made in taxing beverages of this nature.

BETER WALKING CONDITIONS

The season of the year has arrived when unless there is co-operation by the civic authorities and the public generally the people of Peterboro can expect a week or two of wading through slush and water.

There is no reason why the conditions should be as bad as they have been in other years, however, if all concerned will do their part in dealing with the situation.

The Board of Works Department should see to it that the street crossings are kept as free as possible from slush and snow.

There has not been enough attention paid to this matter in the past, and the result has been crossings ankle-deep in wet slush.

At the same time every householder should regard it as his duty to see that the sidewalk in front of his property is cleared of the winter's accumulation of ice and snow.

Many citizens are careless about this duty, and their failure to measure up to their responsibilities has been responsible for the bad condition of the sidewalks.

If the civic authorities will look after the crossings and the householders the pavements, the conditions will be very materially improved, and Peterboro will escape the worst consequences of the breaking up of the winter.

MAKING AMERICANS GOOD.

Macaulay once said that there was nothing more ridiculous than the British public in one of its fits of morality, says the Ottawa Journal. One wonders what he would have thought of American spasms of the same character, so prominent in the Republic just now. No sooner has the Cathcart episode passed from the front pages than Washington discovers a by-law prohibiting "immoral music," with the consequence of a raging controversy as to whether the playing of a saxophone is not in itself prejudicial to morals and the discipline of family life. And so if not satisfied with this, Los Angeles, once the home of Mr. Roscoe Arbuckle, has put the whole cast of one of Mr. Eugene O'Neill's plays under arrest for performing something which had already, after considerable inquiry, been "passed for publication" in New York.

Whether the work is, as the guardians of behaviourism in Los Angeles announce, "an obscene play," or not, it seems curious logic to arrest the mere actors of it. The actor, like any other workman, has to do his duty with the material supplied to him; if wrong is done it is wrong by those who made the play and who decided that it should be produced. To arrest the cast is surely no more just than it would be to arrest the compositors on a doubtful book.

Why not arrest the audience as well? They, too, were surely equally engaged in subverting the morals of that good city which, on one of its great buildings, has the legend:

"We cannot speak to you, O George Washington,
But you can speak to God.
Ask him to help us become better Americans."

And incidentally, on the grounds that they are indecent and that our people must be protected from them, the Canadian Customs Department is prohibiting the entry of certain daily and weekly publications that are circulated widely to the tune of millions in the United States.

BRITAIN PAYS THE BILL.

During the current year, according to the figures of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Great Britain will pay us on account of war debt, principal and interest, something over $160,000,000 and will receive from her debtors not less than $70,000,000, including German reparations under the Dawes plan. Britain's principal war debtor is France, which has been active, not to say ardent, in the collection of her own debts, but has not shown the same enthusiasm about paying anybody. Hence, among other things, the demoralized franc. As a loyal friend and an honest debtor, Britain should command our sympathy, and it seems a pity that our politicians should fail to appreciate the sterling honesty she has displayed where it would have been by no means difficult to procrastinate and plead poverty. According to the same authority, Britain's national debt, at the end of last year, was £7,738,000,000. This works out at £171 per capita of the population, and it will cost every man, woman and child something like $30 this year to meet the annual charge for interest and management.

These are stupendous figures when we are considering a population less than 40 per cent. of our own, working in an area which could very nearly be tucked away in Florida and would be lost in Texas. It has been pointed out to British statesmen by good-natured Americans that they could have driven a better bargain with us if they had waited two or three years before taking up the settlement of the debt to America. It is curious how unanimous British sentiment was for an early settlement. It is all very well to prate about national honor, but when a whole people, well knowing that its own debtors will be dilatory and evasive, nevertheless reaches down into the deepest depths of its pocket to meet its own obligation, to re-establish its currency at par and to look the whole world in the face with credit unimpaired, the most careless American, regardless of refugee Irish ancestors or German extraction, must take off his hat to the most practical demonstration of national honor the world has ever seen.—Barron's (New York).

THE SIMPLE LIFE.

The "simple life" has been praised by such philosophers as Thoreau. It is usually taken to mean a life free from luxury and ostentation and extravagance. But its advantages are not merely negative. It means a life of refined rather than crude enjoyments—a richer and fuller life in the true senses. It means the cultivation of the intellect, of the higher emotions, of the quest for beauty and the things of the spirit. The woman who cannot afford diamonds can find enjoyment in the glories of the rising and setting sun. With our system of public libraries few pleasures are cheaper than reading, intercourse with the greatest thinkers of the present and past. The intercourse of refined and kindly people is possible without expensive and ostentatious social functions.

This does not mean contempt for the things that money can buy. A dwelling spacious enough for privacy, warm in winter, cool in summer, light and airy and provided with comforts and labor-saving contrivances, is a real good, and such an environment conduces to the living of the right kind of intellectual and spiritual life. Wholesome food in plenty and suitable clothing are equally desirable. But there is a point at which expenditure becomes not only extravagant but useless. The art of spending money is quite as important as the art of making or accumulating money.

Farrar, in a passage from which he quoted in a previous article, spoke of the mad desire for thrills and spectacles which was a symptom of the corruption of Roman society in the days of the decline of Rome—a desire which the decadents sought to gratify by exhibitions of lust and murderous cruetly. All this meant not only a lack of moral sensibility, but poverty of intellect and spirit. Evil ideas rushed into an empty head, evil passions into a cold and empty heart.

On that hard Pagan world disgust
And secret loathing fell;
Deep weariness and sated lust
Made human life a hell says Matthew Arnold. Then the poet describes the remedy offered by Christianity:

"Poor world," she cried, "so deep accurst,
That run'st from pole to pole
To find a draught to slake thy thirst
Go seek it in thy soul."

In the same way the frivolity, the mad rush for crude pleasures, even crime, of the present day is to be ascribed to emptiness of head and heart. Infinitely finer and more exquisite enjoyments are to be found in the cultivation of the homely domestic affections, of the intellect and spirit. "How charming is divine philosophy," says Milton. Many a young fellow goes wrong because he does not know the secret of true enjoyment. His craving for new sensations is not necessarily wrong, but it is perverted. He has not known the pleasure of seeking knowledge, the fairy tales of science and the long result of time. He has not felt the charm of the physical landscape, or the intellectual or the spiritual landscape. So he may be tempted to look down into the ditch instead of up into the sky.—Hamilton Spectator.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

DUMMER SCHOOLS

To the Editor of The Examiner.

Dear Sir, — I note an article in your paper the other day, supposedly a report of the Presbytery of Peterborough, in which certain statements have been made to the effect that in all of Dummer there were only four schools, one school had one pupil attending and the others three or four. This statement is entirely incorrect.

As a matter of fact, there are at least eight schools in Dummer, with the following attendance in winter, which is considerably increased during the milder months of the year:

Warsaw	100
South Dummer	20
Cottesloe	20
4th Line	20
Hall's Glen	20
Centre Dummer	25
East Brick School	30
S. S. No. 2	35

We claim to have as good teachers as are to be found in any of the other township schools.

In addition to the above schools a number of Dummer pupils attend the Norwood school, and where the Douro school borders on Dummer, a number of our children attend the Douro school.

It is too bad that statements should be made that are contrary to the facts.

I was born and have lived in Dummer all my life, and I believe it to be as law abiding a township as any township in the county, and with the exception of a very small strip in the township, is as productive and fertile a township as there is in the County of Peterborough.

The residents of Dummer township as a whole will compare as favorably with any other township in the county, and while it is to be regretted a case such as the Dwyer case should exist within our borders, still I have not slightest doubt that there is as much poverty in the City of Peterborough and in the other Townships as there is in the Township of Dummer. These cases are bound to be found everywhere, and why do some people condemn the whole of Dummer when a case such as this arises. We are not afraid of the fact concerning conditions in Dummer, but we certainly do not like to be misrepresentrd.

Fred W. Girven,
Warsaw, R. R. 1.

A DEFENCE OF DUMMER

The Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir.—Dummer people are beginning to feel somewhat indignant at the sweeping statements made by some people regarding the Township of Dummer. Dummer may not be perfect; what place is There are even whispers that there are some things that should be investigated, but no one knows for certain; so no one can do anything; but Dummer is peopled by good, respectable, honest, hard-working citizens. When it came to a call for supplies for a burnt-out district, Dummer came well to the fore. Dummer has eight schools in the township, and has her share of four more schools; union ones, with the adjoining townships. Every effort is made to get good teachers and good salaries are paid, some teachers getting $1,100. Centre Dummer School's last reported average was four pupils and no others have less than thirteen, while some are as high as thirty-two average; Warsaw school has two teachers. It is understood that several teachers have first class certificates, and all are fully qualified. This is surely different from "only four schools, one school had only one pupil attending, and the others three or four pupils," as is reported to have been stated at Peterborough Presbytery.

True, there are large tracts of waste land, principally towards the north and east, where there should be no one living, and what few children there are, are three and four miles from school, and it is true these children have as good a right to school advantages as any others. It is also true that the settled parts of Dummer have tried to help, when cases of need have been found.

Dummer put up an especially handsome monument, not to glorify war, but to honor those who laid down their lives to help keep Canada a home for Canadians. On that monument there are over thirty names.

The names of more than one relative of George Dwyer are on that monument and it may be possible that if he had had the wages, that laborers at home got while he was away, instead of the dollar-ten, a hole in the mud for a bed, and a tightened belt for a meal, he might not have been reduced to the degree of poverty and callousness he appears to have been.

Dummer people are beginning to feel it is time a halt was called to her being banded as she is, every time something happens in these "bad lands." There are a few families who lead notorious lives back there; and at odd times a new name appears in the list. And the evil deeds of these few for the past twenty years are rehearsed and even exaggerated. This talk of the ministers at the Presbytery, is the hardest dose, and one would expect them to make an effort to know what they say.

Centre Dummer School had an average attendance of four during January and February. There are very bad roads, and long distances; there are eighteen on the roll, and when the weather is at all good, the attendance is very much larger.

—Dummer Resident.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

THE ARTIFICIAL PLAGUE

I have been trying to concentrate my thoughts on the most destructive, dehumanizing word in all the world — the word that represents the essence of inhumanity.

It breeds crime, breaks up families, nurses revenge, fosters class hatred, kills and maims millions of men, blights womanhood, and starves countless children.

It lowers birth rate, mortgages future generations, and corrupts the morals of most people.

It completely upsets all constructive plans for business, for city, state, or nation, and is the most expensive error conceived and carried out by civilization.

It puts in the hands of humans the destroying weapon of wrath and annihilates the possibility of mental, moral, or material progress.

It is the artificial plague, defying the worst that a pen can express—the havoc of hell; and we call it—War.

RHEUMATIC PAINS GO SWOLLEN JOINTS VANISH

Thousands of sufferers have freed themselves from the bondage of rheumatism; rid themselves of the torturing pain; reduced the swollen joints; thrown away canes and crutches, and from helpless beings became able to work and be of use to themselves and their families.

Don't be skeptical about Rheuma. You will know in a few hours after beginning the treatment that the poisonous waste matter is leaving your system through the natural channels. You will feel better in a day; you will know you are going to be helped in less than a week.

There is no guess work about Rheuma bringing you back to health. That's why McDermid & Jury and druggists everywhere sell it with guarantee of money back if it does not give quick relief.

LANDSLIDE ON CANAL.

Suction Dredging To Be Resorted To In Order To Open Channel.

ST. CATHARINES, Ont., March 16 (Canadian Press). — With the opening of navigation just a month away, a serious bank slide occurred Saturday evening on the west side of the present used Welland Canal near Rameys Bend, between Thorold and Welland. Hundreds of tons of earth slid into the channel. It is expected that suction dredging will have to be resorted to in order to have the channel clear for traffic by April 15th.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal
Winnipeg

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, March 15.—Export buyers were slow in operating, and the first full load taken cost $7.65 a cwt. A few small lots of export steers brought $8.25 a cwt., but most of the bids were $7.50 and $7.75 a cwt., and prices are down a full 25 cents a cwt. Butchers' cattle were under a like influence, and prices here were 20 to 25 cents a cwt. lower. Handyweights, which sold at $6.80 a cwt., would have brought $7 or over last week. A large number of baby beeves were on the market, and the prices ran from $7 to $10.50 a cwt. One load of 750-lb. stockers sold at $5.60 a cwt., and some feeders brought $6.15 a cwt.

There was no buying of calves for Buffalo today, and there was some evidence of the seasonal decline in this market. Choice calves went at 13 cents a pound, and good calves at 12 cents. These two grades were lower by fully 50 cents a cwt.

Lambs were quiet with 13½ cents bid and 14 cents asked. A small bunch of good lambs sold at 14 cents. More sheep were on sale toady, but prices were steady, with handyweight sheep 8 cents a pound.

There were only 1,286 hogs for actual sale today, but the packers lowered their bids 25 cents a cwt., making the price $12.50 a cwt., f.o.b. It is the intention of the buyers to bring the price to a still lower level if at all possible.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Canadian egg storage holdings on the 1st of March, 1926 were 371,938 dozens as compared with 106,555 dozens on March 1st, 1925, and a five year average on March 1, of 78,768 dozens.

Toronto—Country shippers report receipts increasing slowly. They are paying producers extras 32, firsts 28, seconds 20, and making sales extras 34, firsts 32, seconds 23 to 25. Wholesale fresh extras 39 to 40, firsts 35 to 36, seconds 30 to 31.

Montreal—Receipts on this market are much larger due to milder weather. Sales are being made between jobbers extras 38, firsts 32. Prices to retailers extras 40 to 41, firsts 35 to 36, seconds 30 to 31.

Winnipeg — With mild weather prevailing egg receipt are showing an increase and market is lower. Country dealers making sales extras 28, firsts 25, seconds 18. Wholesale prices to retailers extras 38, firsts 35, seconds 25. Poultry receipts are light, prices unchanged.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Extreme weakness in foreign cables brought about considerable liquidation of "long" wheat in the market here today, and resulted in an early break of 3 cents when May touched a low of $1.48 7-8; July $1.47 3-8, and October $1.31 1-2. Some recovery from the low points was made, however, and closing quotations ranged from 1 1-2c to 1 5-8c below Saturday.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 15 (Canadian Press).—Notwithstanding late rallies today in the wheat market here prices ruled lower, chiefly as a result of unexpected weakness of values at Liverpool and nervousness over tension in the League of Nations Council. Chicago closing prices for wheat were unsettled at 3-8 to 2c net decline, May (new) $1.65 1-4 and July $1.42 3-8 to $1.42 5-8; corn 3-8 to 5-8c off; oats a shade to 1-8 to 1-4c down, and provisions unchanged to 12 cents lower.

Rallying power which showed itself in the wheat market, especially near the end of the day, was associated with gossip that the Canadian Growers' pool had sold 2,000,000 bushels of wheat for export. There was also a decrease of 1,683,000 bushels in the Canadian wheat visible supply total, as well as a falling off of 1,880,000 in the United States visible supply. Extreme smallness of contract stocks of wheat in Chicago tend also to help the market here to recover from the shock of the unlooked for break at Liverpool, which carried British prices down to 7 cents discount as compared with Chicago May delivery.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 15 (Canadian Press).—The trade in car lots of oats on spot in the local market was rather quiet today but the undertone to the market for Canadian Western grades was stronger at an advance of 1c per bushel, with No. 2 C.W. quoted at 60, No. 3 C.W. at 56, No. 1 feed and No. 2 feed at 51, while Ontario and Quebec No. 2 white were unchanged at 50c, No. 3 white at 49c, and No. 4 white at 48 cents per bushel, ex-store.

A stronger feeling developed for potatoes and prices scored an advance of 10c to 15c per bag which was attributed to the marked increase in the demand for supplies on spot and the light offerings, with the result that an active trade was done in car lots. New Brunswick Green Mountains were quoted at $3.05 to $3.10 per bag, and Quebec varieties at $2.85 to $2.90 per bag of 90 lbs., ex-track.

A weaker feeling developed in the butter market for Australian pasteurized creamery butter and prices declined 1-2 to 1c per pound. Sales of 1,000 packages of this commodity were made at 44c per lb, while 500 packages lot sold at 44 1-4 to 44 1-2, and smaller quantities at 44 3-4 to 45c per pound. Other grades of butter were unchanged. Receipts today were 30 packages.

The condition of the cheese market remains unchanged, prices being well maintained with a small amount of business passing. Receipts today were 130 boxes.

STERLING RATES

Sterling demand $4.87 3-8.
Sterling cables $4.87 7-8.

SURPRISE PARTY TO SAY FAREWELL

Friends Gather at Home of Mr. and Mrs. John Miller.

MILLBROOK, March 15—A surprise party gathered at the home of Mr. John Miller, south of the village on Wednesday evening, over 100 of their friends from far and near coming to spend a social time with Mr. and Mrs. Miller, and their family, before their removal to Peterborough to reside.

Dancing, music, and social intercourse made time pass pleasantly, and at a pre-arranged hour the host and hostess, with Mr. Alex. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Miller and daugher, Helen, were given seats of honor and presented with tokens of esteem and affection, Mr. Archie Johnston reading the address, and Messrs. Austin Thorne and William Armstrong, on behalf of those present offering the gifts:

Cavan, March 10, 1926.

To Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and family,

We, your friends and neighbors, have gathered at your home on the eve of your departure from our midst, to express our sincere regret that you are about to leave us, and to wish you the best for the future.

You have always been generous to your friends, your house has always been open to us, and we have enjoyed your hospitality more than once. You will be greatly missed and we can only hope that in the years to come you will always be happy and prosperous.

As tokens of our esteem we would ask you, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller, and Mr. Alex. Miller to accept this chime clock, not for its intrinsic value, but as a momento of the good times we have had together. And to you, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Miller, we present this berry spoon; and to you, little Miss Helen Miller, we give his cup and saucer. Each gift is accompanied with our very best wishes.

May you find as good friends in your new home as you leave behind, is the sincere wish of all present.

Signed on behalf of your neighbors and friends,

Austin Thorne.
William Armstrong.
Archie Johnston.

Suitable reply was made by Mr. Miller on behalf of his wife, family, and himself, thanking the donors for the tangible expression of their kindly regard, and shortly afterward a bountiful supper was served.

Music for the dancing, which was kept up until long after midnight, was provided by a number of those present Master Wilfrid Lunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lunn, who is only in his eleventh year, being one of the violin players.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller and family left for their new home in Peterborough on Thursday. Mr. E. B. Wadley, formerly of Peterborough, has purchased the farm and is now in possession.

Mr. Miller's sale of stock, farm implements, etc., took place last Tuesday, and was quite successful. Sales totalled $3,215.00. Horses alone brought comparatively low prices, the highest bid being $140.00.

J. A. Noble was auctioneer, and A. A. Birchard, clerk.

Dance Well Attended.

The dance held in the Town Hall this week, under the auspices of L.O.L. No. 79, was fairly well attended considering the state of the roads a number driving in from Cavan, Garden Hill, and from west of the village.

Byam's orchestra furnished excellent music and L. H. Morton was floor manager in his usual capable style. A feature of the evening was the clever step-dancing of Messrs. M. Todd of Millbrook, and Fred Munroe of Garden Hill.

A thoroughly good time was enjoyed, round and square dances being provided for, with the latter predominating on this occasion, as there were a number of those older in years present, and their preference lay in this direction.

Supper was provided by the ladies about midnight, and dancing was kept up until 2.30 a.m.

Financially all expenses were covered by the door receipts, but practically no surplus remained to increase the lodge funds.

Byam's orchestra went to Bethany on Friday evening to furnish music for a dance there under the auspices of the Young Farmers' Club.

Bithday Party.

Mrs. V. C. Lambert entertained several of the little friends of her daughter, Lenore, at a tea-party on Thursday evening, in honor of the latter's sixth birthday.

Games of various kinds were enjoyed, and when the little folk gathered about the tea-table a handsome birthday cake was the centre of attraction. Cutting the cake at the conclusion of the meal was an interesting ceremony anxiey as to who would secure one of the usual charms, hidden in some one or more of its slices, adding to the excitement.

Those present were: Bryar Edmunds, Mary Burnham, Freddie and Audrey Garside, Gertie and Patsy Richards, Mary Smith, Mary Eakins and Jean Todd.

Mrs. Thos. Luxon visited her brother-in-law, Mr. William Byers, Garden Hil, this week. Mr. Byers has been quite ill for some weeks.

The official visit of the President of the Rebekah Assembly of Ontario, Sister Frances Donaldson, of Brockville, to Golden Sheaf Rebakah Lodge, No. 176 will take place on Friday, March 19. All members are expected to attend.

Mrs. G. Raymes of Brighton was the guest of her brother, Mr. E. C. Richards, this week.

FINGER PRINTS ON EMPTY TOMB

Body of Wealthy Woman Desecrated at Sandwich, Ont.

JEWELS SOUGHT.

WINDSOR, Ont., March 16. — Finger-prints believed to be those of a woman were found on a broken slab from behind which the body of Mrs. Sarah Lavin, buried five years was dragged from its resting place in the Lavin mausoleum in Assumption church yard, Sandwich, police revealed Monday.

The body of Mrs. Lavin was brought here from California in September, 1921, and place in the family vault at Sandwich behind a heavy two-inch slab of slate and a second covering slab of marble. The woman was reported to be wealthy and to have owned large quantities of valuable jewelry.

Last week, following shortly after a visit to the mausoleum by Mrs. D'Arcy Deneau, of Erie Street, who has cared for it since the Lavin family moved to California, accompanied by a relative from the States, ghouls broke into the vault and tore the body of the dead woman from its grave.

Thorough preparation appeared to have been made for the ghastly crime which is believed by police to have been committed in search of valuables believed to be in the coffin. The outer door of the mausoleum was forced open and the heavy slabs of marble and slate which covered the burial vault were smashed with a sledge hammer. The casket was dragged from its resting place, on to the floor of the mausoleum and the cover ripped off and thrown into a corner.

Left arm sprained and ligaments torn

FELL FROM TOP OF BOX CAR

Sustains painful injury but gets quick relief

A freight brakeman on the Chicago and Northwestern Railway fell off the top of a box car on his left arm, spraining it and tearing the ligaments loose.

"I suffered great pain," he writes. "Then I got a bottle of Sloan's Liniment and it relieved the pain right away. I have now no pain to speak of at all. The swelling has nearly all gone down." (Name and address given on request.)

What is the magic of this amazingly effective remedy? Sloan's sends an increased supply of healing blood right to the spot that hurts. That's what conquers the pain. No need to rub. Sloan's does the whole job. Just pat it on. Quickly and surely, it kills pain, reduces swelling and inflammation, drives out stiffness from lame muscles. Get a bottle. All druggists—35 cents.

TOWNSHIP COUNCIL FACE 181 CHARGES OF MISAPPROPRIATING PUBLIC MONEY

Cheques For Road Work, Forged By Officials, Cashed at Municipal Building — Loss of Thousands in Saskatchewan.

YORKTON, Sask., March 16. — Canadian Press. — A former secretary, the present and former reeve, and present and former members of the Council of Sliding Hill municipality, near here, were committed for trial on Monday on a total of 181 charges of misappropriation of municipal funds. The preliminary hearing was held at Canora, Sask.

The charges have provided the greatest sensation in the history of the municipality. No estimate of the amount of money involved has been made but it is believed to run into thousands of dollars. All the accused testified at the preliminary hearing and all with the exception of the former secretary, K. W. Samiak, entered general denials.

The accused are R. W. Samiak, facing 90 charges of forging, uttering and stealing money belonging to the municipality; John Krycki, councillor, facing 36 charges; Alec Fedorun, former reeve, 18 charges; Mike Ortensky, present reeve, 4 charges; S. E. Kanegan and John Shovinak, 15 and 18 charges respectively.

Road Work Cheques.

Sawiak testifying for the crown, stated that he had been approached by different municipality officials but but had at first refused to do "dishonest work." He described methods by which it is alleged the money was misappropriated. It consisted of the issuance of cheques for road wirk which would be forged by officials, and cashed in the municipal building, and then put through a bank. He said that he got a share of the money from some of the cheques.

The cheques involved in the different charges were produced at the hearing and the payees called. In every case they denied having earned the money. All the accused were admitted to bail.

The trial will take place at the next session of the Court of King's Bench at Yorkton, Sask.

Poker Money From Drunken As Ill-Gotten as a Theft

OTTAWA, Ont., March 16 (Canadian Press) — "No matter whether the game is played according to Hoyle or not, when a man like you takes another who is intoxicated and plays poker with him, winning upwards of thirty dollars from him, he is as guilty of theft as if he had taken the money from his pocket."

This was the ruling given in Hull police court by Judge Roland Miller, who found George Schnobb of Hull, guilty on a charge of having robbed John Gorman of Ottawa of thirty dollars, at his restaurant on Wellington street, a week ago.

"Owing to the fact that you are a married man with eight children, I am going to give you a chance," said Judge Millar, "and will sentence you to six months in jail, which sentence I will suspend on condition that you refund the $30 to Gorman, and pay the costs of the prosecution."

12 SHIPS IDLE.

Not Operated By Government in 1925.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 16. Canadian Press. — Twelve vessels under the control of the Canadian Government merchant marine have not been operated during 1925, according to an answer made in the House on Monday. Eleven of these vessels were capable of carrying coal or grain through the canals to the head of the lakes on a limited draft of 14 feet.

IMPORTED U. S. MAGAZINES.

OTTAWA, March 16. — Canadian Press. — Newspapers, magazines and literary papers entered Canada from the United States during the last fiscal year to the value of $2,758,566. This does not include the value of U. S. publications mailed by publishers direct to individual subscribers.

RADIO LICENSE REVENUE.

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 16. Canadian Press. — An amount of $91,996 was received as revenue from the issue of a total of 91,996 radio receiving licenses in Canada for the year ending March 13, 1925. The full cost of collection was $10,060.56.

FIFTEEN MERCHANT MARINE SHIPS SOLD

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Cremulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

ELLIOTT NOMINATED AGAINST ELLIOTT

West Middlesex Conservatives To Contest By-election.

STRATHROY, Ont., March 16—(Canadian Press)—Conservatives of West Middlesex yesterday nominated Thomas Elliott to contest the by-election on March 29, in opposition to the Hon. John C. Elliott, K.C., newly appointed Minister of Labor.

At an executive meeting of the farmers' political association of the riding here yesterday afternoon it was decided that no action be taken to place a Progressive candidate in the field.

The following statement was issued last night by the Hon. J. C. Elliott, Minister of Labor:

"I would have preferred that the Conservatives had lived up to the highest traditions of party warfare when a man is taken into the cabinet, shortly after a general election and that I would thus have been returned un-opposed. However, if we have to have a fight, I hope that all my friends, whatever may be their views, will realize that it is in the best interest ot this riding and of the dominion as a whole that I should be returned and elect me on March 29 with an increased majority."

VETERANS WANT BEER FOR CLUBS

Petition By Winnipeg Veterans—Use Proceeds For Relief.

HAD IT OVERSEAS.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 16. — (Canadian Press).—A petition asking the right to sell beer in the clubrooms of recognized and chartered veteran organizations in Winnipeg was presented to Hon. R. W. Craig, K.C., Provincial Attorney-General, Monday. It was presented by the presidents of the several veteran bodies in the greater Winnipeg district.

Consideration of the Veterans' demands by the Cabinet was promised by Mr. Craig. "The matter won't be treated lightly," he said.

The proceeds from the sale of beer, the petition pointed out, would be used in the alleviation of "want and distress among our needy comrades and dependents." Beer would be sold to members, and not to the general public.

The petition also pointed out that sale of beer was permitted in army canteens during the war, and urged therefore that sale of beer in the recognized clubs was no more censurable in peace.

COMET DISAPPEARS.

Ensore's Comet May Be Too Near Sun.

WILLIAMS BAY, Wis., March 16 (Canadian Press).—Ensore's comet, generally viewed at this time of year, with a display rivalling Halley's comet, has mysteriously disappeared according to Prof. Edwin B. Frose, director of Yerkes Observatory of the University of Chicago.

The professor said Monday the comet might have run too near the sun. When a comet gets too near the sun, he added, its head shrinks and it becomes so diffused that it cannot be seen through a telescope.

MINIMUM WAGE LAW IS URGED

J. S. Woodsworth Asks Commons To Express Opinion on Motion.

LABOR MEMBER.

OTTAWA, March 16 (Canadian Press).—The advisability of enacting in Canada a minimum wage law was brought up for debate in the House of Commons Monday. J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg North Central) asked the House to express the opinion that "a wage sufficient to provide for a reasonable standard of living should constitute a legal minimum wage."

Mr. Woodsworth reminded the House that the peace treaty at Versailles had laid down certain very definite opinions on industrial matters. A signatory to that treaty, Canada was pledged to carry out all of its provisions so far as possible. The treaty, Mr. Woodsworth said, had laid it down—that industrial communities should endeavor to ensure the "payment to the employee of a wage adequate to maintain reasonable standard of living as this is understod in their time and country."

Mr. Woodsworth did not hope that the House would reach at once any definite decision about a minimum wage law. It should be ascertained, however, what the general attitude of the House was to the question, and the members should be told what the jurisdiction and responsibility of the Federal Parliament was in that matter. He thought it might be a good idea to refer the question to the Parliamentary Committee on industrial relations and let that committee investigate and report.

A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox Alberni) seconded the resolution. If it should pass, it might tend to a partial solution of the Asiatic problem on the Pacific coast. If a minimum wage were imposed, the desire to employ foreign labor would not continue. He was not afraid of economic ruin or distress following the adoption of the minimum wage law. The Legislature of British Columbia had adopted such a law practically unanimously. He submitted that a good way of keeping Canadian workmen in Canada was to pay them good wages. Well-paid Canadians, assisted by machinery, could easily outclass cheap foreign labor.

CATHCART PLAY FLOP IN LONDON

Audience Laughed at Scenes Supposed To Be Serious.

HARMLESS DRAMA.

LONDON, March 16 (Canadian Press)—The Countess of Cathcart's play "Ashes" was produced at the Prince of Wales theatre last night and proved a disappointment to the crowd which evidently expected something more of a sensational nature than was put on the stage.

The censorship and the fiance of the countess, Ralph Neale, who is said to have re-written the play, had converted it into a harmless and uninteresting drama, wihch was so unconvincing that the restless audience frequently laughed at scenes supposed to be serious, and particularly poked fun at the actor who eloped with the married heroine and was supposed to be the Earl of Craven.

It had been widely advertised that the censorship had especially insisted that the play should be freed of anything reflecting on Craven.

400 Japanese Admitted By Canada in Eleven Months

OTTAWA, Ont., March 16 (C8nadian Press)—Four hundred Japanese landed in Canada for the first time during the first eleven months of 1925, according to Canadian Government returns. Of these 114 were adult males, 214 adult females and 72 minors under eighteen years. Of the males, 47 were classified as agriculturists, 21 as laborers, three as mechanics, eleven as being of the trading class, 27 are male domestics and five are "other classes."

VOTE IN NORWAY

OSLO, Norway, March 16 (Canadian Press).—The Government has decided to submit to the Storthing a bill proposing that a plebiscite be taken in October to give a popular answer to the question whether the existing prohibition of liquors shall be retained. The prohibition law does not ban the importation of wines, which therefore will not be affected by by the proposed plebiscite.

CHAPMAN MUST DIE.

Loses Appeal To U. S. Supreme Court.

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 16. (Canadian Press). — Gerald Chapman, the mail bandit under sentence to die April 6, Monday was refused a review of his case by the Supreme Court.

Tried and convicted of murder in Connecticut, while serving a Federal sentence at Atlanta, Chapman was given a commutation of his Federal sentence by President Coolidge to enable the State to execute the death sentence.

He contended without success in the lower Federal courts that the pardon could not be enforced against his will, and insisted upon being returned to Atlanta to complete his Federal sentence for mail robbery.

SUICIDE OF SHOE LACE PEDDLER REVEALS $26,000 BANK ACCOUNT

Reputed an Indigent, Winnipeg Man Had Five Bank Accounts.

MYSTERY IN DEATH.

WINNIPEG, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Familiar to thousands of Winnipeg residents, who considered him just a "poor" unfortunate shoe lace peddler, William James Hackett plunged to his death from the fifth floor of the Salvation Army hostel here Sunday, and yesterday it was disclosed that he had a neat little fortune of $26,000 in local banks. He had five bank accounts.

Hackett, a cripple, with both legs amputated at the knee had sold shoe laces on the streets here for a number of years, and lived in poor circumstances. No one suspected that he was a man of "means" until police found the bank accounts.

He was a suicide, according to the police, but met death under mysterious circumstances. To reach the window from which he fell, it would be necessary for him to climb—a difficult task for one maimed. A flower box stood on the window sill, and this was knocked to the street. How he reached the window sill is a mystery. He was alone in his room at the time.

Hackett was able to walk. He wore specially made "shoes" which were fitted to his "stumps."

ALLEGED BRIBERY DETAILS REQUIRED

Application in Peace River Election Action.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 16.—(Canadian Press).—Within five days of service of a notice requesting particulars from the petitioner as to specific charges alleged in a petition brought up by J. B. Page against D. M Kennedy, Progressive member for Peace River, these particulars must be given. This ruling was made by Chief Justice Simmons in Supreme Court Chambers Monday on the application of R. D. Tighe, counsel for D. M. Kennedy.

N. D. MacLean, K.C., for the petitioner, was present but was refused an adjournment for a fortnight.

The petition alleging bribery and corruption under the Dominion Controverted Elections Act, had only within the last few days been served on Mr. Kennedy, and gave general charges only, Mr. Tighe declared. An application for particulars had been made to the court last Monday but was adjourned.

BARRYMORE

Rugs you will see in well-furnished homes-

THE well-chosen rug is the keynote of the decorating scheme. It gives old furniture new charm, provides a setting for the choice pieces, quietly dominates its little kingdom. You realize the truth of this when the rug is taken up for a dance or when sent to be cleaned. Its absence creates a bareness and removes the appearance of warmth and comfort of the whole house.

The spirit of the present day is mirrored in the beauty of coloring, the individuality of design and the perfection of weaving of BARRYMORE Guaranteed RUGS. These are the rugs you will see in the majority of well-furnished homes, as BARRYMORE RUGS are designed and woven with the thought always clearly in view that they will be placed in modern homes where all the decorations are smart and up to date. In keeping with their beauty is their richness of texture, depth of pile, and remarkable wearing qualities. Under average home conditions a BARRYMORE will last for a generation.

BARRYMORE Guaranteed RUGS in all sizes and in a delightful variety of colorings and designs are being featured in the leading stores in every city and town.

Every genuine Barrymore Rug is fully guaranteed as to weave, dye and materials. Ask the salesman to show you the guarantee label affixed to the back.

KU KLUX KLAN IS DENOUNCED BY HIS HONOR JUDGE M'GLADE IN GIVING GILBERT SENTENCE

Says Roman Catholics and Protestants Draw Upon Same Religious Source.

FOUNDED ON LOVE.

Blackmail is Among Most Dastardly Crimes, Says Crown Attorney Kerr.

(By A Staff Reporter)

In giving sentence yesterday on Harold Gilbert, convicted on three charges of blackmail, His Honor Judge McGlade took occasion to score the Ku Klux Klan for the dissention, he said, it sows in a Christian community. He explained that he was not actuated by personal feelings, since the attacks do not affect him, but with Roman Catholics and Protestants drawing their inspiration from the same God and obeying the same supreme rule of life, he could not see how such an organization could dare raise its head.

His Honor said that it had been suggested that he should give reference to the Ku Klux Klan as an institution in this country. As one who had spent practically all his life in the Province of Ontario, he said, and in a district that was 80 per cent Protestant and being himself a member of the Roman Catholic faith he wanted to say that he had never been trated with other than the greatest respect by his Protestant neighbors. "It seems to me," he said, "that in this age when people are living their lives together, worshipping the same God and the crucified Christ, and having obtained from that religion that is founded entirely upon God's love for mankind which commands Catholic and Protestant alike to love the Lord our God above all things and our neighbor as ourselves, it is unfathomable how such an institution can raise its head in a Christian community. Perhaps to some extent people like ourselves are somewhat to blame that such an institution as the Ku Klux Klan, having as its object the persecution of the Roman Catholic, Jew and the Negro race can raise its head in a Christian community. Personally, said His Honor, as a Catholic I care nothing for these attacks. Christ teaches us that religion thrives mostly upon sacrifice, and he who founded it was maligned and persecuted and was finally obliged to die on the cross and today we wear the cross as emblematic of Christ.

Some of us have our faults, continued His Honor. Churchmen are only men, they must let it be understood that the religion of Catholic and Protestant alike is a religion of love—let us forget that the religious liberties of the people are governed by the constitution of the country.

I dont' want to say more in condemnation of the Ku Klux Klan, said His Honor, as it might be thought that it is because I am what I am that I say what I do. The good sense of the Protestant people of this country will condemn societies such as these.

D. Hawkins Explains.

D. J. H. Hawkins of Toronto, chief of the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire, stepped forward at this time and conversed with Judge McGlade for a few minutes.

His Honor stated that since he had made the remarks he had been approached by Dr. Hawkins who informed him that he was engaged in the work of the Ku Klux Klan of the British Empire in Canada and that he had informed him that the Klan had no argument against Catholic, Jew or Negro with the exception that the Klan was opposed to mixed marriages between the Negroes and the white race. In fairness to Mr. Hawkins, said Judge McGlade, I make this explanation.

Joseph Wearing addressing the Court made a strong plea for mercy. Mr. Wearing stated that he had no hesitation in saying that Gilbert was not of the ordinary criminal type. He agreed with His Honor that there was no need for a Ku Klux Klan in any form or in any guise in this country.

Crown Attorney Kerr said that defamatory libel had been proved and that in his opinion a blackmailer was a snake in the grass and should be punished to the full extent of the law.

Sentence Given.

On an order from His Honor the prisoner stood up, springing to attention in military fashion.

His Honor: You have heard that you are charged with defamatory libel against James N. McGill.

Your counsel tells me you wish to change your plea from "not guilty" to "guilty". Do you do this on your own free will?

Do you also do this on the third charge, that of George Hetherington?

Prisoner: Yes sir.

Judge: You have been found guilty in on instance and pleaded guilty in two others to what the Crown Attorney has well described as one of the most dastardly crimes on the calendar. The rights and liberties of the citizens of this country must be protected. No cure has been found for the crimes that mankind will persist in committing although a great work has been and is being done by the churches. The generality of this country are good peace loving citizens. I have no desire to punish you personally and have taken as lenient a view as is possible. You will be imprisoned in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph for 18 months on each charge, sentence to run concurrently.

Fifteen Minute Service.

The great difference in wages, etc. was due, said Mr. Robertson, to the use of two-man cars in Peterboro. He advocated a fifteen minute service except in rush hours, with one man cars on George street, so that instead of four two men cars, needing sixteen men, there would be two one man cars requiring four men. During the hours when traffic is light fifteen minute service would be the best that could economically be given at a five cent fare. The wait would be no longer than that for a taxi if one were called.

The increase in passengers when the five cent fare had been inaugurated, said Mr. Robertson, had not been enough to offset the lower rate, but it had continued growing until now the revenue was about the same as before. Figuring on recent earnings, a revenue of $97,320 had been estimated. When the change in system had been proposed it had been figured that the operating expenses would be about $80,000 but the necessity of putting cars on the C.G.E. line at rush hours had not been foreseen, so that a surplus of $14,000 could be expected now. The cost of the street cars was being figured at 22 cents a car mile. They had been running at 18 cents but had not been properly looked after at that rate. The buses were costing, due to a special arrangement, 24 cents a mile.

He advocated the expenditure of $40,000 for four new cars, $15,000 on the barn and $10,000 on tracks and other miscellaneous charges, a total of $65,000. The road, he said, costs too much now and will cost less after it has been modernized.

In conclusion Mr. Robertson said that the Hydro would be willing to give any assistance or information and to help the City in any way.

Questions Asked.

Alderman Cotton was the first to respond to the invitation to ask questions. He asked what would be the conditions if ten minutes service were given with the buses collecting passengers in the suburbs. Mr. Robertson referred to the change made in the routing of the Jackson park bus along Weller street in answering to this. The change, he said, resulted in seventeen extra car miles a day without any increase in traffic.

Alderman Turner referred to the Guelph railway, which had been fixed up by the Hydro. He asked if the Hydro had considered fixing up the local system. When Mr. Robertson said that the Hydro had no money Alderman Denne asked where the money had come for to rehabilitate the Guelph line. To this Mr. Robertson replied that the City of Guelph had provided the money.

To Alderman Phelan's question as to whether the surplus would take care of the line at a lower capitalization Mr. Robertson said that there would be $14,000 to take care of the capital and that he would try to buy the line on that basis. To Alderman Greene's question about the track Mr. Robertson said that the park line was no good and that the C.G.E. line needed some new ties. The rest, he said, was in fairly good shape, estimating it at about 75 per cent of its cost price.

With an allowance for retiring the bonds it would take a surplus of about ten per cent on the capital, Mr. Robertson told Mayor Holloway.

J. Wells Fraser, who, with Frank G. Stinson, was on hand representing the Chamber of Commerce, fired a barrage of questions at Mr. Robertson. First he asked if the system were for sale, then if the gas plant were for sale. To both of these the answer was "yes." Asked if information about costs of the gas plant would be forthcoming, Mr. Robertson said that he could not give it, but that that department of the Hydro organization would. He answered yes to a question as to whether the hydro would sell either one alone, or both, and added that the commission would sell the gas plant and either sell or stop operating the railway, as the latter was wasting money. To Mr. Fraser's suggestion that the gas plant be sold to the city and the railway thrown in, he replied that it was the property of the Crown.

Alderman Turner questioned Mr. Robertson about the capital charged against the local system and the value of the system today. Alderman Greene reminded Mr. Robertson that the riding habit of the people decreased in summer as there were 2400 cars in the city, which would accommodate half the people. To his observation that it would be a proposition for half the people City Clerk Armstrong commented that the highways were maintained for the other half.

Mayor Holloway asked if any city the size of Peterboro was operating a street railway on a paying basis. Mr. Robertson said that there were some but did not name them. He said, however, that none of them were making any great profits.

Alderman Phelan suggested that the Hydro should put the line on a paying basis and then offer it to the city, to which Mr. Robertson replied, as he had to several other suggestions, that the Hydro had no money for this purpose.

Alderman Denne said that the Hydro took the system and the gas plant over with the power and that one was paying and the other losing. He said that Mr. Maguire had said that the profit on one was equal to the loss on the other. Mr. Robertson said that, when rehabilitated the railway would carry itself and that the Hydro wanted to get rid of both. The capital for the new gas container, he told Alderman Turner, had probably come from the surplus.

Mr. Fraser asked how long the Hydro would continue to operate the line and was told that it would be operated long enough for the council to come to a decision, and that if it were decided not to purchase the line it would not likely be operated any longer. He said that the City should take the responsibility of providing transportation for the citizens.

To Mr. Fraser's suggestion that the city should wait until the line had decreased in value Mr. Robertson said that the commission would give a fair price on the value of the equipment. Mayor Holloway said that when he and Alderman Denne offered to pay $50,000 for the line the Commissioners laughed at them, and Mr. Robertson said, "I don't blame them."

Aldermen Greene and Turner proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Robertson and in tendering it Mayor Holloway said that the Council would take up the matter with the people and consider it thoroughly.

Before the committee adjourned Alderman Fife was authorized to buy a horse for the Board of Works to replace the one which died last week.

112 ACCUSED IN VAST RUM RING ACROSS BORDER

Indictments May Total 200 —Conspiracy Against Prohibition Law.

350 WITNESSES.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 16.—(Canadian Press). — Conspiracy to violate the national prohibition law is charged against 112 persons in twelve large cities of the country in an indictment returned by the Federal grand jury here Monday.

Fifteen minutes after the indictment was returned, Harry Volpe, Providence, R.I., one of those indicted and who was largely responsible for the investigation, entered a plea of guilty before Federal Judge Paul Jones. He was released on personal bond of $10,000.

There will be additional indictments, United States Attorney A. E. Bernsteen declared. He intimated that the total number of defendants ultimately would exceed 200.

The case has already cost the Government between $110,000 and $125,000, it was estimated. Three hundred and fifty witnesses were examined before the grand jury was recessed yesterday until April 1.

75 Cars of Alcohol.

Handling of 75 carloads of pure grain alcohol aggregating 375,000 gallons is described in ninety of the overt acts. Sixty-one of the separate allegations recite the contents of telephone calls and telegrams alleged to have been used in the illicit traffic. The remaining overt acts deal with alleged exchange of money between those involved for quantities of alcohol, for protection from officials and for storing and transferring the contraband liquor.

Sixty-nine of the 112 persons indicted were arrested before the true bill was returned. Bernsteen declared that nearly every one of the remaining 43 have been so closely watched by intelligence unit men that their arrest speedily can be effected.

Had Alcohol Plants.

Origin of the conspiracy is attributed in the true bill to four Philadelphia men. Alleged illicit operations are traced from this origin by the indictment into the Middle West, North-West and the Pacific coast. The operations cited include:

Establishment of the superior Industrial Alcohol Company and two other manufacturing plants in Cleveland; organization and operation of the "Twin Cities million dollar rum ring" in St. Paul and Minneapolis and a subsidiary in Duluth; use of warehouses and auto transfer systems in Detroit, Cleveland, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Boston; protection by internal revenue employees in Cleveland; aid of railway police in several localities; protection by a police detective in St. Paul; purchases and sales of illicit alcohol in several cities; and operation of a Chicago company incorporated ostensibly to deal in perfumes.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness causes her to break their engagement. Mary writes Jimmy a letter, telling him about it. The office boys stick it in his pocket and forgets it.

Barry Colvin, without Jimmy's knowledge, seeks out Mary Lowell and tells her who Olga Maynard is. Late that night Jimmy gets a phone call from Olga, saying she has found Ike Jensen. Her voice ends in a gasping cry. Then there is silence.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLI.

Jimmy jiggled the receiver hook in desperation, but the sound that came to his ear was the tranquil "Number please" of Central.

"God!" he cried, putting the phone away from him. "What happened to her? What happened?"

He grabbed the phone again and asked for police headquarters. "And for God's sake, hurry!"

He got hold of O'Day, then, and told him: "Get as fast as you can to Olga Maynard's apartment." He gave O'Day the address. "Ike Jensen's been there. I think he's killed her. I'm starting out right away."

Then he ran up the stairs, taking three at a time, and madly grabbed at his hat and overcoat. . . .

All during that day at the office Mary Lowell had sat expectantly at her typewriter, starting eagerly every time the telephone rang. But the call she waited for did not come.

She was first to greet the letter carrier on each of his frequent rounds. But there was no mail for her.

"Why," she asked herself time and again, "why doesn't he answer?"

She pondered on the variability of her moods. Yesterday Barry Colvin had been to see her and what he told her had lifted her magically out of the depression into which she had lately settled.

And today. . . . To come to work so cheerful, so expectant, and to hear—nothing. It was more than she could bear.

Mr. Hilton stopped once in the midst of dictation and looked at her very sharply.

"You're tired, Miss Lowell," he said gently. "I wish you would take a couple of days off. Do you good."

Mary's mother, who, since the breaking off with Sam Church wore perpetually a grieved expression, met her at the door with sharp complaints about being late and "dinner will never be ready if you don't hurry."

In fact, Mary's mother found it very easy to find fault these days. There had been many attempts on her part to persuade Mary to reconsider her decision about Church, but they were futile.

"Oh, dear," Mrs. Lowell sighed as she moved heavily about the kitchen, getting in the way while Mary did all the work. "I get so discouraged. I could lie right down and sleep for two days, I'm so tired."

Mary made no answer; she was too busy cooking.

"I'm not at all well," Mrs. Lowell continued. "The doctor told me what I needed was a complete rest and a change."

(Which was not at all what the doctor had told her. What he had said was that she wanted a rest and a change. He hadn't said she needed it.)

Mrs. Lowell sighed deeply. "But I suppose I'll never get it. I suppose I'll end my days in drudgery." Her drudgery consisted largely in watching Mary do all the important housework. Occasionally Mrs. Lowell knitted, and dusted a few pictures, and prepared a salad.

"I simply never imagined anyone could be so foolish," Mrs. Lowell went on.

And Mary, her mind too troubled to pay much attention, went on with the preparation of dinner. . . .

She hardly touched her food, however, and when the dishes were washed and put away she gave the excuse of a headache to retire to her room.

As she sat on her bed, in utter dejection, she wondered if the cutting remarks she had made to Jimmy when last they met had opened a breach that was irreparable.

"But I wrote him," she said. "I told him everything. I did all I could. Why didn't he answer?"

She was hurt, deeply hurt.

"He simply doesn't care any more," she told herself.

She sat before her mirror and watched her reflected face. "Oh, Jim," she cried, "if you only knew how much I loved you. You're—you're breaking my heart."

Her face dropped slowly down on to her arm.

She sat that way a long time, just how long she did not know, but her mother's complaining voice, rising on a note of querulousness, broke into her thoughts.

"Mary, if you have such a headache, why don't you go to bed? Your light is keeping me from going to sleep."

Without answering, Mary roused herself and put out the light. She undressed in the dark and then got into bed.

But she lay there sleepless, dampening her pillow with teers. . . . Hours passed, but they failed to bring her sleep. . . .

How was she to know that the letter she had written to Jimmy Rand was at that moment lining the pocket of Paul, the admirable office boy?

The door was standing half open; the rooms within were in silent darkness.

He fumbled, then switched on a light, and the telephone met his eyes.

The receiver was still off the hook. "What's happened to her?" he gasped. "God! Where is she?"

He tramped through the small apartment—just two rooms and a kitchenet—turning on lights and exploring every corner, every closet.

But there was no Olga—no trace, even, of her.

A tramp of feet coming up the stairs. And then a squad of uniformed men, led by Lieutenant O'Day, came into the room.

"She's gone, Lieutenant." Jimmy waved his hand around. "She's gone." He groped for words and found none, and sank despairingly into a chair.

O'Day's voice was professionally crosp. "They didn't kill her, then. Any sign of a struggle? Any evidence that they hurt her?"

"Nothing."

"Well, I'll take a look around. Tell me what you know first. What happened?"

Jimmy, in a high state of excitement, told him. "She phoned me. She said, 'I've found Jensen. He's in the house across the street.' Then she said, 'Oh!' —as if someone had grabbed her or something. A sort of gasping cry."

"And that was all?"

"That was all. I called you up right afterward."

O'Day turned to the men who had come with him. You men go outside. Run across the street to the house opposite this and see what you can find out. You know Jensen's description. See if he has been rooming there.

"Wait a minute. If you don't get anything there, go next door—go to every house in the block. Wake 'em all up. If Jensen went into any house on this street we're going to find out about it.

"That's all." He turned to Jimmy. "Now I'm going to look around myself."

He went first to the telephone, picked it up, then set it back again on the table and stepped back and studied it.

"Tell me," he said to Jimmy, "how you found this place when you came in. Where was the phone—right where I picked it up"?

"Yes. The receiver was off the hook. I put it back."

"Any lights on?"

"No, all the lights were out."

"This rug here that's mussed up and wrinkled. Was it like that when you came in?"

Jimmy hadn't noticed the rug. "I don't know, Lieutenant. I suppose so. I didn't touch it."

O'Day quietly stroked his chin, stood with his feet planted wide apart and studied a while in silence.

"What do you think happened, Lieutenant?" Jimmy had risen from his chair, and stood facing O'Day.

"Don't bother me now, lad. Let me think." He smiled apologetically at his curtness. "I'm not one of these fancy Sherlock Holmes detectives," he explained. "I'm a little slow at getting my mind to work. I have to have time. I want to see this thing first, just as you saw it when you came in."

He walked to the door and stood on the threshold, his eyes wandering around the room and then through the hallway.

"This door was open?" he asked.

"Yes. I came right in."

"And all the lights were out, you say?"

Jimmy nodded.

"Uh-huh." O'Day turned abruptly away and walked into the next room, exploring. He shook his head slowly. "I wonder," he said doubtfully. "I wonder if—" and then he broke off and resumed his search.

Quite abruptly he came to a pause in front of the mantel above the gas grate. His hand reached up and picked up a picture that was lying, face down, on the shelf.

He frowned as he looked at it. He glanced around at Jimmy, who, quite oblivious of O'Day's movements, was standing before a window, his hands clasped behind his back, looking out into the street.

"Mother of heaven," he breathed. Then he unfastened some buttons on his coat and stuck the picture into his breast pocket.

Had 43 Boils And Carbuncles At One Time

Mr. Cland Melanson, Castleford, Ont., writes:—"In regard to your remedies I have to say that B.B.B. was the only medicine I could get to relieve me of my boils and carbuncles.

I had forty-three at one time, and my doctor told me to take

Burdock Blood Bitters

The first bottle I took gave me such great results that I took three more, and after I had used them I was completely relieved of my boils and carbuncles."

MEDICAL MISSION WORK DESCRIBED

Returned Missionary Gives Talk to Lakefield A.Y.P.A.

LAKEFIELD, March 16. — Miss Northcott, returned missionary from China, gave a very interesting talk on China at the regular meeting of the A.Y.P.A. on Monday night, which was much enjoyed by all present.

Mission work is usually divided into three classes, all co-related and co-ordinated, viz., evangelistic, educational and medical, and it is with the latter branch that Miss Northcott was especially connected. "In the medical work of South China, don't think," she said, "the hospitals are equipped as they are in Canada with every appliance to make the work easily done, but there the nurses have to adapt what they have on hand to circumstances. The hot, damp climate makes it impossible to keep medicines or serums for any length of time, as they will mildew, so they have to be sent for to Hong-Kong or Shanghai. A nurse in Chine may have to be nurse, surgeon, carpenter and plumber, and it is not as easy as it sounds." The mornings in the Swatow hospital, she said, were used for dispensary work, with the exception of one morning in the week which was reserved for surgery. Through the dispensary work they got into touch with the villages and country, and the doctors and nurses would visit these places, making the trip in flat-bottomed sail boats. Swatow is situated on a huge bay, into which several rivers empty, and the tide sometimes runs forty miles up these rivers. If the tide is contrary extra men are added to the boat's crew, as the rowing is hard. The Chinese use very heavy oars, made of hardwood, and stand to row. They whistle for the wind, as they believe in their superstition that that will bring the wind for their sails.

In the Chinese home the mother-in-law is the head of the house, and is the final authority, the men having no say whatever within the house. Men in China bring home their wives, and, if necessary, a new room is added. It is not at all uncommon for four, five or even six daughters-in-law to live under the one roof. If the mother-in-law is a good one, all is fairly smooth, but if she is tyrannical, it is not so pleasant. Large families are the rule in China, and the children are brought up together. Some get a chance to go to school and some do not. As the home grows it forms a nucleus for a village, and among these villages clan fights still go on, though perhaps not as much as in former years. The Chinese are poor marksmen, and in one clan fight the sneaker knew of the men fighting all afternoon with one casualty, and that a minor one.

The marriage customs in China are not a cause of congratulation but of sorrow; marriages are arranged in China by the old women, who make a good deal of money out of their part as middlemen as it were. After the preliminary arrangements are made, the groom sends two red baskets of candy with two little girl relatives to the bride, and if she accepts the gift it is equivalent to an engagement, and a fortune teller is visited to find a lucky day for the wedding. The time is regulated by the size of the fee, as the fortune tellers are in the business to make all they can. On the morning of the wedding day the bride leaves her home at daylight, and is taken to her future home in a sedan chair, still never having seen her future husband. As the bride enters the village where her husband lives, there is great beating of tom-toms to scare away the evil spirits, and as she nears his home fire crackers are exploded as an extra precaution against spirits. She is met at the door by an old female relative, who takes her to worship the ancestral tablets or household gods, after which she is taken to her room, which is all done in red, and the curtain is dropped and the bridegroom enters and lifts the veil, and they see each other for the first time.

They seat themselves on two chairs, and the household come in and greet them, and their friends and relatives call, the bride sitting silent with downcast eyes. This goes on for two or three days, and then the new daughter-in-law takes her place as the servant of the house, which is the agreeable (?) portion of the newest daughter-in-law. The bride is not allowed outside the door for three months, and then she is taken for six days' visit to her old home.

The native doctors with their prescriptions handed down from father to son, are very interesting, and in some cases quite efficient, but many are simply quacks. The Chinese native doctor usually specializes, and it is surprising what they can do in some cases In their native medicines they use herbs plentifully, also grasshoppers, beetles, snails, snakes and certain kinds of fish. The Chinese are not skilful in surgery, but have great faith in the use of counter irritants.

For many years there was no redress in China for any trouble, robbery, etc., so in these later days they have taken the law into their own hands with rather disastrous results. The student movement is taking a stand against corrupt officials, and practically all the officials are corrupt. The magistrates are most unpopular, and do not dare to go out without a strong bodyguard. The students have gone too far, but only because they have no one to lead them, and the Soviet is spending much for the spreading of their propaganda. What the future holds no one can say, but one hopes that a strong government may be established. The villages are all walled, and the gates locked at night against attack.

The Thibetans and Mongolians are the dirtiest of the Chinese. The former never bathe, but grease themselves with butter.

Rev. Walter Cox spoke a few words of appreciation of Miss Northcott's interesting talk, which had a great deal of information told in a short time and in a very interesting manner. It was hoped, he said, that Miss Northcott could give another talk while she is in the village.

BETHANY NEWS

BETHANY, March 16—Mrs. Rex Card and children of Maynooth are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Card for a time, en route for Detroit.

Mr. Harry Hutchinson was a business visitor to Millbrook on Wednesday.

Mr. Milton Challice has purchased Robinson's confectionery business at Millbrook and intends moving his family there next week.

A number of stores and local families are getting in their summer supply of Ice having it cut at McKinnon's pond.

The Majorie Williams Class of the United Sunday School held its annual meeting on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. Walter Rowland.

Mr. Donald Lowes, the president, occupied the chair. After the singing of a hymn, the president, secretary and treasurer gave their reports of the year's work, which was very satisfactory. After several items of business had been arranged, the election of officers for the ensuing year followed. They are as follows:

President, Bertrand Monk; vice-president, Carleton Patton; secretary, Keith Thorndyke; treasurer, Wm. Sheep; honorary teacher William Lee; teacher, Mrs. H. H. Ryley; assistant teacher, Mr. Walter Rowland.

The attendance at the Young People's League was unusually small, owing chiefly to the heavy condition of the roads preventing the young people from the country from attending. The programme given under the missionary department was very interesting and a fine time was spent. Next Wednesday a St. Patrick's programme will be given under the 3rd vice-president and his committee's direction.

Gums Firmed to Healthy Coral Tint

Accept full 10-day tube of this new way that leading dental authorities urge. Your teeth are not naturally dull . . . simply clouded by a dingy film coat now easily cleared off.

Dental science has discovered that one's teeth seldom are naturally "off color." Hence you can now restore them to dazzling clearness quickly. Can firm tender gums to healthy coral color.

Run your tongue across your teeth. You will feel a slippery sort of film, coating them, that absorbs discolorations from food, smoking, etc. A film ordinary dentifrices won't clear off successfully.

Beneath it are those gleaming teeth you envy. Results are amazing when it's removed. Thus leading dental authorities now widely urge a new-type, film-removing dentifrice called Pepsodent, different from all others.

BATTALION RE-UNION.

Western Students of C. E. F. at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 16.—(Canadian Press).—At a re-union of the 196th Western Universities Battalion, a unit of the C. E. F., composed of representatives of the three Western Canadian Universities which distinguished itself in overseas service, Dr. R. E. McKechnie, Chancellor of the University of British Columbia, announced that ten acres had been set aside at the institution's new quarters in Point Grey as a military reserve.

Dr. McKechnie, after stating that the Provincial Government would be asked to build a drill hall on the site for the use of a student body of the Militia, said that for his part he favored the introduction of compulsory military training at the University.

COAL SUPPLY TO BE INVESTIGATED

Special Committee of Dominion House is Appointed.

OTTAWA, March 16. Canadian Press. — A special committee of the House will investigate Canadian supplies of anthracite and bituminous coal.

A resolution by J. E. Armstrong, Conservative of East Lambton, to this effect, was adopted, after discussion late last night.

There was reference to the coal movement from Alberta. Hon. Chas. Stewart, Minister of the Interior, spoke of the recent conference on freight rates on Alberta coal, remarking that the provinces seemed to be unable to agree on the matter.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

It used to be said that "high blood pressure is a rich man's disease!" This saying was intended as a joke, but it contained a heap of truth. The rapid pace we are inclined to associate with riches is largely responsible for the symptoms.

However, altered or abnormal blood pressure is not confined to the rich. With increasing knowledge of the variations which occur, doctors have come to realize that "normal" pressure is rare.

Sometimes I get out of patience with the tendency to depend on the so-called "instruments of precision." The clinical thermometer, the stethoscope, the sphygmo-manometer and even the X-ray are instruments of value, but are not conclusive in what they tell.

In short, it is extremely unwise to form a final verdict on the strength of what one of these pieces of apparatus may record. In lay hands, particularly, it is silly to depend on what their readings mean. To the untrained observer, they are useless.

Confining our thought to the blood pressure, it cannot be urged too strongly that what the reading is can be informative only when studied in connection with the other symptoms. Suppose you were to say, "My blood pressure is 150 what does it indicate?" I should have to say, "I don't know."

There are certain diseases which have high blood pressure as a symptom. For instance, Bright's disease of the kidneys is likely to have high blood pressure. But the presence of high blood pressure does not prove the presence of Bright's disease. The pressure may be quite as high as a result of extreme nervousness, worry, or some other disturbance of the nervous system.

A run-down person may have low pressure. There may not be enough energy in the body to keep the pressure up to par. The heart is probably not doing its dull duty.

Everybody should have a careful and complete physical examination at least once a year. After the age of fifty it is better to be examined twice a year.

No examination is quite complete unless the blood pressure is recorded. Under such circumstances it means something to know what the pressure is and to know it helps form a decision as to the state of the health and vigor.

We did not know exactly what to do with our blood pressure readings when first the use of the recording device became common. Indeed, they were misleading then, and too much dependence was placed upon them. But now the doctors consider the blood pressure as only one of many signs which will determine a conclusion in a given case.

Don't let yourself be frightened if somebody says you have high blood pressure. Many a man has lived to be eighty and many a woman has raised a big family, in spite of it.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

A. T. Q.—Is cancer contagious?

2.—Would it be harmful to wear the clothes of a person who has died of cancer?

A.—No.

2.—No, but they should be sterilized.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin. —Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute. —Milton.

W. C. S.—You are the happy go lucky type and I don't know that you will ever be much of a success in life. You have a certain background of character that would serve you well if you could settle down to real things. Life is not real to you at all. You do not understand this statement and perhaps will resent it, but you live in an artificial world of your own making. You have a strong will and think that everything should come your way and then when it doesn't, you are aggrieved and angry. Unreality colors your conceptions of people and things. If you ever wake up you will find that the eternal verities will appal you. Perhaps you had better not try. Go your way and twist with a fickle, changeable hand the gifts of love and friendship and opportunities for service that life offers you. You may find yourself at the end of the road with little of value, but at least you will have lived a logical existence. If you want a real mode of life, you will have to make yourself over. You will have to forget self, first last and all the time. You will have to combat a quick temper, a hateful tongue, a fickle, capricious, cruel element that makes you smile sometimes at the pain of others, you will have to guard your passions constantly and watch for something that you do not care about now; those little minor happenings that point the way to major situations. You will have to learn not to wound with a bitter word your nearest and dearest and then go your way with a light foot while someone weeps in the dark over your inability to feel their pain. You will not do all this. You are too fickle-minded and it will not appeal to you as necessary or sensible. But it would be worth while. You could have a wonderfully successful life if you tried, and a life that would repay you many times over for the months of difficulty you might have in turning this attractive, unreliable character of yours into something worth while.

Be careful who you marry. A girl born in April, August or November would suit your best. Do not marry the clinging vine type that will be hurt by your temperament. Marry a strong-minded person who has tact and wit enough to realize your deficiencies and love enough to try to help you overcome them. If you want to be happy and successful, sit down and look yourself squarely in the face and you will be surprised at what tendencies you will discover if you do the thing honestly.

You were born on Sunday. The day you ask about is past. Your color is black.

A.M.T.W.—You have not lived up to what was ordained for you at birth, but that has not been altogether your fau't, except that, as you went through life, you forgot one important thing. It is not labour, but love, that makes the world go round. You have laboured, but you have not loved enough. This again was perhaps not a" your fau't. There was an o'd hurt that twisted your 'ife and then you allowed yourse f to become embittered and again, there was something else that warped your nerves and left them almost shattered at times. You know what it is better than I do. Perhaps you have struggled against it, but not enough. And there has always been that ceaseless labour, the struggles against life and the wish to keep your head above water and after the day's work, those nerves crying out for something to soothe their pain. Perhaps, in the withdrawn condition to which you have come, when you show the world a bitter front to guard against any further pain to yourse'f, you have also forgotten God? It is not too late yet. He is always there Did you ever think of adopting a child, perhaps not having it with you all the time, but in so far that you would have something to look after and someone who would depend upon you. If you ever do such a thing, be kind to it. It will repay you for much that you have missed in life.

V. V. T.—You have a cool, calm, confident bearing that impresses those about you with a conviction of your superiority. You are quite self-possessed and feel yourself on a natural equality with all men. You are not the type that becomes discouraged easily, and are quite well adapted to either a business or professional career. Things of the mind appeal to you and you gather much practical knowledge. You would make an excellent teacher. Inharmonious conditions about you affect you very strongly, in your appetite and general health. Clean and tidy surroundings are absolutely essential to your well-being. You are conservative in your opinions, generally upholding the accepted order of things. You make a devoted friend, but are inclined to selfishness and self-gratification. Also, you have the habit of a critical attitude of mind toward others who may not measure up all the time to your high standards of living and thinking. Dyspepsia will bother you at times, brought on mainly by trouble or discord of any sort.

Your birthday was Friday. Wednesday is your good day, February and November your good months. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are opals and tan shades.

A Smart Exponent of the Straight Silhouette

Bordered materials this season are entered as winning favorites, and a charming example is seen in the frock shown here featuring natural kasha with border of triangles in a deep tan shade. This frock has the distinction, in this day of the universal flare, of adhering to the straight silhouette and slips on over the head. The collar is of the type that may be worn high or low, and the long plain sleeves show the border at wrists. Patch pockets lend a decorative note, and the narrowest of belts outlines the low waistline. No. 1148 is in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Size 38 bust requires 4¼ yards 36-inch for dress made of plain material, or 2½ yards 54-inch bordered material as illustrated. Price 20 cents.

Our Fashion Book, illustrating the newest and most practical styles, will be of interest to every home dressmaker. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

DOTTY HAS A PLEASANT SURPRISE.

Dotty stood very still and watched the little bird perched upon the swaying weed gathering seeds. He was one of the prettiest little fellows Dotty had seen in a long time.

He was a wee bit smaller than Bobby Robin. His head, back, throat and the centre tail feathers were jet black. The feathers on the edge of the black wings were marked with a line of white, while the outer tail feathers were of purest white. The sides of his vest were a rusty, reddish brown, while the middle of his vest was white. His feet were brown. His eyes were bright red and his bill was black.

His little red eyes sparkled when he spied Dotty watching him.

"You don't mind if I have a few seeds, do you, Dotty?" he asked, shaking another pod and gobbling down the seeds.

"No, indeed! Help yourself," Dotty replied. "But may I ask what kind of a bird are you? Did you just move into Daddy's field?"

"My goodness, no," laughed the pretty bird. "My wife and I have lived in your Daddy's field a long time. You see, we were here last year and have just returned from the South to make our Summer home here. I'm Mr. Towhee. At least that's what I call myself. Some folks call me Chewink and some folks, just because I live on the ground most of the time, call me Ground Robin. But Mama and I like Towhee the best. So you're surprised to find we live in the meadow here?"

"Did you just move in?"

"Yes, indeed, I am," replied Dotty. "You see, I cross this field almost every time I go to Grandma's house and I've never noticed you before. Where did you say you had your house? I don't remember ever seeing you flying around the oak tree."

"No, I guess not," chuckled Mr. Towhee. "The wife and I have had a nest right on the ground. Sometimes I have shivered when I saw you running across here for fear you'd step on our nest." Mr. Towhee flew across the weeds a few feet from the path and called Dotty.

She ran over, and there, right down on the ground, hidden under the tangled weeds, she saw Mama Towhee on a little nest.

"Why, you dear!" Dotty exclaimed when Mama Towhee came out to greet her. "I don't know which I think the prettiest, you, in your black, Mr. Towhee, or your little brown wife. Why, she is brown where you are black. How darling!"

"Black would be too easily discovered when I'm sitting on my nest," chirped Mrs. Towhee. "See my pretty eggs," and she pointed to five little dirty white eggs, all speckled with brown.

"My! It's a wonder I haven't stepped on your nest when I've been out chasing butterflies," said Dotty. "I've often run right near here."

"So near that sometimes I have shivered," laughed Mrs. Towhee. "Did you bring me a worm, Daddy?"

"No, I didn't," chirped Mr. Towhee. "But Dotty and I'll go right back to the garden and get some," and away they ran to the garden. Dotty hurried to the house to get a spade to help him, but when she ran back to the garden Mr. Towhee had found a worm and was gone.

WHERE THE DEATH SENTENCE IS IS GIVEN OVER A CUP OF COFFEE.

Among the Druses there is no crime comparable with cowardice. Bravery, courage in battle, is the mark of the true man. And the member of the tribe who is guilty of cowardice must die.

But the sentence is not passed upon him by a judge in a courtroom. The important moments in the lives of the Druses occur over the cups of coffee which mark all ceremonies.

The drinking of coffee is in itself a ceremony. The implements for making the coffee are most complicated. If the host wishes to honor his guest particularly he makes the coffee himself. The guests sit in a circle on the floor, for the only furnishings of the room are grass mats and cushions on the stone divans.

When a man proves himself a coward in battle nothing is said to him immediately thereafter. But the next time the warriors sit in their circle to drink their coffee the host, in handing the marked man his coffee spills the coffee over his clothes. Nothing more is said, but the man must die in the next battle.

No matter how brave he proves on that next occasion, he must in the end yield himself to the attack of the enemy. Otherwise his entire family, as well as himself, are disgraced.

The life of the Druses is chiefly a matter of battles. Boys are trained to handle revolvers and rifles at an age when we would hesitate to give our boys toy revolvers. At thirteen they are seasoned warriors.

But their explanation of this fact is simple. They are not afraid to die, because they are taught that when they die their souls pass immediately into the bodies of a new-born Druse baby. There is no period of waiting and no chance of coming into the world again as an animal. They simply continue life in another body.

Drinking of Coffee Is a Ceremony.

The boys wear long braids and have their finger tips hennaed. Their eyes are heavily blackened. But they laugh in the face of death.

The women of the Druses are still secluded in harems, and they are watched with the utmost vigilance. They are always veiled heavily and wear long, full skirts and large shawls. Bracelets cover their arms and jewels flash from their robes.

Fine manners need the support of fine manners in others.—Emerson.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'E CROSSWORD PUZZLE

Why Have Gray Hair?

Don't deceive yourself. No one really wants gray hair. The world accepts it as a sign that you are aging—and the world wants Youth.

Thousands of men and women whose hair was gray or becoming "streaked" have tried Kolor-Bak—and they are frankly delighted at the improvement it has made in their appearance.

For, with the aid of this clean, colorless liquid, gray hair regains its natural shade—not overnight as is so awkward and embarrassing when mussy dyes are used—but so gradually that the change can scarcely be seen from day to day. Yet results often appear in a week.

Kolor-Bak has the added virtues of a tonic. It gives the hair a beautiful softness and lustre and at the same time routs dandruff. Try it. No sample of your hair is required. The same bottle may be used by everyone. And you can get your money back if desired results do not appear. Guarantee in each package.

EIGHTEEN DEAD IN FLOODED CITY

Koveno, Lithuania, Is Visited By Disastrous Floods.

CITIZENS FLEE.

LONDON, March 16.— (Canadian Press.)— Tremendous floods have inundated Koveno, Lithuania, according to dispatches received here to-day. Eighteen persons are reported to have been drowned and many of the inhabitants are fleeing the city. The Central Railway station is submerged.

FELT LIKE A NEW PERSON EVER SINCE

So Says Ontario Lady After Taking Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mrs. E. Fransky suffered with inflammation of the bladder and found relief in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

BANCROFT, Ont., March 15.—(Special).— "About a couple of months ago I was troubled with my kidneys and could not rest good, and my back bothered me. It gradually got worse and I decided to see a doctor. He found I had a bad touch of inflammation of the bladder, caused by my kidneys. He gave me some medicine and on my way home I bought a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. My husband advised me to take the pills and likewise I did. After taking the first box I felt very good, but after the second box I felt like a new person. I always keep them in the house now and tell others what wonderful work they can do." This statement comes from Mrs. E. Fransky, a well-known resident of this place.

Dodd's Kidney Pills are known all over Canada as the old reliable Canadian kidney remedy. They are known by the work they have done.

LABOR CONFERENCE COMMENCES TO-DAY

Labor Ministers of European Nations Gather in London.

LONDON, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Premier Baldwin opened the International Conference of the House of Labor Monday, welcoming the Labor Ministers of France, Belgium, Germany and Italy, who will attempt to iron out differences of interpretation of the eight-hour convention adopted by the Washington Labor Conference of 1919.

The successful termination of this meeting would be generally greeted in Europe as an important step of post war reconstruction similar to the Dawes plan, the various war debt settlements and the Locarno accords. If an agreement can be reached here it is believed that general ratification of the Washington Labor Convention would follow. This would end the competitive lengthening of hours and the reduction of wages in various countries, which has been compared to the European race of armaments before the World War.

BORDER POLICE SHOULD BE PAID HIGHER SALARY

But Attorney-General Nickle Unable To Make Exception For Them.

ETHICS OF POLICE.

Must Not Trap Men To Break Law, Says Nickle.

TORONTO, March 16 (Canadian Press).—The Legislature had a brief but business like session Monday. R. L. Brackin (Liberal, West Kent) brought up the matter of the payment of provincial police officers, stating his opinion that those men in the districts where there was such a big revenue from fines as in the border districts, should get higher pay. He declared that there was an extra fine type of men engaged in police duty at Windsor, who were working for salaries much below what they should receive for such duty.

Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney General, agreed, but told of some of the difficulties in the way. He said that a man newly placed on the provincial police got $125 a month, which increased with service up to $175 a month.

"Sometimes these men are put in the position where they could make more than their monthly wages if they simply walked around the block," said the Attorney General. "Last Christmas all the police in one section received valuable silk scarfs as presents from some. I have now $250 given to a certain constable, which he turned over to the liquor commission. I can quite appreciate that these men are not paid so well as they might be, but I have always tried to impress on them that they were appointed to service and not to positions."

Can't Make Exception.

Mr. Nickle said he did not see how they could be paid out of proportion to the rest of the civil service. The Attorney-General also uttered protest against unethical methods by police.

"I do not want men trapped to break the law, but I do want law breakers trapped" he declared, "and I want to see that officers do their duty." He said that the Windsor district was one of those in which the law enforcement was most difficult. He did not think that it was wise to pay police according to the revenue produced. He tried to equalize living costs by moving men from place to place, as there were places where the cost of living was much below other places in the province.

A. C. Lewis (Conservative, Toronto) brought in a bill whereby municipalities will play $15 towards the funeral expenses of an indigent patient, even although he be a soldier or sailor, in which case the expenses are usually paid from the Last Post Fund. He explained that it would help the fund.

T. J. Mahoney (Conservative, South Wentworth) introduced a bill providing that one accepting nomination for a council, if he is a member of a school board, must resign from the latter three days before his nomination for council. Second reading was given a bill introduced by Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney General, for the better care of cemeteries.

Hydro Meetings.

Replying to questions, Premier Ferguson said that 38 days elapsed between the last meeting of the Hydro Commission which Sir Adam Back attended and the appointment of Messrs. Macrath and Maguire to the commission. Meetings were held at Sir Adam's home during his last illness. The Premier also stated that the final cost of the inquiry into the prices of gasoline had not been finally determined, but that $2,000 had been paid on account. He also stated that Hon. J. R. Cooke, minister without portfolio and Hydro commissioner, had drawn no money outside his salary as commissioner and his indemnity as a member of the Legilature.

The House adjourned at 4.15 p.m.

SPLENDID CONCERT AT GEORGE STREET

Men's Association of Church Responsible For Entertainment.

(By Jeanette.)

Although the concert held in George Street United Church last evening under the auspices of the Men of George Street Church was not attended by a capacity audience, the total number present only taking up about half of the available space in the building, it was a very fine programme that was presented by the three visiting artists, Miss Edith Whittaker MacAlpine of Springfield, Massachusetts, soprano solist Mrs. Ruth Burt Samson of Waterloo, pianist and accompanist, and Miss Mignon Telgmann of Kingston, violinist. Mr. John H. Renwick acted as accompanist for the violin numbers.

The programme was splendidly arranged and was pleasing from start to finish. Those in the audience last night had the pleasure of witnessing something quite unusual in the vocal line. The majority of singers, particularly feminine singers spend most of their time in trying to scale the heights. If they can climb up, they are satisfied. The higher, the better; even if their natural range doesn't permit of such vocal gymnastics. Mrs. MacAlpine, possessor of a voice that is really quite out of the ordinary in its coloratura range, spent most of her time last night in singing in her middle register, where her work was not half as pleasing.

Mrs. MacAlpine's high-pitched work was wonderfully good. As crystal clear as a silver flute were the pure white tones that marked the songs of a coloratura type. They were the brilliant trills of a singing bird, these echoing, ringing upper notes, beautiful and extraordinary, and quite different from the blurred, dark tones of the middle register in which so many of the songs were rendered, and in which a certain faultiness of articulation was quite apparent. The comparison between the two styles by the same singer was almost like hearing two different artists.

Piercingly sweet was the silver, sustained melody of Mrs. MacAlpine's operation contributions to the programme, the aria "Ah, non credea Mirarte; Ah! non Giunge" from La Somnambula" which received much applause, bringing an encore in the lower-noted singing of "Danny Boy," with the little aspect of uncertainty that colored the singer's work in the middle register and was not apparent at all in her high-pitched tones.

The first group of songs were pretty, light numbers: "April, My April," "Since First I Met Thee," "Sonny Boy," and "Gay Butterfly," the latter a dainty, skillful bit. The second group included "Autumn," "The Poet Sings," and "The Nightingale," which, like the final number, "Pretty Mocking Bird" was a think of lovely, sparkling trills and rippling melody. To repeated applause, Mrs. MacAlpine sang the old favorite "Annie Laurie," one of the loveliest selections in her programme, the vociferous enthusiasm it created bringing a rendition of "Comin' Thru the Rye."

The pianist, Mrs. Ruth Burt Samson, who also provided very sympathetic accompaniments for Mrs. MacAlpine's songs, played in splendid style, with a well-rounded technical grasp, a fine execution and a light, pearly touch. Solo numbers on her programme included "Alceste de Gluck" (excerpt from Caprice) by Saint-Saens; Beethoven's "Adagio" from Sonato, Opus 27, No. 2; and Chopin's Waltz from Opus 34, No. 1. An encore to the latter selection was a bright Gavotte.

The third artist not a stranger to Peterborough, where she lived for some time, but new in the demonstration of her advance through several years of study since her stay here, was Miss Mignon Telgmann, whose violin playing was marked by a finished ease and a beautiful, rounded sustained tone. The artist's powers of memorization, her free bowing and facile fingering, with a quality of effortless playing in difficult passages, were demonstrated to perfection in the programme which included some exacting numbers: the "Romance" from Wieniawski's Second Concerto, and Musin's "Maurka de Concert," in which, with its accompanying encore, "A Country Dance," there was much difficult harmonic and pizzicato work. Repeated and long-continued applause also followed the violinist's two final numbers, "Valse-Bluette" and "Budjely" the latter by Mana-Zucca.

Miss Telgmann's violin, a beautiful instrument, is one of a number made by her father, Professor O. F. Telgmann, of Kingston, and has a very fine tone.

TORONTO WOMEN ASK FOR REFORMS

Deputation From Liberal Association Waits On Ferguson.

TORONTO, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Representing the Toronto Women's Liberal Association, a deputation of several women waited on Premier Ferguson Monday afternoon, asking that a boarding house be defined as a house having three or more rooms rented. They also asked that juvenile courts be extended to other parts of the province besides the larger cities. Another resolution presented calls for satisfactory evidence that both parties to a marriage contract be physically and mentally sound.

The deputation also requested that women be allowed to serve on juries after they were 30 years of age.

Fresh Set-Backs In Wheat Downturns At Liverpool

CHICAGO, Ills., March 16 (Canadian Press).—Fresh set-backs in the value of wheat here took place to-day as soon as business began. Further declines quickly ensued, down turns at Liverpool and Buenos Aires being reflected here.

Chicago opening prices, 3-8 to 1 1-8 off, May $1.64½ to $1.65, and July 1.41⅛ to 1.41 3-4, were followed by a continued general weakness. Unfavorable weather made corn and oat prices relatively firm, besides. Receipts of corn here to-day, 147 cars, were much smaller than yesterday's, a week ago, or a year back. After opening unchanged to ½ cent off, May 77 3-4 to 77 7-8, the corn market recovered to about yesterday's finish.

Oats started a shade lower to ¼ cent higher, May 40 3-8, and held near to the initial range.

Influenced by an upturn in hog values, the provision market was firm.

Light Volume In Trading Though Firmness Is Shown

TORONTO, March 16 (Canadian Press) — Decided firmness was shown on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, and trading, though of light volume, was scattered over a broad list. Smelters, Massey Harris and Brazilian were the active features. Massey Harris climbed up 8 1-2 points to 60, while Smelters advanced 2 at 214 and Brazilian 1 at 93. Atlantic Sugar gained 1 1-4 at 26 1-2 and International Nickel 1 1-8 at 37 5-8. Steamships Preferred, Canners, both common and preferred; Twin City common and preferred, and Steel of Canada Common were all slightly higher. Dome advanced 45 cents at 19.55. British Columbia Fishing was about the only soft spot, easing 1 1-2 at 68 1-2.

Weakness In Mine Market With the Trend Uncertain

TORONTO, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Some weakness was shown on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning, with the trend of the market generally uncertain. Dome's recovery was one of the features, this stock advancing forty cents to 19.70. Hollinger, up 15 at 18.90, was another firm spot. Teck Hughes sold four lower at 316, Tough Oakes down two at 53, Argonaut down one at 32¾, and Mining Corporation five lower at 385.

BISAILLON SAYS STATEMENTS OF GARCEAU FALSE

Discharged Chief Preventive Officer Denies Other Testimony.

NEW MEMBER.

W. T. Goodwin Succeeds Hon. J. C. Elliott on Probe Committee.

OTTAWA, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Denial of the statements made by previous witnesses featured the further testimony of J. E. A. Bisaillon, discharged chief preventive officer of Montreal when the Customs probe was resumed this morning.

Mr. Bisaillon denied that officers of the Montreal police force were refused the right to examine the smuggled automobiles which were held in King's warehouse, if they came armed with proper papers. He stated emphatically that he had never given instructions to Garceau, the previous witness, to forge any documents. The testimony of Garceau, given some weeks ago, was that he had forged a name on instructions of Bisaillon.

The place on the committee formerly occupied by Hon. J. C. Elliott, newly appointed Minister of Labor, was occupied by his successor, W. T. Goodison. A motion calling for production of the coresspondence passing between the crown prosecutor of Montreal and the Hon. Jacques Bureau, former minister of customs, in regard to smuggling, was moved by Hon. H. H. Stevens, and carried.

ASHES OF WEST HOME SIFTED

when the neighbors gathered at the burning house and found Dr. West on the back porch, apparently in a fit, his hands were scratched and blody, and there were marks that looked like bloodstains on the scant clothing which he wore. To settle all doubts on this question portions of the clothing have been sent to Toronto, along with the bones found in the kitchen, to have the marks analyzed.

Warkworth's Greatest Tragedy.

This is the greatest tragedy that has ever happened in the usually peaceful little village of Warkworth, and the excitement that the news of it first caused has not yet died out. All kinds of rumors are still in circulation, and if the true story ever does come to light, it will not be until the evidence is heard at the inquest. The residents of this village are satisfied that the police have been thorough in their search for evidence.

At Campbellford Monday.

Dr. West, accompanied by his brother Charles, with whom he is stopping at the latter's farm near Warkworth, was at Campbellford on Monday visiting at the house of his father. He still refuses to make any allusion to the tragedy.

Vapors Check a Cold Overnight

There are many ways to treat a cold but only one DIRECT way—with vapors that can be inhaled.

Vapors penetrate immediately into every corner of the air passages and lungs, soothing and healing with every breath.

Vicks is so remarkably successful in treating cold troubles because it acts like a "vapor lamp in salve form."

When rubbed over throat and chest the body heat releases vapors of Menthol, Camphor, Eucalyptus, Thyme and Turpentine. At the same time Vicks is absorbed through and stimulates the skin like a poultice or plaster.

This double, direct action often checks the worst cold overnight.

MOTHER PERTURBED BY WILD STORIES

Baby Snowden Choked on Milk, Doctor Says, Not Nipple.

"It's bad enough to lose him without having people talking in the way they are doing," said Mrs. George Snowden this morning, as she spoke of the death of her tiny son last Wednesday. "Why are people so cruel in the way they talk?"

Little John Clifford Snowden, the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Snowden, of Otonabee street, near Downer's Corners, aged five months and twelve days, was found dead in bed last Wednesday afternoon, about three o'clock, by his mother, who had put him there with his bottle of food at ten o'clock in the morning.

"It may seem a long time to have left him," she said, "but he was a quiet baby, not at all restless or noisy and he was in the habit of sleeping anywhere from four to six hours at a time, and never wanted to be disturbed.

During the interval, Mrs. Snowden was out at a neighbor's house for about an hour and a half, and when she went up in the afternoon, she found the child was dead. "I did not look very closely at him," she said, "because I was nearly frantic. We got Dr. Hewitt right away and he said the baby had taken too much food in its mouth from its bottle, and had choked to death."

Mrs. Snowden was in the habit of enlarging the opening in the rubber feeding nipple on the baby's bottle, so that he might more easily get the food out, and had done this with the new nipple which was in the bottle at the time the accident occurred.

Contrary to the general report the nipple did not choke the baby. It remained in the bottle. When found about an ounce of food remained in the bottle and a blue rubber bib worn by the child was over its mouth. This bib, however, Mrs. Snowden declares, was said by the attending physician to be of too thin a material to cause the baby to die by suffocation.

George Snowden, father of the child, is an employee of the Canadian General Electric Company. Mr. and Mrs. Snowden also do a considerable business in honey on the farmers' market having between twenty and thirty hives on their premises.

There are six other children in the home, a comfortable, well kept residence of red brick—three boys and three girls, ranging from the boy of nearly eighteen years of age, to the chubby, red checked, smiling Mildred of four years.

LIBERALS DISCUSS WET AMENDMENT

R. L. Brackin Expected To Declare Opposition To O.T.A.

TORONTO, March 16 (Canadian Press).—The Liberal members of the Ontario Legislature held a caucus before the afternoon session of the House, presumably to discuss the policy of the party with respect to amendments, or proposed amendments, to the Ontario Temperance Act. R. L. Brackin (Liberal, West Kent) will re-open the budget debate, and is expected to declare his opposition to the Ontario Temperance Act and his support of some form of Government control. A Toronto report says to-day: "There is considerable speculation as to whether the combined insubordination of Mr. Brackin and J. A. Pinard (Liberal, East Ottawa) is not the first step toward the formation of a straight wet group in the House."

PROHIBITION WINS LEGISLATURE FIGHT

Referendum To Force Beer License Was Given a Temporary Defeat.

ALBANY, Mar. 16 (Canadian Press)—Prohibition advocates won temporary victories in both sections of the Legislature last night, defeating an attempt in the assembly to force a light wine and beer referendum resolution from the committee, and advancing the Wales state enforcement measure to the order of third reading in the Senate.

When Corns Talk!

The least sign of rain, or a touch of dampness in the air, and corns begin to talk! A piercing cry of agony shoots through your toe. Oh! ! The hurt of it. And soon your toe is red and inflamed and burning with pain; so tender you cannot bear to touch it. Then is the moment to plunge your foot into a soothing Radox foot-bath and get that corn out root and all, painlessly. You will feel the pain and soreness being drawn out.

How Radox Removes Corns

When you put your feet into a foot-bath containing Radox the salts soften the hard outer layers of the corn and the oxygen which Radox liberates enters the pores, opens them, and penetrates further and further, carrying the corn-softening salts right to the root of the corn, which is thus loosened so that it can be lifted out bodily. This life-giving oxygen leaves the feet clean and healthy. Because it is the oxygen which carries the corn solvents to the root of the corn, and because Radox liberates, by test, more oxygen than any other salts, it is obvious that Radox is more efficient in removing corns than any other salts. The Radox Bath Salts does not effect the living skin. It is only the dead skin—the corn—which it dissolves. If one bath does not do this a second bath next day will do it.

A Radox user writes:

"After a bath in Radox....to my intense astonishment the corn had disappeared, and all that remained was a tiny hole from which the corn had evidently come out—probably when rubbing down with the bath towel."

On your way home tonight, buy a package of Radox Bath Salts at the druggists.

NO HOCKEY CHAMPIONS SINCE

This Year's Title Comes After Interval of 20 Years.

FIRST FOR SENIORS.

Three Junior and Two Intermediate Titles Have Been Captured.

After an interval of twenty years the blue and white of the Peterborough Hockey Club is again in front, the Peterborough team having won the highest honors of the Association—the senior championship. It is the sixth title since 1894, the junior O.H.A. team having defeated Toronto Granites that year by the score of 14 to 0. Three junior and intermediate championships and one senior title have been won by Peterborough teams, and in numerous years, other local teams were well up in the race. Here is the honor roll.

Junior O.H.A.

1894—Peterboro 14, Toronto Granites 0
1895—Peterboro 7, Toronto Granites 6
1901—Peterboro 12, Stratford 7

Intermediate O.H.A.

1902—Peterboro 7, Galt 6
1906—Peterboro 14, Goderich 8

Senior O.H.A.

1926—Peterboro 7, London 5

It was on Tuesday, March 6, 1906 that Peterborough last won the Intermediate O.H.A. title in Goderich, and, oddly enough lost the only game of the season, the record being eleven wins and one loss for a total of 118 goals as against 42 counters by opposing teams. The Peterborough line up was: Goal, Ernie Wasson; point, Rolly Glover; coverpoint, Bill Crowley; rover, Fred Whitcroft; centre, Harry Morgan; right wing, Chris Graham; left wing, Bill Cavanah. Melville Moore played several games but missed the finals.

The first game here with Goderich on Friday, March 3rd, was played before a crowd of more than two thousand persons in Brock Street rink. Fred Waghorne, one of the best hockey referees of that day handled the bell. The O.H.A. game consisted of two periods of thirty minutes each; there were no substitutes, and if a player was injured and unable to continue in the game, the opposing team put off a player to even matters.

Four In A Row.

In the first half each team scored, Goderich getting the first tally. After the rest, blue and white opened one of their attacks for which the team was famous, scoring four goals in less than ten minutes. One of the counters was secured by Rolly Glover who lifted the puck from his position on the defence into the Goderich nets. This was a favorite stunt of defence players and none was more effective than the Peterborough player. The battle continued with Goderich showing good staying power, and ability to mix things up, until the end came with the locals leading by 10 to 3.

Seven goals looked to be a safe lead for the return game in Goderich on the Tuesday following. But including this final struggle, the Peterborough team had travelled more than a thousand miles playing four championship contests in seven days, and besides, there were storm signals on the horizon. Goderich had a small ring and a none-too gentle following. Furthermore the weather was mild and soft ice was in prospect. Another referee was appointed for the final, and altogether it looked like a hot time. It was. The crowd frightened the referee "to death" and wild fans along the 'boards" made life miserable for the Peterborough wingmen. Goderich succeeded in scoring four goals in the first half, reducing the Peterborough lead to three goals. But as has been intimated the Petes had the habit of playing a strong second half. They ran true to form, outscored the Sailors four to one, and while unable to tie the score won the round by 14 to 8.

That night wild scenes were enacted in Goderich, and Peterborough's small contingent of players and supporters were lucky to get away with whole skins. A favorite method of expressing one's feeling was to hurl whiskey and beer bottles, and windows of many railway coaches carrying hockey players and their supporters bore, on many occasions, ample evidence of the accurate aim of hostile fans.

A Great Reception.

The champions were tendered a monster reception when they returned home. It was estimated that more than eight thousand persons gathered at or near the C.P.R. station. The regimental band, and the bugle band, turned out at full strength and headed a big parade uptown. Laneways were bereft of packing boxes and at a number of street intersection huge bonfires roared their welcome. One crowd of merrymakers built a bonfire on the street outside the home of Fred Whitcroft, captain of the team, on Aylmer street.

After a lengthy parade, the reception committee took the champions to the Oriental Hotel on Hunter street, where they were formally welcomed.

Several nights later the team was banquetted at the Oriental Hotel and each player was presented with a solid gold monogram signet ring. Billy Breen, trainer of the team, was presented with a gold stop watch, a gift from the players.

The late Hon. J. R. Stratton was chairman. W. A. Hewitt, secretary and Dr. A. W. McPherson, treasurer of the O.H.A. came down from Toronto for the occasion. Members of the entertainment committee still in Peterborough are Ald. R. Denne, T. H. Hooper, Dickson Davidson and John Crane.

TORONTO OPINION OF TO-NIGHTS GAME

Varsity Have Been Practicing Steadily For the Big Test.

(From Toronto Star)

Many fans have been waiting for the two-game series that opens tomorrow night, when Varsity play Peterboro in the eastern semi-finals for the Allan Cup.

The Blue and White had an easy time winning the Intercollegiate title and are considered to be just as strong as they were last year, when they defeated Niagara Falls in the eastern finals. The whole question is, have they had enough hard games to get over the series with the Petes?

Peterboro, on the other hand, have had an exceptionally hard time. They had a hard series with London to win the Senior O.H.A. championship, and then had two hard games with New Hamburg, Intermediate O.H.A. champions, before they were ready for this series. After the game with New Hamburg on Saturday, the players left their uniforms at the Arena and returned home for a rest. They will not reach Toronto again till tomorrow afternoon when they hope to be in first-class shape. Bogaris, who was out of the game Saturday, hopes to be in the line-up again.

Varsity have been practising steadily and have had plenty of exhibition games since they won the intercollegiate championship. With the exception of Taylor, who went to Osgoode Hall, Varsity have practically the same team that last year defeated Niagara Falls and went on west, only to be beaten by Port Arthur.

They have the ever-reliable Joe Sullivan in goal, with Porter and Wright in front of him. This looks like a capable defence. The forward line will consist of Plaxton, Hudson and Trotter, all good fast skaters and players who know how to get goals. For subs Coach Conny Smythe has a raft of players to draw on, but it is anticipated that he will use Kirkpatrick and Richards.

Petes Well Known.

The Peterboro team is now well known to the Toronto fans. The evergreen Joe Dwyer with his baseball mitt has drawn long cheers from even the most reluctant fan for his brilliant saves of almost impossible shots. His goal tending would be an asset to any team. The defence work of McLeod and Rose has always been good while the attacking of Collins, Bailey and Ranger can always be counted upon for a goal or two. Taking all in all it should be a rectic series and the fan apparently think so, as there was a decided rush to secure tickets when the box office opened at the Arena this morning.

The game will commence at 8.30, as the Shamrock A.C. bouts have been called off.

3.334 MAKING BEER.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 16. Canadian Press, — "Permits are not issued for the manufacture of home brew beer," it was stated in an answer made by Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs and Excise in the House Monday.

The number of "no tes," however received in the past four years from persons in Ontario, using utensils for brewing beer solely for himself and his family was 3334.

Under the act any person desiring to use such utensils for himself and his family, must give notice of possession thereof, and of intention to use them, to the nearest customs collector or the customs department at Ottawa.

LOS ANGELES, March 6—What happens to pugilistic champions after they have been robbed of their crowns?

A few of them stay in the game and attempt, though usually unsuccessfully, to stage a "comeback." Others quit the ring and, as far as the fight crowd is concerned, are "swallowed up by the earth."

Los Angeles has become the mecca for the "has beens," who at one time ruled pugilism as Jack Dempsey or Fidel La Barba rule it today. Though seldom heard of, many of the old-timers are living here and are engaged in some sort of business.

Take for example Jim Jeffries. What fight fans is there who doesn't remember that sweltering Fourth of July, 1910, when Jack Johnson knocked out Jeffries at Reno. Yet how many know anything about Jeffries today? Jim's living just outside of Los Angeles, runnnig a farm. He makes almost as much money now, raising cows and chickens, as he got for knocking the boys "goofy" when he was heavyweight champ.

Farmer Jeffries Is Happy.

And Mr. James Jeffries, farmer, is a much happier man than Jim Jeffries, fighter. "I am content here," declares the ex-heavyweight king. "I am busy all day on the farm and then I have the evenings with my wife. I like to play with the kids, too. No, they're not mine, they belong to a neighbor down the road but they spend most of their time here."

Then there's Ad Wolgast, one time lightweight champion, who gained everlasting fame in his fight with Battling Nelson. Poor old Ad, he still thinks he has a chance to become champion again. Wolgast was one of the toughest boys who ever climbed through the ropes.

Ad is working in a billiard parlor next door to Jack Doyle's arena now—a mere nobody under the same roof where thousands once hailed him as champion. In his spare time he can be seen working out over in Doyle's ring. "I'll be coming back pretty soon now," he told me. "Just the other day I worked out like a young man."

Tommy Ryan Rated Wealthy

Billy Papke, former middleweight king, is trying to outdo Jeffries as a farmer. Papke has a ranch a few miles out of the city, not far from the Jeffries homestead. The two are great friends. They spend many an evening together swapping theories on the best methods of picking fruit, making butter and other chores of "the great open spaces." But the best evenings of all are the one spent on going over the old ring days.

Out in Culver City is Tommy Ryan, who retired from the ring the undefeated welterweight and middleweight champion. Tommy had some money when he quit fighting and he invested it wisely. Now he's living off the income and hasn't anything to worry about.

Ryan spends most of his time puttering about the house and yard. He has a few turkeys and some fruit trees in the back yard and they take up a great deal of his time.

WITH YANKS

HERB McQUAID,

Star right-handed hurler who will be given a trial by the New York Yankees this season. He's considered a promising prospect by Manager Huggins. The Yanks, by the way, could find good use for another capable pitcher. McQuaid was with St. Paul in the American Association last year, hanging up a formidable record.

HOCKEY NOTES.

LAKEFIELD, March 16. — Although short-handed, the Rink Mice succeeded in shutting out the Ponies in a Bantam game played on Saturday. The score was 4 to 0.

The line-up:

Rink Mice.—J. McFadden, goal; Geo. Charlton and Chittick, defence; H. Bown centre; T. Chappell, right wing.

Ponies.—M. Hamblin, goal; Lawless and O'Neill, defence; J. Brown, centre; Johnston and Lennox, wings; Blewett and Junkin, subs.

Referee—S. Dever.

The West End Rink Rats of Peterborough visited Lakefield on Saturday and defeated The Grove, 9 to 5, in a fast game, of which Holland was the star.

Referee—T. J. Wood.

BIG TENT ARTISTS ADOPT NEW ROLES

Major League Magnates Reshuffle Players Among Ball Clubs.

NEW YORK, March 13.—When the 1926 baseball season rolls around, many major league pastimers will be seen in uniforms of clubs other than those they sported last year.

While most of the players changing scenery are veterans, a few comparative youngsters are nevertheless included in the list.

In the National League the veteran "Rabbit" Maranville will wear the Brooklyn livery. Maranville was with the Cubs last season, acting as manager for a brief period. Previous to that he played with the Pirates and Braves. He was a member of the famous Boston "miracle" team that won the pennant and world series title in 1914. The Dodgers will also have two other former Braves, Jess Barnes, pitcher, and Gus Felix, outfielder.

Jimmy Ring, another seasoned campaigner, will be a Giant in 1926. The McGraw clan obtained the vet hurler from the Phillies in the recent trade that brought two Giants, Jack Bentley and Wayland Dean, to the Quakertown outfit.

Ring had his best season in 1923, winning 18 and losing 16 games to a team that stayed close to the cellar all year. Bentley has been in the main tent since 1923. He has done some impressive work, being a hard hitter and fair pitcher. He will no doubt hold down the first base job for the Phils, where his sticking ability should come in handy. Dean is a tot, having made his major league debut last year.

In the Cubs' lineup will appear a new face in the person of Jimmy Cooney, infielder, obtained from the Cardinals. Cooney put in two seasons with the Cards, coming "up" from Milwaukee in 1924.

In the American League Bill Wambsganss, who has seen service with Cleveland and Boston, will be on the Mackian payroll. Wamby, best remembered as the triple-play hero of the 1920 world series, is expected to do utility work for the Athletics. He has been in the majors since 1914.

Charley Robertson, White Sox pitcher, who broke into baseball's hall of fame by hurling a perfect game against Detroit in 1922, will be a Brownie next season. The Browns obtained him by the waiver route.

Fred Haney, Detroit infielder, follows Howard Ehmke, Ira Flagstead and some of his other old pals to the Red Sox. Haney, a mighty clever utility man, came to Detroit in the latter part of 1922. He's played every position on the inner defense.

Two former American League veterans will play in the rival circuit in 1926. They are Wally Pipp and "Whitey" Witt, both one-time Yankees. Pipp was recently purchased by Cincinnati and is down to play first for the Reds. Witt will be on the Brooklyn roster.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

By BILLY EVANS.

SHREVEPORT, La., March 16.—To most managers the possibilities of the rookies are the most important features of spring training.

Not so with Eddie Collins, famous leader of the Chicago White Sox. He is more concerned over the condition of his veterans.

I know any number of players who would view their thirteenth season in the majors with considerable apprehension, not to say superstition. Faber isn't a bit fussy about the hoodoo number.

Seeks 1 Victories.

"I am going to win 15 games for Eddie this year and, with the breaks, I might cop 20."

That was the way Faber summed up his chances of having a good year. He looks in fine shape, and if trying will win from 15 to 20 battles, Red will turn the trick.

However, the two chief worries of Collins is Catcher Ray Schalk and Shortstop Everett Scott.

These two veterans enjoy the unique distinction of not only being outstanding stars at their positions, but "iron men" as well, to use the parlance of baseball.

Scott holds all records for continuous play with 1,307 games to his credit, while Schalk has caught 1,655 games over a period of 14 seasons.

For 11 consecutive years Schalk set a record that will stand for many years, if not all time. He took part in 100 or more games each season. He ended the streak in 1924, when injuries kept him out of the fray most of the year. He did a comeback last season, officiating in 125.

It is impossible to compute what it means to the Chicago White Sox to have Schalk able to take part in from 100 to 130 ball games. His superb direction back of the plate is needed in every game.

Presence Means Much.

With Schalk doing bench duty, it is conservative to say the effectiveness of the pitching staff is diminished 20 per cent. That will give you a slight idea of what his presence in the game means.

While Manager Huggins of New York and Harris of Washington cut loose from Scott, Eddie Collins is placing much dependence on the work of the veteran. He is banking on Scott to help solve the shortstop situation, the one flaw in the White Sox machine.

No wonder Manager Eddie is much concerned over the condition of Scott and Schalk.

CINCINNATI IN PENNANT FIGHT

Four Great Pitchers in Mays, Luque, Rixey and Donohue.

NEW STRENGTH.

ORLANDO Lla., March 16 (Canadian Press).—The Cincinnati Reds "surely will be in the pennant fight this year," in the opinion of Manager Jack Hendricks.

Hendricks says:

"They are saying that our only new strength comes from the addition of Wally Pipp at first base, but I have seen enough already in the Orlando workouts to convince me that we have a lot of new strength besides that. In Hudgins, the young first baseman, who played with us a few days last fall, we have a man who is ready right now for a big league berth.

"The return to form of Carl Mays means more to us than any other one factor. That sore arm that handicapped Carl last year is already in good shape. This means we will have four great pitchers to start the season with—Mays, Luque, Donohue and Rixey.

"Then we have Clyde Day, a promising right hander drafted from Syracuse; Springer, another rookie pitcher, has been the sensation of our training camp reason thus far.

"In Christenson, the outfielder secured from St. Paul, we have a fast keen player, a fine lead-off man, and a .325 hitter against American Association pitching. He will surely make the team and so will Enmer, the Seattle shortstop, whose work has been most promising."

PIRATES TAKE THIRD POSITION

Defeat Ottawa 2-0, Outplaying Leaders Every Way.

CONNELL STAR.

PITTSBURGH, March 16 (Canadian Press).—The Pittsburgh hockey team defeated Ottawa here last night, 2 to 0, and thereby won the right to participate in the National League title play-off. The Pirates out-classed, out-played, and outskated the Senators in every department of the game. Time after time the home team bombarded the enemy net, and only for the excellent work of Goal-tender Connell, Pittsburg might have counted several more tallies.

KINGTON WINS GAME AND ROUND

Defeats Young Sons of Ireland 3-2—Leaving For West.

IN SEMI-FINALS.

MONTREAL, March 16 (Canadian Press)—Kingston Juniors leave today, via their home city, for Port Arthur, where they will play in the semi-finals for the O.H.A. Memorial Cup and the Junior hockey championship of Canada on Thursday and Saturday nights. The Kingstonians clinched the advance to the penultimate round through their win over the Young Sons of Ireland of Quebec, beating the ancient Capital team here last night 3 to 2, and winning the round 14 to 8. The Kingston sextette was too big, too fast, and too smart a team for the Young Sons. The courageous young players from Quebec made a herculean bid to at least cut down Kingston's leads, and they did well to hold this smart Ontario combination as close as they did.

The line-ups:

Young Sons.—Kerr, goal; Griffin and Crane, defence; Lemieux, centre; Quinn and Morin, wings; Lindsay and James, subs.

Kingston.—Taugher, goal; Voss and McKelvey, defence; Reid, centre; Patterson and Hartley, wings; McPherson and Molson, subs.

Referee—Donald Smith.

The Summary.

First Period:
No score.
Second Period:
1—Kingston, McKelvey 3.00
2—Kingston Reid 14.15
Third Period:
3—Young Sons, Morin..... 10.00
4—Kingston, Voss 1.40
5—Young Sons, Morin..... 2.00

DELANEY WINS FROM M'TIGUE

Bridgeport Boxer Scores a Technical Knockout Over Former Champ.

IN FOURTH ROUND.

ARLETTE WAS "FOLLOWED"
By Russell J. Birdwell,
NEA Service Writer.

HOLLYWOOD, March 15.—"What shall I do? I am being followed by strange men!" said Mlle. Arlette Marchal, the French beauty recently brought to Hollywood from Paris to appear in Paramount pictures.

"I see them, the same men, about my house when I start away in my car. I also see them when I leave the studio," insisted the actress. "I am afraid."

The whole thing ended with a laugh, however, when two men pointed out Mlle. Marchal recently arrived in Hollywood with several wardrobe trunks of Parisian gowns, hats and novelties. Mlle. Marchal's first picture in this country is "The Cat's Pajamas," with Betty Bronson, Ricardo Cortez and Theodore Roberts.

PETERBORO' YOUTH WINS AT TORONTO

Gordon Pogue First in Two Events at Central 'Y.'

Toronto Globe: Two well-contested events in the regular athletic handicaps of the young men's section were run off at Central Y.M.C.A. on Friday night, and Gordon Pogue worked his way to top place in both events.

The half mile event provided keen competition, with Pogue just nosing out Croft for first place by three seconds, Clarke placed third. Pogue's time with 15 seconds handicap was 2.12.

The Chin-the-Bar contest had a larger entry list, and as it was a novelty, Pogue, the only scratch man, won first place with a total of 21 times.

The population of London has increased from 7,300,000 to 7,600,000 in fourteen years.

FISH AND GAME MEETING CALLED

Executive Asks Members To Meet For Important Business.

The executive of the Peterboro Fish and Game Preventive Association has called a meeting for Wednesday evening at the Empress Hotel at 8 o'clock, and all members and others interested in the protection of fish and game are cordially invited to attend.

Several matters of importance will be brought before the meeting, such as, the open season for pickerel and also to get an opinion on the setting of the fishing season to open at a later date. This matter is before the Fish and Game Committee in the Provincial House at the present time, and it will be wise for the local association to express an opinion as to whether it would be advisable or not.

As an added attraction for members of the Fish and Game Association, the Gun Club is going to be open to all members of the association, and it is expected that a lot of shooters will be able to take part in their competitions this year.

SPLENDID PICTURE SHOWN AT REGENT

"His Brother's Keeper" Illustrates Printers' Home.

A picture of splendid educational value is being shown at the Regent the first three days of this week in "His Brothers' Keeper," a film produced by the International Typographical Union.

This release was designated to reveal the wellfare activities of the Union to the general public and it is safe to say that the picture which features the Union Printers' Home at Colorado Springs, Colorado, will be a revelation to those who see it. The film draws a parallel between the lot of the destitute outcast, overtaken by illness or old age, and that of the Union printer who is guarded against misfortune by the sanctuary of the Printers' Home, the old age pension system, burial benefit fund and other protective institutions maintained by the Typographical Union.

In the opening scenes, Typographical Terrace, the beautiful headquarters of the Union is shown, and then the action swings to Colorado Springs where the huge institution is inspected from all angles. Resident printers are observed at rest and at play, and the older printers engage in a type-seting contest. Other similar scenes follow, and the picture affords a vivid conception of what the Home means to members of the Typographical Union.

The Regent's regular bill is also shown.

POWERS DEMAND THAT BLOCKADE OF RIVER CEASE

Issue Ultimatum To Chinese Officers at Tientsin Forts.

TREATY VIOLATED.

Destroyer of Several Nations Are Sent To Harbor Mouth.

PEKING, March 16 (Canadian Press).—Signatories of the protocol of 1901 today delivered an ultimatum to the Chinese factions demanding that the blockade of the port of Tientsin be ended and that all impediments to harbor and river traffic be removed by Thursday noon.

The ultimatum was handed to the commanders of the forts at Taku and the Chinese vessels outside of Tientsin. Great Britain, the United States, Japan and Italy have a dozen or more naval craft in these waters.

The protocol of 1901 made stipulations concerning disarmament of the forts at the mouth of the Pei River, on which Tientsin is located, and also guaranteed an open way to the sea. The blockade had been preventing access to Peking from the sea and recently resulted in Chinese troops firing upon two Japanese destroyers.

Tokio advices early today were that the Japanese cruiser Hirado had been ordered to the mouth of the Taku River from Port Arthur.

A Manilla dispatch last night described the departure of four United States destroyers from Swatow, China.

DISQUIETING RUMOR DISTURBS LEAGUE

These apprehensions have given rise to the demand that the Great Powers commit themselves to support the candidacy of Rumania after the September election as leaders have forecast that Poland and Holland may be elected in balloting for the replacement of Czecho-Slovakia and Sweden.

Another disquieting element in the situation arises from Spain's disappointment at not being granted a permanent seat, her claim being put aside while Germany, Poland and Brazil successively were having their troubles ironed out by the council.

Spaniard close to the delegation say the Foreign Minister is refraining from telegraphing Premier Primo De Rivera for fresh instructions, fearing that they might be of such a stiff nature as to render any further chance of progress impossible.

It was learned this afternoon that the Latin-American members at today's meeting drafted a memorandum, which they asked Senor Mello Franco immediately to transmit to Rio Janeiro, stating that it was the sense of the Latin-American countries represented at the present assembly that Brazil should not exercise the right of voting against Germany as a member of the League or as a permanent member of the council.

Apprehensions that Brazil might insist upon her right of veto were considerably allayed after the Latin-American session.

HOUSE STARTS ON BUSINESS

Interim Supply Bill For Two Months Expected First.

SHARP FIGHTING.

OTTAWA, March 16 (Canadian Press).— The House of Commons today gets down to business. First, according to schedule will come an interim supply bill, probably for the usual two months' supply, or one-sixth of the main estimates. This will carry the supply over till the end of May.

Plans are that the House, following the interim supply bill, will take up the main estimates brought down yesterday, with the Department either of Public Works or Customs under consideration. It is expected that the session will see some sharp fighting over supply. Further use of the closure is expected in political circles.

Children's Colds

If children's colds are got rid of promptly there will be less tendency to pneumonia and consumption in later life. It is the neglected, hanging-on cold that weakens the lungs and develops into serious trouble.

No treatment for coughs and colds was ever so popular with the children as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine. It is so pleasant to the taste, so delightfully soothing and healing and affords relief so quickly that children soon turn to it instinctively when choked up with a cold or annoyed by coughing.

It is mother's favorite treatment for croup and bronchitis, for she knows it will bring relief when the midnight coughing spasms set in. It is wise to always have a bottle at hand for prompt use in emergency.

BOWLING

K. OF C. ALLEYS.

At the Knights of Columbus' bowling alleys last evening, the Orchids (Miss Marita Collins, captain) took three games from the Poppies (Miss Katie Radey, captain), and the Larks (Miss Margaret O'Brien, captain) won three games from the Pansies (Miss Ada Shaughnessy, captain).

Nice scores were made by Miss Marita Collins (Orchids) 178 and 161. Mrs. M. Sharpe (Pansies) 159 and 155, Miss Margaret O'Brien (Larks) 158 and 150, and Miss C. Conroy (Larks) 153.

HOCKEY

The Anthony Aristocrats and Gillespie's Garage outfits played the return game at Brock Street Rink last night, and the Aristocrats again showed their superiority by defeating Gillespie's by the score of 5-0. The game was fast and clean, with only two penalties. Babe Anthony made his debut in goal for the Aristocrats, and put a wonderful exhibition of goal-keeping. The Aristocrats play again on Wednesday.

The teams:

Anthony's — Goal, B. Anthony; defence, Fuller and Legros; centre, Mien; wings, L. Anthony and M. Fowler; subs., D. Miller and B. Foy.

Gillespie's—Goal, A. Harrison; defence, F. Gillespie and R. Wilson; centre, J. Gillespie; wings, G. Gillespie and R. Sowden.

Referee—P. Calladine.

AT THE REGENT

"ROSE OF WORLD" IS VITAL PICTURE.

Patsy Ruth Miller Triumphs As Jilted Heroine.

In addition to having the vital story by Kathleen Norris for its plot, "Rose of the World," the Warner Bros. Classic of the Screen which opened yesterday at the Regent Theatre, has one of the most brilliant casts of the season, directed by Harry Beaumont.

Patsy Ruth Miller plays the title role of Rose Kirby and steps right out of the pages of this popular novel, adapted to the screen by Dorothy Farnum. Miss Miller, who recently signed a long term contract with Warners, will be particularly remembered for her characterization of Esmeralda in "The Hunchback of Notre Dame.". She makes the emotional, courageous heroine of "Rose of the World" live before you on the screen and gives a remarkably fine performance.

Then there is Alan Forrest as the hero and Pauline Garon as his pert little wife. Alan Forrest has a successful stage career behind him as well as numerous heroic characterizations of likeable young men on the screen. Pauline Garon, who has heretofore been associated primarily with flapper roles, shows her ability as a dramatic actress in the role of the jealous and suspicious young wife.

AT THE CAPITOL

"THE RECKLESS LADY.

Something quite different from the usual run of feature pictures is at the Capitol Theatre for the first half of this week, in "The Reckless Lady," filmed from the novel by Sir Philip Gibbs. The lady is not so extremely reckless after all, but she is a gambler at the Monte Carlo tables, and the story revolves around her unfortunate love affair with the dark and handsome Count Feodor, pursuer of women, who breaks up the home of Colonel Fleming and then, years later, when the mother and daughter have found a refuge in Monte Carlo, comes to haunt the steps of the latter.

"A Weak Woman" instead of "A Reckless Lady" would perhaps have been a better title for this picture. Mrs. Fleming is admirably feminine in the quality of her foolishness, rather than recklessness, throughout the entire course of the picture, but she acts splendidly and the picture is one of those vivid, passionate affairs that shows the thorny path of the transgressor, and portrays interestingly the Carnival life of the gay city of Monte Carlo, and the gaming tables that make it famous.

An entertaining bit in the production is the final scene, where the mother and daughter are pictured quite happily in their re-united state with the father and lover, and the handsome villain, foiled and disconsolate, lurks unhappily in the background.

The acting of the main characters is very good. The two women have a rather incomprehensible way of arranging their hair, in this era of bobbed maidens, their obsolete fashion of fixing it in both cases making the presentation somewhat peculiar at times, but they are both pretty, and the daughter of a perfect "ingenue" type, with a round, innocent face and baby eyes.—Jeanette.

Influenza

Now, when the germs of Influenza abound, physicians advise keeping the bowels open. Constipation poisons the blood, lowering your resistance to the germs of infectious diseases.

Constipation is dangerous for anybody. Nujol is safe for everybody. It does not affect the stomach and is not absorbed by the body. Medical authorities approve Nujol because it is so safe, so gentle and so natural in its action.

Nujol makes up for a deficiency of natural lubricant in the intestines. It softens the waste matter and thus permits thorough and regular bowel movements without griping.

Nujol can be taken for any length of time without ill effects. Unlike laxatives, it does not form a habit and can be discontinued at any time.

Ask your druggist for Nujol.

FOR CONSTIPATION

TALK ON CANADA IS GIVEN BY SIR GEORGE FOSTER

Subject of Lecture, "Canada, Whence and Whither Tending?"

AT LIBRARY HALL.

Women's Canadian Club Sponsors For Statesman's Visit.

"I am just going to give you an old-fashioned family talk about ourselves," said Sir George Foster, Canada's outstanding public speaker, before a capacity audience in the auditorium of the Library last night. "By ourselves, I mean this Dominion, this combination of peoples who have stumbled into a wonderful heritage. We as Canadians are not paying enough time to our constitution—we are too busy with our mines and our electricity," said Sir George.

Historical Sketch.

"After the discovery of America, many wars played a part in its history, wars which were struggles between the two great nations of the day, France and England. Then, about 165 years ago the northern part of the continent fell under the sovereignty of Great Britain. No serious challenge of authority or status took place. Then followed greater changes step by step, and today we have the Canadian constitution and status.

"If these had taken place all at one time there probably would have been a revolution, but as they happened they left no impression or absolute result on us. We at first gained direction of our own affairs, which is known as responsible government, then we went on gradually gaining our fiscal affairs, levying our own taxes and making our own laws.

"Then came Confederation, about sixty years ago. Four provinces united to form the Dominion of Canada. Gradually these four took in other provinces, and to-day we have nine provinces. On assumption of Confederation matters changed again, our steps became more prominent, we became the dominant factor in making our own treaties in matters in which we were concerned. Also we were given a right to adhere in the treaties Great Britain made. In the course of time came the Great War in which Canada took her place and did her duty in a manner which showed up her people and her men. Following the war, our Prime Minister sat with the first ministers of the other nations. Canada assumed and was granted a place equal in nationhood, equal in place and status with all the other allied nations."

Sir George pointed out that this last step was very difficult to explain to Canada's neighbors to the south, as she has not absolute sovereignty. "But the constitution of Great Britain was not built on anything that can be understood easily; it grew up and was based on practicability. After the peace treaty Canada took her place at the Council of the League of Nations in exactly the same way as the other fifty-five nations; took the same obligations and is bound to those obligations in the same way as any other nation."

Sir George then asked, "Do you know the obligations? If not, it is not to your credit."

"After the peace treaty Canada entered into an arrangement with Great Britain by which she was given power to send an ambassador to the United States or any other foreign country," stated Sir George. "This brings up an on important point, giving Canada the sole say, and communication with the United States government concerning Canada, and if no British ambassador is at the United States capital the Canadian acts in his place."

Sir George said time had been taken for consideration of this. He does not think that Canada should take the step before consulting the other dominions. There are infinite possibilities of trouble arising on account of the two ambassadors not agreeng. Is such a question that solely affects Canada?" asked Sir George. Therefore Sir George thinks that infinite caution ought to be taken before launching out on the ambassador line.

Remaining Bonds.

"One by one old bonds between Canada and Great Britoin have been laid asided and have disappeared until we have only two remaining left. Our right to appeal to the Privy Council, the highest judicial court in the world, utterly removed from local opinion, and politics. One of the ties which cannot be severed. May it long be kept!" stated Sir George. "The other tie is our common sovereign—the strongest tie at the present time." (Applause.)

Visit to South Africa.

Two years ago Sir George had the pleasure of visiting South Africa and other dominions, and here he had the pleasure of seeing the inauguration of the Earl of Athlone in Basutoland, a country with 750,000 blacks and 1500 whites—a country governed direct from the Crown. The people are a race of warriors and they gathered in thousands to give their allegiance to the King. "What would happen," asked Sir George, "if Lloyd George was their president for a few months, Ramsay MacDonlad for a couple of months and Stanley Baldwin for a while?" There would be no point upon which those eastern people could fix their eyes; their loyalty would disappear and their allegiance would be given to party chiefs. Remove our sovereign and we have struck a most vital blow at the Empire," said Sir George.

Deciding Point.

"We have come to the point in our history where we must decide things for the future. Let us put on our thinking cap. There are three alternatives: First, annexation to the United States, I don't think we need discuss that in Peterboro. (Applause). It is unthinkable and impracticable," stated Sir George. "Secondly, independence, cutting our remaining ties with the British Empire. We must ask ourselves, 'What privileges and securities are to be thrown overboard? What privileges are to be gained?' We are born of the British Empire. Our roots are firmly established in the British Empire. Don't let us drift, let us think, and then I am sure what the result of our decision will be," said Sir George. "Thirdly, stay in and work in the British Empire, which is the only feasible thing to do."

Whence Have We Come?

Sir George compared Canada to some of the planets thrown off from some great body. She has her own orbit, her sun was Great Britain and France. The initial impulse of these two great nations sent her on her own orbit and there she is to-day."

Effect of United States On Us.

"United States is a great country of wonderful progress and development. It is like a vast magnet, it attracts every now and then, and Canadians go across the border. This has always been and always will be," said Sir George, "but we must make up our minds that there are counter magnets possible." Sir George went on to say that the most menacing thing to Canada was the great amount of United States news, journals, picture films and radio broadcasting coming from the States. These go to the most remote hamlets and have their influence on the young, and when they grow up they want to go to that country. "It is our task," said Sir George, "to show the child the achievements Canada has made. Have it taught in the school, in the church and in the press, and in the end it will come to have a love for the country."

"Then again," said Sir George, "we are different both morally, physically and mentally due to climatic conditions. We have not the vast hordes of peoples from the southern climates which we can well do without. Taken all in all, I know not of as fine a climate for the development of great people as this climate. (Applause). We are different in politics. Ours is much better founded and operated. Our legal procedure is different. For the United States the struggle which is recognized to-day is between organized criminality and authority, and so far the criminal has had the best of it. Our problems are not a bit harder to solve than theirs if as hard.

What Shall We Do About It?

"Stop! Look! Listen! The first thing to do that is in our defence is to stop and think. We do not take enough time to think, and thus do not prosper. We must give our young a knowledge of our country's deeds and history. We are not doing it. We should show the flag in Canada. Tell our boys and girls that that piece of silk is even prouder than it appears to be. It symbolizes our struggle for freedom, constitution and liberty, freedom of thought as well as political action. Make in them a type of good moral citizens, and amongst all their gettings let them get wisdom, for Canada is a wonderful country." Sir George said he could go back half his life when all the grain grown on the prairie could be wheeled out in a wheelbarrow. To-day Canada is the second largest wheat-producing country in the world and greatest wheat exporting country. This is just one sample of a multitude of instances. "For history you cannot find another people who has done what the Canadian people has done. Canada ranks wonderfully and excellently high," said Sir George. "But man does not live on bread alone; there comes a period in everyone's life when you feel that there is something within you; that something which is hard to explain, it is the inner conscience which makes towards a feeling of unrest and toward the spiritual. If we keep in our thoughts the moral, the mental, and the spiritual, the fibre of this country of ours will come out alright. Let us be moderate in pleasure and let us devote the right portion of our time towards the moral, mental and spiritual, seeing that we are trustees of a mighty heritage, and let us see that the coming trustees will be able to take hold of our trust and carry it on to the succeeding generations," said Sir George.

A hearty vote of thanks to Sir George was moved by Mrs. Allin, and seconded by Miss Lancaster.

Mrs. Kerr, president of the Women's Canadian Club, was in the chair.

Get back that lost weight!

When you start to waste away to a shadow, when the color leaves your cheeks and your poor, tired legs will hardly hold up your weakened body it's high time you started taking a fine tonic and builder like Tanlac.

Tanlac will build you up and make you feel that life's worth living. Made from roots, herbs and bark gathered from the four corners of the earth and compounded under the exclusive Tanlac formula, Tanlac is just what the poor, starved body needs.

First of all its cleanses the blood stream and puts the digestive organs in order. You find, after a few days' treatment, that you want to eat. Pretty soon the welcome color steals back into your cheeks and the scales tell you that you're gaining weight. From then on it's only a short time until you're feeling fit as a fiddle.

Millions of men and women have taken Tanlac with great benefit. More than one hundred thousand people have written us glowing tributes to this wonderful tonic.

When you know it has worked wonders for so many folks it's folly not to take advantage of Tanlac's help yourself. Don't put it off another day. Get a bottle at your druggist's now and start the good work right away. Take Tanlac Vegetable Pills for constipation.

Gained Health, Strength, Vigor, Weight

"Chronic indigestion made life unbearable for two years. I lost weight and strength and could do no housework. Tanlac put me on my feet. Gained 20 lbs. and now enjoy vigorous health again."

TRUTH VERSUS ERROR.

Many have imbibed the erroneous idea, that God placed our race on trial for life, with the alternative of eternal torture; whereas nothing of the kind is even hinted at. Adam was given to know that death would be the penalty for disobedience. Adam knew nothing about a life of torment being the penalty for disobedience that would come upon him and all his posterity. Eternal torture is no where suggested in the Old Testament Scripture, and only a few statements in the New Testament can be so misconstrued as to appear to teach it; and those are found in the symbolisms of the Book of Revelation, or among the parables and dark sayings of our Lord, which were not understood by the people, who heard them (Luke 8.10), and which seems to be but little better comprehended to-day. Life is God's gift, and death the opposite of life is the penalty God provides, "The wages of sin is death," Rom. 6:23. The severity of this penalty, was not a display of hatred and malice on God's part, but the necessary and inevitable final result of evil. God can sustain life as long as He sees fit, but it would be impossible to sustain the life of evil doers everlastingly; as it is impossible for God to lie; that is it is morally impossible. Life is a gift of God, and it will be continued everlastingly only to the obedient.

The Female Voice Choir were pleasantly entertained recently at the home of Mrs. MacFarlane, Gilchrist street. During the business session, a letter was read from St. John's W.F.B.C. asking the choir to repeat its concert for the class, and this was agreed to my the members.

First prize for selling tickets for the recent concert were won by Mrs. A. Murray, who sold 29 tickets, Mrs. J. Woolgar coming second with 27 tickets sold. Both ladies received boxes of chocolates.

A musical programme followed, including vocal and instrumental selections by Mrs. Buchton, Mrs. A. McKinley, Mrs. M. Brearley, Mrs. J. Woolgar, Mrs. C. Cheu, Mrs. S. F. Jackson, Master H. McFarlane, Miss A. Barton, Miss Cooke, and a quartette comprising the Misses Burwick and Murray, and Messrs. Gardner and McKinley.

Dainty refreshments were then served and a vote of thanks to the hostess moved by Mrs. M. Brearley. Mrs. R. Bugg then thanked the members for their hearty co-operation and assistance in the concert recently put on in the G.W.V.A. Hall.

NICKAWA GIVES FINE READINGS FOR ROTARIANS

Indian Elocutionist Delights Local Club With Her Numbers.

"HIAWATHA" GIVEN.

Nickawa Scores in Splendid Reading From Longfellow's Poem.

The members of the Peterboro Rotary Club were given a most unusual treat at their weekly luncheon to-day when Frances Nickawa, the talented Indian elocutionist, entertained them by three splendid readings.

Miss Nickawa possesses a personality full of charm, a voice that is the epitome of music itself and a rare dramatic fire that makes her work wonderfully impressive, and her numbers at to-day's luncheon will long be remembered by the Rotarians. She is to give a programme at Trinity church and her audience to-day will welcome the opportunity of hearing her again.

Before commencing her readings, the Indian elocutionist, who was accompanied by Miss Riley, who has had her in charge since she was three years old, expressed the gratitude she owed to the Rotarians of Australia, who had "launched her canoe on the broad river of Australia," and made her visit to that country a great success.

Her first number to-day was "Canada," and this was followed by a dramatic poem by Pauline Johnston, with "Hiawatha's Wooing," from Longfellow's 'Hiawatha,' as the concluding reading. This number was at the request of several of the Rotarians, and was a masterpiece. Miss Nickawa not only gave every note of the music of Longfellow's lines, but she also presented striking pictures of each of the characters of the poem in a manner impossible to anyone but an Indian elocutionist.

A vote of thanks proposed by Rotarians A. L. Killaly and Dr. M. A. Morrison, was enthusiastically passed and Miss Nickawa was presented with a box of hocolates by Rotarian John Crane.

On motion of Rotarians V. J. McElderry and W. R. Morris, letters of thanks will be sent to the Rotary-Annes for their splendid support, to the Toronto Rotary Club for its entertainment here last week, and to Mr. Vaux for his travel talk and Madame Farnum and Miss Agnes Logan for their music at the ladies' night entertainment.

Rotarian Fletcher announced six prizes for a ticket selling competition in connection with the Rotary concert he is arranging for early next month.

CANCELLATION OF LICENSES PROPOSED

Drastic Action To Stop Hotelkeepers From Violating Laws.

TORONTO, Mar. 16 (Canadian Press)—"We have been trying for some time to get the hotel keepers of the province to stop evading and violating the law, but without much success in many cases. It is now our intention to cancel every hotel license following conviction under the Ontario Temperance Act, unless the conviction be for a mere technical offence."

The above statement was made by James Hales, K.C., chairman of the Ontario License Board, when he announced today that the Board has cancelled the standard hotel license of 20 hotels, 12 in Toronto, five in Hamilton, and one each in London, Kitchener and Whitby.

The Board has also recommended to the Attorney-General that the permits to sell 4.4 beer granted these hotels be revoked. The board has power to cancel hotel licenses, but only the Attorney-General can revoke the permits to sell beer, Mr. Hales pointed out.

OBITUARY.

MRS. CATHARINE O'CONNELL.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Catharine O'Connell took place on Monday, March 15, from her residence, 587 Armour Road, to the Church of the Immaculate Conception, where a large number of friends had foregathered to assist at the impressive funeral services which the Catholic Church employs to honor in death her faithful children.

Solemn requiem mass was celebrated by the pastor, Rt. Rev. Monseignor McColl, assisted by Rev. J. Guiry, as deacon, and Rev. Gerrard Maher as sub-deacon. The choir sang the appealing Latin burial chants in a very devotional manner.

The honorary pall-bearers were: Messrs. J. C. Sullivan, John Corkery, Sr., David Conroy, J. J. Duffus, Edward Conroy and James Lynch.

The pall-bearers were: James Murty, P. J. Grady, J. P. Finn, John McAuliffe, Fred Hurley, Redmond McAuliffe.

The chief mourners were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. O'Connell and daughter Olive, her son, James S., her four daughters: Sister St. Catharine of St. Joseph's Community, Mary at home, Elizabeth of Ottawa and Marguerite of Toronto.

The remains of the late Mrs. O'Connell were reverently laid away in the family plot in St. Peter's Cemetery. The service at the grave was conducted by Rev. J. Guiry of the Immaculate Conception Parish.

IN MEMORIAM.

HAMLIN.— In loving memory of our dear son, Clayton, who passed away March 16, 1925:

The blow was great, the shock severe,
We little thought his death so near.
The silent grief that's in our hearts
No human life can trace,
For many an aching heart is
Hid behind a smiling face.
The golden gates were open,
A gentle voice said come,
And farewell words unspoken
He calmly entered home.

SINCLAIR REPUDIATES BRACKIN AND PINARD'S LIQUOR AMENDMENT AS CONTRARY TO LIBERAL POLICY

Opposition Leader Says His Two "Wet" Followers Are Creating Discord in the Liberal Party—Both Interested in Liquor Business, Sinclair Points Out.

TWO LIBERALS ARE REPRIMANDED.

Pinard and Brackin Helped to Create the Liberal Policy Which They Abandon Without Consulting Their Party—Raney's Campaign Fund Bill.

TORONTO, March 18 (Canadian Press).—The Ontario Legislature yesterday afternoon saw the Liberal leader reprimand two of his followers to such a degree that they will probably not in the future be members of the party caucus.

W. E. N. Sinclair read a statement of his position with respect to the attitude taken by R. L. Brackin (Liberal, West Kent) and J. A. Pinard (Liberal, East Ottawa) who were the mover and seconder respectively of the amendment to the budget Tuesday, which proposed Government sale and control of liquor. He declared that neither of them could be recognized as speaking for the Liberal party in the House on the temperance issue.

Following Mr. Sinclair's statement Mr. Brackin asked the Premier if, as mover of the amendment, he had the right to speak again. Premier Ferguson assured him that he had. Mr. Brackin then stated that he would deal with the matter at a later date when he would have some repy to make to the leader of the official Liberal party. Mr. Pinard was not in the House.

Creating Discord

After pointing out that both J. A. Pinard, who moved the adjournment Friday, in order that Mr. Brackin might speak, and Brackin, took an active part in forming the temperance policy of the Liberal party, Mr. Sinclair declared. 'They have chosen to create discord in the ranks of the Liberal party in his house by abandoning and denouncing the policy they created without consulting the Liberal party who adopted their policy and platform of 1919. They have a right to their individual opinion on any questions. They do not speak for the Liberal party when they speak and act as they have done in debate. The honorable member for West Ottawa is the recognized financial critic of the Liberal party. It was his right to move and speak first, folowing a custom in vogue here for years.

"The financial critic in the budget debate speaks for official Liberalism. I spoke in the debate on the address and expressed the view of official Liberalism upon the O.T.A. until a convention of Liberals pronounce otherwise.

"I will go further and say that no member of the Liberal party in this house, while he conducts a business in another province which by law is illegal in this province, as does the member for East Ottawa, nor no member of the Liberty party in this hohse who holds a retainer as solicitor for distillery interests, as does the member for West Kent wil be recognized as speaking for the Liberal party in this house upon the temperance questions.

"Members of all parties in this house will regret the episode which has occurred and will discounteance the effort made to disrupt this legislature on a question which thoughtful men wish solved by careful thought and disinterested parties.

Mr. Raney's Bill.

The other feature of the session was the debate on W. E. Raney's bill, which would amend the election laws to prevent contributions by breweries, distilleries, and other such bodies to party election campaign funds. The bill was given second reading, and then sent to the committee of the House on election law. In support of his bill, Mr. Raney said he did not oppose campaign funds as such, because he realized that there were legitimate expense to be met. Several times the Conservative benches rose in opposition when he attempted to state that the liquor interests had financially supported their party in the last provincial elections.

John Jovnt (Conservative, North Huron) objected to being placed in the position whereby it was insinuated that he was receiving funds from the liquor interests. Mr. Raney replied that he would have a

German League Supporters Disappointed By Failure

BERLIN, March 18 (Canadian Press). — The prevailing opinion in Reichstag circles is that while the Communists and Nationalists will make the Geneva failure the occasion for unseating Chancellor Luther and Dr. Stresemann, such efforts are doomed to failure. The parties represented in the present Government coalition are determined to uphold the delegates' course and can count in this on the full support of the Social-Democrats.

That there is general disappointment in the pro-league circles in the Reichstag cannot be doubted, but the Government parties, as well as the Socialists, acknowledge that the Chancellor and his Foreign Minister did the best possible under tremendous difficulties. It is realized that the League of Nations is still in its infancy and needs much experimentation and reorganization before it can become a fruitful instrument for international pacification.

Italian Press Skeptical About Value Of League

ROME, March 18 (United Press). — The Italian press is almost unanimous in reiterating its skepticism regarding the usefulness of the League of Nations.

One section goes so far as to suggest bluntly that the League be disbanded because it is nothing but a "colossal falsehood or a machine which will make wars."

The conclusion invariably drawn is that the spirit of Locarno is dead. It is emphasized that while Italy signed the Locarno treaty, she was never completely convinced of the soundness of these pacts.

HOUSEHOLD GOODS FOUND BURIED AFTER HOME DETROYED BY FIRE WM. SMYTHE CHARGED WITH ARSON

Farmer Near Bethany Committed For Trial By Magistrate Floyd.

PLACE INSURED.

Neighbor Followed Tracks in Snow—Constable Uncovered Articles.

(By a Staff Reporter.)

BETHANY, March 18. — At the preliminary hearing here yesterday before Colonel W. H. Floyd, of Cobourg, Senior Magistrate of Durham County, William Smythe was committed for trial, without bail, on charges of arson and concealing.

W. F. Kerr, K. C., of Cobourg, appeared for the Crown, and Joseph Wearing of Peterboro, represented Mr. Smythe.

About 100 neighbors and residents of Manvers gathered in the Town hall before the hearing commenced.

Deputy Fire Marshall Charles Cowan was the first witness called for the Crown. He stated that he had seen the defendant on December 15, last, in Cobourg, at which time he had obtained a written declaration from him. In the declaration Mr. Smythe had said that he was at home on the day of the fire. About 9.30 in the morning he had gone to the woods, 500 yards from the house, to peel pine logs. Around 11.35 he left the woods for dinner. When about one third the way home, he saw a blaze coming out of the chimney of the house. He ran, and when he rushed into the house it was filled with smoke. He found Mrs. Smythe in the parlor putting some small things in a valise to save. She told him the stove had been act' "kind of queer" all morning, and, as the butcher was late in the morning with the meat for dinner she had opened the dampers to hurry the fire. When she noticed the chimney on fire she tried to use the phone to call John Fallis, a neighbor, but the bell would not work. The last time it was used was on the day previous, and then a couple of screws had to be loosened by Mr. Smythe to make it work. As soon as they got the things into the valise they start-

NOW, HONESTLY—

If it weren't for conductors, we wouldn't have any street cars.

And, if we didn't have any street cars, a lot of us would have to do a heap of walking.

That's reason enough, in itself, for being a bit considerate when passing judgment on the man who takes your fare.

Maybe he DID seem a bit grouchy this morning—which proves that he is human. Perhaps you happen to be in good spirits, and his attitude looks all wrong.

But, how about the people who pai' fares ahead of you? Betcha some of them irritated him.

Council Judicious About Railway Says Mr. Hall

The Mayor and City Council are to be commended for the cautious and judicious course they are taking in connection with the proposed purchase of the street railway. They are doing well, in getting at the facts, the cause of failure by the present operators, and ascertaining why, in their skilful hands, its rolling stock and equipment is now only fit for the junk heap.

The Hydro representative is reported in The Examiner as saying: "The hydro lacked the money to put the system in proper shape and "as a result all the equipment has been allowed to run down," and he is also reported as saying: "That $65,000.00 spent on the railway would put "it in good condition so that a surplus of $14,000.00 a year over operating "cost could be made. The Hydro had no money for this purpose and "would likely stop operating the line if the city did not take it over."

Ontario Government Real Owner

Now the real facts are that the real owner of the street railway is the Ontario Government and the Hydro Commission is only its manager and like any other manager can be discharged at the will of the owner and ample funds are in the control of the Government to put this railway in first class shape without feeling the expenditure any more than our local member would the posting of a one cent circular.

If the present manager of the street railway, the Hydro Commission, is sincere in telling the Council that a profit of $14,000.00 can be made by expending $65,000.00, then why, in the name of common sense, does it come to the Council to sell, under the threat of closing down, if the city will not buy?

Black Eye to Public Ownership

The confession of failure on the part of the Hydro Commission is certainly frank and is a brutal black eye to public ownership.

In the hands of private owners this railway paid its way but ever since it has come under the management of the chief apostle of public ownership its losses have become greater and greater, its equipment worse and worse and its bankruptcy deeper and deeper.

If a change is made from the management of the chief apostle of public ownership, to that of one less experienced, then it follows that failure will come surer and faster and $65,000.00 will be lost.

What Are City's Rights in Wreck?

But what is to become of the wreck? What would be the rights of the city if a private owner made such a failure? The Ontario Government bought out a private owner and succeeded to its rights. The present owner can have no higher rights than the former private owner. The Mayor and Council would therefore be well advised to have the City Solicitor carefully consider the franchise under which the railway is operated and the rights of the city in the event of failure and act accordingly.

Bus Line Service

It is safe to say that a bus line service can be established under private ownership that will give the public better service, more frequent service and more widely extended service throughout the whole city than has ever been obtained in the past and without the risk of one dollar of the taxpayers money to boot.

The Hydro Commission as a street railway operator has been weighed in the balance and found wanting. It is a self confessed failure and its advice should not be heeded.

Expensive Gas

Its failure as an operator of the gas plant is as complete, but not so dramatic. Its service of gas is expensive and is a real burden to many of our citizens. Here again public ownership is a failure. The extent to which the ratepayers are soaked through this agency is not known. It would be interesting if the City Council would ask for and obtain a copy of its financial statements showing its assets and liabilities, its receipts and expenditures and profit and loss account for the years 1925, 1924, 1923 and 1922, and for the year 1917. It is a safe bet, that they are so discreditable to the Hydro Commission that the City Council can not obtain them. These statements would certainly show that this gas plant has been wastefully and extravagantly managed.

Public Wonders—Confessed Failures

It is over ten years since the Hydro gods were given a hearty welcome to this city. They came as public utility wonders. They are now beginning to depart as self confessed failures and the quicker the better. They found this city growing and prosperous and from the moment of their arrival, this city ceased to grow. They robbed this city of its water powers and unless this city moves firmly and quickly and secures the remaining water rights, they will take away the small birthrights we have left.

LOCKOUT ORDER IS WITHDRAWN BY EMPLOYERS

Million Men Would Have Been Affected By Order.

SEVEN UNIONS.

Have Been Trying For Two Years To Get Wage Increase.

(By C. T. Hallinan, United Press Staff Correspondent.)

LONDON, March 18 (Canadian Press). — Lockout notices which would have thrown 1,000,000 men in the engineering trades out of work and created tremendous havoc in Great Britain will be withdrawn by the employers it was announced tonight.

The withdrawal is a victory for the employers, for the announcement was accompanied by the statement that the 900 striking employees of the Hoe Printing Press Company would return to work; their "unofficial" strike had prompted the entire employers to post the lockout notices, effective tonight.

Te lockout involves seven strong unions which for two years have been trying to obtain an increase in wages amounting to approximately $5 a week. The unions are the Amalgamated Engineering Union 132,000 members; United Pattern Makers' Union, 10,000 members; Electrical Trades Union, 15,000 members; Workers' Union, 64,000 members; National Union of General and Municipal Workers, 201,000 members; Transport Workers' Union, 150,000 members, and Brass and Metal Mechanics 14,700 members.

These unions have almost 500,000 members, and there are another 500,000, including foundry workers, boiler makers and steel workers, who, while not locked out, would be made idle by the closure of the various factories and plants.

CHAMBERLAIN IS ATTACKED BY LONDON PAPERS

Opposition Press Trying To Bring About His Downfall.

VOTE OF CENSURE.

Rumored That House May Be Asked To Pass Criticism.

LONDON, March 18 (Canadian Press).—The discussion of Sir Austen Chamberlain's mission to Geneva will be the feature of next week's session of the House of Commons, and it is possible, although this has not yet finally been determined upon, that a vote of censure may be moved against him. In such a case present indications are that the Foreign Secretary would be saved by the big Conservative majority. There are rumors that he may forestall an attack upon him by resigning his portfolio, although these seem to be based on speculation.

The anti-Government press is making every effort to bring about the political downfall of Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, who, with Premier Briand of France is declared to be the author of the Geneva collapse.

RETURNED MAN DIES OF BEATING

Calgary Stockmen Held For Murder—Two Men and a Woman.

SORDID AFFAIR.

CALGARY, Alta., March 18. — (Canadian Press).—Beaten into insensibility in his own room in a local rooming house at midnight on Monday, allegedly by Robert Johnson, a stockman who accused him of trifling with his wife, Joseph H. Brown, 28, a returned soldier, died in the hospital last evening.

Johnson, who was arrested yesterday, will face a charge of murder.

The love of the two men for a woman is said by the police to be responsible for the crime, and the details which led up to the death of Brown are said to be the most sordid that the police have been called upon to investigate for many months.

PLATINUM FIND ON SLAVE RIVER ONLY PROSPECT

Victoria Syndicate Begin Drilling on Gold and Silver Claims.

ESTABLISH CAMP.

Newspaper Man's Story By Wireless From the Far North.

EDMONTON, Alta., Mar. 18 (Canadian Press) — A staff correspondent of the Edmonton Journal, who has made a special trip to the scene of the reported gold and platinum find on the Slave River near Fort Smith, sent the following wireless despatch from Fort Smith, North West Territories:

"With the arrival of the Victoria syndicate on its group of claims on the Slave river and the commencement of drilling preparations the work of proving up the silver and gold ground staked last fall by Dunn has commenced. The company has erected buildings and the camp facing the Caribou Island on the east bank of the Slave River presents a busy appearance. A second group of claims staked by the Dunn interests situated about two miles east of Fort Fitzgerald is a later development. This second staking has caused local people to take active interests with the consequence that the river front is now staked for many miles.

"Many rumors as to the future developments are floating around, among them being statements that the second group of claims are to be prospected by the British Columbia Smelters, Ltd. Another rumor is to the effect that the steamer Athabasca has been chartered on its first trip to carry 150 tons of supplies and machinery into the workings. No samples of ore are to be obtained.

Platinum A Prospect

"The company officials, on being interviewed, scout the idea of a platinum find and generally have nothing to add to previous statements that it is only a prospect. The lead occurs between a limestone granite contact, is being strapped crosswise by the company and is stated to be 300 feet wide.

"While many rumors have arisen regarding a platinum find it appears that the location of this, if true, is known only to Dunn and his associates. The rumor arose through samples of platinum having been exhibited by the latter to various people at Fort Smith. It is also rumored that a third company is arraging to come into the field at the opening of navigation. The local excitement still remains alive, with continuous staking going on. A few have arrived from McMurray and Edmonton for this purpose."

Utilities Commission Replies to Mr. Hall

March 18, 1926.

Editor of The Examiner:

Sir.—Mr. R. R. Hall points out that the revenue from domestic and commercial light has increased, and he blames the Utilities Commission.

He also points out that the revenue from power has decreased, and he blames the Commission.

If the revenue increases, he is is dissatisfied; if it decreases, he is dissatisfied. It would be hard to please Mr. R. R. Hall.

Regarding the cost of electric power to factories, take a couple of illustrations.

One manufacturing company used during 1925 an average of 137 h.p., and they paid for it $2,046.89, which is at a rate of $15.07 per h.p. per year.

Another manufacturing company used an average of 131 h.p. per month and paid $2,172.60, at the rate of $16.58 per h.p. per year.

The average h.p. used by power users in 1925 was 4,031.6 h.p., for which they paid $66 498.04, or at an average rate of $16.49 per h.p. per year.

There is no estimating of guess work about these figures, they are from the actual use of power and the actual payments made by the users.

Regarding domestic light: of course when more electricity is used for this purpose more will be paid for it. In 1919 the amount sold for domestic light was 1,378,472 kilowatt hours. The revenue was $46,282.34, or at a rate of 3.3 cents per kilowatt hour. Last year there was sold for domestic light 3,459,943 kilowatt hours, and the revenue was $86,940.36, or at a rate of 2.5 cents per kilowatt hour, being .8 cents less than in 1919.

In 1919 Mr. R. R. Hall paid $33.15 for the electricity for his house, and in 1925 he paid $28.66.

In 1919 the amount sold for commercial lighting was 1,207,218 kilowatt hours, and the revenue was $27,616.40 or at a rate of 2.2 cents per kilowatt hour. Last year there was sold commercial lighting 2,486,909 kilowatt hours, and the revenue was $49,882.92, or at the rate of 2 cents per kilowatt hour, being .2 cent less than in 1919.

But let us have a further comparison. The Peterborough Light and Power Company charges before the system was taken over by the city were 7 cents per kilowatt hour for domestic light, 10 cents for commercial light, and $20.00 to $45.00 per h.p. per year for power. Comparing these rates with the charges made for these respective services in 1925, the following savings are shown:

		Saving.
Domestic light, 3,459 943 k.w.h. at 7c	$242,196.01
Actually paid in 1925	49,940.36
		$155,255.65
Commercial light, 2,486,909 k.w.h. at 10c	$248,690.90
Actually paid in 1925	49,882.92
		$198,807.98
Power, average 4,031 h.p. at $20.00	$80,620.00
Actually paid	66,498.04
		$14,121.96
Total saving to the people of Peterborough in 1925		$368,185.59

And that is counting that all paid $20.00 per h.p. to the company while some paid more.

Industrial conditions have not been good during the past few years, as everyone knows, and it does not help the City to get new industries by having misrepresentations published by a man of the standing of Mr. R. R. Hall.

Yours truly,
E. F. MASON,
Chairman, Peterborough Utilities Commission.

SHED BURNED IN BAD BLAZE

ON GILMOUR STREET.

At 3.20 p.m. yesterday a call was sent in from 455 Gilmour Street, the home of J. J. Strickland. A shed and summer kitchen right at the back of the house had caught fire in some mysterious way, and before it was noticed the fire had gotten a bad start. The department received many calls of this all at once, and when they got there the flames were shooting up 15 feet in the air. Although the kitchen is right against the house, and a garage is close beside the shed, no damage was done to the garage or house. The shed is a total wreck, and the kitchen badly blackened.

MURDER VICTIM HAD RIBS BROKEN

Autopsy Reveals Terrible Beating, Leaving No Sound Ribs.

MAN IS HELD.

WINNIPEG, March 18 (Canadian Press).—The inquest into the death of Annie Cardno, found brutally murdered in her home on Tuesday afternoon, will be held to-day While no official statement was issued by the authorities, it was said that Dan Proskiw, with whom the woman had lived for ten years, and who is held pending the result of the inquest, had made a statement admitting that he struck the woman.

An autopsy performed on the body of the woman to-day revealed that every rib in her body had been broken in the beating she received.

WITNESSES SAY DEPUTY BEATEN BY ABDUCTORS

Eight Eye-Witnesses Testify at Trial of Alleged Murderers.

MAULED ABOUT.

Forcibly Abducted By Four Men—Driver Says He Was Alone.

CHIETI, Italy, March 18 (Canadian Press).—That the Socialist Deputy Matteotti was mauled about and struck on the head and forcibly abducted by four men in an automobile driven by Amerigo Dumini, was testified yesterday by eight eyewitnesses of the kidnapping. These witnesses were placed on the witness stand by the prosecution at the trial of the five alleged slayers of Matteotti, whose body was found in a shallow grave near home two months after his disappearance.

Dumini, who was born in St. Louis, Mo., yesterday testified that he, unaided, kidnapped the anti-Fascist Deputy, and that Matteotti died in an automobile from hemorrhage brought on by fright.

MORE BUILDING IN PAST MONTH

February Total For Canada Shows Gain of 54 Per Cent.

MORE THAN JANUARY.

OTTAWA, March 18 (Canadian Press).—There was an increase of 54.2 per cent. in the value of building permits issued in February, 1926, as compared with the preceding month, and of 20.8 per cent. over the corresponding month of last year. The reports were tabulated from sixty cities which had authorized buildings valued at $7,104,343. The total for January, 1926, was $4,608,688, and for February, 1925, $5,879,858.

RECEPTION HELD.

A very enjoyable evening was spent recently at the home of Mrs. Fowler, 282 Dalhousie Street, when a reception was held in honor of her eldest son's marriage, which took place on Wednesday, March 3rd, at Trenton Ont. A dainty luncheon was served to over 30 relatives and friends. The bride and groom were the recipients of many handsome presents, which included a substantial cheque from the bride's parents and two pieces of silver from the Duffus Motor Sales, where the bridegroom is employed.

CLUB HELD SOCIAL.

Members of Keo Club Celebrated St. Patrick's Day.

The "Keo Club," of the George Street United Church, with friends to the number of about forty, held an enjoyable evening at "The Paragon."

The first part of the evening's programme was spent in playing some old time games, after which a grand march was called, giving every person an opportunity to become acquainted.

The executive of the club had arranged a most appetizing menu, which would cause even the Prince of Wales to have pleasant dreams.

The second part of the programme was taken up with dancing, there being numerous novelties introduced during the intermissions, such as balloons, hats, etc., all bearing on the St. Patrick's Day. Also two musical hits of the season were ably sung by two members of the club.

Mr. and Mrs. Lillow, father and mother of this organization, along with Mr. J. Kenmuir, acted as patrons, adding a great deal of jolly moments during the evening.

Charles Sedgwick provided the entire score and here everyone was pleased, as he was encored again and again.

However, good things cannot last forever, so finally the usual benediction was rendered by the pianist and every person started homeward feeling well satisfied with the entertainment.

Love all, trust few.

VALUATORS NAMED

Three Men to Prepare Report on Equalization of Assessment.

LINDSAY, March 18.—(Special).—A special meeting of the County Council as the Standing Committee on Equalization and Assessment was held in the Court House on Tuesday afternoon for the purpose of appointing valuators. Twenty applications were received. Considerable discussion took place relative to the number of valuations selected to perform the work of assessment equalization. An amendment in favor of the appointment of four valuators was voted down, three only being appointed. These were Messrs. A. E. Tiers, Fenelon Falls; Henry Jackson, Lindsay; James Graham, Sebright.

The valuators commence their work on June 1, and present their report at a session of the County Council in January, 1927.

OBITUARY.

MISS SARAH MATCHETT

BETHANY, March 18.—On Monday evening there passed away after only a few days illness another aged resident of the village in the person of Miss Sarah Matchett, who was in her 87th year.

For almost thirty years she had made her home with her sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Robt. Johnston. She was a staunch and faithful member of the Methodist church, having given her heart to God in her early girlhood. She was a charter and also a life member of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist church, holding different offices in the society. She was a member of the Ladies Aid, always willing to do her share of whatever was to be done and a constant attendant at the Sunday services. Never was she more happy than when she was in God's house.

She was very bright and active and had a splendid memory up to the very last. Her sister, Mrs. Rachel Staples, broke her hip a little over a week ago, making it necessary for her to be removed to Ross Hospital, Lindsay. At that time Miss Matchett was apparently quite well and was very smart on her feet. There is only Mrs. Johnston left of the trio of sisters and to her and Mrs. Staples the sympathy of the community goes.

The funeral service was held on Wednesday afternoon from the United church.

MRS. JAMES ROSS.

NORWOOD, March 18. — Mary Ann Robertson, wife of the late Jas. Ross, passed away on Wednesday morning at the home of her son. Mr. Alex. Ross, lot 3, con. 8, Dummer.

The deceased who was 82 years of age, was a member of the Norwood United church.

She leaves to mourn her loss one daugher, Mrs. Edward Martin, of Dummer, and two sons, Messrs Alex and George Ross, also of Dummer. She is also survived by one sister, Mrs. Gardner of Dummer, who has reached the advanced age of 103 years.

The funeral will be held from the home of her son, Mr. Alexander Ross on Friday afternoon. Interment will be made in the Norwood cemetery.

HOLSTEIN MEN HELD MEETING

Community Breeding Was Subject of Interesting Address To Club.

GOOD INFORMATION.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18. — (Special).—The Campbellford Holstein Breeders' Club held the monthly meeting in the Ferris Block on Saturday afternoon. The attendance was below normal, due no doubt to busy times on most farms, but the breeders who passed up this meeting missed something worth while, in the way of new ideas and useful breed information.

P. B. Nelson, vice-president of the club, and one of Northumberland's leading Holstein breeders, gave an interesting and instructive address on "Community Breeding." It is a recognized fact that a district having practically all the cattle of uniform type and breed is in a better position to supply the market than one where a buyer has to travel miles to visit scattered herds. Mr. Nelson stated that the Campbellford district was pretty well established on a community breeding basis, in so far as its grade Holsteins were concerned. This district has become known to buyers all over Canada, as one place where they can procure a carload of good grade Holsteins of right type and good producing qualities without travelling far, and so keep down expense. One buyer remarked to Mr. Nelson that if the local pure-bred owners had done nothing else than supply the bulls which had helped build up these splendid grade herds, they had done something worth while.

Going on to the subject of the partnership and community ownership of herd sires, the speaker stated that here was room for many differences of opinion. Some men objected to taking cows very far for service, preferring to keep a cheaper bull. One man who did not mind expense in this connection is G. A. Brethen of Norwood, who on two occasions took valuable cows to Brockville and Montreal for service to outstanding sires. If a company of four or five men would put together the money that each pays for an ordinary bull, the total would buy a bull of outstanding merit, and the progeny would be of far greater value. Then again a real good sire match in this way to four or five or more herds would have a far larger list of heifers to prove his worth and so increase his value, than if he were owned privately and only used on one herd.

There were obstacles in the way of successfully carrying out a scheme like this: the question of distance, that of feed and care, also disease. Only tubercular-free cattle could be admitted in a club where some members had accredited herds. Contagious abortion would have to be guarded against as the ravages of this disease would undo all the benefits derived from the use of a better sire. The item of distance was a big factor. In the case of a club buying a high-class bull for use on only the highest class cows in the district, a truck could be used, but the easiest way for a start would be a company of a small number of neighboring breeders.

The idea of community breeding was only in its infancy, but had much to commend it, and a great deal could be gained by the careful and conscientious building of a good community breed.

Richard Honey, president of the club, stated that he was heartily in favor of anything that would give the district better bulls. He had always tried to buy the best herd sire obtainable, regardless of price.

Mr. Honey intends to go to the West this summer on a visit with his nephew, Charles Thurston, of Regina, one of Canada's leading Holstein breeders and showmen. While he is away, anyone wishing the services of the club will notify P. B. Nelson.

Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly Going To Anglican Church.

OSHAWA, March 18. — Special. —Rev. R. T. C. Dwelly, assistant curate of St. George's Anglican Church of this city, announced yesterday that he would leave Oshawa the latter part of April for Young's Point, which is situated north east of Peterboro on Stoney Lake, to take charge of the Young's Point Anglican church, succeeding the Rev. E. W. Gardner.

Rev. M. Dwelly has been curate of St. George's church here for the past two years, assisting Rev. C. R. Depencier, and was ordained after coming to Oshawa

ST. PATRICK SOWED FAITH IN IRELAND

Sermon By Rev. C. J. Phelan at Campbellford.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18.—Services in commemoration of the natal day of St. Patrick were held on Wednesday morning in St. Mary's church, when Rev. Father Phelan celebrated high mass and delivered an eloquent address on the patron saint of Ireland.

St. Patrick, said the speaker, had sown the seeds of the faith in the fruitful soil of Ireland, and Ireland had remained true to the faith in days of adversity and prosperity alike he was the messenger sent from God. What Moses was to the Israelites of old, St. Patrick was to the Irish nation.

It mattered little where this apostle was born, as he belonged to the whole world. After an early life of adversity he prepared himself for his apostleship and went to Ireland to labor and to conquer, preaching the joyous tidings of peace, glory and good will. His work was well done, and the people among whom he labored remained true to the faith.

"Let us give thanks to God," concluded the speaker, "for the blessings that have been bestowed upon us and so conduct ourselves as to be worthy children of St. Patrick. If we do this all will be well with us."

ANNIVERSARY OF BETHANY CHURCH

Congregation of St. Paul's is Preparing for Celebration —Fifty Years Old.

BETHANY, March 18.—The congregation of St. Paul's Anglican church is making preparation to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the opening of the church this summer. It is the intention to have the interior of the church all newly decorated. Last fall a furnace was installed and two years ago a gasoline lighting system was installed. The members of the church may well be proud of their achievements.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Friday afternoon in the Town Hall with ten members and two visitors present.

After the regular opening and quota of business the ladies decided to hold a social evening sometime after Easter. A committee of the following ladies was appointed to plan a programme for the occasion: Mrs. Thorndyke, Mrs. Waram, Mrs. Rowan and Mrs Price.

The ladies of the Women's Missionay Society are holding a home-made cooking sale on Saturday, March 20th, in the basement. The ladies are anxious not to have too large a deficiency in their missionary giving this year. Having only eleven month to reach their objective and having a number of their active members ill, it has been an unusually hard problem for the officers to face.

ROYAL BANK ROBBED.

$47,000 From Nassau, Bahamas, Branch.

MIAMI, Fla., March 18 (Canadian Press). Miami police were asked yesterday to keep a sharp watch for robbers who Tuesday night were reported to have robbed the Royal Bank of Canada at Nassau, Bahamas, of $47,000.

British authorities at Nassau reported they believed the robbers would attempt to escape to the Florida mainland in a speedboat and also asked the co-operation of the United States coastguard.

TEN CENTS A POUND.

OTTAWA, March 18 (Canadian Press)—A delegation from the magazine publishing Association of Canada yesterday interviewed Premier King, members of the Cabinet, and leaders of the Conservative and Progressive parties and urged the imposing of tariff of 10 cents a pound on all periodicals and weekend magazines entering Canada from the United States. Consideration was promised.

ORGANIST CHOSEN FOR CHRIST CHURCH

Henry Rosevear, of Toronto, Engaged By Music Committee.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18—The music committee of St. John's United church, of which Dr. H. O. Richardson is chairman, has engaged Henry Rosevear of Toronto as organist and choir leader to succeed R. T. Cowell, who resigned that position some time ago after nearly six years of successful service. Mr. Roseevar has been chosen out of a list of over 40 candidates and has officiated twice at the organ since sending in his application. He came to this country from England five months ago and has been living in Toronto. He brings with him from his native land the highest testimonials as to his ability as an organist and leader. He was head of a choir of 50 in the last position which ch held in the old country.

W.M.S. SERVICE HELD AT WARSAW

Reports of Work Done and History of Society Given.

WARSAW, March 18.—The United Church Women's Missionary Society held its annual church service on Sunday evening. The officers of the society, with Rev. H. B. Herrington, were on the platform. The choir had special missionary music and Mesdames Herrington, Taylor and Hawthorne sang "He Needs You." Mrs. Robert Moore, the President, had charge of the service. Mrs. Thomas Cooper read the Secretary's and Treasurer's reports and then a short history of the society in Warsaw.

It was begun here thirty-four years ago with a membership of 11, three of whom are still members, namely, Mesdames E. Sneider, Lazarus Payne and Robert Somers. The first two are life members. Rev. Mr. Lewis was pastor at the time and Mrs. Lewis was one of the members. Other members have either moved away or been taken from this world. There are now 22 members. For some years the W.M.S. has aimed for one hundred dollars over expenses to give to missionary work. At the last monthly meeting they had only about half the amount. The Treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Edwards, said she had faith it would come yet. By the time the thank-offering came in last night the one hundred dollars was reached with nearly ten to the good.

Mrs. George Taylor read a selection dealing with each one's personal responsibilities, and Mr. Herrington spoke of the needs of and for missionary work.

Roads Are Bad.

The roads are very bad. Two loads of logs upset Monday evening on the boundary, near Mr. T. Crow's gate, and will likely stay about where they are. Two loads of hay were upset on the road between Douro Church and Warsaw, and three loads of logs that did reach Norwood had caused a lot of trouble. The teamsters say, "No more this year."

Women's Institute.

The Women's Institute held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday of last week. Bad roads and illness made the attendance quite small. However, there was a short discussion on gardening, and Mrs. Herrington gave a paper on "The Art of Housekeeping." She pictured two homes, if one might call them so. One was a beautiful house with beautiful floor, walls and furniture, but the whole family, and even guests, remained in the kitchen, ate from cracked and broken dishes. When callers came they were received in this place, and during the call were invited to come and see her "room," but it was a terrible thing even to put a foot inside that room. One Sunday her husband lay down on the sofa, but was not allowed to remain. Another house was used, but everything was always in disorder, anything and everything was dropped just where it was used last. Choose either of these; both were houses, neither were homes, she advised. Good housekeeping meant homemaking, and nothing in the house should be too good to use with proper care. Things should be pretty and durable, and the family encouraged to find its amusements at home, in a house of which they were not afraid. There should be order, of course; disorder becomes unsightly and causes a great amount of extra work.

CAMPBELLFORD NEWS.

Weekly Meeting of St. John's Epworth League.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18—The Young People of the Epworth League of St. John's Church held their weekly meeting on Monday evening at eight o'clock. Thomas Craighead was chairman of the meeting and Miss Nettie Forde had charge of the programme. Miss Mytle Forde gave an interesting reading and Carl Maguire sang a solo. Rev. Mr. Elliott then gave a short address and the young people played several contests at the close of the meeting. Thre "White" side are still ahead in attendance.

Mr. and Mrs. George Lucy entertained the Sunday School choir of St. John's Chuch at a skating party on Tuesday evening. After skating was over the choir repaired to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lucy where a social evening was spent.

Campbellford Personals

Mrs. Robert McDonald entertained a number of ladies at her home on Front street on Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Daly are spending a few days in Peterboro this week.

Ms. Claude Hankinshon of Rochester, N.Y., arrived in town this week to see her mother, Mrs. S. J. Abernethy who is critically ill.

Friends of Mrs. Bert Ferguson of Toronto will be sorry to know she is ill in the Toronto General Hospital and will wish her a speedy recovery. Mrs. Ferguson lived in Campbellford for some time while Mr. Ferguson was employed on work at the Hydro.

Master Billie Pearce, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Pearce, met with a painful accident on Saturday when he broke his arm while skiing on Gibson's Hill.

Mrs. George Osterhout and Miss Violet are spending a couple of weeks in Niagara Falls visiting friends.

Milton E. Maybee, M.P., spent Saturday in town.

Mrs. John L. Hoover and Miss Nellie Hoover leave this week for Orillia to spend some time with Mrs. Thomas L. Church. Mrs. Hoover has been in very ill-health all winter.

chance to debate the issue before the bill passed.

Major Alex. Lewis, Toronto, stated that he had been in politics for years and was in a position to dispute Mr. Raney's assertion that the members of the house were fully aware that the liquor interests contributed to party funds. Col. J. A. Currie (Conservative, Toronto) thought that Mr. Raney was out of order, and stated that the legislature should not be turned into an experience meeting. Several of the other members of the house also pleaded ignorance of such contributions. Mr. Raney replied that if members wished to state their ignorance of such contribution, that was their privilege, and urged that the legislature be done with all this hypocrisy. Mr. Raney stated that one side was not worse than the other, and recalled that before 1914 the Liberal party was charged with being the paid friend of the liquor interests.

Restored Patronage.

Premier Ferguson stated that the charge was that the Liberals made assessments on the liquor interest.

"Perhaps so," replied Mr. Raney "but I might recall by way of comparison, that the present Premier, while in Opposition, promised to restore the patronage system if elected, and he did so."

"If you mean we have appointed men to public office that we can trust, I say Yes," said the Premier.

"The same thing in other words," said Mr. Raney, who contended that the influence of the liquor interests was so great in the Witney Government, that the license board had resigned after two months of office.

Replying, Premier Ferguson said that he agreed that something should be done to keep election campaigns clean, but after 30 years' experience, he did not think that public life was as black as Mr. Raney painted it, and suggested that the bill should go to the elections laws committee. Mr. Raney said he had no objection to such action and the bill was given second reading, and sent to the committee.

NORTH MONAGHAN'S POLICY.

The North Monaghan Council has decided that any able-bodied man applying for charity who refuses to accept work will be summoned before the police magistrate.

That is a policy with which little fault is to be found.

The average man who because of unemployment finds himself in a tight corner does not want something for nothing; he would infinitely prefer to take a job than to accept charity.

Such citizens who are in need of help will appreciate a chance to work for the money they need for their families and for themselves.

Only the impostors will have any complaint to register against the North Monaghan policy, and against them the system will prove an effectual safeguard.

The individual who refuses to lift a hand so long as he can secure enough charity to keep him going is going to think twice about applying for help when he faces the two alternatives of having to work or else appear before the police magistrate.

The North Monaghan Council has dealt with this problem in a most business-like manner.

TRANSPORTATION PROBLEMS.

The conference between the Hydro-Electric Commission and the City Council in regard to the street railway problem did not result in any material progress being made, except that it was developed that should the city fail to take over the system the commission will cease operations.

Public opinion is strongly opposed to the suggested purchase.

The citizens do not believe that the city should take over the system, and that being the case, the Council should lose no time in discussing a course of action to be followed in the event of the Hydro Commission carrying out its threat to suspend the operation of the street railway.

Will the city grant to a private company an exclusive franchise for a term of years to operate motor buses here?

That is one course that is likely to arise, with an alternative policy of a civic-owned motor bus line.

Failing these plans, will Peterboro be left without any adequate transportation system.

These are questions that will have to be considered by the Council, and considered earnestly and immediately.

A SMALLER CABINET.

Necessity is not only the mother of invention, but it sometimes is the parent of very material benefits.

Thus the rather tight corner in which the Government of Hon. Mackenzie King found itself after the last election has resulted in the reduction of the Cabinet to fourteen members, a development that will be appreciated by those who have maintained that the Federal administration has hitherto contained many more Cabinet Ministers than were essential.

The difficulty of securing safe seats for new Ministers has driven the Government to cut down the ministerial staff, and the general opinion will be that such a course is along sound lines.

Canada, with a population of fewer than nine million people, has had more Cabinet Ministers than the United States with over 116,000,000.

There have been more than were necessary, for it is obvious that a number of departments can be doubled up under one Minister without interfering in the least with the efficient transaction of public business.

The changes that have been made will decrease the cost of government to a slight extent, and a trial of the smaller Cabinet should see results comparing most favourably with those achieved by the larger organization that itherto has been considered necessary.

THE HOCKEY CHAMPIONSHIP.

The reverse sustained by the Peterboro hockey club in the first game of their Allan Cup series with Toronto University has not decreased by the slightest degree the enthusiasm of their fellow-townsmen in the splendid feat of the team in capturing premier honours in the Ontario Hockey Association.

As the schedule for the Allan Cup competition worsk out it is manifestly impossible for the champion O.H.A. team to compete on equal terms against the Intercollegiate winners, whose schedule is a short one, and finished in time to allow the college champions a long rest, while, on the other hand, the O.H.A. titleholders, worn and exhausted by the steady grind of the group race and the playoffs, are called on to play without any time to recuperate.

For these conditions nobody in particular—and least of all the Varsity team—is to blame, yet it seems scarcely a fair test.

It should be possible in these days of artificial ice rinks to avoid such a strenuous Allan Cup schedule.

Under the old conditions it was necessary to play the game as rapidly as possible in order to be sure of ice, but with artificial ice arenas available there is no longer need of such haste.

A week's rest, following their O.H.A. campaign would have given the Peterboro team a much better chance to cope with the Intercollegiate winners.

However, there is no use bemoaning the conditions; the Peterboro team has made a wonderful record this year in winning the O.H.A. honours, and if they pass out of the picture tonight their admirers have the satisfaction of knowing that they went down fighting gamely against heavy odds.

BLACK EYE FOR MARRIAGE.

Monday night's Times-Journal contained an interesting advertisement (they're all interesting for that matter any night of the week) calling attention to the merits of Somebody's gas stove, says the St. Thomas-Times Journal. The astute copy-writer got busy with paper and pencil and figured out how many meals a woman would cook in the course of a long married life. In something like fifty years it was calculated that she would cook 51,465 meals, the assumption presumably being that she would cook three times a day for herself and her family. That may be a fine advertisement for gas cookers, but it is a poor advertisement for marriage. The individual who could work out a calculation like that in cold blood never had any amours in his life. Fancy a man who has looked into melting eyes or squeezed a velvety hand at the pictures callously reducing marital companionship to vulgar fractions of that kind. As if there were not enough fractions in married life without them!

Cupid must surely have wiped a tear from his eyes when he peeked at his Times-Journal last night looking for the wedding announcements. Just think how romance would be busted if Sybil and Cyril, instead of figuring out how they can get along on bread and cheese and kisses in one room and a kitchenette, doped out how many times socks will have to be mended, how many times the floor had to be washed, how many hats wifey will need in fifty years at an average of fifteen dollars per, how many dresses must be bought at an average of umpty-nine dollars each, how many bottles of Eau de Cologne and boxes of face powder will have to be paid for, and a whole lot of other how manys. Marriage would simply flunk.

But cheer up, girls! The creature who wrote that "ad" is a misogynist and forgot all about how handy women are nowadays with a canopener.

A CRUSADER FROM CANADA.

Of special interest to Canadians is the announcement from London that Miss Christabel Pankhurst, the once militant leader of the suffragette movement, has been invited to run for a seat in the British Parliament, and has indicated her willingness to do so. For the past two years, Mrs. Pankhurst, the Grand Old Woman of the cause that was, some years ago, such a disturbing factor in British politics, and Miss Christabel, have made their home in Canada where, except for occasional appearances on the public platform, they have lived more or less in retirement, taking a keen interest in their surroundings and winning many friends, but content to remain in the background of public affairs.

It appears, however, that for reasons of health Mrs. Pankhurst has been compelled to return to the scene of her former activities: and, back among her old suffragist friends, she is described by a London interviewer as alert and full of mental vigor as ever, conscious that her powers as a publicist are failing, yet aching for an opportunity to exercise them on behalf of her sex. What, on account of her age and health, she is unable to undertake seems likely to fall to the lot of the younger and more active Christabel, whose return to England has been hailed by the champions of women's rights as a preliminary to her reentry into the political arena and her restoration to the leadership of the feminist movement.

We read that at a dinner of the Six Point Group—whatever that may signify—Miss Christabel was the guest of honor of quite a distinguished company of representative women, conspicuous among whom were Viscountess Rhondda, described as "Britain's most successful business woman," and Lady Astor M.P. The former announced that Miss Pankhurst's return marked the beginning of a campaign to secure, once and for all, equal political rights, and suggested that a seat be found in Parliament for the guest from Canada. Lady Astor not only cordially endorsed the suggestion, but chivalrously offered to give up her place in the House of Commons to Miss Pankhurst who, however, while intimating her willingness to seek parliamentary honors, declared, in the spirit of a true crusader, that she herself must win them.

The picturesque incident furnishes a striking illustration, not only of the transformation which has taken place in the movement for political equality of the sexes, but of the change of methods on the part of its leaders and champions. A little more than a decade ago, the gates of Westminster, through which Miss Pankhurst is now sweetly invited to pass as a recognized reformer, seeking election by constitutional means as a representative of the people, were besieged by an army of "shrieking sisters" who fought with policemen, wrestled with stalwart Guards, made cockshies of members of Parliament and assaulted Cabinet Ministers in their frenzy to gain access to the House of Commons and assert what they claimed as their rights.

In those riotous scenes of pre-war days, forming part of a campaign of lawlessness and outrage, which became well-nigh intolerable and seriously damaged the cause it was designed to promote, Miss Christabel Pankhurst was a militant and impressive figure. She was the incarnation of the suffragette spirit, an effective speaker and a gifted writer who, with voice and pen, preached, with almost fanatical zeal and enthusiasm, the gospel of an aggressive feminism.

But times have changed, and with them the methods and status of the petticoated emancipators. What the sham-fights staged in the vicinity of Big Ben, and the hysterical campaign of destruction conducted in other parts of the country, lamentably failed to do, the realities of the war in large measure accomplished. In the throes of the European conflict the suffragettes vanished, but their cause triumphed. The right to vote inevitably carried with it the right to representation, and woman's place in Parliament has become an accepted and acceptable feature of constitutional and democratic government.

If, as Viscountess Rhondda proclaims in dulcet tones, the battle of emancipation has not yet been completely won, it is safe to predict that the campaign about to be launched to attain the final victory will be along lines different from those pursued in the past; and in that campaign none is better qualified to play a prominent part than the talented and subdued Miss Christabel Pankhurst, whose lose to Canada will assuredly be the gain of the women of Great Britain, in the political sphere to which she aspires with every hope of success.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The peculiarities of the schedule have resulted in the Peterboro hockey team being "slaughtered to make a student holiday."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

WARNING TO CITIZENS

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Sir.—It has been brought to the attention of the local branch of the G.W.V.A. that there are at present and have been in the past several men collecting money for the Veterans.

I wish to state to the citizens of Peterboro, who have so many times in the past supported this local branch, that we do not recognize any of these people, who are collecting funds or selling subscriptions for various publications, as they have no connection whatever with the local branch, and we will consider it a favor if anyone, who is at anytime approached by any of these individuals, will notify us by phone (141).

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for your valuable space, etc.

I am, Yours sincerely
G. Winterbottom,
President,
Peterboro Branch. G.W.V.A.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

IMPORTANT STEPS

There is no such thing as a made over, second-hand, or slightly used, day. Each day is brand new when it comes to you. It is a brand new factor in your life. You may use it as a beginning or an ending—you may use it for play or for work; but, remembe, when you are finished with a day, there is no laying it one the shelf for future use. It is gone.

CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal Winnipeg

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, March 17.—Business was more active this morning and the undertone to price was somewhat better. About 30 export cattle were resold front $6.50 to $8 a cwt., the latter a steer, 1450 lbs. Butchers' cows were in better supply and the offering was picked up at fully steady prices. One bunch of good cows sold at $5.65 and another lot of eight brought $5.30 a cwt. A choice export steers sold at $8.50 a cwt. and unfinished brought $7 a cwt. A few choice export steer sold at $8.50 a cwt. and good butchers $6.60 to $7 a cwt. An effort is being made to clean up the market today and there will not be much left.

A load of calves is being taken for Buffalo to-day and this stiffened the market slightly. Good to choice calves were 12½ to 13½ cents a pound and good mediums 11 to 11¾ cents. Light calves were 8½ to 9 cents.

There were only a few odd lambs on the market. A deck was being awaited later in the day and it was expected that these would bring 14 cents and probably a little better. Good spring lambs are $15 each and thin lambs $10 to $12 each.

Hogs were dropped to $12.50 a cwt. f.o.b. on Tuesday and this price will hold today, but the packers are hoping to get a price of $12 a cwt. later on larger receipts.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 17 (Canadian Press). — The trade in cash grain in the local market was again slow, the only business reported being a few carltos of oats for all-rail shipment from Fort William. Owing to the advance in premiums for cash oats in the Winnipeg market, dealers here have marked up spot prices 1 to 3 cents per bushel and now carlots of No. 2 Canadian Western are quoted at 62 1-2, No. 3 C.W. at 59, extra feed at 57, and No. 1 feed at 55, and No. 2 feed at 53c per bushel but there has been no change in prices for Quebec and Ontario oats.

A very firm feeling developed in the market for potatoes and prices were fully maintained. There was a good demand and local stocks are about exhausted. A fairly active trade was done in both New Brunswick and Quebec varieties. Prices remain as quoted yesterday.

The firm undertone that prevailed in the butter market yesterday developed into strength today and prices scored an advance of 1-2c to 1c per pound owing to a temporary scarcity of butter here. There was quite a good enquiry from local buyers and any lots offering met with a ready sale. Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery sold at 47c, Western No. 1 pasteurized at 46 1-2, Australian No. 1 pasteurized at 45 1-2 to 46c, and some small lots at Canadian fresh made No. 1 pasteurized creamery at 46 1-2 per

THURSDAY—
Love and Obedience to Christ.

Read Jn. 14:21-26. Text: 14:23. If a man love me, he will keep my word:

Meditation.—Who of us would not give anything he possessed to be sure he would always keep Christ's word. But in each is a divided personality, treacherous, unstable. We cannot trust ourselves to choose the noblest we know, but to us the Master gives the secret of obedience. He who learns to love Him will obey Him. The simple but exacting way to love Him is to practice His way of life and thus to learn how lovable He is. Rewarding friendship takes time. We must do our part, He will always do His.

"Oh to be a living flame for Jesus Christ, so that the uttermost love of woman may be:

'Faint to the flame with which our breast is burning,
Less than the love wherewith we ache for souls'."

Prayer.—O God, Thou flawless intelligence behind the Universe we cry to Thee in our weakness. Help us to sustain the stern discipline by which we who are but incomplete and undeveloped spirits rise to Thy friendship. Reinforce our faltering and sin-enslaved wills that we may love Thee as Thou has loved us and so may obey Thee unto life. In our patience we must win life but without Thy divine patience we shall fail. Leave us not or we perish. Amen.

CHASSIS

This Demonstration is of real value to every person interested in Motor Cars

IT is a rare occasion when the average motorist has an opportunity of having the functions of the many parts of an automobile chassis demonstrated by an expert, using a cut open motor and stripped chassis. Such an opportunity happens only about once a year and should not be passed up. Every motorist should be familiar with the fundamentals of motor car construction. The expert will demonstrate the why and how of all the major motor car parts. For instance, he will explain in detail why the three-point motor suspension reduces vibration noise — why Chevrolet will flash from 5 to 25 miles in less than 8 seconds.

The lecturer, who comes to us direct from the Chevrolet factory at Oshawa, will also explain why the improved Chevrolet incorporates many mechanical features heretofore only found on high-priced cars.

Regardless of what car you drive or are interested in, this Chassis Demonstration will be a real education.

No Boiling — No Rubbing
Just Rinse with Rinso

A package of Rinso is a package of miniature soap bubbles.

You simply dissolve for 25 seconds the tiny bubbles in hot water, soak the clothes a couple of hours, or overnight, rinse them well in clean water and—that's all.

Result—clean, sweet-smelling clothes, hours of time saved and the hand work changed to just rinsing.

Rinso dissolves the dirt, you rinse it out.

You will never know how easy it is to do the washing until you've used Rinso, the greatest time and labour saver the housewife has ever known.

LAST OF $200,000 FRUIT COMBINE FINES NOW PAID

No Steps Yet Taken To Appeal Conviction in Vancouver Case.

HAVE THIRTY DAYS.

Nash Company May Discontinue Broker-Jobber System of Business.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 18.—(Canadian Press).—Payments of fines aggregating $200,000 imposed last Saturday on four individuals and companies convicted of conspiracy in the handling of produce was completed yesterday, when $50,000 was handed over to J. F. Mather, registrar of the Supreme Court.

No steps have been taken to appeal the conviction. The defendants have thirty days from the date of conviction to file notice of appeal.

J. C. McRuer, Toronto, who prosecuted for the Crown, has returned from Victoria, where he conferred with Attorney-General A. M. Manson on matters pertaining to the expenses of the trial and the position of the Crown in the event of an appeal being made.

Should the defendants appeal, Mr. McRuer intimated that he will cross-appeal for heavier sentences and will press for terms of imprisonment on the Nash officials, but will not ask for conviction of seven Nash employees and 38 Nash companies.

Four Charges Remain.

Four charges based on section 498 of the criminal code on which the fifty-three accused were to be tried by a Supreme Court judge without a jury, will be traversed to the next assizes if the convicted defendants appeal. Otherwise the Crown proposes to enter a stay of proceedings.

In Victoria, Mr. McRuer was met by growers and a delegation of growers from the mainland proposing to meet him here before his departure on Friday for the East.

Nash officials have under consideration a proposal to discontinue the use of brokerage houses. They think that the verdict was aimed at the broker-jobber relationship. In place of brokerage houses, the Nash organization is considering the opening of purchasing agencies and handling produce on a purchase instead of a consignment basis.

BRAZIL FORCED GERMANY'S TEMPORARY EXCLUSION

GENEVA, March 18 (By Associated Press).—In addition to crystallizing the movement for changing the methods of choosing members of the League of Nations Council and perhaps of altering the structure of the League itself, the break-up of the League meetings in Geneva delays the coming into force of the Locarno security accord. Article X. of that treaty, negotiated last October, provides that it shall not enter into force until Germany has become a member of the League.

It was at Locarno that final provisions were made for Germany's entry into the League and for her elevation immediately afterward to the permanent council seat to which it was agreed her size and importance entitled her.

The extraordinary sessions of the assembly and council just concluded were called for the express purpose of fulfilling the Locarno agreement with regard to Germany's election to the League and Council membership.

Poland's Claim.

In the discussions preliminary to the Geneva meetings, however, a strong movement, backed vigorously by France, developed in favor of enlarging the council still further by granting Germany's neighbor, Poland, a seat in the council. The situation was then further complicated by demands from Spain, Brazil and China for permanent Council places.

Germany objected to the move for enlargement, declaring it would be a breach of faith on the part of the Allies to invite her to council membership and then counterbalance her vote by the addition of others. Action on her admission to plain League membership was held in abeyance, while the Allied statesmen attempted to swerve her from this position. She received staunch support from Sweden, whose youthful Foreign Minister, Osten Unden, declared he would under the unanimity rule veto the election of any nation to council membership other than Germany.

A deadlock developed, which appeared to be broken by an offer from Sweden and Czecho-Slovakia to sacrifice their non-permanent council seats, thus leaving the way clear for the election of Poland and one other power. Germany was agreeable to this suggestion, but the matter was again brought to a stand still by Brazil's declaration that she would veto Germany's elevation to permanent council membership unless she herself was elected at the same time.

Brazil Obdurate.

The powers, with the European end of the squabble satisfactorily in hand, argued in vain with Afranio Mello Franco, the Brazilian delegate, and finally a note of appeal was despatched to the Rio Janeiro Government to recede from its position in the interest of conciliation and harmony.

It became apparent, however, that the reply would be in the negative and the decision was taken to postpone Germany's election until September. Germany's delegates, her Chancellor and Foreign Minister, agreed to this course.

Senhor Mello Franco's declaration before the Assembly Wednesday that his orders were final and irrevocable, clinched the decision and a motion for postponement, introduced by Sir Austen Chamberlain of Great Britain, was adopted.

LOCARNO PACTS ARE UNSCATHED

British Foreign Office Finds Some Consolation in Abortive Session.

LEAGUE STANDS.

LONDON, March 18.—(Canadian Press).—The British foreign office, viewing the wreck of the present session of the League of Nations, finds consolation in the fact that the Locarno agreements came through unscathed and that the world has had another demonstration of the principal European nations settling differences among themselves.

That the league still stands as the only alternative to European wars is the concensus in Downing Street. It is maintained that the breakdown came through the inability of a non-European power to meet the European nations in the same spirit of conciliation that resulted in at least a temporary solution of the problems which a week ago seemed unsurmountable.

As far as Foreign Secretary Sir Austen Chamberlain is concerned, his friends realize that he will return home to face the bitterest criticism over the delay in Germany's entry to the league. His defense will be that the Geneva breakdown came about because the Brazilian delegate was under irrevocable instructions such as those with which the opposition in the House of Commons wanted to bind Sir Austen himself before he left London.

Woodsworth Minimum Wage Proposal To Committee

OTTAWA, Mar. 18 (Canadian Press). — The proposal for a Federal law on the minimum wage, introduced in the House of Commons on Monday by J. S. Woodsworth, Labor member for Winnipeg North Centre will be considered by the committee of the Commons on international and industrial relations. When debate on the resolution would refer the question to this committee for investigation and report. Yesterday Premier Mackenzie King made a motion in the House to this effect. In accepting the motion, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen ironically remarked that the whole resolution presumably became a Government motion instead of a private member's motion.

There was no further debate.

Omemee Man Kicked by Cow He Was Dehorning.

OMEMEE, March 18.—Mr. William Skuce of Omemee suffered a serious injury on Friday. While dehorning cattle at the home of William Casey, one animal threw itself, and in the struggle kicked him above the ankle and fractured one of the smaller bones. Mr. Skuce did not think the accident was very serious at first and was able to walk to the house unassisted. Toward evening, however, it became more painful, medical aid was summoned and the bone was found to be broken.

REDUCTION IN TAXES HINTED BY FEDERAL MINISTER OF FINANCE CANADA'S PER CAPITA TAX LOWER

Hon. J. A. Robb Promises Some Relief — Compares Canadian Tax With Others.

LOWEST QUOTED.

Each Canadian Pays $66.11; American $67.39; Australian $69.68; Briton $97.12.

OTTAWA, March 18 (Canadian Press).—Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, gave a hint in the House Wednesday, of lower taxes. He hoped, he said, to work out something that would give a little relief to the people. But in what direction he did not indicate.

Mr. Robb cited some comparisons which gave total per capita taxes: in Canada at $66.11; Australia, $69.68; Great Britain, $97.12, and United States, $67.39.

"In other words," said Mr. Robb, "the per capita tax in the United States, the country where they boast much of reduction of taxation, is $67.39 as compared with $66.11 in Canada."

Discussion arose on a motion by T. L. Church, Conservative of North-West Toronto. Mr. Church's motion took up duplication of Federal and municipal income tax and said there was "an urgent demand for reduction of taxation and to restore to municipalities their former exclusive rights and prerogatives" in income tax. The discussion held the House all afternoon, the motion being finally withdrawn.

In 1917, said Mr. Church, the Federal authorities had invaded the privileges of the municipalities by introducing and putting into effect the Federal income tax act. It was hoped, however, that after the war, this form of taxation would be restored to the municipality, but this had not been done. At present there was a Government system of income taxation, Federal and municipal. Eight per cent. of the income tax collected, he stated, was obtained from citizens receiving only a salary.

11 Forms of Taxation.

There were 11 different forms of taxation in operation to-day to collect some $346,000,000. Much of the difficulty at present was due to the failure of the Federal Government, the provinces and the municipalities, to get together and allot the various fields of taxation. Because of the confusion in this matter, Canada was the most overgoverned country in the world. Annual meetings of organizations all over Canada were bringing forth protests against the income tax. The fact that the revenue had fallen rapidly from income taxes, showed either that the rich man was learning how to evade the law or that incomes were lower.

Mr. Church compared the taxation on incomes in Canada and in the United States. An income of $3,000 was taxed $7.00 in the United States, and $40.00 in Canada. An income of $5,000 was taxed $37.00 in the United States, and $126.00 in Canada. An income of $10,000 was taxed $101.00 in United States, and $619 in Canada.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, thanked Mr. Church for having made some kindly references to himself. "If there is any man who requires a little comfort occasionally, it is the Minister of Finance in the Government of the day," added Mr. Robb. He was called upon to provide revenue for every conceivable branch of public expenditure, and at the same time was criticized for imposing taxes. Mr. Church himself had recently pleaded for further expenditure on public works in Toronto and unem-

Ennismore Council Orders Clerk to Prepare Bylaw.

ENNISMORE, March 18.—The second meeting of the Municipal Council of Ennismore was held at the township hall, with the following members present:

Reeve John P. Flood, Councillors Stephen Harrington, Daniel Hickson, Joseph Holland and Thomas Cavanagh.

Mr. Eugene Moloney, Jr., was appointed township road superintendent at a salary of seventy-five dollars.

By full consent of the Council the clerk was instructed to prepare a by-law for the next meeting for the purpose of prohibiting all animals from running at large on all highways in the Township of Ennismore.

The following accounts were ordered to be paid:

James Killen, services as sanitary inspector, $3; Jas. Killen, valuing sheep killed by dogs, $2; William Harrington, Sr., $10; John Killen, $4; Daniel Crough, Sr., salary as truant officer for 1925, $20; Royal Bank, for stamps, $7; Merchants Press, for printing, $21.89; reeve and council for 1 day's service, $15.

CLOTH COMPANY EMPLOYING 213

Reply to the Campbellford Council From Toronto Office of Company.

LACK OF SYMPATHY.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18. — The officials of the Campbellford Cloth Company have addressed a long communication to Mayor Kingston, writing from the head office in Toronto, this communication, being a reply to a letter that was sent to the company following the last meeting of the Town Council. At that meeting Councillor O'Sullivan moved that the clerk be instructed to write the company for a statement which would show whether the Campbellford factory was giving employment to the number of hands stipulated in the by-law which was passed by the Council of 1910 and endorsed by the people, granting the company a fixed assessment of $50,000 on their plant. In this by-law the company agreed to employ an average of 220 hands for 11 months of the year.

In its reply the company complains of the lack of sympathy shown by the Council in taking this action and of the publicity given the matter in The Examiner's report of the proceedings. Reference is also made to the depression in the cloth industry which, it claims, has existed for the past two years or more, and to the difficulties that in that time have been met with by the manufacturers all over the country. In spite of this depression the company says that last year it kept the average number of employees up to 213, only seven below the number stipulated for in the by-law.

This, with other matters, will be dealt with at a special meeting of the Council Friday night.

MOTHER KILLED BY CAR IN DETROIT, GIRL WANTS HER GRANDMA IN NEWFOUNDLAND

Detroit People Will Send Her on Long Trip If There is a Place For Her Wi th Grandparents.

DETROIT, Mich., March 18 (Canadian Press).—If Madeleine Foster's grand-parents want her at Marystown, Newfoundland, there are charitable folk in Detroit who will give the homeless orphan's train fare.

Sadie Baker Foster, her mother, was killed last week when run down by an automobile. The eight-year-old child wants to go back to Marystown, where her grand-parents and one-year-old sister live, and where the Fosters came from some years ago. Mrs. Foster had been working as a waitress. Her husband admitted he was "busted" and unable to do anything for the child.

After Charles Earl, deputy coroner, had taken the body to the morgue Tuesday, Madeleine whispered in his ear, "I want to go to grandma and take mama." He procured a coffin and shroud. All that remained was to get a railroad ticket. The community fund heard of the case, and announced Wednesday it would see Madeleine got back to Marystown if word was received that there was a place for her there.

OMEMEE INSTITUTE

Decided to Start Work at Patchwork Quilt at Next Meeting.

OMEMEE, March 18.—The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Thursday afternoon in the Tannery club rooms. The meeting opened in the usual manner with the president, Mrs. Sloan presiding. A report from the secretary treasurer, Mrs. R. J Cornwall, was given.

Owing to the small attendance very little new business was transacted. It was decided to bring pieces to the next meeting and commence patching a quilt.

A short paper entitled "Three Kinds", was given by Mrs. Cornwall, and a reading by Mrs. G. Hart were the chief numbers on the programme.

and say it plainly, if asked to "try" a substitute for Quaker. That is, if you want real Quaker flavour in breakfast oats.

The only way to get the real nut-like flavour of the oat is to get Quaker Oats. It is developed only in milling the Quaker way. Remember this when you are asked to try "something just as good."

Children delight in this unique flavour. Mothers know that Quaker Oats is best for little folk. Young, active bodies consume as much energy food as grown-ups . . . they need other nourishment for growth. In Quaker Oats they get the energy and body-building elements. It is easily digested . . . yet has the "bulk" necessary to assist regular elimination.

Look for the name and the picture of the Quaker on every package. They assure you of Quaker Oats . . . with the exclusive flavour that has made it the most largely used breakfast cereal in the world. Remember, say "No" if substitutes should be offered.

FARM NEWS AND PROBLEMS

WINTER PRODUCTION OF EGGS VERY PROFITABLE TO FARMER AND IS DIFFICULT TO OBTAIN

Early Hatched Pullet is Most Dependable During Cold Weather.

OLD HENS POOR

Cannot Be Expected To Lay During November and December.

Eggs from his poultry are welcomed at any time of the year by the farmer, but eggs in winter are specially welcome. Winter production when eggs are highest in price is at one and the same time difficult for the inexperienced and profitable to the one who is fortunate to secure it.

For winter eggs the early hatched pullet is undoubtedly the best and this is, the class of layer on which the greatest amount of dependence can be placed. Hens a year old, or older can seldom be depended on for eggs during the months of November and December and they are more or less uncertain in the cold months of January and February. Most pullets will begin laying at from six to seven months of age, while some will not lay to any extent until they are eight or nine months old. A few prodigies will lay at five months and even less, but these are exceptional and no poultryman should bank on having many such birds. At the other end of the scale, few hens beyond two years old give a return in eggs equivalent to the cost of feeding, so that any two-year olds, that are retained should be exceptionally good breeding birds, if they are to prove profitable. Generally speaking, the flock should consist of pullets and yearlings.

Marks of a Good Layer.

When making individual selections, the owner should keep in mind a clear idea of the distinguishing marks of a good layer. In sorting out the pullets, there is little, aside from the breeding of the birds, to be taken into consideration except the shape of the body and general appearance of the pullet. It is well to remember that a good head, a bright clear eye, a more or less wedge-shaped body and an active disposition are more likley to lead to egg production than weakness in constitution, dullness about the head, and a sluggish nature. The laying of many eggs is really hard work for the bird. Designed by nature in a manner fitting her to lay one or possibly two clutches of eggs per annum for the reproducing of her kind, she has been bred and developed by man into a kind of egg producing machine. The strain is severe, and she must be fitted for the job by a constitution which will enable her to consume plenty of feed and take plenty of exercise. So that careful selection does not necessarily mean that the poultry raiser can then rest on his oars and lets the birds do the rest. There are vast differences in the egg production of neighbouring farms in Peterborough. In many cases, the strains are the same, the birds appear of equal quality, the difference in results being largely accounted for by the difference in time and attention paid to their fowls by the various owners.

The Science of Feeding.

Haphazard feeding does not induce high egg production. It is probable that there are more hens too lean to lay than those that are too fat. Heavy layers will eat more than poor ones, and large birds will eat more than the lesser ones—which fact calls on the feeder to watch carefully his flock and estimate the quantity of feed required, by the condition of the birds, and the eagerness with which they consume what is given to them. If a hen gets too fat, the wisest plan is to continue the fattening process, and place her on the market, for such a bird will never become a good layer. Another point which should be carefully watched in feeding is that once a hen has started laying, she should be kept at it as long as possible, for it is easier to keep a laying hen going than to re-start one that has stopped. Hens of general-purpose breeds will eat from seven to seven and a half pounds of grain and mash per month, while the lighter breeds require on an average about one pound less in the month.

Choice of feeds.

There are no set kinds of feeds that should be given, but all should contain a variety of grains, a suitable quantity of green feed, some animal food, grit and shell and an abundance of clean, fresh drinking water. Everything fed to the birds should be clean, sweet, and wholesome, because many of the troubles in the flock during the winter arise from poor feed, that is moldy or otherwise unsuitable for the body of the bird to make use of.

Oats are not satisfactory as whole grain, owing to the percentage of fibre in the hull, but if rolled and fed as a dry mash, they are relished and are very useful. Wheat is best provided it can be fed economically, and corn is useful in the cold weather. Middlings, shorts and low-grade flour are sometimes useful in the mash, but have a tendency to be constipating and must be used with care. Wheat bran is useful for adding bulk to the ration, and because it is more or less laxative, but its nutriment value is not great. Buckwheat is advisable in winter, while barley should not be used without grinding, and in any case is most useful in a fattening ration.

Necessity of Protein.

Special mention must be made of the great necessity of providing plenty of green feed and animal feed. The latter are the most expensive feeds given to fowls, but they are essential on account of the fact that egg production calls for an abundance of protein and for this purpose, animal feeds, such as skim milk, or beef scraps must be given. Milk, when fed to poultry should be sour. It is doubtful if the birds will drink milk during cold weather in sufficient quantities to supply the required amount of protein. Therefore, it may be well to feed meat scraps in addition to such milk as is placed in the poultry house and a common practice justified by results is to add from five to ten per cent. of meat scrap to the mash.

The poultry house of course, has to be built or remodelled long before the advent of winter, but a little attention now and then during the season is called for, to ensure lots of sunshine and air, freedom from draughts, and abundance of litter, giving the hens exercise in getting their food.

No Reactors To T. B. Test In Entire Herd of 31 Head

Dr. Gleason of Toronto has been testing herds in Durham County under the accredited herd system.

Among these is the large herd of pure bred Holsteins, owned by H. I. Seymour, Tenth Line, Cavan. His herd of thirty-one head stood the T.B. Test without any re-acting to the test.

This is the final test before he gets a Government accredited herd Certificate. He has passed the tests clean, a record which few breeders can claim.

HARD TO TELL SEX OF GEESE

Young Ganders and Young Geese Look Very Much Alike.

SOME DIFFERENCES

Farmers who raise geese which they sell for breeding purposes often find it a difficult task to distinguish young ganders from young geese. It is very difficult to make the distinction in mature birds and more in flocks under a year old. As a rule, health and general condition being equal the male is usually heavier of bone than the female and has a very harsh voice with a single tone to the call. The female has a double call. This forms the most obvious distinction between the sexes. In the body of the male the line over the back is slightly higher across the wings than in front or behind them in the female the back line is fairly straight. The female is usually more heavily keeled than the male, and is decidedly fuller in the abdominal region.

AYRSHIRES WIN AT LONDON DAIRY SHOW

Many Trophies Taken Home, Including All Breed Awards.

Last year the Ayrshires succeeded in winning the "Bledisloe Challenge Trophy," the "Barham Challenge Cup" and the "Spencer Challenge Cup." Those wins were considered phenomenal in competition with the big dairy breeds—Shorthorns, Friesians, etc.—and at a place 400 miles away from the home of the breed. This year, however, they have done better. They have won:—

(1) The Gold Medal of the British Dairy Farmers' Association, awarded to the owner of the animal, gaining the highest points in the milking trials. This is the blue ribbon for the best individual cow in the Show.

(2) The Bledisloe Challenge Trophy for the best six all-round dairy cows with the highest points in the milking trials. This trophy has now been won for three years in succession. It is a wonderful achievement when it is considered that all the dairy breeds compete.

(3) The Morrison Challenge Trophy, value 100 guineas, to the owner of the cow to be exhibited at three consecutive London Dairy Shows gaining the greatest number of points at the three Shows according to a scale.

(4) The Barham Challenge Cup, value £50, to the owner of the cow gaining the greatest number of points in the milking trials.

GOOD PRACTICE TO FEED CALVES ON WHOLE MILK

Wean Them to Skim Milk When They're About Four Weeks Old.

WEAN GRADUALLY

Grains Can Be Used To Supplement Milk and Hay.

It is good practice to feed whole milk to a calf until it is three or four weeks old, or until it is well started. After that, wean it gradually from whole milk to skim milk.

Skim milk should be supplemented with clean hay and, if silage is being fed to the cows, a little silage, especially the leafy portions, alfalfa or clover should be kept in a rack, feeding it in small quantities so that the fresh hay can be given each day.

A number of grains can be used for supplementing skim milk and hay. A mixture of equal parts by weight of whole oats and bran with a small portion of oil meal mixed with that is very good. After the calf reaches five or six months of age, the oats should be ground, otherwise a considerable loss will be sustained because the animal will not digest and assimilate more than three-fourths of the oats. A mixture of whole oats, bran, with a little oil meal, is a good one.

A calf under five months chews the oats, mixing the saliva with them, better than if the oats were ground, but after five or six months of age the better way of feeding all cereals is to grind them. The mixture of feed may be kept in a box where the calf can have free access to it, up to the age of six months. After that, it may be well to limit the amount of grain given.

If it is desirable to grow this calf exceptionally well, perhaps skim milk may be supplemented with some good calf meal. Many prefer, however, to feed some skim milk even though it is no more than five or six pounds a day, and then supplement it with a calf meal. If you haven't skim milk, then continue feeding your calf the three quarts daily, or more, if it can be spared, of the whole milk until he is at least eight to ten months old.

Do not feed skim milk from any creamery or from any herd unless it comes from herds free from tuberculosis. Of course, thorough pasteurization will make skim milk a safe calf feed, even though it comes from a diseased herd. The danger in using milk of this character lies in the fact that it is not always thoroughly pasteurized.

Farm Notes

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 18—W. M. Stephens has purchased from Peter Shapter of this town a plot of land inside the town limits, this land adjoining Mr. Stephens' farm in Seymour East. The plot originally consisted of 10 acres, but it is now intersected by streets that take up about two acres. The town assesses the property as farm land, and the annual tax charge is $15. For the present at least, Mr. Stephens will continue to farm his latest purchase.

IMPROVED MOWER PLATES

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 17.—Every man who has operated a mowing machine knows that when the serrated edges of the plates in the bottom of the guards on which the knife runs become worn and dull, the machine will not cut properly and that the draft on the team is increased, no matter how sharp the sections of the cutting knife may be kept. It the mower is to be maintained in perfect working condition it is always necessary to renew these plates several times during the life of the machine and as the plates are fastened to the guards with rivets, the replacing of the old with new ones is a job for a blacksmith and one that costs considerable money.

It will interest every owner of a mowing machine to learn that a new method of fastening the plates to the guards has been invented and they can be fixed in place by simply operating a screw with a punch or an ordinary nail. Any man can make the change and the process does not take more than a few seconds for each guard.

The new plates cost about five cents more than the old kind and are now on sale in Campbellford.

MINERAL DEFICIENCIES

How These, in Both Soils and From Animals, May Be Corrected.

During recent years a great deal of consideration has been given to the possible effects of mineral deficiencies, reducing the vitally and lowering the resistance of animals against abortion, disease and sterility. This seems to be more especially the case in dairy herds which are kept at a high state of milk production, remaining indoors most of the time on a fixed ration deficient in mineral elements, namely lime and phospherous. Run down and exhausted pastures should therefore be rejuvenated by a liberal application of mineral fertilizers in order that grains forage and pasture containing a sufficient amount of minerals may be grown for feed.

In all cases of nutritional efficiency, the nature of the deficiency should be determined and corrected as far as possible. In a general sense the deficiencies can usually be corrected in a herd by liberal feeding of a balanced ration, allowing sufficient exercise and as large a use of liguminous pastures as possible. Where mineral deficiency is presumed to be present, direct benefit may be derived from a mineral tonic to the feed, such as lime phosphate, salt, potassium iodide and sulphate of iron.—C. D. McGilvray, D.C.Sc., Ontario Veterinary College, Guelph.

METHODS OF TESTING SEED CORN ARE BROADCAST BY SEED DEALERS

Germination Tests Are Only Basis Used by Reputable Dealers.

SOME HOME TESTS

Several Simple Ways to Discover Whether Seeds Are Good.

Seed corn this year is reported to be showing low germination, due to weather conditions last fall. Home methods by which every farmer may be sure of the vitality of his seed before he sows it were detailed in a recent radio talk by a representative of the Wholesale Grass Seed Dealers' Association from Station KYW, Chicago, on the program of the National Farm Radio Council.

"Old fashioned doctors used to diagnose tuberculosis by looking at a patient," said the speaker. "Old fashioned farmers tell whether seed is good or not by the same method. But in farming, as in medicine, it is now well understood that opinions formed in that old fashioned way are worthless, because they have been proved to be subject to an enormous percentage of error.

"Where life is at stake, there is no room for errors, and nowadays a suspected tuberculosis case is given a laboratory test. Is there any excuse for sowing seed, which has not had a test just reliable. Good seed do not guarantee a good crop, for many things may happen to destroy the seedlings; but poor seed make it impossible for a full yield to be enjoyed, because no matter how favorable the weather or how good the culture, there will be vacant spaces in the rows caused by the failure of seed to germinate.

"Among reputable seedsmen in this country seeds are dealt in only on the basis of germination tests. Such a test is made by the seller and checked by the buyer, when seeds move in wholesale lots. These tests are made in laboratories, by experts; and every user of such seeds can obtain with them a statement of their germination. A farmer who sows seeds of unknown germination is gambling not only with the money he pays for his seed, but with his land and his labor. He is taking a chance which no one can afford to take.

"The experts who test seeds for purity and germination are called seed analysts, and their is a calling which requires a lifetime of training and experience. They are specialists of a high order, and those who become competent in this work do nothing else. They are employed by seed merchants, and the national and state governments. Their work lies wholly with the seeds which move in commerce, and are subject to regulatory laws. Seeds which are saved by the farmer for his own use, or traded between neighbors, seldom if ever receive a laboratory test for germination. It is possible always to send samples to one's state analyst and get a test; but this takes time and trouble, so that a large proportion of the seed sown by farmers even now is sown without any definite knowledge of its germination qualities, with a consequent loss in yield which must amount to a large figure.

"While no home test can be compared in accuracy and reliability with the work of a competent analyst in a well equipped laboratory, there are simple methods of testing germination which are available to farmers, and which should be used by all means if no better test can be had.

"These methods may be used for

Fig. 2.—Six Strong Kernels.
Fig. 3.—Six Weak Kernels.

any agricultural seeds. But for convenience, I shall discuss their application to testing seed corn.

The Rag Doll

"First the 'rag doll' method. A width of sheeting from three to five feet long, depending upon the number of samples of seed to be tested, and from eight to ten inches wide, is the foundation. The strip is marked lengthwise down the center with a heavy pencil and then crosswise from three to five inches apart, according to the samples desired to be tested.

"The cloth is wet with warm water and laid out on a board or table in front of the ears to be tested, the ears being laid to correspond with the squares. Remove six to twelve kernels from ear No. 1, and place them in square No. 1. Follow the same method with ears Nos. 2, 3, 4, etc., until the squares are filled.

"When the spaces are filled, begin at No. 1, or upper end, and roll up, using a small piece of wood or other substance to roll it over at the start, as this core will give more uniform moisture and germination. If the cloth is properly moistened, the kernels will not slip out. Tie the roll about the middle, or use rubber bands. Place the rolls in a bucket of water where they may remain from two to eighteen hours at convenience. Turn off the water and turn the bucket or box over the rolls, placing a small stick or block under one edge for ventilation. In five days the kernels will be ready for examination and the percentage of germination will be plainly shown by the sprouts.

"The sawdust box germination test employs any box three or four inches deep and about thirty by thirty inches, or any convenient size, according to the quantity of seed to be tested. The box is filled half full of white pine sawdust pressed down to a firm even surface, having been previously moistened. The simplest way to do this is to place the sawdust in a sack and weight it down in a tub of warm water for at least an hour, or better still, over night.

"Rule off a piece of cloth about the size of the box, two and one-half inches each way, and number the squares to correspond with the ears to be tested, selecting seed from the butt, center and tip of the ear on opposite sides of the cob. The square cloth is laid upon the moist sawdust in the box and the edges tacked to the side of the box before the corn is put in place. Another cloth is then laid over it, moistened by sprinkling, and upon this two inches of moist sawdust is filled in, pressing it down firmly. Keep the box in a warm place and safe from any chance of freezing. The kernels will germinate in about six days and the upper cloth and saw-dust may be removed carefully and the samples in the squares examined."

PLENTY OF ROOM NEEDED BY BEES IN THEIR HIVES

In Some Localities Entire Crop is Harvested in Few Weeks.

ADD SUPERS OFTEN

Sometimes New Ones Are Needed Every Three or Four Days.

One big mistake in beekeeping is failure to give the bees enough room in the hive. In some localities the entire season's crop of surplus honey is gathered and stored within a few weeks. During this period it is important that the progress of the work in the supers be closely watched and additional room provided as the bees need it.

The inexperienced beekeeper usually puts on a super of from 25 to 50 pounds capacity during early spring, and gives the matter no further thought until late summer or autumn. If the super is found to be full of honey at that time, it is removed and an empty one put on. Maybe this empty super is added long after there is any possibility of honey storage for that season, and if comb honey is being produced, the sections and foundation are ruined for further use by being on the hives during the season when no honey is being stored.

In a poor season, a single super for each colony may provide enough room for storing the entire crop of honey, but during a good season, if additional supers are not given as needed, the major portion of the crop is lost to the beekeeper simply from lack of storage space.

Provide Enough Supers.

In comb-honey production, the standard supers contain, when filled, only about 25 pounds. During a season of rapid honey flow, such as occurs in favorable years in the northern states, it is necessary sometimes to add another super every three or four days. Several supers may be completely filled with honey before any of it is ripened and sealed, and the hive may have as many as five or six supers at one time. Under such conditions, if the bees are compelled to ripen and seal the honey in the first super before a second one is given, much of the possible honey crop is lost to the beekeeper, the bees being compelled either to swarm or to loaf during the height of the storing season. Such an abundant honey flow does not by any means occur every year, but when it does, the beekeeper should be prepared to take full advantage of the opportunity.

Bees need little attention during the greater portion of the year, but for best results almost daily attention is needed during the few days or weeks known among beekeepers as the honey flow.

Farm Implements

EASIER TERMS

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 18.—The farmer who plans to buy a binder for this season's campaign will find when he interviews the dealer that the price is the same as it was last year and this holds good in the case of all kinds of farm machinery. A binder of 6-foot cut, fully equipped with all the modern appliances, such as a bundle carrier, a pole and transport truck, will cost approximately $250 cash, the farmer who is given cred paying more than this by the amount of interest on his notes. This figure is $11 less than the price of a binder in 1924. All makes of farm machinery offered for sale in Canada are practically the same price, and there is no difference in the terms of payment for customers who purchase machinery on credit.

Terms of Payment.

In previous years, at least before 1925, the farmer who bought a binder was required to pay 25 per cent of the cost upon the delivery of the machine no matter at what season of the year he received it. Under present conditions he can take the machine from the warehouse during the winter and he will not be called upon for the initial payment until July 15, which is about the date he will begin to cut his wheat crop. The object of this concession to the farmers, local dealers say, is to encourage early deliveries and so avoid the rush that always resulted in former years in the delivery of machines just before the opening of the wheat harvest.

The relaxation of the regulations in regard to initial payments has been made in the case of all seasonal farm machinery. Harrows, seeders and all such implements used in putting in the Spring grain, are not to be paid for, regardless of the time of delivery, until April 15, manure spreaders until May, corn cultivators until June, rakes, tedders and mowing machines until July 1. Corn binders that are not used until late in the season, are to be paid for on September 15.

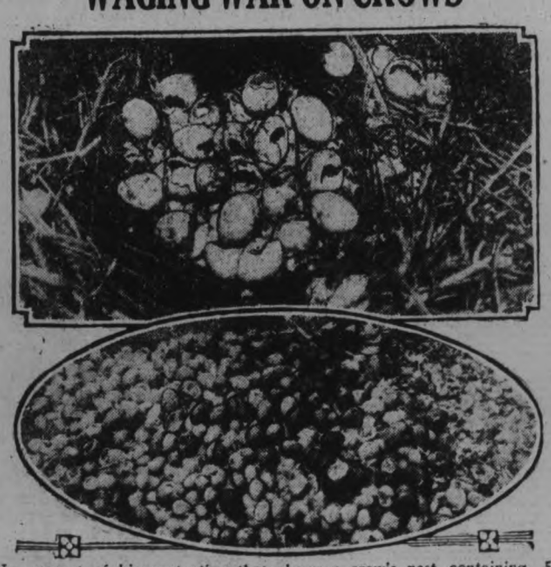
Cash on Delivery.

Cash payment on delivery must be made for feed cutters, cream separators, engines, wagons, grinders and sawing outfits as these machines are supposed to go into commission as soon as purchased.

This year as formerly, cash payment will be required on repairs for all kinds of farm machinery.

The farmer who buys a binder on time must furnish a satisfactory note and he will be charged interest at the rate of seven per cent. If he fails to pay the note on maturity the interest charge thereafter will be at the rate of eight per cent.

WAGING WAR ON CROWS



In support of his contention that the crow is "both a murderer and a robber" and should be decimated in order to protect other species of birds, Jack Miner of Kingsville naturalist, points to the photographs shown above. The upper picture shows a crow's nest, containing 52 eggs of other birds, the contents of which have been fed to the young crows. The lower picture shows a close up of some of the 3000 eggs which Prof. B. H. Warren, Pennsylvania state ornithologist, gathered beneath crows' nests within a week.

CROW FINDS FEW CHAMPIONS AMONG FARMERS WHO UPHOLD JACK MINER'S WAR UPON PESTS

Preys Upon Men and Birds —Compared to Wolf and Wolverine.

DREADED ON FARM

Does Great Damage and is Hard to Kill or Frighten.

CAMPBELLFORD, Mar. 18—The crow is not musical and adds nothing to the melodious happiness of the world or to the gaiety of the nations. He is a predatory bird that does not get his living honestly preying as he does on man and feathered creatures. Like the wolverine and the wolf he is gifted with an almost uncanny instinct that makes him almost the equal of man as a strategist. Why then should the crow find so many apologists at this time when Jack Miner has started a campaign for his extermination?

Every farmer who raises corn—and these days there are few who do not—knows and dreads the crow, recognizing that bird as the worst enemy he has in that field of endeavor. The crow tears up the corn as soon as the stalks appear above the surface and all the schemes that the farmer can devise to save his crop are circumvented by the wily black rascal. The farmer takes his gun and after a patient lying in wait manages to secure a dead crow. He hangs this carcass from a pole in his corn field as a warning to the survivors of the fate in store for those who disregard the property rights of others.

So little effect does this warning have that the surviving crows have been known to gather around the body of their dead comrade as if holding a session of mourning over its untimely end. Whatever may be lacking in the make up of the crow, neither cowardice nor a want of love of its kind can be included in the list.

The scare-crow, too, has failed to keep these pests away from the farmer's cornfield. No matter how terrifying the lay figure may be made to appear, in a short time it is nothing unusual to see the crows roosting peacefully on the outstretched arms or upon the head of the object that was erected in the hope that it would keep the tribe of ebony thieves at a safe distance. Planting poisoned kernels of corn through the field may get an occasional crow but the survivors carry on as usual.

Hard to Kill.

Only the most expert hunter can get close enough to a crow to take its life. The members of this feathered tribe are apparently able, by the sense of smell or otherwise, to locate a man with a shot gun before he gets within range and then the crows, with caws of defiance, make for the highest pinnacle available.

Craft, the corn grower realizes by this time, must be met with craft, guile with guile, in dealing with this menace. Let Jack Miner, who has made a life-long study of birds and their habits, do it. The average farmer is disposed to hold in light esteem any service the crow may render agriculture by making war on the corn borer if it primal purpose appears to be to destroy the corn crop. It is this purpose that the farmer is most anxious to thwart. Placed on trial in Northumberland County, the crow need expect nothing but stern justice untempered by anything like sentimental mercy.

FROM BAILIEBORO, TOO

BAILIEBORO, Mar. 18.—The question of whether the crow is a nuisance to the farmers or not, is without doubt a question which can be answered in the affirmative. Without a doubt there is no other bird that cases the busy farmer so much trouble as does the noisy crow. Many of the farmers in this district have stated that there ought to be a bounty paid for exterminating the crow, or a trap used similar to the trap that Jack Miner uses for destroying these birds, but as yet the only means for doing away with the pesky bird, is to steal up and shoot it while it is trying to seize a chicken from the hen yard, or to lay behind a fence and shoot them while they are eating the newly sown corn.

The farmers of this district have tried every device to keep the crows from destroying their corn patches. The plan of poisoning a number of kernels of corn and sowing them with the good seed has destroyed the crows which molest the corn field to a certain extent. Other farmers claim good results from sprinkling their seed corn before sowing with a solution of coal oil, and by so doing the corws will not eat the corn. The old rustic scare-crow has long since been pronounced a failure to frighten the crows.

The crow is also very detrimental to the birds, by destroying their eggs and young birds, while the loss to the farmers annually caused by the crows destroying and carrying off their chickens is immense. One farmer residing a short distance from the village, coming suddenly upon his chicken coop last spring found a crow busily engaged in pulling the chickens out through the wire meshes that provided a supposedly protected yard for them.

The crow is very sly and at times becomes really bold, and when one considers the damage done by the crow to the chickens and water fowl, as well as corn patches almost completely destroyed by crows, it would be very difficult to estimate the loss caused by the crow annually.

GOOD LECTURES ON FARM STOCK

Care of Fowl of All Sorts Discussed at Warsaw—Talk on Horses.

BARNS VISITED

WARSAW, Mar. 18—At a special day devoted to poultry, Mr. Snider spoke on breeding in the morning, and in the afternoon on color and feeding. He handled his subject well, and was able to sustain interest. He spoke only on hens. One of the other lecturers, in speaking of all animals on the farm, mentioned that turkeys should always be fed on fresh ground; also he said that turkeys were subject to tuberculosis and were apt to get it in the barn yards, as there are many more tubercular cattle than people suppose. He considered all milk used for human consumption should be pasteurized.

Dr. Baker, from Picton, held the interest of about sixty men in his talks on horses. He was glad to be asked questions. There were some interesting discussions and those who attended considered their time well spent.

Mr. Saager visited several of the barns to see the stock. He has culled several flocks of hens. He gave his class of boys notes on the types of cattle for marketing; he took the class to Allan Payne's cattle barn to demonstrate the points.

DOING IT RIGHT

"What on earth are you wearing all those coats for?" asked the neighbor.

"Well," was the reply, "I'm going to paint my barn, and the directions on the paint-can say, 'For best results, put on three coats'."

Don't That Beat All

The editor of a farmers' paper, who had been keeping a record of big beets announced at last that: The beet that beat the beet that beat the other beet is now beaten by a beet that beats all the beets. Whether the original beet is the beet that beat the beet, or the beet that beat the beet that beat the beet, we do not know.

LEAGUE COUNCIL STUDIES SENATE RESERVATIONS

Sir Austen Chamberlain Moves That World Court Be Taken Up.

U. S. ADHERENCE.

Date of Preliminary Conference on Disarmament is Set.

GENEVA, March 18. United Press —The League of Nations Council is preparing to-day to examine the United States Senate's reservations to American participation in the permanent Court of International Justice at the Hague.

Sir Austen Chamberlain, the British Secretary, moved that the reservations be taken up this afternoon. League members are convinced that Sir Austen Chamberlain would not have asked the council to consider the reservations unless the British Ambassador in Washington, Sir Esme Howard, had assured him that the State Department would not object.

The convocation of a special conference of world court members to discuss reservations to the United States adherence, was said by the league officials to-day to be the probable plan of Sir Austen Chamberlain.

The council set May 17th for the first meeting of the preparatory commission on the league's disarmament conference. It decided to add delegates from the United States, Germany, Japan and Russia to join the committee of experts which will advise the commission. It was also decided to submit all military matters to a special sub-commisson, including representatives of all the states which participate in the preparatory commission.

A resolution embodying these decisions made no mention of the place of meeting.

BARITONE SINGER AT TRINITY CHURCH

J. Campbell MacInnes Will Sing at Sunday Services.

This coming week-end Peterboro is to be favored by a visit from J. Campbell-McInnes, one of the leading baritone singers on the American continent, who is also a composer.

His rise to fame as a singer has been marvellous, having studied under some of the greatest masters of his time in London, Eng., and Paris, since when he has given recitals in Europe and America, and was lecturer on singing to Schola, Cantorum, New York.

Some of the greatest musical festivals ever held in the British isles, were favored by having him as principal baritone.

As principal soloist he was with the Philadelphia, Chicago and Cleveland orchestras, and assisted as such at the greatest Mendelssohn Choir festivals ever held in the United States.

He has truthfully been described as the First Bach singer in the British Isles.

He saw service over seas during the world war and rose from the ranks to a commissioned officer. When peace was declared he resumed his profession in Canada in 1919.

He will be heard at Trinity Church next Sunday, March 21st, at both morning and evening services.

STINK BOMBS AT IRISH BANQUETS

One Hurled at Dinner Where Baldwin Was Speaking.

ONE FOR PRINCE.

LONDON, March 18 (Canadian Press).—When hundreds of guests leaned forward to hear Premier Baldwin speak at a St. Patrick's Day dinner last night, a spluttering stink bomb was hurled from the balcony, struck the table and bounded to the floor.

Before it could release its full force, it was extinguished by the quick application of champagne wine and soda from the glasses of the diners. Women were greatly frightened, fearing their flimsy evening frocks would take fire. One fainted but nobody was injured. The Prime Minister's speech was resumed.

BOMB FOR WALES.

While the Prince of Wales was attending the St. Patrick's Day banquet of the Irish Club in London last evening, somebody in a passing taxi or omnibus, the Daily Mail asserts, threw into the entrance of the restaurant where the dinner was held, a cardboard box, from which acetylene fumes were escaping. An examination showed the contents included, among other things, calcium carbide and a piece of tarred rope. No damage was done.

GERMANY IS PUT ON COMMISSION

To Study Revision of the League Covenant Concerning Council.

POWERFUL VOICE.

GENEVA, March 18 (Canadian Press)—The decision by the League of Nations Council at its secret session last night to put Germany on the commission which is to study the revision of the covenant clauses concerning the composition of and the methods of election to the council aroused considerable discussion to-day.

The decision was interpreted by many as indicating that the council virtually regards Germany as a member of the League, despite yesterday's adjournment of action on her application for membership until September.

Germany's accentance of representation on the commission is expected, and she will therefore have a powerful voice in any reorganization of the constitution of the League, even though she is not yet a member.

T. H. G. Denne Says Proposed Expansion Would Cost at Least $21,000.

There being a rumor current for the last week that The Peterborough Golf Club were contemplating purchasing considerable additional property and materially altering their constitution, The Examiner today interviewed T. H. G. Denne, one of the oldest stock holders, as to what plans the club had in view.

Mr. Denne stated that he had been approached in regard to the same, and had in fact given to Claude Rogers a proxy in the matter, but on further inquiry he had found that those behind the movement were not buying stock on the same basis as the old stock holders, but were lending the money and taking a mortgage on not only the property to be purchased, but also on all the assets of the present club, and he consequently revoked his proxy.

Mr. Denne went on to say that in his opinion, the club was at present earning its maximum revenue and he was unable to see how the club, in view of the fact that it still had a mortgage on its present premises and had not for some years been able to afford the original investors any interest on their money, could assume the liabilities entailed in an expenditure of $16,000 on additional property and at least $5,000 on improvements that would necessarily follow, not to mention increased cost of upkeep, without so increasing the rates that it would make it prohibitive to a very large percentage of the present share holders, and would in the end result in the holders of such a mortgage owning the Golf Club at the expense of the present share holders.

OBITUARY.

MRS. JAMES DODD.

GLENCOE, March 19. — The death of Mrs. Jane G. Dodd took place Tuesday at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Peter H. Moore, after an illness of twelve days. Mrs. Dodd was born at Peterborough in 1838, and was a daughter of the late Hugh and Grace Given. In 1858 she was married to James Dodd, of St. Thomas. They raised a family of eight children, six of whom are living: J. N. Dodd, governor of Sarnia jail; Mrs. Routly, of Alvinston; Mrs. George Dunning, Miss Emma Dodd and J. Dodd, of Kerwood, and Mrs. P. H. Moore, with whom she lived.

The funeral was held on Thursday to Strathroy cemetery.

DAVID MAHOOD

(Contributed)

A very impressive service was held on March 15 in St. Andrew's United Church conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Gordon, over the remains of the late David Mahood, who died most peacefully on Saturday, March 13.

Mr. Mahood was 59 years of age, son of the late Edward Mahood and Elizabeth Wright. He was born and brought up in Smith township by his Christian parents and always proved a blessing to them.

Twenty-seven years ago he married Margaret Maude Bothwell, which was a very happy union. He was a successful farmer on the second concession of Smith where he always took a keen interest in municipal and religious affairs, taking an active part in the opening of the Lily Lake Sunday School for the benefit of little children whom he loved; he was assistant superintendent, always trying to do his best.

In 1918 he moved to the city where he was engaged in the life insurance and real estate business.

He had been a faithful member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, being ordained elder at the age of 40 years, following in his father's footsteps; but, being a strong supporter of the Union question, believing it to be a means of spreading the gospel to the heathen lands more quickly he severed his connections with the St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, and united with St. Andrew's United Church, in which he had a deep interest, but owing to ill health was unable to do the active work which he would have liked to have done.

His remains were laid in the Little Lake Cemetery. The pallbearers were Messrs. James Finnie, J. W. Fraser, James McDonald, Geo. Walton, F. Hall and J. H. Hart.

He leaves to mourn his loss a sorrowing wife and one daughter, Mrs. Ernest Hart, Hamilton; also three sisters and four brothers, namely: Mrs. G. Ruth, Winnipeg; Mrs. A. Mills, Peterboro; Mrs. A. Hunter, Otonabee; Alexander, of Peterboro; Edward of Smith; Robert of Saskatoon, and John of Elmira.

Mr. Mahood will be missed by a host of friends throughout the city and country, where he was well and favourably known. The beautiful floral tributes showed the high esteem in which the late Mr. Mahood was held.

APPLY FOR PHEASANTS

Farmers in Vicinity of Cobourg Want Eggs to Hatch.

COBOURG, March 18.—A number of farmers in the vicinity of Cobourg are making applications to the Department of Game and Fisheries for hatchings of pheasant eggs. Quite a number of these game birds were raised in this locality last year.

CHINESE GUARDS KILL STUDENTS BEFORE OFFICES

Sixteen Lives Lost in Demonstration of Protest at Peking.

ULTIMATUM REPLY.

Foreign Office Asks For Patience in Settling River Problem.

PEKING, March 18 (Canadian Press).—Seventeen students were killed and sixteen wounded to-day by guards who fired on a thousand students who were demonstrating before the Cabinet offices. The demonstration was in protest against the Government's acquiescence to the ultimatum of the powers regarding the restoration of free communication between Peking and Tientsin and the sea.

Troops are guarding the residents of the chief of the military squad which fired on the students.

Acceptance by the Kuominchun and Fengtian forces of the five demands of the powers with minor reservations appears to have solved the Taku crisis.

The Foreign Office, replying to a memorandum of the powers, while asserting that the commandants of the powers at Tientsin had assumed an attitude which the Government considers beyond the scope of the protocol of 1901, and which it cannot recognize as equitable, at the same time reaffirms the stipulations of the protocol concerning free communication seaward. "A principle which the Government always has respected."

The memorandum comments on the alleged lack of patience on the part of the diplomats, but assures the powers that competent military authorities have been authorized to take proper measures regarding clauses in the memorandum of the powers.

In the communication the Foreign Office asks the naval commanders at Tientsin to enter into relations with the local military authorities with the object of finding ways and means for the maintenance of communications. It adds that no recourse should be had in extreme or hasty methods.

ULTIMATUM ACCEPTED.

PEKING, March 18.—(Canadian Press.) — The ultimatum to the commanders of the forts of Taku and the Chinese vessels outside Tientsin demanding that the blockade of the port of Tientsin be ended and all impediments to the harbor and river traffic removed by to-day at noon, has been accepted by the belligerents.

ST. PATRICK'S DANCE VERY SUCCESSFUL

Victoria Hall Crowded For Happy Social Affair Last Night.

Victoria Hall was well filled last night for the St. Patrick's Day dance, over three hundred being in attendance. The hall was prettily decorated and the floor in splendid shape. Good music by Nazimok's orchestra added to the enjoyment of the dancers, both round and square dances being provided, while those who preferred cards were accommodated on the stage. Prize winners at cards were: Ladies, Mrs. Heilaman, Mrs. F. Millard, and Miss M. Kent; gents', J. L. Driscoll, C. J. Snider and C. E. Curtis. The prizes were good, Mrs. Heilaman winning a ton of coal.

Much enjoyment was added by the various specialty dances. Ed. Drumm and Vic McManus competed in a step dancing contest, the former being alloted the prize on the decision of the audience. Misses Annie Logan and Mary Hemphill exhibited their prowess at step dancing, while H. O'Neil tripped merrily in an Irish jig. Joe Nazimok and Glenn Morphet gave an exhibition of the Charleston, which was much enjoyed.

The dance was under the capable management of Mr. Harris, and was a great success, lasting until two a.m., with a break at midnight for refreshments. Mr. Harris is already planning another dance, this time a masquerade, to be held in April.

NO MORE PILES

Thousands Bless Dr. Leonhardt, the Physician Who Discovered This Common Sense Remedy

If you think that the surgeon's knife is the only method of escape from the misery of piles, it's because you haven't heard of the new treatment known as Dr Leonhardt's HEM-ROID.

The Doctor's treatment is internal. By experimenting for years he discovered the exact cause of piles and then went further and compounded a remedy that would remove the cause.

Dr. Leonhardt wants every sufferer to benefit by his discovery and so that there will be no doubting or delay. McDermid and Jury and all druggists are authorized to sell HEM-ROID with guarantee that it will do as stated or money back.

On that honorable basis every sufferer should secure a package of Dr. Leonhardt's HEM-ROID today.

BISAILLON'S BANK DEPOSITS NOT FROM SALARY IN CUSTOMS OFFICE BUT FROM HIS LIQUOR BUSINESS

Witness To Furnish Written Explanation of Profitable Transactions.

HAD SUMMER HOME.

Advised Minister To Relax Border Guard in "Party's Interests."

OTTAWA, March 18 (Canadian Press).—Questions put to J. E. A. Bisaillon, former chief preventive officer in Montreal, by Hon. H. H. Stevens, during the progress of the Customs investigation yesterday afternoon drew protest from Oscar Gagnon, counsel for the witness. Mr. Bisaillon had testified that he had abandoned the liquor business on the 30th of April, 1921. As an officer in the Customs, his salary had been not higher than $2,500 in any of the years following that date up to the time of his dismissal.

Mr. Stevens produced a record of deposits made by Mr. Bisaillon in the four years, 1921 to 1924, inclusive. He asked the witness to explain how it was that, while earning this moderate salary, he had been able to deposit $4,951 in 1921, $4,099 in 1922, $7,389 in 1923, and $14,812 in 1924.

It was at this point that Mr. Gagnon intervened. He claimed that the witness should not be required to answer such a question unless he was given access to his own books and records. Mr. Bisaillon said that the deposits referred to could be explained quite easily, but he must have time to examine his books.

Accusation Implied.

"I object to this question," Mr. Gagnon said when Mr. Stevens asked for an explanation of the deposits. "You are examining my client on a document which he has not seen and without giving him an opportunity to examine it. You are treating him as an accused person when he is here as a witness." Mr. Gagnon claimed that the question was illegal and did not come within the law of evidence.

Mr. Stevens persisted in requiring an explanation, and finally Chairman Paul Mercier ruled that, while the question was perfectly legal, it was a difficult one to answer. The witness agreed to furnish a written explanation of the transactions which had resulted in the deposits mentioned by Mr. Stevens.

Mr. Bisaillon was again the only witness on the stand during the afternoon sitting. A letter from him to the Hon. Jacques Bureau was read by C. W. Bell, a member of the committee. The letter suggested that "In the interests of the party it would be preferable to discontinue to watch the frontier." This letter, which was written in April, 1925, was not answered, according to the witness. He admitted that the party to which he referred was the party of which Mr. Bureau was a member. He testified that there had been no interference with the watch along the border because of the letter.

"Were you referring to the party of which Mr. Bureau was a member?" asked Mr. Bell, a member of the committee.

"Yes," replied the witness.

"What instructions did you get from Mr. Bureau in answer to your letter?" continued Mr. Bell.

"I don't remember."

"Do you mean that you got no reply after you had suggested that Customs officers be withdrawn from the border?"

Received No Answer.

The witness said Mr. Bureau was ill and that, as far as he knew, no answer had been received by him to the letter.

"What did you do in the absence of instructions?"

"The officers remained on the job." Witness stated that he had seen Hon. P. J. Cardin, who was acting Minister of Customs during Mr. Bureau's illness, but that they had not discussed this matter.

None of the officers had been withdrawn from the border, witness said in answer to questions by another member of the committee.

Mr. Stevens referred to Bisaillon's testimony that he had found it difficult "to make ends meet" on his salary, and recalled that during the Tremblay case the witness had admitted that he had $67,000 deposited in the bank.

"This," said Bisaillon, "was accumulated during the five years, when I was in business."

"And you had a farm, and a $5,000 barn and a summer home at Ste. Agathe and an automobile?"—"Yes."

"And you had $67,000 in the bank, all accumulated on a small salary?" "I had invested money, made out of the liquor business. They were personal investments."

"You swear to that?"—"Yes."

"Arrested Like a Bandit."

"None of the money belonged to the Farnham Bank account?"

"No. I will explain. Just before Christmas I was arrested like a bandit in my office and taken to Quebec. I was let out on bail to go home to my family. It was during the trial of the barge Tremblay and I was upset and humiliated. If I said that any moneys deposited to my account belonged to the Government, I didn't know what I was saying. Every cent belonging to the Government was returned to the Department. I was taken by surprise at the time. I didn't know what I was saying."

"You had a yacht. What did it cost?"—"$275."

"Have you a bill of sale?"—"Yes, I bought it in Montreal."

"What is it like?"—"It's an 18-foot boat."

"Did you seize a boat from a ship seized with liquor?"—"Yes."

"Why didn't you report it?"—"I did."

"When?"—"At the time I seized the liquor."

Bisaillon admitted having bought hay and oats from one E. B. Boyer of Belle Riviere, and having sold whiskey to the latter, who "ran a temperance house."

"This fodder was for your horses —race horses?"—"Yes, if it wasn't for horses I wouldn't be here today. I have been my own worst enemy all my life."

Papers Seized By Police.

Mr. Stevens proceeded to examine a small note-book and Mr. Gagnon, counsel for the witness, desired to know where the note-book came from.

"Mr. Bisaillon should know," he said, "how his private property came into the hands of Mr. Stevens."

"There is no mystery here," said Mr. Stevens. "The papers were seized by the police of Quebec and through them came to my hands."

"You were at the Canada Steamship wharf," said Mr. Stevens, "when two women were detained with a trunk load of drugs. That was in 1919." — "It was not my case," replied the witness. "I only saw them two minutes. I didn't know them."

"And you refused to identify them later before the court?"—"I didn't refuse, I didn't know them."

Had Telephone Number.

"What were the names of these women?"—"Miss Lortie and Miss St. George."

"In December you knew Miss St. George well enough to have her telephone number in your memo book?" —"Yes, after the trial was over, she called me up."

"You could not recognize Miss St. George at the trial. Weren't you reprimanded in the court for that?"—"No."

"These reports were wrong?" — "Yes."

Mr. Stevens read a letter of 1920 from D. A. Clark, acting Deputy Minister, to the R. C. M. P., saying Bisaillon knew more about the investigation than he cared to say.

"That's wrong," said Bisaillon.

"Why did you keep Miss St. George's telephone number?"—"She wanted to sell me a car."

OFFER NOT ACCEPTED.

C.A.H.A. Refuses To Allow Game To-night in Ottawa.

MONTREAL, March 18 (Canadian Press).—President Silver Quilty of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, to-day advised the local St. Francois Xavier hockey team that an eleventh hour offer of theirs to play the Gunners of Ottawa at Ottawa to-night could not be accepted.

The St. Francois Xavier officials had this morning wired President Quilty that in lieu of the possibility of arranging a two-game series of games on neutral ice, they would go through with the "sudden death" contest scheduled for to-night in the Allan Cup play-offs.

TAX MUST BE PAID AT BELLEVILLE NOW

New Regulations Are in Force This Year Governing Payment.

The Examiner has been informed by W. M. Lang, the Collector of Customs, that new regulations are in effect this year for the payment of Income Tax. Mr. Lang stated that instead of the citizens paying their income tax at the Customs House, they will have to do so to the Inspector of Taxation, 27-29 Campbell Street, Belleville. The forms may be obtained from the Inspector or Assistant Inspector at Belleville or direct from the Postmaster at Peterborough.

KINGSTON PLAYS IN SEMI-FINALS

First Game To Be Played To-night in Fort William.

SPEED VS. STRENGTH.

FORT WILLIAM, March 18 (Canadian Press).—To-night the first of the two-game series between Fort William and Kingston will be played to decide the team that will give battle to the winners of the Calgary-Winnipeg series in the final of the O.H.A. Memorial Cup, carrying with it the Junior hockey championship of Canada.

Speed versus strength, it is declared, will be the deciding factor in the contest. Kingston team is far heavier than the Fort William representatives, but will find the latter one of the fastest sextettes ever turned out at the head of the lakes.

The ushering in of a cold wave this morning promised ideal ice conditions.

The Kingston team arrived this morning.

BOWLING CONTEST.

Two Teams From Eastern Star Lodge Play Close Game.

Eastern Star Lodge No. 525 I.O. B.A. held its regular meeting on Wednesday evening. Business was discussed and the Lodge was closed in due form.

A very interesting game of carpet bowling was played between the Snow Balls and the Midgets. The first game being a tie, they had a play-off, bringing the Midgets out ahead, the score being 9 to 8. The Midgets team consisted of Miss Olive Curtis (captain), Mrs. Gerrard, Mrs. Lockie and Mr. Malcom Sproats. Snow Ball's team consisted of Mrs. A. Huffman (captain) Mrs. Hillier, Mr. W. Bertrand and Mr. F. Brown.

WILL BROADCAST TO-NIGHT'S GAME.

The Toronto Daily Star (CFCA) will broadcast to-night's game between Varsity and Peterboro. At 9.45 p.m. a summary of the first two periods will be given and a play by play report of the last period.

Easy to Gain With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast with Vegetable Iron Quick Way to Build Up Weight

This new combination of yeast vitamines with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance and supplies the system with vitamines that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamine food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast" — which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast Tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore, they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. If you are under weight, do not enjoy good health, lacking in energy and force, "ironized yeast" tablets will pick you right up, and if they fail, you get your money back.

Sold by druggists, at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package. Harold F. Ritchie & Co., Ltd., Toronto, Canada.

REDUCTION IN TAXES

ployment relief throughout the country.

War Bonds Tax Free.

Mr. Robb said that he was quite aware that taxes were unpopular things. Everybody wanted them reduced, and a lot of people use the most ingenious methods to dodge them. The Government of the day issued tax-free bonds during the war, and these bonds had found their way into the strong boxes of the rich, who ought to contribute to pubic revenue, instead of remaining in the hands of the average citizens who purchased them. Whenever the question of taxation was discussed, it was impossible to evade the fact, said Mr. Robb, that Canada had committed herself to certain expenditures and liabilities during the war, that these liabilities were not yet paid off, and that they would continue to be a charge on the public of Canada for many years to come.

Each year since the Government had come into office, he said, there had been a reduction in expenditure and also in the estimates. On certain food commodities there had been a reduction in the sales tax, while on others the tax had been removed. On boots and shoes, the sales tax had been cut. He hoped to confer with his officers and "work out something that will give a little relief to the people." "I do not say that the relief will be in income tax; I do not say that it will be in the sales tax," he added.

John Millar (Progressive, Qu'Appelle) believes the income tax had come to stay. It was levied upon those who were able to pay. It was the fairest form of taxation.

Hon. J. W. Edwards (Conservative, Frontenac-Addington) approved of the principle of the income tax. One reason why the farmers were not paying more income tax was because they did not have the income, and the reason they did not have the income could be found in the existence of the present government. If prosperity was increasing as the Government claimed, then the income tax too would be increasing in revenue. The Minister of Finance's figures had shown that the income tax revenue was falling off. Therefore there must either be gross inefficiency in the collection of the tax, or a corresponding reduction in incomes.

Opposed By Labor Member.

A. A. Heaps (Labor, Winnipeg North) opposed the resolution. "If it was adopted, he said, and the public exchequer lost the fifty-six millions derived from income tax, the business of Government could not be carried on.

Mr. Heaps did not agree with Mr. Church that the taxation of income was or should be the exclusive prerogative of municipalities.

Tells of quick relief to aching, swollen joints

RELIEVED PAIN AND SWELLING OVERNIGHT

Long-standing case of rheumatism helped in a few hours

After having suffered with rheumatism for years, and tried all kinds of remedies in vain, thousands of people have at last found a way to get quick, sure relief.

"I have been a sufferer from rheumatism for years," writes one woman from Washington, D. C. "At times my hands are terribly swollen. Sloan's always gives me relief in a very short time. I have tried other liniments, but nothing equals Sloan's."

The marvelous effectiveness of Sloan's is due to its stimulating effect upon the circulation. Straight to the sick, aching tissues, it sends a healing tide of fresh new blood — clears out rheumatism germs—kills pain.

So pleasant and clean to use, too. You don't even have to rub. Just pat it on gently and you will get immedi-

LAKEFIELD LADY HONORED AT COAST

"At her home yesterday afternoon, Miss Dorothy G. Hilliard, Lady Cub Master of St. Mary's Pack of Wolf Cubs, was decorated with the medal of merit of the Boy Scouts' Association. Provincial Commissioner R. Ross Sutherland, after expressing the gratitude of Scouting circles of British Columbia for Lady Cubmaster Hilliard's work in Wolf Cub work, presenting the decoration on behalf of the Chief Scout for Canada. The medal was in grateful recognition of very faithful and helpful service rendered to the Wolf Club movement in Victoria district.

"District Commissioner H. T. Ravenhill and Provincial Secretary J. C. Anthony, were also present at the ceremony, and a resolution of esteem and good wishes, which had been passed by a standing vote of those present at the annual banquet of the Victoria Boy Scouts' Association held on Saturday evening, was conveyed to Miss Hilliard, together with a bouquet.

"The record of the exceptional and meritorious service of Lady Cubmaster Hilliard was considered by the Local Board of Honor, the Provincial Board of Honor and the Dominion Medal Board; all of these recommended the award should be conferred and this was approved by His Excellency Baron Byng of Vimy, Chief Scout for Canada. The decoration is a gilt medal of a "Swastika" superinposed by a Scout badge and carrying a medal ribbon of green.

"Miss Hilliard has been connected with the Boy Scouts' Association in Victoria for the past five years, and was the first Lady Cubmaster to receive a warrant in British Columbia. Her work has been of an exceptionally high character and she has shown continuous devotion to her work. Not only has she maintained St. Mary's Pack of Wolf Cubs in a high state of efficiency, but has always found time to help others. To her example and the training she has given other Lady Cubmasters, is largely due the success of the Wolf Cub movement in Victoria. She has never spared herself and her influence in the district is outstanding."

The above has a great deal of local interest as Miss Hilliard was a former resident of the village and got her first insight into Wolf Cub work here in connection with the Pack organzied by Rev. Cecil Spencer, whose outstanding work among boys is not forgotten and after Mr. Spencer's departure from the village, Miss Hilliard carried on till she herself moved from the village in 1920. Miss Hilliard's work in the village among the boys was exceptional and the members of the Lakefield pack and their parents will be pleased to learn of the recognition given to Miss Hilliard in her work.

The vote for the cement by-law re allowing transmission lines run on the village streets where necessary, was held on Monday. Votes cast 84. For the by-law, 84; contrary, 0.

Saturday was tag day for St. Vincent's Orphanage and a bevy of pretty young girls volunteered for service and met with great success, as was evinced by the fact that everyone was wearing the Shamrock and many were sold at the homes. Shamrock day and Poppy day are two of the very popular tag days and few citizens would care to appear on either of those days without wearing the bright symbol. The girls who tagged were: Misses Carrie Condon, Mary Whibbs, Isabelle White, Loretta Gibson, Margaret Allen, Margaret Bissonette, Helen McFadden, Annie Coughlin, Genevieve Allen, Brigetta McManus, Theo Elmsley and Josephine White.

The Keo Club of George street United church, Peterboro put on the three act comedy, "The Gay Deceiver" in the Memorial Hall on Friday evening last

The Queen street theatre re-opens on Friday evening of this week after being closed for the winter.

The Tuxis boys of the United (Presbyterian) church are putting on a three act play "Daddy" on Friday evening of this week. There will be several other numbers of exceptional merit also. This is the first effort of the Tuxis boys.

The Alerts and Colts will play an exhibition game on Thursday evening, March 18th in the rink. There will be skating after the game, This will probably be the last game of the season.

The M.M.M. club held a very jolly skating party on Friday evening last when the members entertained their young lady friends. Supper was served in the basement of the Regent street church by the mothers and friends of the boys.

WIND UP COURSE BY BIG BANQUET

Students of Boys' and Girls' Classes at Stirling Entertain Staff.

STIRLING NEWS

STIRLING, March 17. — The closing exercises of the classes in 'Agriculture and Home Economics,' which have been held during the past three months, were held in the town hall on Thursday night, and were in the form of a grand banquet given by the students to the staff and a number of invited guests. The ladies of the Anglican church provided the "good things to eat" for the occasion of which there was apparently an endless supply as well as variety. After the large number—about 200—had been satisfied in this part of the programme, the toast list began under the direction of Murray McGee, who did his part well, as did all the other students who had a part to perform in the evening's entertainment.

"The King," proposed by the toastmaster, was received by the singing of "God Save the King" heartily.

"Agricultural Education" by John Cruikshank, responded to by Prof. Steckley, of the O.A.C., Guelph, who in an able manner supplied the place of President J. B. Reynolds, of the O.A.C. Mr. Steckley dilated at some length on the past and present conditions of agriculture and agricultural education, stating that some education was needed to carry on farm business more so than years years ago, giving the reason why such was a fact, and closed a very instructive address by saying that "Education will develop a man but not make him.

Miss Ethel Chapman, director of the Women's Institute Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Toronto, gave a very interesting address on Agricultural Education, as it affects life, in providing the necessaries for it; also cultural, so that each would be better company for others, and enjoy life better himself. The speaker said that she found that foreigners made better application of their knowledge, they use their heads more than the native-born, as there were too many counter attractions which hindered the development of home talent, and in the training for citizenship the leaders must come from the young people. She said there was no doubt, if the students went to their respective homes and applied the teaching they had received at these short course lectures, their communities would be the better off because they had attended the "short course in agriculture and home economics."

The toast to the ladies was proposed by "Bill" Rodgers and responded to by Geraldine Longwell.

Mr. H. Jackson gave a violin solo, "Poet and Peasant," which was applauded heartily.

Those who responded to the next toast, "Our Guests," presented by G. I. Thompson, were Miss Chapman, Mr. Steckley and C. B. McGuire, Reeve of Stirling, Alfred Reid, Reeve of Sidney, and Col. R. Vanderwater, Deputy-Reeve of Sidney. Each in turn praised the Province for its advantages and privileges, stating there was no better place to live than Ontario, all conditions considered.

Community singing, under the direction of Gerald Clute, varied the programme for a short time.

The next number was an interesting one for most of the students as the prizes and diplomas were presented to the successful winners in each case.

Professor Steckley of the O.A.C. made the presentations—a five dollar gold piece in each case—to the following:

Girls' proficiency prize—1st, Geraldine Longwell, Foxboro, 93 per cent.; 2nd, Jean Thompson, Marmora, 90 per cent. Attendance prize—Gena [illegible]ry, Stirling.

Boys' proficiency prize — 1st, Murray McGee, 89.5 per cent.; 2nd, John Cruikshank, 82.5 per cent.; Harry Morrow, 76.1 per cent.

The diplomas were presented by Miss Chapman to about 35 girls and the same number of boys.

The toast to the class was then proposed by Ray Atkin, the District Representative of the Department of Agriculture, and responded to by Tillie Rollins and Jack Fitzpatrick in appropriate speeches.

The "Staff," proposed by Ruby Richardson and responded to by Miss Nellie Alleby and J. H. Shaw, who praised the class of students they had under their charge here. Mr. Shaw, who has had considerable experience in short course work, stated that the Eastern Ontario students were better than those of the Western part of the Province.

The closing number was a solo, "Pale Moon," by Miss Bessie Conley.

Dancing was then indulged in by the students and their guests for some time, which closed a very pleasant evening's entertainment. The hall was nicely decorated for the occasion, the color scheme being ing green.

Barn on Fire.

Mr. Smythe returned and noticed the east end of the barn on fire. Mr. Wood and neighbors soon gathered, and Mr. Smythe stated to them the fire started from a bad chimney.

That night Mr. Smythe left for Havelock, where he stayed for a couple of days and then came to Cobourg.

Mr. Smythe had bought the farm from his brother Sydney J. Smythe about a year before for $1500, paying $500 down and gave a mortgage for $1000.

At the time of buying the farm it was insured but the policy ran out on August 15, 1925. He was notified, and a month later the risk was renewed with the Farmers' Mutual Fire Assurance Company. The last policy was for $2800, including the contents of the house and barn.

On the day of the fire Mr. Smythe had written to Thompson Braden of Peterboro, from whom he had received the insurance, stating that his buildings were burned. Mr. Smythe gave as his reason for raising the amount of the risk that the buildings were not carrying enough insurance. He considered the farm worth three thousand dollars.

Mr. Smythe had moved on to the farm the preceding Christmas but had brought no stock or implements with him. During the summer he grew no crop except three acres of potatoes. The house was a good seven room frame house on a stone foundation. He said "I lost all the contents except what was in the two valises." Then followed a list of all the articles lost.

Chattels Unearthed.

W. A. Rowland, the next witness stated that he was township constable for Manvers and that he had made a search with the deputy Fire Marshal Mr. Cowan, on December 10, 1925. Mr. Rowland stated that in an excavation 2 feet wide, 5 feet long and 4 feet deep, about 2 rods from the house, he discovered numerous articles. These articles included table linen, bedding, cooking utensils, pictures, dishes, cutlery, articles of clothing, two tapestry carpets, 1 small motto, framed in 1810 and a marriage certificate of William Smythe and Margaret Dyna Lyles dated November 11, 1924, Rev. Dr. Bettridge being the minister.

Mr. Kerr—How did you find this hole?

Mr. Rowland—Neighbors located it.

Mr. Wearing—Was the hole covered?

Mr. Rowland—Some earth over it about four inches in depth.

Mr. Wearing—Was it well concealed?

Mr. Rowland—Not very well.

Path in the Snow.

Mr. John Fallis, a neighbor, was next called. Mr. Fallis stated that on the day of the fire he was in Bethany. On his way home he noticed the fire. He went there and found Mr. Smythe away. Mr. Fallis went on home and soon came back. He found Mr. Smythe there this time but Smythe left before he did. Mr. Fallis on his way home came across a path in the snow. He followed this path and found it led to a place where there was fresh clay. He noticed the handle of a knife or fork sticking up through the clay. On removing a little clay he noticed other articles. A day or two later he and Wm. Cavano, a neighbor, went over to this place and uncovered some of the clay but did not make a thorough examination. He at once notified Wm. Jakeman, the police magistrate at Bethany.

M. Fallis stated that he was quite certain the hole had not been dug for more than two days, in fact the snow had fallen the night before the fire.

IN THE FOREFRONT

Although business was relatively quiet in the early months of 1925, as the Annual Report of the Bell Telephone Company points out, the number of telephones gained during the year was 52,473. The total Bell telephones in service in Ontario and Quebec on December 31st last was 589,321. Add to this total, the 129,221 telephones operated by independent companies and connecting with Bell exchanges and you have a development which places the two provinces in the forefront as regards this important service.

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints when she learns she is wanted for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes but they identify him by his police photo as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness causes her to break their engagement. Mary writes Jimmy to tell him about it, but the office boy sticks the letter in his pocket and forgets it.

Jimmy gets a phone call from Olga, saying she has found Ike Jensen. Her voice ends in a gasping cry. Jimmy calls police and rushes to her apartment. She is gone. While he and O'Day are trying to reconstruct the scene the phone rings. O'Day answers it and tells Jimmy it is for him. Jimmy tells O'Day to take the call—that no one is supposed to know where he, Jimmy, is.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIII.

"What the—" O'Day sputtered, but Jimmy Rand laid a finger over his mouth.

"Go ahead, answer it, Lieutenant. If it's for me, it must be from someone who knows what took place here tonight. Go on," he urged.

And O'Day, still greatly puzzled, did as he was told.

"Hello," he called into the telephone, trying to disguise his voice, "this is Rand talking. Who's speaking?"

Then, while he stood there with the receiver clapped to his ear, listening, Jimmy saw his face slowly color until it turned nearly purple. O'Day looked like an infuriated bull, but he, somehow, managed to keep himself under control.

He uttered a monosyllable into the mouthpiece. "Yeah." Then, "Say, who is this? Who the—"

He turned to Jimmy, the phone still clutched in his two hands, his face still red with rage. "Well, I'll be damned," he roared. "Of all the —why—" he groped helplessly for words that would do his feelings justice.

"Who was it?" Jimmy asked.

"I don't know, damn 'em. They hung up on me."

"Well, what did they say—whoever it was?" Excitement had laid its hand on him. He was trembling with it.

"Here's what they said," answered O'Day, regaining some of his composure. "It was a man's voice. He said, 'Hello, this you, Rand?'

"I said, 'Yes, this is Rand,' and he said, 'All right, this is absolutely the last warning. The girl's out of the way. You're next.' I never—"

"My God!" Jimmy broke in, "have they killed her?"

"I never heard the voice before, to my knowledge," O'Day finished. Then answering Jimmy's question, "Lord knows what they've done to her. I give up. It's got me beat."

He picked up the phone again. "Wait a minute. I'm goin' to try to have that call traced. Not a chance in a hundred of gettin' anywhere, I guess, but I'm not goin' to be kicking myself later for overlooking a bet."

Jimmy said, after O'Day had finished talking to the operator, "You still think—after that phone call—that there's anything in that second theory of yours, that Olga might have framed this?"

O'Day hesitated a moment before answering. "Lord, Rand, I'd forgotten about it for the time being."

He frowned. "Still, if the whole thing was a stall, there'd be nothing to prevent her having this guy call you and try to throw a scare into you. In fact, Olga would be the only one to know you were here at this time, unless Jensen—if he really did follow her here—heard her mention your name while she was talkin' to you."

He said, rather mysteriously, Jimmy thought: "I've got pretty good reasons for thinkin' the way I do, Rand. I'll tell you about them later. I just want to do some checkin'."

"All right, go right ahead. My own private opinion is that Jensen kidnapped that girl because he wanted to find out what the police were after him for. He wants to know how much she's told about him. The whole thing's a mystery to him, for I believe he knows nothing whatever about the ticket stub.

"Imagine what he must feel like. He's absolutely in the dark, and probably worried to death. Well, I'm going home and go to bed."

"And Kelly here," said O'Day, gesturing toward a stalwart policeman, "is goin' with you. He's goin' to have a new beat tonight—right in front of your door."

He produced a cigar and savagely bit off a large hunk of it and started chewing it.

—"I'm keepin' an eye on you, my lad," he said.

When Barry Colvin reached Grafton, his first thought was of Janet, and he went swiftly to the Rand home.

"No use arguing with Jim," he informed her briefly. "He's going to stay in Chicago until he finds the murderer. That's all there is to it. There's no persuading him any differently."

"I thought as much," Janet remarked quietly. "You showed him the ring?"

"Yes, and he thinks he knows who it's from. A police lieutenant in Chicago by the name of O'Day used to know your father, it seems, when he was a boy. And he told Jimmy this story."

Briefly then he repeated the story of Marie Real and Henry and Thaddeus Rand, as it was told to him by Jimmy.

She heard it calmly. "And this Marie Real," she asked, "does anyone know what became of her?"

"No. I'm going to take this ring to Detective Mooney. Jimmy has a lot of faith in Mooney. Thinks he's clever and a perseverer and all sorts of things."

And he went to Mooney.

The little detective heard him in silence and then asked for the ring.

"I wish," he said, "we'd had this a long time ago. I'll see the chief. I think I ought to go to New York right away."

"What I want to know," he remarked as Barry left, "is what became of Thaddeus Rand."

YELL STUB—Call, 67—Wilde

The days that followed for Jimmy were like a nightmare. He wandered dimly through them, his mind in a haze, and his brain conjured up a myriad cruel fates for Olga.

The newspapers were running her picture on the first page, under such captions as :—

MODEL DISAPPEARS, THOUGHT KIDNAPPED

and

HAVE YOU
SEEN HER?

O'Day also had thought it wise to turn the full glare of newspaper publicity on his search for Ike Jensen.

Accordingly, he had told reporters about Olga's telephone call to Jimmy, without, however, mentioning the fact that Jensen was wanted on a charge of murder.

To his utter embarrassment, Jimmy was besieged by a steady stream of reporters, who sensed, in the fact that O'Day and Jimmy were somewhat reticent about Jensen, that a good story was to be had for the digging up.

"They want him for assault," Jimmy told them in answer to their eager questions. "He waylaid me one night as I was going home. That's all I know about it."

Then how, they wanted to know, was Olga Maynard involved?

"I don't know," he persisted.

So they insisted on photographing Jimmy, and running his picture in connection with the city's latest thrill.

And Jensen's, too.

SEARCH FOR HIM AS KIDNAPPER

the headlines read.

And then some enterprising city editor, with the knowledge that Jimmy Rand had come from Grafton and was doing nothing, apparently, in Chicago, sent a reporter to Grafton and dug up the story that Jimmy had come to town for the express purpose of running down his father's murderer.

There was a new sensation then. The papers sensed that Jensen was somehow involved, and illusions were made to that fact in their columns, although they were somewhat guarded allusions, due to the fact that the most the police would do was hint.

O'Day made public the telephone call for Jimmy which he had taken in Olga's apartment, and told about the several mysterious warnings Jimmy had received.

As he explained to Jimmy when the latter wrathfully demanded why, "It will protect you, my boy."

"How do you figure that?"

"Why, it stands to reason that with all this publicity they're giving to those threats the man behind them isn't going to take any chances by trying to carry them out."

"But can't you see we're spoiling our chances of ever catching Jensen? He'll sneak out of town now, sure."

"Maybe. Still, we didn't get anywhere by keeping our mouths shut. Besides, the first job we have is to find Olga Maynard."

O'Day hinted vaguely that he was thinking of "letting something else out to the papers," but when Jimmy asked what it was he refused to be drawn out.

The telephones at police headquarters and in the newspaper offices were kept busy answering calls from anxious persons who insisted they had seen Olga Maynard or Ike Jensen.

These were run down and, as is usual in such cases, they led nowhere.

Jimmy encountered Sam Church on the street one day and fancied that he looked preoccupied and not a little worried.

He thought: "If you've any conscience at all, the things you've done to Olga Maynard must make you worry. This could never have happened if it hadn't been for you."

He clenched his fists, thought wildly, for a moment, of assaulting Church on the spot, but sauntered on. . . .

When he got home he was sorry he hadn't punched Church's head for him. Then he thought: "In a sense I'm to blame myself for whatever may have happened to her. If I'd followed O'Day's advice, she would at least be safe."

The more he thought about her the more aghast he was at her probable fate. His ignorance was as a drawn curtain in front of his eyes. . . a black curtain, heavy, with a ghastly hand holding it together.

"My God!" he cried, over and over. "Have they killed her too?"

A scene from "A Midsummer Night's Dream," was then given by the girls of Form II. It was the 'play' within the play," in which the workmen of Athens, act before the nobles on the night of the duke's wedding. The cast of characters was:

A reading, "The Peacock, The Turkey, and the Goose," by Jack Duffield and a piano solo "Berceuse," by Mary Fowlds, closed the programme. After which R. G. Lawlor, the principal, presented Raymond Scott with a gold medal which was awarded him by the Strathcona Fund as the best marksman for 1924-25.

The W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church held a quilting in the primary class room on Thursday afternoon. Lunch was served after the quilting.

The W.C.T.U. held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Weir. The president, Mrs. R. G. Lawlor, occupied the chair. There was a good attendance of the members.

ELDERS INDUCTED

Service Held at Trent River Last Sunday Afternoon.

TRENT RIVER, March 18.—The newly elected elders: Messrs. W. W. Redden, Isaac Lawson, George Spencer, George Vanvolkenburg and Frank Davidson were inducted Sunday afternoon after the usual service by the pastor, Rev. E. O. Seymour. Communion was served by the new elders at the close.

The annual congregational meeting will be held Thursday night at the church. The ladies are serving refreshments at the close.

Mr. Charlie Greenly of Castleton was a Sunday visitor with Mr. and Mrs. Matt. Greenly.

Mrs. Archie Langford is making a good recovery from her recent illness.

Mrs. Fermen, who has been living alone on the 14th concession, was taken seriously ill last week. Dr. Holdcroft of Havelock was called and the patient was removed to Mr. Joe Dunn's where she is being cared for.

The trappers will be held back for some time yet owing to the heavy snow and thick ice at the shores.

The balance of the logs, which have been cut for the Trenton Co-operage Company, are being hauled to the landing at the back channel rear of Mr. John Garneau's residence to await opening of navigation when it will be taken en route to Trenton.

Mr. John Garneau had a bee for drawing gravel one day recently. He is making improvements on the road leading to his residence.

Miss Mabelle Inkster of Campbellford and Miss Hilda Thompson (of Marmora) who are attending High school at Campbellford spent over Sunday at the former's parental home.

Mrs. Frank Pollock and mother, Mrs. Claude Insley, returned to Toontro again last week, being called there by the serious illness of Mrs. Insley's father, Mr. Turner.

WOOLER CIRCLE

Annual Business Meeting and Election of Officers Held.

WOOLER, March 18.—On Saturday afternoon, the annual business meeting of the Mission Circle was held at the home of Mrs. Nesbitt Haggarty.

After thirty young ladies and a few members of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary gathered at 3 p.m. the president, Miss Margaret Teal, took the chair. The programme:

Chorus—"Take the Name of Jesus With You."

Recitation—Bernice Stacey.

MISSION BAND BAZAAR

Young Ladies Offer Fine Assortment of Goods to Customers.

ROSENEATH, March 18.—The Mission Band Circle held a bazaar in the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon, which was well attended.

Having a fine assortment of things to choose from the girls made clever salesladies under the supervision of Mrs. N. Sherwin and Miss Bertha Clarke. Proceeds were about $35.

The L.O.L. held a social evening on Friday last. Progressive euchre and other games were played. Prizes were given to the winners. Luncheon was served by the ladies. The evening was much enjoyed by those present.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Turner, Colborne are spending a few days with his mother, Mrs. Lily Turner.

Miss Moir of Campbellford is visiting friends in the village.

Mr. Robert Mouncey is moving in to the village.

Service will be held next Sunday morning at 11 a.m. Sunday school an hour earlier.

NIGHT-BLOOMING CEREUS.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—The night-blooming cereus, one of the most beautiful flowers of the desert, is not wholly a flower of the night, as has commonly been thought. Photographs on display here show these rare plants being visited by bees that fly in the daytime.

Because all the sick do not recover, therefore medicine is not an art. Cicero.

No One Really Wants Gray Hair

There are thousands today who, for reasons beyond their control, have hair streaked with gray. They realize, too, how this handicaps them both socially and in business. But these people will not resort to mussy "dyes" because of the embarrassment of such an instantaneous change.

They do not know, perhaps, that thousands of men and women like themselves use Kolor-Bak—a marvelously pleasant liquid which is so gradual in its action that the daily effects are impossible to detect. Yet results often appear in a week.

Kolor-Bak, while it has no color in itself, oddly has the power to restore gray hair to its natural shade. It also has the merits of a tonic, giving the hair an exquisite softness and lustre besides thoroughly routing dandruff. And it is as easy to use as water. Better still, the same bottle can be used for any gray hair. Make the test. If desired results do not appear, your money will be returned. Guarantee in each package.

ALLENBY MEETS OLD COMPANION

James McKenna Was Staff Officer in South Africa.

HEBREW'S THANKS.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 18. — (Canadian Press.)—The days when he wore the pill box cap and the tightly-fitting scarlet shell tunic were recalled by James McKenna, of Winnipeg, who, 46 years ago, wore the chevrons as sergeant-major in the 6th Inniskillen Dragoons, yestrday when he met Feld Marshal Viscount Allenby, during the visit of the famous British soldier to the club rooms of the Army and Navy Veterans' Association.

Mr. McKenna, who is 80 years old, was a member of Lord Allenby's staff in South Africa, and is a veteran of many battles, including the Bechuanaland and Zulu campaigns.

Surrounded by veterans of many wars, Mr. McKenna was greeted by Lord Allenby, and both exchanged stories of the past campaigns, and hardships they had experienced.

Wednesday was a busy one for the hero of Palestine. After greeting many ex-soldiers and members of the local Veterans' Clubs, Lord Allenby attended a Rotarian luncheon, and received a Zionist delegation. Late this afternoon, he and Lady Allenby left en route to Toronto and the Eastern Provinces.

An address was presented to Lord Allenby by the delegation representing the Zionist Council of Winnipeg, declaring:

"The Hebrew community in Winnipeg wishes to express to you their heartfelt thanks, not only for helping to bring victory to the cause of the Allies, but also for opening a new door of hope to the Hebrew people.

"We, the children of an ancient people, will remember your illustrious services to our race."

Lady Allenby spent the morning hours shopping ,and was the guest of honor at a luncheon given by Lady Aikins at the Government House.

MILLBROOK W. M. A. ANNUAL MEETING

MILLBROOK, March 17.— The annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Auxiliary of the United Church was held on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G. W. Sayles, over forty being in attendance.

The gathering had the unusual pleasure of having one of the W.M.S. missionaries from British as its guest of honor, Miss M. Paul, who has spent thirty years of labor in the West, and who addressed a public meeting the previous evening, remaining over for the Auxiliary session.

Mrs. (Rev.) Howard presided at the opening devotional and business period, and Miss Nellie Finnimore read a most interesting letter from Miss Viola Cardwell, a nurse in the missionary hospital at Ham Heung, Korea. Miss Cardwell, whose home was at Wallace's Point, Otonabee river, is personally known to some of the members, and with her work, and has been taken as the subject for special prayer by the local Auxiliary.

Miss Cardwell has now served two years and three months in the "Land of the Morning Calm," one year and five months having been spent in language study. "Every Christian a missionary" is the Korean ideal, and last year the Christians contributed to the work of the church $73,000, an average of $4.00 a member—and this "by a people where such poverty prevails as Canadians have never known."

Final reports from the various groups, the secretary, and the treasurer, wil be received on Wednesday, March 24, so all financial returns for the year must be on hand by that date. The money must be sent to the branch treasurer by the end of this month, about five weeks earlier than usual.

Rev. F. H. Howard took charge for the election of officers, the list being:

President—Mrs. Howard.
1st Vice-Pres.—Mrs. H. W. Johnston.
2nd Vice-Pres.—Mrs. L. S. Clarry.
Secretary—Mrs. C. W. Richards.
Cor. Secretary—Miss B. P. Burnham.
Treasurer—Miss M. E. Hetherington.
Strangers' Secretary—Mrs. G. W. Sayles.
Superintendent Christian Stewardship—Miss Estelle Hetherington.
Secretary Missionary Monthly—Mrs. R. H. Edmunds.
Secretary Mite Boxes—Mrs. T. H. Aiken.
Superintendent Mission Band—Mrs. Offa Williamson.
Auditor—Mrs. (Dr.) Rea.

Mrs. C. C. Garside, convener of Group F, then took charge, and Mrs. Johnston sang a solor, "That Old, Old Stoy is True." Owing to the fact that Miss Paul was to speak other items on the programme were omitted, so all the time possible might be at her disposal.

"I bring you greetings from the women of our own land, and from women of many nations in our great West," said the speaker as she proceeded to give some details of her work at the Crosby Girls' Home, at Port Simpson, B.C. and at Crow's Nest Pass, at each of which places she spent seven years.

"If we make Canada Christian," was her concluding statement, "we will be reaching out to the ends of the earth. Many of these foreigners return to their parent country and who may say where the waves of influence will end."

Miss Paul was given a Chautauqua salute upon her arrival at the meeting, and warm applause marked the conclusion of her address.

During the social hour, when refreshments were served by Mrs. Sayles assisted by the group members, those present took advantage of the opportunity of meeting Miss Paul and through personal converse learned further details of the field in which she served so long.

Those in attendance included: Mrs. J. H. George, Mrs. Arthur Fallis, Mrs. Fred W. Fallis, Mrs. H. W. Johnston, Mrs. L. S. Clarry, Mrs. J. McKnight, Ms. W. Larmer, Mrs. Hilliard Lang, Mrs. H. Dawson, Mrs. Offa Williamson, Mrs. C. W. Richards, Rev. F. H. and Mrs. Howard, Mrs. R. H. and Mrs. Ross Edmunds, Mrs. J. Turner, Mrs. W. H. and Mrs. J. L. Byam, Mrs. J. Hatherly, Mrs. A. J. Brown, Mrs. G. Freelove, Mrs. W. West, Mrs. L. Rae, Mrs. W. Mullen, Mrs. Geo. Locke, Mrs. W. Lowes, Mrs. C. C. Garside, Mrs. Lambert, Sr., Mrs. F. W. Smith, Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Mrs. Fennel (Norwood), Miss S. Dean, Miss J. Brock, Miss M. E. and S. Hetherington, Miss L. Crocker, Miss A. Hampton, Miss Mary Widdis, Miss N. Finnimore, and others.

The group leaders will be appointed at the next business meeting of the Auxiliary, and "Heralds" for the "Watch Tower" will also be reappointed. Mrs. A. J. Brown is superintendent of this feature of the Auxliary meetings.

OMEMEE NEWS

OMEMEE, March 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Bert Fee and children of Sioux Lookout, are the guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Fee.

Miss Myrtle Weir of Fraserville spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Weir.

Mrs. J. Bushnell spent Saturday with her sister, Mrs. I. Laidley of Lindsay.

Mrs. Thomas Rehill of Peterboro visited at the home of Mr. T. J. Parsons, last week.

Mr. and Mrs L. A. Southworth and daugther, Jean, spent Friday and Saturday in Toronto, and attended the Mendelssohn Choir concert.

Mrs. Lewis Windrim returned home on Saturday after spending the week in Lindsay and Toronto.

Miss Susan Wilson spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. T. Graham of Lindsay.

Mr. Gabriel Balfour attended the funeral of his sister, Mrs. (Rev.) Fallis in Toronto on Saturday.

Mrs. Fallis, who has resided with her daughter, Mrs. E. Bradburn, left last week to visit her daughter, Mrs. Jones, of Bethany.

Mrs. Margaret Stephenson visited her aunt, Mrs. Philps, in Lindsay, on Wednesday.

Mrs. W. D. Stinson spent Friday with her sister, Mrs. Albert Stinson, of Peterborough.

Mrs. Parker and grandchild of Peterborough visited at the home of her son, Mr. Fred Parker, on Wednesday.

Mrs. H. Lamb and daughter, Miss Jessie, visited Mrs. J. Moore of Lindsay on Saturday.

Mrs. William Earle spent a few days with her sister, Mrs. Staples, of Lindsay, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. William Switzer of Peterboro spent Friday with the former's sister, Mrs. Doube.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Glenny received the sad news on Saturday of the death of their daughter, Olive (Mrs. Brennan) of Syracuse, N.Y. Death was due to a stroke of paralysis and came as a shock, not only to her aged parents, but to her many old friends in Omemee.

The ladies of the United church are planning to hold a birthday tea in the Sunday school room on Friday evening, March 19th. Tables representing the twelve months of the year will be set and following the supper a good programme will be given.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bannon are among the latest radio purchasers in this district.

Miss Jennie Smyth has returned to Omemee after a pleasant visit with Oakwood friends.

Master Lawrence Cunningham, of Lindsay, spent the week end with friends in town.

Mrs. Joseph Bradley returned home on Friday after having had an operation performed in Nichols' hospital, Peterboro.

Rev. A. L. Brown of Queen street United church, Lindsay, will occupy the pulpit in Trinity church on Sunday next.

A number of young people from Omemee attended the Box Social at Bethel on Monday night. Among those noticed were: Misses Mary Faulkner, Katy Weir, Leta Ruth and Messrs. Roy Faulkner, Gordon Bradley, Rae Overholt.

Mr. Brown of the Omemee Tannery is spending a few days at his home in Oakville.

Mrs. Woodgery, of Buffalo, is spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Glenny.

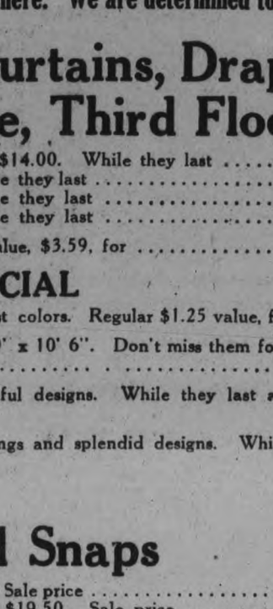
TRAVELS "ON BUSINESS."



Master Thomas Ross, aged 5 years, who arrived in Toronto recently over the Canadian Pacific Railway from Ashcroft, B.C. Master Ross is on his way to his former home, New York, where he is needed to wind up the estate of his parents. When asked why he was going to New York he said, "I am going to New York for quite a few days on business."

MOUNT PLEASANT

MOUNT PLEASANT, March 18. —Mr. Joseph Staples of Ida was in the village on Tuesday, having his windmill repaired.

Mrs. George Jamieson was a visitor to Peterboro on Friday.

Messrs. William and Melville Handley made a trip to Omemee on Thursday to get their gas engine repaired.

These last few days are very much like spring. Robins have been seen and the crows are to be seen and heard quite frequently now. The farmers like to see spring coming, but do not welcome the crows very well. They agree with Jack Miner, the Kingsville naturalist, who thinks the crow is "both a murderer and a robber."

Miss Mabel Eggleston of Ida was a guest at the home of her uncle, Mr. Joshua Eggleston, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fee entertained a number of their friends and neighbors on Friday evening. The evening was spent in cards and dancing.

Mr. George White of Orange Corners spent Friday in the village and called on his niece, Mrs. Melville Handley.

The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin.
—Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute.
—Milton.

K. J. H.—Well, there are others who feel as you do about their occupation, but in this, as in so many other situations, the only person who can help you is yourself. At your age, what is there to prevent you from marking out a different path in life for yourself? I am going to tell you that, although you have naturally a rather gentle nature, still you are inclined to be very nervous and restless. You are aspiring and energetic, but are apt to look always on the dark side of things, the mainspring of your actions being a fear of the evil that may result from not doing a thing, rather than the benefit to be derived from the doing thereof. Even when your body is at rest, your mind is busy, and you are too restless to tie up to any employment for any great length of time. There is one thing you must do, that is, always associate yourself with others in any enterprise you enter into. You cannot stand alone in important matters. Do not try. You are inclined to whine and scold. Try to cultivate steadfastness above everything else. When you have the desire to change in any way, suppress it at once and strive to be contented with your lot until you see an opportunity to better it. Constant changing about will never get you anywhere. Try to keep your hands and feet still and stop complaining. Always finish one task before beginning another. Do not criticize your friends and associates. Responsibility should be sought by you at all times and you should try not to be overgenerous with either time or money. Try to be agreeable and not dictatorial. You would make a good doctor or minister, but other paths in life will open to you if you try first of all, to conquer the faults in your own nature that keep you back. April and August are your good months. Friday your lucky day. Friday is your birthday. Your colors are orange and gray.

Wondering.—You have not yet realized your own powers and, if you do not get wise to yourself, probably you never will. You have strong possibilities for good and equally strong possibilities for evil. As you stand on the threshold of life, which way will you turn? You were born with a nature that inclines to a kindly, peaceful type of existence, but conflicting threads pull you from that mild way of living. You will attain your best success as you go along by the use of diplomacy. The mailed fist is not for you, but rather the velvet glove. You are a natural reasoner and thinker. Use this mental cleverness at all time to gain what you wish. If you cared to try, you could have a life of strong, active service, either as a doctor or clergyman, but if you embark on any career of this type, you will have to watch your own nature very closely, because you are not very easy to get along with. You are generous and whole-souled, but whimsical, fickle and changeable-minded. Anger, jealousy and caprice will mar your life if you do not strive to control them and you will hurt your future sweetheart many a time by your tormenting unreliability and jealous spirit. You should marry young, but you will not do so, as you value most the affection that eludes you and will fritter away your best years in pursuit of that which you will not want when you attain it. You are very fond of good clothes and these have an effect on your spirits. You are fiery rather than affectionate. Do not ever commence to drink, or you may land in a drunkard's grave and remember too that "He who dances to the devil's piping must pay the fiddler." Your inclination to overindulge the senses will play havoc in time with your nervous organization. Try to conquer indecision of character, map out the course you wish to pursue, then march forward without turning back, learn the value of silence and meditation, never touch drink or drugs of any sort, and be careful of your companions, who exercise a strong influence over you. Marry a girl born in December. June and July are your good months, Tuesday your good day.

You were born on Monday. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are gold and while.

Alf.—You have a strong character, with a great deal of love for your fellow men in your makeup. You have an earnest, outspoken frankness of speech and manner, but, curiously enough, at times you have to combat very hard a tendency to shyness and reserve. Although being jovial and vivacious, you are very cautious and suspicious of anything that savors of secrecy or deception. You are somewhat impulsive, but always well meaning, have a keen sense of humour and an excellent business sense. You were born busy and like to keep so at all times, even in moments when you should relax utterly, as your strength, naturally very good, is apt to be overtaxed by your habit of throwing yourself too zealously into any undertaking. You have a strong, well-knit body and an active temperament. Your individuality, which is the secret of your strength, should be maintained at all times and you should guard always again nervous conditions that may be augmented by a tendency to worry. You have the admirable faculty of minding your own business and not interfering with the affairs of others. You will be more successful in following out your own inspirations than in regarding the advice of others. February and June are your good months, Thursday your lucky day. You were born on Tuesday. Your colors are reds and browns. The day you ask about, a Wednesday, is one for being patient and agreeable and making no important purchases.

Khan.—You have a destiny that is unmarred by conflicting currents, a very desirable type of existence. You were born with a liking for pleasure and good cheer and your truest happiness in life will come from passing on this happiness and cheerfulness to others. It is not everyone who is blessed with such a happy fate. As long as you live up to your own true nature and strive to make those about you happy and contented, you will be happy and successful yourself. The Golden Rule and all it implies should be your motto in life. You are quite a good judge of human nature and can gauge another's honesty almost at first sight. You are a good mixer and a real oiler of the wheels of life. You have an interesting and magnetic personality and a real good companion, understanding human nature thoroughly and being able to appreciate the funny side of life. You have a somewhat enquiring expression of countenance and possess what is called the "hypnotic" eye. You were born on Thursday. Your color is black. The day you ask about, a Monday, is one for real personal freedom. Do not let yourself be hampered by persons or circumstances that surround you. Be individual in thought and expression.

ST, PATRICK'S TEAS.

FRASER AUXILIARY

A very pretty St. Patrick's Tea was held in the Guild Room of St. Paul's Presyterian Church on Wednesday afternoon, under the auspices of the Fraser Auxiliary. The decorations were in the green and white novelties of the season and green ferns. The guests were received by the honorary president of the society, Mrs. Robert Hall; the president Miss Leah Eakins, and Mrs. Wm. Allan. Arrangements for tea were in charge of Mrs B. B. Gillespie, Mrs. H. Stenson, and Mrs. M. Comstock, assisted by members of the Auxiliary. A sale of homemade cooking was looked after by Mrs. J. Jackson. During the afternoon, an enjoyable musical programme was given, with instrumental selections by Mrs. Wm. Allan and Mrs. H. Carey, and vocal solos by Mrs. Ford Turner.

KING EDWARD SCHOOL.

A very well attended St. Patrick's Day tea was held on Wednesday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. F. Finnie, Maude street, under the auspices of the King Edward Home and School Association, the proceeds to be devoted to the relief work of the organization. The decorations were very pretty, the rooms and tea table being arranged with shamrocks green candles and pink tulips. The guests were received by Mrs. Finnie and Mrs. W. Andrews and the ladies were ushered into the tea room by Mrs. J. J. Pollock. Tea was poured by Mrs. J. O. Fife and Mrs. J. J. Grose, assisted by Mesdames Cook, Mackness, Gerard and Menzie, wearing green and white caps. During the afternoon a pleasant musical programme was given, with vocal numbers by Mrs. E. Kitney, Miss V. Buckham, Miss M. Ritchie and Miss A. Batten, and instrumental selections by the Misses Dorothy Finnie, Olive Prest, Alma Gerard, Fern Rahmel and Doris Ferguson.

St. Patrick's Play

(By Jeanette).

The three-act dramatic comedy, "Paddy Turns the Trick," the annual 17th of March offering by the Dramatic Section of St. Alphonsus' Lyceum, presented at the Grand Opera House last evening before an audience that numbered well over eight hundred people, was a real success, and proved to be one of the most entertaining plays produced in many years by this society. The play itself was well chosen and interesting, with a good deal of bright, amusing dialogue, a plot with many unexpected turns and twists, and an exceptionally well-selected cast, every one of whom did great credit to themselves individually, and to the painstaking efforts of Mr. J. J. Southern, director of the piece, and Mr. Jack Primeau, stage director. Assisting with the presentation as property manager was Mr. John Begley.

"Paddy Turns the Trick" is a strictly modern play, with a New York setting and characters whose outfits and conversation are modern in the extreme, the pretty dresses of the ladies in every scene adding immensely to the attraction of the play. The theme revolves about the efforts of a new-rich Irish American, who carried the hod for many years, a prototype of the well-known Mr. Jiggs, to make his family behave. Mr. Jack Primeau was wonderfully good in his role of Patrick Casey, a retired contractor of much wealth, whose plebeian presence and clay pipe, become eyesores to his wife, Mary Anne, or "Marie Annetta," as she wishes to be styled, a part portrayed splendidly by Mrs. J. Dwyer. It is seldom that an amateur actress is able to cry as realistically as Mrs. Dwyer did last evening, and her temperamental manifestations as the society-seeking wife of the ordinary "Paddy" Casey were excellent.

Mr. Charles Carson, as the wayward son of the Caseys, or 'Cassays' as they re-christen themselves, gave a very fine presentation of the conscience-stricken young man who has squandered his money and tries to redeem his means by engaging in diamond-smuggling operations. As Michael Casey, Mr. Carson's acting was admirable, and his stage presence very natural and easy.

The roles of the two daughters were charmingly enacted by the Misses Minnie Allen and Grace Primeau, the former taking the part of the sensible Maggie, fond of her father and tolerant of his ways, and the latter that of the hifalutin Kathleen, determined to make a hit in society and engaging in much backfire conversation with her old dad and anyone else who tried to correct her.

Two characterizations that required much careful attention to detail and a really high degree of histrionic ability, were those of Jim Dougherty, of the U.S.A. Treasury Department, and the French modiste, Monsieur Armand Francois Boni Aime de Lovier. Dr. M. Crough and Mr. J. A. LeBlanc had these parts and their presentation of them added immeasurably to the excellence of the production. Dr. Crough's role was exacting, making many demands on his ability, for he was compelled in turn to be an American and an Italian, a detective and a dancing master. His earnest, intense rendition of the part and the way in which he acted the role of the detective was admirable in the extreme. As for the modiste, Mr. J. A. LeBlanc, in his immaculate attire, complete to the last detail of white spats and grey trousers, his presentation of his role was almost professional. Without saying a word, his first appearance created a gale of applause, his demeanor and electric characterization of the role of the nervous French "dressmaker" being absolutely true to life in every detail. Mr. LeBlanc's acting and his peppy personality were certainly among the high spots in a production which every person appeared to feel perfectly at home in his or her respective roles.

Miss Madelene Asta was a colorful, vivid figure as the Bolshevik, Madame Anna Bairski, who is engaged in a plot to get the smuggled diamonds and whose detection by the energetic Jim Dougherty as "Slippery Ann Logan" just out of Sing Sing Prison, calls forth a torrent of abuse from the lady's lips. Miss Asta was extremely good in this role, filling it to perfection.

Minor characterizations that fitted in admirably were those of the trim maid, Eileen O'Rourke, a young lady who turns out to be the daughter of a rich friend of Patrick's and the final sweetheart of his son, Michael. Miss Ernestine McManus took this role in her usual excellent fashion, helping the wayward son to redemption and making a trim foil in her black and white costume to the bright dresses of the ladies of the house. Mr. Dorian McDonald acted the part of George Drake, a friend of the family, his support of the elder Casey being genuine in its presentation and done with unaffected sincerity, and Mr. James Condon had the role of "Humpy" Steele, the janitor, a rather difficult part that was skilfully enacted by its portrayer, who had to take the sins of the son on his own shoulders, also a stray pistol shot that was supposed to kill him, and finally make a clean getaway with the diamonds and the Bolshevik lady, with whom he is in "cahoots" from the beginning.

Altogether, it was memorable production and one that excited much real applause from an interested audience. When Patrick Casey decided to give his family their fill of their various fads, catering to his wife's longing for free love and poodle dogs and his children's fondness for dancing and high life, he started something, and the ensuing portions of the play were amusing and entertaining in the extreme.

Only a very well directed and talented group of amateur players could have put "Paddy Turns the Trick" across in the fine style in which they presented it at the Grand Opera House last evening, every one of the players proving themselves to have much ability in the histrionic line, and it was an amused and entertained audience that watched the unfolding of the way in which "Paddy" turned "the trick," the chief interest of the piece, of course, revolving about the figure of the inimitable "Patrick."

Between acts, a very enjoyable programme of novelties was given, with Messrs. George Wesley and Dave Quinlan, the former in a get-up that included a furious red wig and plaid waistcoat the latter in a trim light-colored suit, giving one of their very entertaining "patter" dialogues and some soft shoe dances in their usual excellent style, and a trio of clever small girls in Irish step dances and costumes. These were Madeline Curtin and Grace Irwin in the dress of an Irish lad and lassie in a dance duett, and Grace White, in a solo Irish step and boy's costume, both offering receiving enthusiastic encores. Accompanists for the various dance numbers on the programme were Mrs. J. Foster, Miss Margaret McCabe, and Mr. A. Weatherhead.

Beautiful floral tributes were presented to the ladies in the cast at the conclusion of the performance, and Mr. Jack Primeau also received a bouquet of a different type from some of his humorous-minded admirers.

HOTELS WANT PERMITS.

TORONTO, March 18. Canadian Press. — Some of the twenty or more hotels whose licenses were cancelled by the Ontario License Board for infractions of the provincial temperance law, have already applied for another permit. In making this known James Hales, K. C., chairman of the Ontario License Board, stated that the Board would "deal fairly with these applications."

CONSERVATIVE CAUCUS.

OTTAWA, March 18. Canadian Press. — The Conservatives gathered in caucus to-day. Over 100 members of the opposition in the House, and a number of Conservative senators attended. Matters of organization and the party's programme were discussed.

Massed Fist Fights Between Stalwarts of Rival Towns Taken Up As Sport in Parts Of Russia—500 To a Side

VLADIMIR, Russia, March 18 (Canadian Press).—Massed pugilistic combats in which whole villages are arrayed against each other, have been taken up as sport in many Russian districts. One village challenges another to a test of collective fistic prowess, each electing its most stalwart inhabitants for the fray. Vladimir witnessed a display of the new sport yesterday, when 500 farmers fought 500 men from a neighboring town. The contest drew thousands of spectators from the countryside, some coming from remote villages. The combatants fought bare-handed, and Marquis of Queensbury rules went into the discard..

When the boxers retired after two hours of furious fighting, the scene resembled a battlefield, both the ground and the numerous victims being liberally bloodstained.

Wheat Market Swings Up On Liverpool Quotations

CHICAGO, March 18.— (Canadian Press.) — Owing largely to higher quotations at Liverpool than had been looked for, the wheat market here took a sharp early swing upward to-day. Indications that there had been heavy overnight acceptances of Canadian wheat offered for shipment to Europe tended further to lift values, Canadian export business being talked of in some quarters as the biggest in months. Milling purchases of wheat in Chicago counted also as a strengthening factor. The opening, 7-8 to 1 5-8c. higher, May (new), 163 3-4 to 164 and July 142 1-4 to 142 1-2, was followed quickly by material further gains.

Corn and oats derived firmness from wheat strength. After opening unchanged to 3-8c. higher, May 77 3-8 to 77 1-2. The corn market held near to initial figures.

Oats started unchanged to 1-8c. up, May 40 1-8, and later hardened a little more.

Despite lower quotations on hogs, provisions were responsive to the upward trend of grain.

Toronto Stocks Decline With Smelters Weakest

TORONTO, March 18 (Canadian Press).—A general but moderate decline set in on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, led by Consolidated Smelters, which was the weakest issue on the board. Smelters, after opeeing firm at 210, receded to 205, a lost of four and one-eight points. International Nickel, one of the most active stocks during the session, eased 3-8 at 35 3-4. Massey Harris Common softened two points at 57, the preferred easing a half at 96. Atlantic Sugar and Brazilian each lost a half point at 26 and 91 1-2. Brompton, F. N. Burt and both Canners' issues were all silghtly lower. Dome Mines in heavy trading lost 10 cents at 19.00.

Bear Raids Early To-day Leaves Market Unsettled

NEW YORK, March 18 (Canadian Press).—A bear raid against motor shares, several of which toppled 1 to 5 points, from their early high levels, unsettled to-day's stock market after an opening display of strength on the buying influenced by extra dividend distributions on Van Sweringen roads. Selling orders originated largely with professional traders, but the quickness and extent of the decline soon brought about extensive commission house liquidation for long account. Trading showed a marked increase in volume.

CANADA SHOULD IMPOSE DUTY ON U.S. MAGAZINES

Would Yield $1,600,000 Revenue and Protect Printing Trade.

MONTREAL ADDRESS.

Toronto Newspaper Man Says Printing Much Cheaper in U.S.

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 18 (Canadian Press)—Ten cents a pound on all United States periodicals coming into Canada was advocated by Fred Paul, Toronto newspaper man, in an address delivered before the Montreal Publicity Association here Wednesday. Such a customs levy on 25 United States magazines alone would yield a revenue to the Dominion of $1,600,000, according to the speaker, and he further pointed out that it would, in his opinion, considerably raise the prices of the lower costing and bulkier magazines, in which fifty per cent of the contents were devoted to advertising.

By bringing about an increase in the prices being paid by Canadians for such magazines Mr. Paul thought a public service would be rendered. What he considered were the best magazines, such as the monthly reviews, would be able to come in without any probable increase in their present retail price, and he thought this would be the means of more public demand for these higher priced periodicals.

Continuing, Mr. Paul said that the printing trade in Canada had been on the downgrade for a number of years, and, if things continued as they were, there would be very little left. Any man who started a new English publication in Canada would be a fool, Mr. Paul declared.

Cheaper in U.S.A.

Ability of the United States periodicals manufacturer to meet competition from Canadian publishers in Canada was conceded. Rates being charged for various United States magazines were quoted, and said to be insufficient to pay for the postage. A Toronto publisher was quoted as saying he could take his entire plant over to Buffalo and produce a magazine much cheaper than he could in Canada.

Figures were also quoted of the number of members of the Typographical Union leaving Canada for the United States. In 1924-25 there were 1,326, and as only three-quarters of the offices in Canada were unionized, it was considered that the exact total would be higher.

Something has to be done if Canadian magazines are to be saved, or added to, Mr. Paul concluded, and he suggested the duty of ten cents a pound on all United States periodicals entering Canada.

40,000,000 Copies

Figures produced by the delegation indicated that an average of 40,000,000 copies of United States magazines entered into Canada yearly and approximately 15,000,000 copies of United States week-end newspapers. If taxed as suggested, the revenue to the government would approximate five million dollars yearly on the present circulation of imported publications.

The Canadian publishing trade was also suffering from outside competition, the delegation pointed out, by being subjected to heavy taxation on both material and general business.

It was suggested that the proposed tariff would assist in checking the influx of obnoxious foreign publications.

Careful consideration was promised the delegation by members of the government and the leaders of the opposition parties.

FISH AND GAME RULES CHANGED

Daily Catch of Bass Reduced To Five—Deer Season Unchanged.

FOX UNPROTECTED.

TORONTO, March 18 (Canadian Press).—The Fish and Game Committee of the Legislature, at a meeting to-day, rejected the recommendation of various hunters' associations for a closed season for bear. The committee also declined to leave the present regulations on beaver in effect for another year.

The recommendation that shooting does be prohibited by permitting only the shipment of bucks during the deer season was not adopted. The committee took the view that does would be shot by mistake and then left to rot in the bush.

The committee decided not to change the present season for hunting of deer except on St. Joseph's Island, where, at the request of the Municipal Council, the season will be limited to November 15 to November 30.

No change will be made this year in the regulations which permit the shooting of 25 ducks a day or 200 a season. No protection was placed on fox. The 200-yard limit on ducks was eliminated.

The committee this afternoon reduced the number of the daily catch of bass from eight to five in an effort to conserve the game fish of the province. Lunge and pickerel were left as they are.

BRIAND CABINET COOLLY RECEIVED

First Applause Comes on Statement About Foreign Policies.

PARIS, March 18 (Canadian Press).—The ninth cabinet of Aristide Briand was received in a rather chilly atmosphere when it appeared in parliament this afternoon to present its ministerial declaration, containing an appeal to the legislators to "observe exceptional discipline" in order that the financial dificulties of France might be solved.

The first applause in the Chamber of Deputies came when Premier Briand stated that his previous Government's policy of international agreements would be adhered to.

CAR LOAD LUMBER CAUSES SUSPICION

C.N.R. Authorities Find 143 Kegs in Car Billed To Chicago.

BRANTFORD, March 18 (Canadian Press).—A garage at Brantford police station to-day contains 143 kegs of what is alleged to be strong beer or ale, as the result of a seizure made last night. C. N. R. authorities, suspicious that a carload of lumber should be re-shipped from Brantford to Chicago, after coming from Waterloo, called in the local police who searched the car. Under the lumber they found barrels, cleverly hidden and invisible without the removal of the lumber covering.

Washington Officials Think Preliminary Arms Conference Will Be Held Up.

WASHINGTON, March 18 (Canadian Press).—On the basis of information it has received, the Washington Government is inclined to regard the situation in Europe as promising neither immediate nor material advancement in the direction of disarmament.

The prevailing belief of informed Government officials is that the much-discussed meeting of the League of Nations preliminary disarmament commission will be still further delayed.

Frequently Talks With Dead, Claim Of Lodge

LONDON, March 18.—(Canadian Press.) — Sir Oliver Lodge, scientist and spiritualist, asserted in an address at Christ church, Black Friars, today, that he frequently talks with the dead. He urged his hearers not be be afraid of death, because "there is no extinction."

"There are no dead in this church yard," he declared. He described death as a new adventure, and said that in "the life beyond we may go up or down according to how we have made use of our opportunities in this life."

GERMAN PRESS BLAMES ITALY

Accuses Mussolini of Underhand Activities—Want Luther to Resign.

PROMISES MADE.

BERLIN, March 18 (United Press).—Demands for the resignation of Chancellor Luther, along with suggestions that Premier Mussolini of Italy may be blamed in part for the failure of the League of Nations meeting, holds the attention of the press here.

The Berlin Taglenblatte says: "It is impossible that Brazil alone is responsible for what happened at Geneva. Her insistence upon a seat in the Council and the insistence of other and smaller nations is undoubtedly due to certain promises made by the great powers in advance of the League meeting."

The Vorwaerts accuses Mussolini of underhanded activities.

KNIGHTED GOVERNOR HAS RELATIVES HERE

Local Men Are Cousins of Sir Cecil Clementi, of Hong Kong.

LONDON, March 18 (Canadian Press).—His Majesty the King has empowered Prince George, his youngest son, who is a lieutenant serving with the British fleet in the Far East, to confer the order of Knighthood on the Governor and Commander-in-Chief of Hong Kong, His Excellency Cecil Clementi. The investiture took place last Saturday.

Conferring of knighthood abroad is a rare event. The first occasion on which a son of King George was empowered to act as deputy for his royal father in an investiture of this kind was when the Prince of Wales knighted the late General E. W. B. Morrison, Ottawa, during the Prince's visit to Canada in 1919.

His Excellency is an uncle of the late Rev. Percy Clementi, who was rector of St. Andrew's, London, England, and was curate at St. John's Church, Peterborough, under the late Rev. J. W. R. Beck, and a nephew of the late Mrs. George Strickland of Lakefield. F. V. Clementi and Charles H. Clementi of Peterborough are cousins.

SUGGESTS CHANGE IN RESIDENCE RULE

House Election Committee Would Permit Vote on Affidavit.

TORONTO, March 18 (Canadian Press).—The special committee on election laws and voters' list bills held the first meeting to-day when a suggestion for the reduction of the three months' residence qualification to two months was favored by the committee and will be recommended to the House. The members of the committee hold the opinion that electors whose names have been left off the list by error should be allowed to vote on affidavit.

1190

The Graceful Jabot

Jabot draping, when done as cleverly as in both front and side of the frock above, is the epitome of gracefulness. Novelty silk on a light background was selected for the development of the frock, with a plain harmonizing color for jabot and set-in vestee, which emphasizes the V-shaped neck. The sleeves are long and narrow, and the plain back maintains the slender silhouette. No. 1190 is in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust. Size 38 bust requires 4⅞ yards 36-inch, or 3 yards 54-inch material. Price 20 cents.

Home sewing brings nice clothes within the reach of all, and to follow the mode is delightful when it can be done so easily and economically by following the styles pictured in our new Fashion Book. A chart accompanying each pattern shows the material as it appears when cut out. Every detail is explained so that the inexperienced sewer can make without difficulty an attractive dress. Price of the book 10 cents the copy.

Menus for the Family

By Sister Mary.

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal, thin cream, fish hash, corn meal muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked lima beans with tomatoes, brown bread and butter, orange cream, plain cookies, milk, tea.

Dinner—Salisbury steak, baked sweet potatoes, browned parsnips, endive with hard cooked egg dressing, dried apple pudding, graham bread, milk, coffee.

These are simple economical menus worked out to give maximum food value at minimum cost.

The dinner dessert is particularly "seasonable" when fresh apples are becoming rather scarce and green apples are not "in."

Dried Apple Pudding.

One cup dried apples, 1 cup molasses, 1 1-4 cups flour, 3 tablespoons butter, 2 eggs, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1-2 teaspoon cloves, 1-8 teaspoon salt.

Wash apples through several waters. Let stand over night in cold water to cover. In the morning cut into small pieces and simmer until tender in the water in which they were soaked. Dissolve soda in molasses and add to stewed apples. Mix and sift flour, spices and salt and stir into first mixture. Add butter and beat well. Add eggs well beaten and turn into a well-buttered baking dish. Bake forty-five minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm with hard sauce.

A HAT-CHECKER'S PHILOSOPHY

"A hat girl is a good one to try out those tricks on, Jimmie, for she's defenseless. There's only once in a while that a Sir Galahad or whatever his name was, like you, comes to her defense. I've often wondered how in the world Mamie could stand all the slush that's handed out to her and not get her hands frosted as well as a frozen face. She just smiles at 'em, Jimmie, and doesn't hear a word they say. I asked her once if she hadn't stuffed her ears with cotton and she said:

"'No, dear, but I just draw my hearing inside of me and I don't hear a thing unless it's a sentence that has the word "hat" in it.'"

"Yes, Judy, Mamie's a great girl, isn't she? But just now I want to talk about yourself. If you must have come to the city and I don't see just yet why you came at all, what in the world made you take such a position? Surely, your Dad didn't let you come without money enough to tide you over until you could find something and not work in that restaurant?"

"Dad did give me two hundred and fifty dollars and it was stolen from me right in that restaurant the first night I got here. When I went to pay for my dinner I found my bag was gone. The manager said I was trying to beat them out of it."

"And that's just what he would do, the dirty bum," interrupted Jimmie.

"I tell you I was awfully frightened. I didn't know what I was going to do, but after a good deal of bluster, Mr. Sterns said I could help in the hat-checking station to help pay for the meal I had just eaten."

"I think I'll go back and bust his nose," remarked Jimmie, sotto voce.

"Don't bother about him, dear, I was mighty glad of it, because, you see, I met Mamie. She was the first woman I had spoken to except that awful pallavering thing in the women's dressing room, since I left home. I didn't know I cared so much for my own sex. I thought I liked men best. But you see I was so discouraged I was almost ready to go home, and I knew if I did, I would have to marry Chuck."

"What do you mean 'Chuck,'" asked Jim in a choked voice.

"I mean just what I say. You know Charlie Becker, don't you?"

"Yes, I knew him, but we never chummed together a bit. I was the son of the Irish grocer, Costello, who drove his father's delivery wagon from house to house and he was the son of the banker. He went to Harvard with an allowance and I worked my way through Cornell, so you see we didn't have much in common. I don't think he ever spoke to me after we went to college and I don't think to this day he knows that I am a college man, if that means anything."

THE INEVITABLE QUESTION.

Jim Costello's voice was raspy. I could see that he had felt the cuts which the presumedly society young men had given him.

"I had always thought it was only women and girls that kept up that idea of class. I had always thought that men were more democratic."

"My dear Judy, men are the most snobbish animals on earth. They seldom cut one of your sex but they can be nearer to one of mine and not see them than one would think possible. But I don't want to talk about men or women in general. I want to talk about you.

"You say that if you didn't stay here and work, you'd have to go home and marry Becker. Isn't this a free country? Can't you do as you please? I thought all that old melodrama stuff went out with the old plays of our grandfathers."

Jimmie struck an attitude right in the middle of the sidewalk, and proclaimed:

"Daughter, you must marry Sir George Heathcock, or your father will go to prison and your mother die of shame."

Then he came back to earth and again tucked me under his arm and said:

"That might have been the bee's knees in 1850 but in 1925 it's the bunk."

I laughed and then I blushed, for I didn't want Jimmie to know why Dad had insisted I should marry Charlie Becker. I hesitated as I tried to decide how much I should tell this clever Irishman and how much I should keep to myself.

"You know, Jimmie, Dad thinks a girl ought to marry as soon as she can. He thinks that some man must always be the master of a girl's destiny. Father is the best judge, according to himself, as to what I should do and say and think, until my husband appears on the scene and then he's perfectly willing to turn the management over to him. I don't think it would make any particular difference to Father if the young man had the worst of reputations. He still has that lie implanted in his brain that a girl can marry a man and reform him. I don't want that kind, Jimmie. I want to think. I want to work. I want to be something and somebody all by myself."

"Don't you ever think of marrying, Judy? Don't you expect to fall in love some time. I always thought that was the only thing a girl thought of."

"Tut, tut, man. It's a side issue with most of the girls today."

Winter Dreams

By Juanita Hamel.

Dreams! The dearest possession of a girl's heart. Just watch her as she stretches lazily before the fireplace, idly poking the flaming logs into leaping flames and dreamily watching the brilliant spark-stars remain matured on the tree for five as they gaily dance their way up the chimney.

And you may be sure that her dreams are not of the flames nor of the beauty of the fire—but they are dreams of the wonderful times she has had, perhaps on her winter vacation, or maybe of the last summer's trip when she met Him.

These are the sweetest of all dreams, for they're prompted by Love, and Love's dreams are always the most wonderful things in the world. Particularly when one is in Love.

The Woman's Day

Written by a Woman for Women.

Touching brightly on woman's every major interest in life from books and babies to politics and psycho analysis.

(By Allene Sumner)

MY SAY-SO!

"An actress," says Marjorie Rambeau of that profession, "cannot be judged by the same standards as other people." Marjorie said it in a recent alienation suit in which she was named as "the other woman." The wife's attorney was so cruel as to demand that the actress show just and good cause why the wife's husband should be entertained in so informal a fashion by the actress.

A novel condition we would have if all professions proclaimed their right to standards different from other folks. Plumbers and carpenters and dishwashers and file clerks could dodge all moral issues with a "we can't be judged like other people. It's our profession!"

Girls in a certain London firm are given a year in which to let their shorn heads grow or they will be fired. It's a hair-dressing establishment still waging the fight to make hair "come back" and replenish their coffers impoverished since false hair stopped being sold. So glad it's a crassly commercial and not a moral reason!

THE MODE.

Every woman can be a quick-change artist if a Parisian dressmaker has his way. He is sponsoring the reversible dress. What a boon for the home woman when the pesky caller comes on sweeping and dusting day!

Black velvet pull-over sweaters, sleeveless, and tied tightly on the hip, are sponsored for the smart afternoon costume by Paris. They are worn with skirts of silver tissue.

SHE ASKS

"What should be in my hope chest?" Six to a dozen sheets; same number of pillow cases; 3 bedspreads; 4 bureau scarfs; 12 wash cloths; 12 bath towels; 12 lin n face towels; 4 tablecloths; 3 luncheon sets; 12 dinner napkins; 12 luncheon napkins; 12 dish towels; quilts and blankets according to the number of beds; odd pieces of silver and fancy linen, cut glass, pictures, sofa pillows, vases, and all the home odds and ends luxuries.

BIG PARADE OF WOMEN.

Not all of us can be presented at court and quake in our boots for fear we'll forget that we can't be natural and offer our lily hand to be shaken by the king! But we can read "The Social Side of Diplomatic Life," by Mrs. Maude Parker Child, wife of the former ambassador to Italy. She takes us behind the scenes of being presented at court with a twinkle in her eye.

No woman's club can afford being without the annual edition of "Women of Today," edited by Ida Clyde Clarke. It's a Who's Who of women. Subjects for a thousand club papers. Tells, too, everything done in current year on subjects of interest to women such as child labor, birth control, women in politics, etc.

THE SALAD.

Cold canned vegetables make dandy salads if you get caught "in a pinch" and have no fresh vegetables on hand. Canned string beans, lima beans, peas, carrots, served on lettuce leaf with mayonnaise and slices of hard-boiled egg make delicious salads.

WORTH WHILE READING.

"I believe that biographies of worth while people will give me the most for the little time I can spend on reading," a wife and mother writes me. "But where shall I begin and not waste time with worthless ones?"

I would read, if you haven't, Strachey's "Eminent Victorians"; Ellsworth's "Golden Age of Authors"; Adams' "Education of Henry Adams"; Garland's "Son of the Middle Border"; Helen Keller's "Story of My Life"; Dorr's "Woman of Fifty." That's just the hors d'oeuvre. If you like them, ask for some more!

The Home Kitchen

SEA FOOD CHOWDERS

Chowder made of fish, clams, lobster, or a combination of two, or all of the deep sea dainties makes an ideal dinner.

It is nourishing, satisfying and economical, besides supplying the needed proteins, fats, phosphorus, sulphur, clorine, iodine and iron we require in proportionate quantities. Chowder cooked over a gas hole should have an asbestos pad placed underneath, so the contents are not scorched as they cannot be well stirred.

Deep Sea Chowder.

Line the bottom of the pot with thin slices of salt pork. Place next a layer of thinly sliced onion, then two codfish steaks, then pepper, salt, a few lumps of butter, and cover with a layer of sliced potato. Next cover with two cupfuls of boiled lobster cut in pieces, dot with butter and dust with a little salt and pepper. Now another layer of potatoes, then a layer of thinly sliced onions, then a cupful of boiled shrimp and a cupful of scallops. Dot with butter, dust with pepper and salt. Place buttered pilot crackers all around and pour over all a pint of milk and a cupful and a half of the clam juice.

Cover closely and cook evenly for a half hour. A teaspoonful each of red pepper and minced celery leaves add flavor if used. Serve on hot soup plates. This is ample for six people.

Newburg Chowder.

Boil one large or two small lobsters and remove the meat, dicing the large pieces. Steam open a dozen chowder clams, chop them and save the juice. Drain a dozen large oysters and strain the liquor into the clam juice. Next make a sauce of two cupfuls of cream, heated; then turn it into four tablespoonfuls of butter and two of flour, previously cooked together for two minutes. Add the juice of an onion, pepper, salt and the broth. When thickened pour onto the beaten yolks of two eggs and when blended add the fish mixture. Add a little celery salt and a teaspoonful of Worcestershire sauce. Keep hot in a double boiler. Make a slice of toast for each of the four deep soup plates and turn the chowder over them in equal portions. Serve toasted croutons on the side.

Clam and Tomato Chowder.

Open a large can of whole tomatoes, pour the juice, all seeds and broken pieces into a saucepan. Cut the tomatoes into small pieces and set aside. Add the juice from two and a half dozen chowder clams to the tomato, a chopped onion, a chopped pepper, a cupful of chopped celery, a tablespoonful of chopped parsley and a pint and a half of water. Cook gently for a half an hour and strain. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, then add to it two tablespoonfuls of flour, cook for three minutes, then add a little of the hot juice, blend and turn it into the remainder, add the chopped clams, the pieces of tomato, a tablespoonful of sugar and a tablespoonful of chopped white celery leaves. Cook gently for five minutes and serve. Serve pilot crackers with this chowder.

BELGIUM MUST WORK SALVATION

Premier Tells Deputies in Announcing Failure of Negotiations.

BRUSSELS, March 18. (C. P.) — "Belgium once more must work out her own salvation," Premier Poullet announced yesterday in the Chamber of Deputies in discussing the financial situation and the depreciation of the Belgian franc.

He admitted the failure of negotiations to secure a loan in the United States and Great Britain to stabilize the franc.

TENNIS CLOTHES.

(Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, March 18.—(United Press).—Within a few weeks we shall see American sportswomen dancing over the tennis courts. While tennis costumes have not changed very much during the past years it is predicted that the recent tennis matches between Miss Helen Wills and Mlle. Lenglen will have an efefct upon tennis styles.

There is a great contrast between the tennis frocks of Miss Wills and Mlle. Lenglen. Miss Wills is typicall American in her crisp white middy blouse, pleated skirt and lisle stockings. Instead of the ribbon head bandeau effected by Mlle. Lengle, Miss Wills wears a very business-like eyeshade. When she wears a sweater it is a boyish one which fits loosely over her middy.

Mlle. Lenglen, on the other hand, is dressed by Jean Patou and her clothes are as alluringly French as this designer can make them. Usually she wears a white silk dress with a semi-fitted and rather long waisted bodice to which is attached a skirt that is pleated in front and at the sides and plain at the rear. Over this if the weather demands it, she wears a vari-colored sweater which is matched by a wide headband of vari-colored ribbon. Always her sweaters and headbands are vivid. The headband almost conceals her bovishly cropped black hair. Her stockings are silk although she generally wears canvas tennis ties.

Already at Florida courts girls are wearing pastel-hued eye shades similar to the business-like eyeshades of Miss Wills. Sleeveless and round-necked frocks with semi-fitted bodices and pleated skirts are more popular than middy blouses with the Florida players.

One young Miss at a Southern resort wears a novel tennis outfit which consists of white linen knickers uned a frock with slit skirt. The knickers are banded in below the knee. The frock has a front and rear apron effect instead of the pleated skirt. Thus one has slenderness and freedom of motion combined.

Ribbon bandeaux with visor attachment to shield the eyes are worn as protection against the glaring sun. Short, white wool socks which extend just above the ankle are worn by some smart young tennis players. With these are worn tennis sandals which have lacings crossed like ballet slippers.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, and emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action, it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other fords of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchical asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to direction. Ask your druggist Creomulsion Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

THE SECRETS OF CHARM

By Lucrezia Bori

Do you do everything in your power to make your hair the burnished, healthy kind that catches the glints of light in an alluring manner?

I am sure that many women spend much time and care on their hair, and still do not achieve the happy results they long for. Often this is because they do not care for it in the approved manner.

Now as long as you are willing to spend energy in cultivating beautiful hair, I advise you to learn the very best methods of approaching your task, so you can achieve the best results possible.

In the first place, be sure that you remove every bit of soap from your hair after you have given it a shampoo. If you do not own a shower bath attachment, you can procure a small spray for very little expense, and this will help wonderfully to cleanse your hair of every particle of soap which may cling to it.

If your comb seems to catch a dark deposit when you use it, this is usually made up of small bits of soap which have remained on your hair, despite the rinsing you have given it.

Keep your brush absolutely clean. If you live in a city where there is much coal soot in the air, this may mean that you have to wash your brush every night; but do not hesitate, as it takes only a minute or two.

Now, I am going to tell you an excellent way to dry your hair so that you can polish the ends down to the very tip. This will help wonderfully to keep your hair in a good, healthy, well polished condition, and is a secret imparted to me by a prominent hair specialist.

Dry your hair in the usual way, applying warm towels, and rubbing your scalp with your finger-tips.

When it is almost dry, comb it out so there are no tangles, and proceed as follows:

Divide your hair off into sections, by parting it with vertical lines. Let each section have enough hair to make an average curl.

Now take your brush and curl your hair around your finger, just as if you were making a finger curl.

Brush it down to the very tip, and when you get to the end, brush hard, as this polishes the very ends of your hair.

It makes no difference if your hair comes out of curl as soon as the curl is made. The object is simply to burnish the ends and make them strong.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

APPETITE IS NO SAFE GUIDE TO A DIET.

A reformation of the nation's diet is the object of an association in England. It is headed by Sir Arbuthnot Lane, of whom I have told you so many times. He is urging the nation to eat itself to better health.

Here is what Sir Arbuthnot said the other day:

"The absorption of poisonous products from an infected intestine produces contamination of the entire blood supply. This foul blood causes a deterioration and degeneration of every tissue of the body, reduces the resisting power and vitality and permits the invasion of organisms and toxins which produce rheumatism, rheumatic gout, tuberculosis, diseases of the heart, blood vessels, liver, gall bladder and kidneys, as well as cancer."

Sir Arbuthnot gives the purpose of the new movement as one "to deal with the primary cause of all these diseases by instructing the public in such diet and habits as will prevent their development. To meet this it is necessary to provide in sufficient quantity such fruits and green food, whole meal bread, etc., as are essential to keep the body in health and render these simple foods accessible to those of limited means."

Let's join the society. We need not sign anything or pay any dues. We can merely take a solemn vow to reform our individual habits. We cannot speak for the nation, but if each of us would practice simple eating it would change the nation's health.

The difficult thing about getting folks to eat as they should is because it happens usually that the things they should not eat are the very things they best love. Whenever appetite is involved there is trouble at once. We can give up everything except the things appealing to the palate. As they say in slang, we can resist anything but temptation.

You cannot have good health unless you are willing to exercise self-denial in eating. It is out of the question for you to gratify every demand of your stomach and expect it to be a normally acting and healthy organ.

Abuse of the digestive organs is fundamental to a dozen serious ailments. If a nation is to have health, the individual citizens must treat themselves better than they have in the past.

Five millions of the people who are now alive in North America will die of cancer. That is a dreadful statement, isn't it. But, dear friend, you can hope to escape it, as well as the degenerative diseases, by right living and right eating.

Rich foods, course dinners, stuffing at meals, too frequent eating and neglect of the organs of elimination — these things lead to disaster. Keep your blood pure by simple eating, the drinking of plenty of water and attention to the intestinal action. Then you may expect to live long and be one of the units of a healthy nation.

Mrs. B. C. Q.—Is it harmful for a mother and daughter to share the same bed? The mother is 58 and the daughter 20.

A.—While not harmful if the room is kept well ventilated, it is always more healthful to sleep alone if possible.

FAMOUS FORTUNES

By Barbara Bayne

STEPHEN BENTON ELKINS—THE "FINANCIAL NAPOLEON."

One of the notable multi-millionaires who was "the architect of his own fortune" was Stephen Benton Elkins. He was born in Ohio in 1841 and removed to Missouri. It was whispered that he was a member of Quantrell's band during the Civil War. Be that as it may, he was admitted to the Missouri bar in 1864 and that same year went to new Mexico.

The Southwest had need of educated, brainy leaders and received him with open arms. Elkins immediately entered the political arena where his rise was rapid and brilliant. He became a member of the Territorial Legislature the first year, then moved up by rapid, successive steps to become Territorial district attorney, attorney-general, and United States district attorney.

It was while he was a delegate to Congress from New Mexico in 1874 that he got hold of the Maxwell land grant (through a tax sale) which laid the foundation of his fortune. The grant embraced in all 1,714,764 acres of the finest lands in New Mexico, including timber lands and rich gold, silver and coal deposits.

Followed many other venture sin real estate, mainly in Spanish grants. In 1866 Elkins had married Sallie Jacobs of Missouri, who had died. Later, in the course of his brilliant career he had married the daughter of United States Senator Henry G. Davis, of West Virginia, himself a millionaire owner of railroads and coal mines.

Already counting his wealth by millions, Elkins removed to West Virginia where he and his father-in-law built more railroads and secured control of coal, coke, oil and lumber properties. They also financed the construction of several railroads in Nevada, Utah and California.

In 1891 President Harrison appointed Elkins Secretary of War, and he was United States Senator from West Virginia from 1895 to 1913. He founded the town of Elkins where he built a place on the mountainside commanding a magnificient view for thirty-five miles. He also had a splendid residence in Washington where his daughter Katherine, the belle of West Virginia, was very popular. In her travels abroad she had met the Duke of the Abruzzi and soon their engagement was announced.

Senator Elkins approved the match, but not the conditions attached to the marriage when it became apparent that his daughter would have no recognition at the Italian court.

"My daughter must be a Duchess, or you an American" was his ultimatum to the Duke. And the Duke had bowed to Royal will. Senator Elkins had not been well and grief over his part in the breaking of the match was said to have hastened his end. With all his millions he could not buy his daughter's happiness. He died in 1911 in Washington and his body was taken to Elkins, West Virginia for burial.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

BETTY VISITS A STRANGE TREE LADY.

Betty picked up the brown, ball-like object her Daddy brought home from the market and looked at it.

"Cocoanut! And you say these large nuts grow on a tree?" she mused. "My, I'd like to see such a tree!"

"Well, that's an easy matter," whispered a tiny voice, and a wee little elfin, about as tall as the tea pot, peeked from behind the brown cocoanut at Betty. "Hush, don't say a word." He put his fingers on his lips and winked at Betty. "We'll be there before you know it."

Before Betty had a chance to say one word, she found herself sitting on the cocoanut beside the wee elfin.

"Gocomeback," she laughed merrily, holding to his coat tail tightly, "you certainly are a dear. Whenever I wish for anything, you're right there to give it to me."

"Not much good in this world if we can't help others," laughed the elfin.

The cocoanut began to wave from side to side, and down Betty and the elfin tumbled right under a great tall tree.

"Of all things!" Betty exclaimed, glancing up at the great cluster of green things hanging underneath a bunch of queer-looking leaves. "Hasn't this tree any branches?"

"What! My tree have branches," exclaimed a soft voice and Mrs. Cocoanut, the little sprite who lived in the heart of the cocoanut tree, laughed merrily and nodded to Betty and Gocomeback. "No, I have no branches; my leaves are my branches, my dear," and she shook out her beautiful leaves in the sunlight. "Have one of my clusters of blossoms?"

Down in front of Betty dropped the queerest cluster of blossoms she had ever seen. The flower-buds grew from the end of the leaf fastened to the trunk of the tree.

Like a shower of white bits of velvet, they hung from the under-side of the leaf. About six tiny, snow-white balls nestled among the velvety sprays.

"Now, then," continued the Cocoanut Tree Lady, "when they are in full bloom, they open into three-petaled, milk-white flowers which turn yellow after a few days. Let's see," she mused, softly. "I bloom about every six weeks, and each cluster of blossoms will ripen from five to fifteen nuts. I guess my last season I gave out about ninety cocoanuts. Those large green things you see higher up among the leaf stems are ripe now. You see, here in the South Sea Islands, the natives think a great deal of the cocoanut trees. They drink the milk that you find inside the hard, brown shell, eat the white meat that holds the milk, and then, after we have stopped bearing nuts, our wood becomes very hard. The natives cut the fruitless trees down and use the wood for building ships and huts, furniture or for making farm utensils. My wood for red and beautifully marked with dark lines."

"My goodness," laughed Betty, when the little tree sprite stopped to get her breath, "one would never think by just looking at your tree."

"Well, I guess Mrs. Cocoanut Tree hasn't told you half of her usefulness, but I just heard the school bell ring, and we'll have to be getting home." Gocomeback took hold of Betty's hand, and before she could even thank the tree lady, Betty stood in front of her own house. She just had time to thank the travel elfin and hurry off to school before the second bell.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble.

FRIDAY, MARCH 19.

The sidereal operations for this day point to rather quiet conditions. Things are likely to move along in the routine grooves as to business relations and should be encouraging to commercial transactions. But the tendency to rash or tempestuous conduct should be subdued. All heart and home affairs should thrive and give satisfaction.

Those whose birthday it is may expect a year of routine affairs with things moving in customary grooves. In personal affairs, however, and all of a domestic, social or affectional nature there should be happy and prosperous conditions. A child born on this day may be popular, good-natured and ambitious and should rise to good position in life.

FRIENDSHIP

The east is east and the west is west and some like this, or the other best. When in the east, the west is far, and the east's the same when it's west you are.

A man may hail from a far off coast, move some place else, in his work engrossed, but he ne'er forgets it, after all—that deep desire, and that far-off call.

As Burns once said, a man's a man, who can make real friends like a real man can. He can step right in where there are no breaks in the friendship gag when he pulls up stakes.

He can go back home leave his friends behind. He can settle down in his peace of mind, 'cause he knows what friendship really gains. Though he's gone, his spirit still remains.

There ain't no word like the word "goodby," when you shout it out to o tip-top guy. He can shake your hand and be on his way, but the good lad feeling sticks for aye.

MILLBROOK NEWS

MILLBROOK, March 17.— A very pleasant gathering was held this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. McLeod, Cedar Valley, Cavan, when over eighty of their friends not only of the immediate neighborhood but including many who had driven from several miles' distance, were present to enjoy a social occasion together before the removal of Mr. and Mrs. McLeod to Millbrook to reside.

Games, music, and dancing provided agreeable entertainment and about 10 o'clock the host and hostess were called forward and presented with a handsome mantel clock, Mr. Eric Hunter reading the following address, and Mr. H. Roddy, on behalf of the guests, making the presentation:

To Mr. and Mrs. McLeod,

Having learned of your departure from our midst in the near future, we, your friends and neighbors, have gathered together in your home this evening to say "Farewell."

It is not the first time that we have enjoyed your hospitality, and may we venture to express the wish that your new home will not be so far removed that this will be our last opportunity to visit you.

While you have lived amongst us you have endeared yourselves to us all by your cheery, helpful friendship. We keenly regret that we shall no longer have you as neighbors but, at the same time, we fully realize that our loss will be gain to another community.

We know you will make new friends quickly, and trust that you will be very happy in your new surroundings; but that you may not forget those of us who are gathered here tonight, we ask you to accept this clock as a slight rememberance of our esteem and affection for you.

May its chime count many hours of true happiness for both of you and your small son, and be a constant reminder of your sojourn in our vicinity.

(Signed) Eric Hunter, Harry Roddy, Offa Williamson.

On behalf of his wife and himself Mr. McLeod made suitable reply thanking the donors not only for their beautiful and useful gift, but mentioning particularly their appreciation of the kindly words which accompanied it.

Stewart's orchestra provided music for the dancing which was kept up until after 2 a.m., the supper interval occuring about midnight.

Messrs. W. G. and Chas. Rowland have purchased Mr. McLeod's mill property, usually spoken of as the "Lower Mill" and his residence, and expect to take possession the middle of this month. Mr. McLeod will move to Millbrook and occupy W. G. Rowland's former house but will probably remain here only one or two months. He has not as yet decided where he will permanently locate. His trade is that of a steel expert.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NUMBER FOURTEEN—MARKY MUSKRAT GETS TIRED

Marky Muskrat went off to Scrub-Up Land with the March Hare and the Twins like the good little fellow he was.

But he didn't want to be spring-cleaned any more than you like to have a bath when you're all ready to go out to play.

"I'll just look the same," he said. "I'll just be an ugly old brown—no matter how clean I am. I know, because I can see myself in the water as plainly as if I had a looking glass."

"Don't you wish you looked like me!" mocked a voice just then.

And there sat Bobby Bluejay in a tree. He was as blue, as a corn flower, with bits of white on him—a dude if ever there was one.

"Yes, I do!" said Marky honestly, as he trudged along.

"Or like me," called another voice shrilly. And there sat Redwing Blackbird. He had just arrived from the south.

"Yes, I do!" said Marky. "I always liked red."

"Then you'd like to look like me!" called Robin Redbreast's voice proudly.

"Yes, I should!" agreed poor Marky. "I'd like to be just anything rather than plain ugly old brown that looks like mud. Why, I'm almost exactly the color of the mud bank I live in! Sometimes Mama Muskrat used to say that unless she looked two or three times she couldn't see me at all."

By this time they had reached the little bush where the path turned off to that corner of Fairyland where Mister Rubadub lived.

"You'll feel much better when you get the burrs and tangles brushed out of you, Marky," said Nick kindly. "Rubadub won't hurt you. Then you can go and get a good square meal in the Land - Where - Spring - Is - Coming. Everybody feels sort of blue when he's hungry."

Suddenly Marky began to grin. Then he began to laugh. He laughed so hard that he couldn't get his breath long enough to tell them what it was all about, until they had reached the place where Mister Rubadub was waiting.

"What's so funny?" asked the fairyman curiously. "Won't you tell us, so we all can laugh?"

"Sure!" nodded Marky happily. "Nick just said something that put an idea into my head. He said everybody felt blue when he was hungry. Why can't I be blue as well as feel blue, Mister Rubadub? I'm tired and sick of being brown."

At these astonishing words Mister Rubadub scratched his head. Nancy and Nick looked at the March Hare, and the March Hare waggled his ears and looked at them.

"Why couldn't I be part red and part blue?" went on Marky anxiously. "That's better still. You have all sorts of fairy paint, haven't you, Mister Rubadub, for the bright colored birds that some to get fixed up—the ones that faded down south in the sun. And maybe you could mix in a little bit of green, also some yellow and orange like the orioles wear. I'd like to be all colors, Mister Rubdaub. Just for once! I'm so sick of just looking like mud."

Marky pleaded so hard that the fairyman stopped scratching his head, and the March Hare stopped waggling his ears and Nancy and Nick stopped smiling at each other.

Everybody began to feel sorry for the plain little muskrat who was so tired of himself.

"I might try," agreed Mister Rubadub finally. "But you'll look like a cross between a poll-parrot and a rainbow, I'm afraid."

"I don't care," cried Marky happily. "Please commence."

PLAY AT MADOC MUCH ENJOYED

Presbyterian Ladies' Aid Society Put On Good Entertainment.

WELL STAGED.

MADOC, March 17.—On Wednesday evening, March 10, a comedy-drama entitled "Clubbing A Husband" was presented in the Empire Theatre by the Ladies' Aid Society of St. Peter's Presbyterian church. A capacity house greeted the players and much hearty applause encouraged them throughout the evening.

A vital point in the success of amateur plays is the suitability of the player to the part she is to act, and it was plainly evidenced that great perspicacity had been exercised in the choice of characters. Each one seemed particularly well suited to her part and played it with a far-reaching sense of realism and a precision and spontaneity often lacking in amateur players.

The play itself had not much plot to it, but so well were the characterizations depicted, that there was not a bored moment in it. The time occupied one day. The synopsis is as follows:

Act I—Morning—Mrs. Newman's Living Room—Planned.

Act II—Afternoon—Same Room—Fanned.

Act III—Evening—Dr. Jordan's Office—Manned.

The central idea of the play was the forming of a club for women, where they could assert their freedom and by their absence from home introduce friend husband to such domestic homely duties as dish-washing, minding the baby and all the many little tasks that occupy a wife's afternoon and evening.

The scene opened with pretty little Mrs. Blanche Newman in tears because her husband had gone away for a week and she is sure her heart is broken. This part was taken by Mrs. Carl McCoy who was indeed throughout the play, the bride of six months, very much in love, very easily discouraged and worried and troubled over many trifles, as she was intended to be. Her sister Mrs. Henrietta Ashton, arriving from Boston to visit her, was the instigator of the club and in many long speeches told how her sisters' troubles and all women's troubles could be cured by clubbing her husband. She was pre-eminently a suffragette, and the part was splendidly interpreted by Miss T. Vancleek, who in looks, voice and manners was a fashionable city lady, brimming over with energy, and the champion of women's rights. On Miss Vancleek depended much of the success of the play and she lived up to the confidence placed in her ability.

Her daughter, Maud, an overgrown girl of sixteen not allowed to grow up because (as told in an aside) "mamma would appear that much older too," was taken with vim and spirit by Miss Edna Pettit, and her pranks frequently brought down the house.

The principles of emancipation and equal rights caused many amusing situations greatly heightened by the clever acting, bright-hued garments and rich Irish brogue of Bridget O'Flanagan, played by Mrs. W. J. Hill, and by the realistic performance of Mrs. T. Nicol as Belle, the black-hued cook with rolling eyes and soft southern drawl. These two characters provided the light side of the play and were provocative of many peals of laughter.

D. Georgiana Jordan, a typical lady doctor of the militant type who aided Mrs. Ashton in the organizing of the Club, was well depicted by Mrs. Walter Whytock. Her frequent assertions of thankfulness for he rstate of single blessedness made her capitulation in the last act all the more amusing. Her delight at the return of an old sweetheart could not be hidden.

It would be impossible to deal with each of the characters but suffice is to say that all the ladies who joined the Club did their parts faithfully and well, not forgetting the elderly lady, Mrs. Ottaway who maintained a disapproving expression throughout the meetings and shook her head disdainfully above the grey knitting of "pa's sock."

The cast of characters is as follows and hearty congratulations are due to each of them.

Mrs. Blanche Newman—Mrs. Carl McCoy.

Mrs. Henrietta Ashton (from Boston)—Miss Vancleek.

Maud Ashton—Miss Edna Pettit.

Belle (a colored cook)—Mrs. T. M. Nichol.

Bridge O'Flanagan—Mrs. W. J. Hill.

Mrs. Ottaway—Mrs. D. Blue.

Mrs. Ferris—Miss Annie McKenzie.

Dr. Georgiann Jordan, a typical ter Whytock.

Mrs. Whitney—Miss Ruby Nichol.

Mrs. Reynolds—Mrs. William Ellis.

Mrs. Harry Hudson—Miss Edna Blue.

Mrs. Skylark—Miss Jessie McKenzie.

Between the acts two entertaining musical skits were given by some of the young ladies of the congregation. One was entitled "Reduced to $1.99" and the other "Hats of Other Days" in which the changing fashions of ladies' hats caused much merriment. These selections were acted and sung by Misses Marion Robertson, Mildred and Mabel Comerford, Olive Sweetman, Edna Pettit, Donna Stalworthy, Hazel Carswell, Annie and Jessie McKenzie and Lamoine West.

William Hawthorne, who also figured in "Reduced to $1.99" appeared again to sing in his fine tenor voice "When Irish Eyes are Smiling" and as an encore, "The Pride of Kildare", and again "I Owe Ten Dollars To O'Grady" with a clever bit of paraphrase relating to the new covered rink. The storm of applause bespoke Mr. Hawthorne's popularity.

Rev. T. G. Mashall, pastor of the church, enlivened a few spare moments with stories of Irish wit, and after welcoming the audience thanked all those who had assisted the production of the play and in making the evening such a success. The Madoc Orchestra also contributed largely to the pleasure of all present by a generous supply of music.

ANSWER TO YESTERDAY'E CROSSWORD PUZZLE

STALE AND SICK SAYS TELEGRAM OF PETES' TEAM

Varsity at Their Best and Peterboro at Their Worst.

SHOWED POOR FORM.

Would Never Have Won O. H.A. Championship on That Play.

The following comment on the Petes' defeat is from The Toronto Telegram:

It was simply a case of Varsity being at their best, and better than a lot of people expected, and Peterboro being at their worst. Varsity showed more real team play than any Senior aggregation this season. They were unselfish, and their passes were made in clever fashion. Of course, it must not be overlooked that Peterboro's checking was spasmodic and had the losers been at their best, a lot of that clever Varsity combination would have been smothered. Varsity had the edge in team play, in speed, in checking and in shooting and they played together in splendid fashion.

Peterboro's Hard Luck.

For Peterboro plenty of excuses are available and real good excuses, too. It was figured they might show signs of staleness. But it was never figured they would be as stale as they were. But there was more than staleness. There was sickness, too. Dwyer should never have played. He has a terrible cold. McLeod got out of a sick bed to don a uniform and Bogardis was not fully recovered from his illness last week. That Peterboro team of last night would never have come near winning their O.H.A. Senior group. It is not unfair to Varsity to state these facts concerning Peterboro. The Students last nigh might have beaten the Peterboro team at its best. But a lot of glory from the victory was lost because of the poor form displayed by the Lift Lockers.

Dwyer Below Form.

Sullivan was wonderful in the Varsity goal. At the other end Dwyer gave one of his worst performances. But don't forget he was sick. Shots that beat him last night are usually of the soft kind. True they were hard drives from outside the defence, but it isn't written in the book that Dwyer has very often let three or four shots like that get by him. With McLeod unable to show his best, it meant none too hard a road for the Varsity attackers to get around him though when they found Dwyer off his game, Varsity drove the majority from just outside. On the forward line Varsity had speed, zip and clever passing. All were good, the only one apparently not up to his best being Ned Wright. He wandered a lot from his position.

Ranger and Bogardis

Rose turned in a nice game for Peterboro. He was hard to get by on the defence and was dangerous on his rushes with a shot from outside the defence that gave Sullivan some active work. Ranger and Bogardis were the most consistent of the Peterboro forwards. Bailey went well in spots only. Collins in centre scored the only goal, but his all round work was nothing like he has shown in previous games.

OSHAWA GIRLS PLAY HERE ON SATURDAY

Return Basketball Game With Y.W.C.A. Team.

OSHAWA, Mar. 18—The return game between Oshawa Ladies' Ontario Basketball Association intermediate team and Peterboro Y. W. C.A. girls, which was postponed on Saturday afternoon last owing to the Peterboro City League play-off will be played in the Liftlock City next Saturday. Oshawa girls won in the Motor City by 19 to 11, outscoring the Peterboro team in the first and third period, while in the second and third period Peterboro outscored the Motor City crew. With a lead of eight points Oshawa girls expect to be able to win the round.

The line-up of the Oshawa team will be: right forward, Doris Kennedy; left forward, Katherine McLaughlin; cente, Agnes Alger; right guard, Jean Hall; left guard, Marion Lick; subs, Dorothy Cutler, Mary Mason and Bubs Fulton; coach, Cliffe James.

BROOKLYN WEAK SPOT IS INFIELD

Manager Robinson Has Only Jack Fournier Playing at Present.

SHORTSTOP ILL.

CLEARWATER, Fla., March 18 (Canadian Press)—Brooklyn's pennant chances this season in the National League depend entirely on the success of efforts to reconstruct the infield, in the opinion of President-Manager Wilbert Robinson.

"Last year at this time my chief worry was over my pitching staff; now it is my infield," Robinson declared yesteday. "It seems to me as though these two problems alternate every year.

"Johnny Butler, the shortstop for whom we gave much to Minneapolis has been a big disappointment. He has not been able to play at all. First he had the flu; now he has stomach trouble. I do not know when he will be able to play.

"Stock is still a holdout and Maranville is not playing up to form as yet. The fact is, except for the old reliable Jack Founier I have no infield at all.

"My pitching staff, however, is in better shape than for years past. Grimes is back in fine form and you know what that means, with Dazzy Vance as his side partner. Jess Petty is showing good form. Then there is Jess Barnes, who appears to be as good as ever. In McWeeney, the former Pacific coast pitcher, I have a most promising boy. I plan to use him as a regular."

BILLY EVANS SAYS

SPITBALL PITCHERS WALSH A MARVEL. DIFFERENT STYLES.

"Whom do you consider the greatest pitcher in the history of the game?"

My mail of the other day brought such an inquiry.

"Since there are only a few spitball pitchers in the majors and the delivery will soon be but a memory," continued the letter, "we would welcome your opinion as to the relative merits of the pitchers who have used that style of delivery."

It is a rather difficult matter to answer that query in one definite sentence, since there are so many angles to the situation.

Off hand I would say that Ed Walsh of the Chicago White Sox was the most effective of all spitball pitchers I have ever umpired.

However, I have in mind several pitchers who had a more deceptive spitball than Walsh. His remarkable effectiveness was a matter of control as well as a break on the ball.

Walsh's spitter dipped only slightly but broke sharply. It is a well known fact that a spitball is effective only when pitched low. So uncanny was Walsh's controll that he seemed able to keep it at the knee on every pitch.

Rated for effectiveness, which, after all is the end desired in pitching, I would say that Walsh should be ranked first among the spitballers.

For out and out deceptiveness, I never saw a pitcher who delivered a freakier ball than Jimmy Dygert, who, 15 years ago was a valued member of the Athletics pitching staff.

Dygert's spitball looked like a fast ball until within a short distance of the plate and then it seemed to duck downward in a most deceptive manner. Opposing batters were always topping Dygert's spitball. His control was just so-so, therefore he never reached the heights that his ability deserved.

Jack Chesbro, one of the first of the big league pitchers to cash in on the spitball, worked much after the manner of Walsh. There was nothing so very different or difficult about his delivery but he was able to keep it knee high and that prevented rival clubs from taking much liberty with it.

Just when Walsh was slipping, Russell Ford came along with what was believed to be the most unusual of all spitball deliveries. Instead of making the ball break down, he would break it in or out and give it a hop according to the manner in which he threw the ball.

Ford went through all the motions of pitching a spitter but in reality was throwing the emery ball.

* * *

To Jimmy Dygert I would give the credit of throwing the freakiest spitball I have ever tried to judge. Sometimes it seemed as if his spitball broke a foot. The batters insisted even more than that.

* * *

Of the modern spitball pitchers, it is my openion that Pitcher Urban Shocker of the Yankees has developed the moist delivery more than any one else.

Shocker delivers the spitter with three different speeds. His slow ball is a lazy breaking spitter that is as hard to fathom as the one that snaps. He also uses a half speed as well as all his stuff in getting a different break. Incidentally, he mixes in a curve spitball that puzzles.

"Red" Faber of the Chicago White Sox must be rated one of the greatest of spitball pitchers. Faber uses one style, after the manner of Walsh, and keeps it low. As a result he has been for years one of the outstanding pitchers in the majors.

Stanley Coveleskie of Washington, one of the truly great spitters, has used it more than any of the others. "He starts and finishes with a spitter," is the way players speak of "Covey."

* * *

Walsh for effectiveness. Dygert for the freakiest break and Shocker for making the most use of the spitball, would be the way I would sum up the situation.

GUNNERS ENTER EASTERN FINALS

St. Francois Xavier Team of Montreal Defaults To Ottawa.

WANT TWO GAMES.

OTTAWA, March 18 (Canadian Press).—"Silver Quilty, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, announced last night that the game scheduled here tonight between Ottawa Gunners and St. Francis Xavier of Montreal had ben declared off and forfeited to the Gunners. The Montreal team refused to play a sudden death game on Ottawa ice, and President Quilty's action has been the result.

The tie which resulted in the Sons of Ireland-St. Francis Xavier series delayed the semi-final so much that a sudden death final game here was considered as the logical solution.

FINAL SHUT-OUT FOR SENATORS

Defeat St. Pats 4-0 in Last Schedule Game—New York Wins.

BEATS MAROONS.

OTTAWA, March 18 (Canadian Press).—Defeating Toronto St. Pats here last night by 4 to 0 Ottawa Senators closed the local N.H.L. schedule by registering their 17th shut-out victory of their league season. There was nothing at stake for either team and as a result only a small crowd turned out to see the Harps in their final appearance of the season on Ottawa ice.

New York 5, Maroons 3

NEW YORK, March 18 (Canadian Press)—The curtain was wrung down on Gotham's first National Hockey League season last night, with a spicy match between Montreal Maroons and New York Americans, the locals winning 5 to 3, and ensuring them of fifth place in the league standing. Play itself, heated from the opening bell, was packed with plenty of thrills.

PORT ARTHUR GETS GOOD LEAD

Allan Cup Holders Defeat Regina Vics in First of Semi-Finals.

SCORE 6-3.

PORT ARTHUR, March 18 (Canadian Press).—Port Arthur's Allan Cup defenders had little trouble last evening in disposing of Regina, challengers from the farther West, in the first of the two-game Allan Cup semi-finals the score being 6-3.

The ports started off with a whirlwind attack in the opening period, and in sixteen minutes had scored four straight goals, their advantage being so one-sided that the crowd began to cheer for Regina whenever they showed signs of getting dangerous.

With the Port Arthur team lining up in centre ice and using the poke check, the visitors were not only beaten in most cases before they reached the defence, but the home team was time and again able to break away with no one to pass except the defence. Not until rather soft ice made puck-carrying from this system difficult did the Regina team begin to figure in the game, and then, when it became an individual affair with lots of overskating, the puck rolling and slamming work at the disc that refused to do as it might have done on hard ice, the Vics were the equals of the Ports.

LEADERS Their Records of 1925 BATTING

BABE RUTH.

Made major league debut in 1914 with Boston Red Sox. Started as pitcher. Later switched to outfield on account of batting ability. Also played few games at first base.

Best season in 1921. Set world home-run record, getting 59 in 152 tilts. Scored 177 runs same season —a major league mark. Made 253 extra bases on hits and 457 total bases for new records same campaign.

Led league in 1924 in hitting with mark of .378. Topped pitchers in 1915, winning 18, losing six. Only major leaguer to lead in both batting and pitching.

Sold to Yankees end of 1919 campaign. Reported price $125,000.

Has been in six world series, three each with Red Sox and Yankees. Hit .368 in 1923 classic. Scored eight runs.

* It is estimated that the major league clubs spend at least a quarter of a million dollars during the training period before the opening of the championship season.

FOOTBALL DANCE

Omemee Tannery Club Held Its First Dance Recently.

OMEMEE, March 18.—The football club of the Edwards and Edwards Tanning Company held its first dance on Friday night in Coronation Hall. The dance hall was strikingly decorated in red and white for the event. The music for the evening was provided by a Peterboro orchestra and the crowd which was not as large as formerly, enjoyed the excellent dance programme provided immensely.

Many were in attendance from Peterboro, Lindsay, Fowler's Corners and other points.

Refreshments were served in the early hours of the morning and the festivities ended about 3 a.m.

The NIT Cracker

By JOE WILLIAMS

Bobby Jones is undoubtedly the greatest golfer that ever lived, but Walter Hagen simply refuses to believe it.

The amateur champion now knows how it feels to run afoul of a pair of Dempsey fists, delivered with Fitzsimmons power and Greb frequency.

None of us imagined we'd ever live long enough to see a great bird like Jones beaten 12 up in a golf match. . . . Not without the aid of a tank of chloroform and an army at any rate.

Nothing can surprise us now. Walter Johnson can become a bull-pen pitcher, Earl Sande can go to training mules, Willie Hoppe can start racking pool balls and Babe Ruth can drop to the sandlots.

If any living golfer—even the great Hagen—can bounce Jones around until he's cross-eyed and knock-kneed, then anything can happen, and no doubt will.

Whether Hagen is actually that much better than Jones is a waffle you can fry on your own griddle. Maybe he is and maybe he isn't. The important thing is that they paid off on those figures.

One feature about the Haig. He's always been stronger in a pinch than a New Jersey cop.

You can give him the tramps' exit in the assorted cold meats events, but when you start serving turkey he's there for a double helping, and gets it.

A lot of the spear-toters in the mashie-niblick ranks don't like him because he carries his chin high and wears his hat higher.

That bothers him about as much as a sliver in a nightwatchman's wooden leg.

Alexander the Great had a quart-sized ego. Napoleon's vanity cracked a mirror. When Washington put on the Ritz it was becoming.

when misplaced. . . . The barnyard cow is an admirable animal, but it is admirable only in the barnyard.

HOFF PLANS TOUR.

Receives Extension of Stay in U. S. A.

NEW YORK, March 18 (Canadian Press). — Charley Hoff of Norway, hailed as a super-athlete as a result of his record-shattering triumph in the world's indoor all-around championship, yesterday laid plans for a country wide tour of athletic conquest after receiving cabled permission from Norwegian authorities to extend his invasion to the middle of July.

The 23-year-old Viking's original permit covered only a three months' period of competition ending May 4. The extension now only will permit him to make a transcontinental tour, competing in ten or a dozen meets in the middle and far west, but also will enable him to take part in the National A.A.U. championships at Philadelphia July 5 and 6.

ROCHESTER, N.Y., March 18 (Canadian Press).—A New York State hockey league, comprising the cities of Albany, Syracuse, Utica, Buffalo, Niagara Falls and Rochester, will be launched in the season of 1926-27, according to John W. Holden, president of the Rochester Hockey Club. Plans are under way for an inclosed rink here, the same official declared.

COBOURG NEWS

COBOURG, March 17 (Special) —A happy event, worthy of imitation, elsewhere took place here on Saturday afternoon when friends in the Baptist church of Miss Jean Norton, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. N. Norton gave her a "sunshine shower." Miss Norton has been confined to her bed since the last of December, seriously ill. The shower took the form of delicacies and other appropriate gifts for the invalid and the bearers were two wee maidens, dressed in yellow frocks with tinsel trimmings to represent sunshine. They sang for the invalid and left their gifts, which needless to say were very greatly appreciated. The stipulation in connection with the shower is that one package is to be opened each day.

HOCKEY

A very good game was played on the Brock Street Rink last night, when Anthony's Aristocrats and Austin's Whirlwinds clashed in a grudge duel. The game was fast and clean, with only a few penalties. The game was touch and go all the way, and Anthony's had to exert themselves to win out by the score of 3-2. For Austin's, Maudsley and Frick starred, while for Anthony's Foy and Miller were on with their fast rushes and persistent back-checking. The Aristocrats were always in the lead, however, but the issue was always in doubt.

P. Calladine handled the bell quite efficiently.

All that need be said about the goal-minding is that they were both Joe Dwyers.

The teams:

Aristocrats—Goal, B. Anthony; defence, Fuller and Legros; centre, S. Miea; wings, L. Anthony and Fowler; subs., Miller and Foy.

Wild Cats—Goal, A. Delahaye; defence, Frick and Young; centre, Mahood; wings, Williams and Maudsley; subs., Austin and Henry.

Next game is Friday night.

WALTER HAGEN—CHANGING TEACHERS

Too many of us start out trying to pick up the game without the aid of an instructor. As a result we form bad habits that sometimes take a long time to correct. Others start out with an instructor who teaches them a style of play unfitted for them. All professionals are different, just as doctors differ in diagnosing a case, or lawyers disagree on a point of law.

Professionals all have the same fundamentals, but there is where most of us stop and branch out along different ways. If it so happens that you get hold of the wrong instructor and find that your game is not developing, take a few lessons from another teacher.

No pro should feel badly at losing a pupil under these circumstances. He probably has done all he can for you and has lost interest in your case. Perhaps it is your fault and you have lost interest in your instructor. A change of scenery will do a world of good.

Mrs. Grace McClellan of Austin holds the Texas woman's championship, with pistol, rifle and shotgun, and has won no fewer than eighteen medals in state and national shooting tournaments.

ERNIE VICK MAY PROVE EXCEPTION

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 18. —Many collegiate football stars have tried their hand at professional baseball. The result has been a complete flop—for the majority.

Ernie Nevers, California's football sensation, is being given a trial by the St. Louis Browns this spring as a pitcher. But there are many who already are predicting his failure as an American League prospect.

One who promises to prove that it is possible to become an All-American grid star and a major league star at the same time is Henry Ernest Vick, who was the center choice by the late Walter Camp on the 1921 team. Vick was Michigan's pig-skin snapper.

At present Vick is a member of the St. Louis Cardinals' catching staff and they do say that he may get as much work as Bob O'Farrell next summer.

Plucked by Branch Rickey, who had a hobby for college ball players, Vick has gone through the stages of experience. He was with Houston in the Texas League in 1923, with Louisville in the American Association in 1924 and last season worked occasionally for the Cardinals.

Theatre

AT THE REGENT

ROD LA ROCQUE'S NEW FILM, "BRAVEHEART," ONE OF RARE BEAUTY.

Screened in "American Alps" It Is Packed With Scenes That Thrill.

An epical Indian picture screened for the greater part on Indian ground in the mountain and river country of Oregon, widely known as the "Alps of America," Rod La Rocque's new star vehicle, "Braveheart," which will be on view at the Regent Theatre for three days, is said to be one of the most beautiful photoplays thus far issued from the Cecil B. DeMille studios in California.

The story, adapted by Mary O'Hara from William C. DeMille's famous play, "Strongheart," is a typical American Indian tale. It is in no sense a regulation western thriller with its hardy pioneers who are constantly battling with Indian scalping parties, but it is a thoroughly modern story of an Indian football hero and of his love and noble sacrifice for a white girl. How he learns at last, through humiliation and sorrow, that the blood of white man and red man can never mix, makes the theme not only logical but intensely dramatic and colorful.

There are four featured players in the cast. They include Lillian Rich, leading woman, Robert Edeson, famous stage player and creator of the role of "strongheart," Tyrone Power, a veteran of stage and screen, and Jean Acker, a screen favorite. Among the supporting players are Sally Rand, Henry Victor and Frank Hagney, all players of ability on stage and screen. In addition to these, scores of Indians are employed in the most thrilling scenes which occur on an Indian reservation.

The picture was directed by Alan Hale under the personal supervision of Cecil B. DeMille.

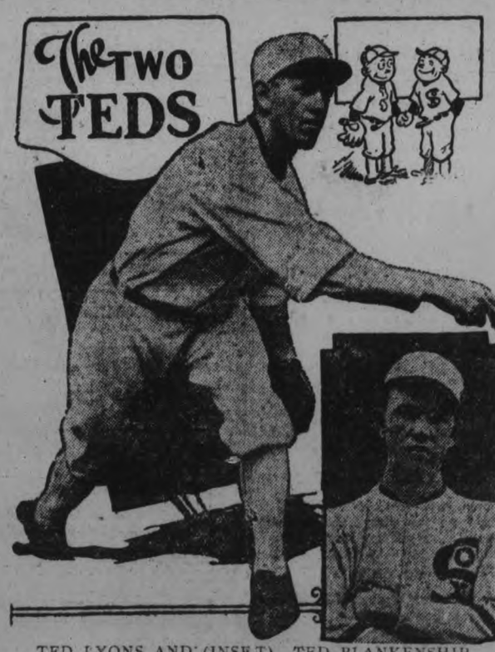
COLLINS BANKS ON TWO TEDS



TED LYONS AND (INSET) TED BLANKENSHIP

SHREVEPORT, La., March 18.—Manager Eddie Collins of the Chicag White Sox is placing much of his hopes for a successful season on the two Teds—Lyons and Blakenship.

Last year these two hurlers came through in stellar style. Between them they won 38 games, losing 19. Each ranked near the top of the list in effectiveness. Lyons worked in 43 frays and Blakenship in 40. Lyons was one of the few American League pitchers to win 20 or more tilts. He copped 21, tying with Eddie Rommel o fthe Athletics for the leadership in this respect.

Collins is expecting both gunners to repeat this season. If they do the White Sox should be pretty well fixed in the pitching department of the pastime.

KNOX MINSTRELS PUT ON GOOD SHOW

Second Part of Programme Was Especially Mirthful.

A capacity audience greeted the members of the A.S.K. Bible Class Minstrels in Knox Church Lecture Hall last night. The show was under the direction of E. Verne Morphet and was a decided success from beginning to end. The end men were full of pep, and their snappy songs and jokes made a big hit with the crowd. From the coon nick named "city-limits" whose real name was Townsend, down to Shorty White, who made the big hit of the evening while conducting his famous Kazoo band, when he nearly killed the director through not having his baton under control, everything went with splendid rythm. One coon told the story of going to Church with a telephone operator who fell asleep during the service. The minister announced the next hymn as number 428, and the operator, coming back to life at that moment, called out, "Alright, I'll call them again."

Mrs. Ross Williamson and Mrs. Ida Clark scored heavily in their vocal numbers, receiving hearty applause from the appreciative audience.

The second half of the programme consisted of a short play entitled "Friday Afternoon in a Village School," was full of real humor, mixed with sage advice from the refractory pupils. The teacher, Miss Annie Crocker, deserves great credit for the very creditable manner in which she handled the difficult situations which came up for judgment before her.

The entire show will be repeated to-night and to-morrow night.

The programme was as follows:

HI-JACKING DONE IN CITY STREETS

Customs Driver Tells of Being Robbed of Barrels of Whiskey.

GAUGER TESTIFIES.

OTTAWA, March 18 (Canadian Press).—A hi-jacking episode on the streets of Montreal was recounted before the customs committee this morning by C. M. Latimer, a driver, who carried goods for the customs office in that city.

On instructions of one of the customs officers, Latimer took two barrels of whiskey from the office and was driving through the streets with a sleigh, when he was assaulted by four men, an overcoat was thrown over his head, and he was pulled down. According to his own story, "a lady" jumped in the sleigh and drove away. He himself was not injured and the empty sleigh was located by the police an hour later. Latimer reported the incident to Officer Daigle of the department whose only comment was, "Well, if it's gone, it's gone." The same driver testified to having frequently delivered bottles from the customs office to individuals.

R. Daigle, chief gauger in the Montreal customs office, was examined by R. L. Calder, K.C., and testified to the practice "of forty years' standing" of allowing the chief gauger retain for his own use samples of liquor and alcohol taken from importations in the course of his work. There had been a regulation in 1901, requiring the samples to be returned to the importers, but the importers had preferred to have the gaugers keep the samples.

R. D. Tighe of Edmonton was, on motion of D. M. Kennedy of Edmonton, appointed junior counsel to the committee.

ONTARIO PROHIBITION A FAILURE ASSERTS LIBERAL IN AMENDMENT FOR CONTROL AND LOCAL OPTION

Voted For It, Says R. L. Brackin, Hoping To See Dry Generation.

LIQUOR EVERYWHERE.

Distillers Are Sold Out of Whiskey Under Temperance Act.

TORONTO, March 17 — At the conclusion of his address in the Legislature Tuesday afternoon, R. L. Bracken (Liberal, West Kent) moved an amendment to the budget resolution, calling for government control legislation this session, to overcome the provincial deficit.

His amendment, seconded by J. A. Pinard, (Liberal) follows:

"This House regrets that the financial statement by the honorable the Provincial Treasurer, indicates a large deficit last year, of approximately $5,000,000 and forecasts a deficit next year of at least $1,500,000, and this House, recognizing the necessity of other sources of revenue, urges upon the government the adoption at this session of a system of sale of spirituous and malt liquors in the province under government control with provision for local option, believing as this House does that such a system will divert to the treasury of the province the millions of dollars now annually going into the pockets of illicit vendors of liquor and will prove of great assistance in wiping out the business of bootlegging, illicit manufacture and smuggling of spirits with all their attendant evil consequences.

Mr. Brackin said it was high time "some people in this House and out of this House come from under the barn and express themselves in a straight forward manner on the questions of the day. The time is now. There are a number of Liberal members here who cannot sit here longer leading people to believe that they stand for principles which they do not believe."

House Too Partizan

Mr. Brackin appealed for less partizan feeling in the House contending that it permeated most of the addresses in the House.

"We should not attribute ulterior motives to those with whom we disagree," he declared. The West West Kent member said that if he were in the Premier's place he would just do what the Premier was doing. "I know he is sending his members home telling them that he will do something with the liquor question next session. We can't blame him for that. We should regard the Premier more in sorrow than in anger. I am not criticising the govenment. No government is perfect. We had a set of men start up a perfect government in Ontario so perfect that the member for East Wellington (Mr. Raney) could join it. Yet we know what happened to it."

Protect Widows

Mr. Brackin urged the government strongly to bring widows with one child under the terms of the mothers' allowances. He also wanted the laws amended so that a man could not cut off his wife with nothing in his will.

Coming to the question prohibition Mr. Brackin said he had been one of those who thought that it might be possible to bring up a generation of people who would not know the taste of liquor and because of that belief voted for prohibition.

"What have we done after ten years of prohibition? Today you can't buy whisky in the distilleries made before 1921. They are sold out and sold out under prohibition. This province has made money and the distilleries have been working overtime because the Ontario Temperance Act prevented people from drinking," said Mr. Brackin sarcastically. He declared that not one tenth of one per cent of the breakers of the act were caught.

"You can get liquor anywhere in Ontario. Prohibition has simply made it dearer. That is all. This government is in the liquor business and there isn't a member here who will say that all the liquor which leaves the dispensaries is for medicine. We are piling up profits from this sale of medicine."

Some Good From O.T.A.

Mr. Brackin said he agreed that there were certain sections of rural Ontario which had been helped by prohibition. He described 4-4 beer as a terrible tragedy and a fiasco.

"Now that it has failed we must

It's pretty soft for the rest of us to simply walk in and order her around.

Let's make it a bit softer for her by returning the friendliness and the patience she gives us.

SEVERE BLOW TO LEAGUE THROUGH GENEVA MEETING

British Papers Question the Stability if Real Crisis Arises.

BRAZIL CRITICIZED.

Times Comments Strongly on Her Attitude—Outside Support.

LONDON, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—There is great disappointment here over the failure of the Geneva meeting. It is true there is a general feeling of relief over the Locarno pact signatories' declaration that their work will stand, but, notwithstanding this mitigating feature, some of the newspapers are of the impression that the League of Nations has suffered a severe blow.

"The game has not been played as it must be played if the League of Nations is to justify its creation," says the Daily Telegraph. "If such things are done in the green leaf over the framework of the Council, what will be done in the dry, when a real crisis arises between two important Powers?"

The Times refers to "preposterous intrigues in the Assembly," and wonders what desperate reason made it so critically important for Poland to have a seat that Sweden and Czecho-Slovakia have been prepared to withdraw from their non-permanent seats in her favor. This newspaper comments more strongly on Spain and Brazil.

"These two States," it says, "and especially Brazil, seem to have placed themselves in a position in which they court the odium of great failure. The pertinacity of Brazil is somewhat remarkable, since Brazil is not a first-class power and could hardly be expected to maintain an obdurate attitude in critical affairs that directly concern Europe, without some assurance of powerful outside support."

The Times also notes as significant that France, Italy and Jugo-Slavia agreed on the principles of the pact regarding the affairs of Central Europe.

THE WEATHER.

Usually St. Patrick's Day is marked by muddy streets and roads and the general accompaniments of the breaking up of winter. This morning, however, the temperature was at the zero mark, and in the outlying sections the snow was apparently as deep as ever. Zero weather on St. Patrick's morning is not unknown. In 1916 it was 6 below; on the following morning it was 18 below. In 1905 on the morning of the 17th it was 2 below; in 1904, 4 below, and in 1900, 8 below. I could give as many dates, and probably more, when we had beautiful spring like weather but human nature is so constituted that it would prefer to hear unpleasant facts.—W. P.

Married Three Men In Five Months Without a Divorce

RANEY STOPPED FROM BRINGING LEGALS CASE UP

Public Accounts Committee Splits on Straight Party Basis.

LYONS ON STAND.

Former Minister Tells of His Business, Including Government Work.

TORONTO, March 17 (Canadian Press).—W. E. Raney, leader of the Progressives' party in the Ontario Legislature, was prevented by Chairman A. C. Lewis, who was upheld by a vote of the committee, from airing in the public accounts committee of the Legislature today, his charge that "legals" or thousand dollar bills, were paid by a Conservative Association for a political advertisement in October, 1919, about the time that the former Conservative government was defeated and the Drury Government came into power.

The committee took the stand that the money was not paid by the Government and that therefore the deal was a private matter. Mr. Raney pointed out that the public accounts committee had been very active in 1924 in trying to trace certain "legals" that had left the Home Bank and he could see no difference between the situation then presented and the case he wished now to investigate. He desired to read an affidavit dealing with the payment to "Rural Canada," a publication now defunct and also to call certain witnesses who could, he said, throw light on the matter.

Chairman Lewis ruled that the motion was out of order and he was upheld by a 19 to 12 vote of the committee on straight party lines all the Liberals and Progressives voting for the Raney motion.

Mr. Finlayson and Mr. Raney had a fiery exchange over the matter of the sub-committee taking evidence at Kingston last year from Peter Smith and Chas. Matthews.

"We didn't get anything because you wouldn't let Matthews answer questions," said Mr. Raney.

"I deny that emphatically," said Mr. Finlayson.

Mr. Sinclair said if Mr. Raney had information he should be allowed to give it to the committee. "That information is just as revelant today as it was last year," said Mr. Sinclair. The Liberal leader said: "Counsel paid by the Government" had prevented Smith and Matthews from answering questions.

He contended that the commit-

Car Owner Responsible For Passenger Only If Driving

TORONTO, Ont., March 17. Canadian Press. — Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney General, introduced important amendments to the highway traffic act in the Legislature Tuesday afternoon. He intends to remove that portion of the act making the owner of an automobile responsible for damages for any one injured in his car, whether the owner is driving or not.

"I am taking away the obligation of the owner to the passenger," said Mr. Nickle. "Of course, if the owner is driving, he will be liable in the usual way if there is negligence."

NOT ENOUGH TIME TO TAKE POSITION

C. M. Bowman Says He Cannot Take Tariff Board Chairmanship.

KITCHENER, Ont., Mar. 17 (Canadian Pess)—"I have not sufficient time at my disposal to devote to the work of chairmanship of the Federal Tariff Board," was the statement made today by C. M. Bowman, when asked for confirmation of the report that he had declined to accept the chairmanship of the tariff board. Mr. Bowman intimated that his present interests made it impossible for him to accept the Premier's offer.

BRITISH EMPIRE COMPARED TO BUNDLE OF FAGGOTS BY ALLENBY AT WINNIPEG

Unbreakable While Bound Together and a Guarantee of Peace, Says Famous Field Marshall on Canadian Tour.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 17. — (Canadian Press.) — "The only way to avoid war is by the British Empire standing together and forbidding it, through being so strong that none dare attack."

This statement was made by Field Marshal Viscount Allenby, during an interview here Tuesday.

"Empire unity," is the subject closest to the heart of the famous commander and the topic on which he speaks with greatest enthusiasm. Referring to Britain's power for peace he likened the Empire to a bundle of faggots. While they remained bound, none could break the bundle, but loosened from one another it was a comparatively easy matter to break the sticks. The Empire was like that. United, no foe would be found brave enough to attempt an attack. There need be no wars in the world of the future worth mentioning if the Empire remained harmoniously joined.

Referring to Canada, which he is seeing for the first time, confidence among Canadians in the future of this land was the most striking feature to him. He thought Canada was making a surprising recovery from the effect of the war.

"With a land area greater that of Europe and potential wealth even greater, Canada is found to have a gigantic future before her. Nothing can stop it," he said.

BISAILLON HAD GOOD BUSINESS

Bought Border Farm From Profits While With Customs Service.

IN LIQUOR TRADE.

OTTAWA, March 17 Canadian Press).—The activities of J. E. A. Bisaillon, former chief preventive officer of the Montreal customs department, were again in the limelight at the customs probe this morning. In answer to a series of questions by Hon. H. H. Stevens, Mr. Bisaillon admitted having made large profits from his liquor business while he was working for the department on a salary which would not permit him to "Make both ends meet."

While he was earning a salary of $2,800 per annum from the customs service, he had bought a farm on the border and built a $5,000 barn on it. He admitted that he had a summer home at Ste. Agathe, a private yacht and a home in Montreal. Mr. Stevens referred to the evidence taken in the Barge-Tremblay case at Quebec, to the effect that Bisaillon had in his personal accounts amounts totalling $65,000 during a five-year period. "That was while I was in the liquor business," the witness replied.

PARTICIPATION IN ACTION PROTESTED

Missionaries Say It Would Increase Chinese Anti-Foreign Feeling.

PEKING, March 17. — United Press. — Ten American educators and missionaries to-day protested to United States Commissioner John V. A. McMurray, against participation in any naval or military action to compel observance of yesterday's ultimatum to the Nationalist commander of the Taku forts.

The ultimatum, the protestants told MacMurray, was not warranted, and the employment of an armed force would be a clear departure from the United States' olicy.

The inevitable consequences of the use of an armed force, they said, would be to increase the anti-foreign feeling in China.

Among the signatures were J. Leighton Stuart, president of Yen Chin Gun University; Dwight Edwards and W. B. Pettus, of the Y. M. C. A., Louis Porter, of the American Board of Missions; and George Davis of the Methodist Mission.

Blessed Be the Old Maid Queen of Women Workers

(Copyright, 1926, by United Press)

WASHINGTON, March 17.—"Blessed be the 'old maid,' for she is the queen of women workers," says Herbert D. Brown, who has made a study of women workers in Government service.

Brown, chief of the Bureau of Efficiency, and an expert in classifying employees, told the United Press to-day that the start of a woman's efficiency rose as the thought of marriage failed.

As she abandons the art of self-decoration for the ensnarement of man, her service to her employer increases. Brown said: "She is at her best in her thirties."

"This woman brings to her work an enthusiasm and loyalty that is rarely equalled by any other class of workers. She comes to mother her job, and the instinct of motherhood that dominates all women is lavished by the old maid on her work."

POWER FAMINE TO BE AVERTED

Toronto Report Says Ottawa River Power To Be Sold in Ontario.

BUY FROM QUEBEC.

TORONTO March 17 (Canadian Press).—A local report says that it "Is reasonably certain" that the power famine with which western Onta. has been threatened will be averted by the bringing of a large voltage of power from the Ottawa River. It points out that matters have been simplified since the parties who obtained the rights on the Quebec side of the river at Chat's Falls got together with the Hydro and the two Provincial Governments and that at this and other points 250,000 horse-power could be developed and another 70,000 horse-power on the Gatineau River.

Hen's Egg Yields Snake Was Otherwise Normal

BELLEVILLE, March 17. — (Canadian Press).—Just an ordinary hen's egg packed last fall yielded startingly unusual contents when Mrs. George Madden broke it to-day to add it to a cake. Embedded in the albumen lay a tiny snake about four inches long, curled up and apparently dead. The body of the freak was about that of a good-sized fish worm. The yoke of the egg seemed in perfect condition, and the egg, except for its revolting contents, otherwise quite normal. The specimen has been preserved in alcohol, and will be forwarded to the O.A.C., Guelph.

EAST OF RIVER NOT NEGLECTED

Chief Newhall Declares the Whole City Gets Same Police Protection.

FORCE TOO SMALL.

Chief Constable S. Newhall told The Examiner to-day that when Boyle's East City store was visited by the police on Monday morning the doors were secure and everything was in apparent order. There was a window pane missing, he said, which made it easy for the intruders to gain admission, and this had been drawn to the attention of the storekeeper on a previous occasion. When the boys decamped, the Chief said, they certainly did not leave the doors open.

In commenting on the case, the Chief remarked that East City gets as much attention as any other part of the city. The limited force at his disposal does not permit his giving the patrol he would like to give, and that he knows is necessary to the fullest protection of the citizens. But there is no discrimination against East City, he said. In the early morning in question Police Constable Wheeler spent an hour and a half patrolling East City, covering it just as thoroughly as the other constables covered the south, west and north of the city.

In this connection, the Chief said his hands are tied. He makes the best possible disposition of the forces at his command, but these have been cut down by the City Council. He did not wish the residents in East City to think they are being discriminated against, for such is not the case.

Italy Loses 2,000 Citizens While Mussolini Premier

NEW YORK, March 17 (Canadian Press).—Two thousand Italians here have announced their intention at mass meetings to renounce their allegiance to Italy while Premier Mussolini and the Fascisti are in control of the country according to The New York Herald-Tribune.

BRAZIL MUST BE GIVEN SEAT ON THE COUNCIL

Delegate To League Says Her Demand Is Irrevocable.

QUESTION ADJOURNED.

Chamberlain Says That Lack of Unanimity Is a Tragedy.

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 17 (Canadian Press).—The League of Nations assembly today voted to adjourn the question of Germany's election to the League until the September session.

Senor Mello Franco informed the assembly that Brazil's demand for a permanent seat in the council was irrevocable. Then Sir Austen Chamberlain gave notice that it would be impossible for him to propose the admission of Germany into the League at this time.

Sir Austen concluded a long speech by expressing the conviction that the September assembly would see "that great nation, Germany assume her rightful place within the League of Nations."

Sir Austen Chamberlain, in proposing postponement of Germany's election until September, evoked a long outburs of applause when he paid tribute to the generosity of Sweden and Czecho-Slovakia in offering to give up their non-permanent seats in the council to aid in a settlement.

"It is a tragedy," he said, "after that manifestation of nobility, that the unanimity of the council could not be achieved. This is a bitter disappointment to me, but I am sure that the adjournment of this request for admission of Germany will be an adjournment only." Sir Austen was apparently in the grip of deep emotion as he depicted this disappointment, but he recovered at the end of his speech.

The adjournment does not mean that the Locarno pacts will die.

The practical outcome of postponement, with Germany still keeping her application for membership on file, will mean a new and determined canvass for seats on the council, which undoubtedly will be reorganized after an investigation of the problem at the regular September assembly.

Calm, but with a feeling that they been keenly humiliated, was the attitude of the German delegation this morning. They had been bidden to Geneva after long months of imploring and must return to Berlin without having been able to enter the portal of the international peace institution.

Wood Cutter Gets Fine Pelt Dog Catches Silver Fox

PORT ARTHUR, March 17 (Canadian Press)—While Albert Nelson, a pulp wood cutter, was at work in the woods off the Oliver Road today, his dog engaged in a fight with what afterwards proved to be a silver black fox. Nelson entered the fray and grabbed the fox which had been pinned to the ground by the dog. In the melee, the fox bit and badly lacerated Nelson's hand, necessitating his coming to the city for medical attention. He succeeded in choking the animal to death and his reward is a pelt worth about two hundred dollars.

Special Committee of Five To Inspect Schools in Neighbouring Cities.

BELLEVILLE, Mar. 17 (Canadian Press)—Belleville is about to erect a Collegiate costing probably half a million dollars and today a special committee of five started a jaunt visiting Peterboro, Toronto Hamilton, Brantford, London and perhaps other cities in order to visit the first class schools to gain hints on what to do and what to avoid.

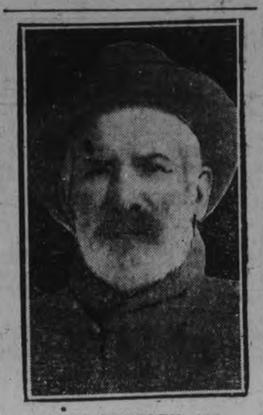
NINETY YEARS' USE OF TOBACCO APPARENTLY OF SMALL EFFECT ON JAMES HENDLEY AGED 104



JAMES HENDLEY, 104.
Burleigh Trapper and Hunter.

Old River-Driver is Still Hale and Hearty Despite Age.

LOOKS ONLY 70

Has Used Weed Since 10 Years Old—Lives Near Apsley.

APSLEY, March 17.—To have smoked and chewed tobacco for more than ninety years is a record to which few Canadians can lay a claim, yet such is the assertion of James Hendley of the township of Burleigh, shantyman, river driver, trapper and hunter, who attained his 104th birthday on Monday, March 15th, and who is still active, hale and hearty.

In an interview with a representative of the Examiner a few days ago, when the accompanying snapshot was taken, "Jimmy," as he is familiarly called, stated that he started smoking when he was about ten years old, and has smoked and chewed ever since. One would think that he would be about "cured" by this time, though he has no appearance of being smoke-dried.

Hendley was born near Gaspe, Quebec, his father being Irish and his mother French, and has never learnt to read or write. He has five sons and three daughters, and is living with his son, Denis, on the Burleigh road, five miles south of Apsley, at the present time. He settled at Jack's Lake about thirty-five years ago and was for more than twenty years caretaker of Mrs. Robbins' summer cottage on the lake, a position that he gave up only about four years ago. He was a well-known figure to the tourists and frequenters of Jack's Lake, and no doubt many Peterboro hunters and fishermen will remember him.

He lost his wife nearly eight years ago under sad and tragic circumstances. She was lost in the woods in October, 1918, and though search parties were out for weeks, her body was not found until the following spring.

Jimmy shantyed for about thirty-five years and drove the river for twenty. His hobby is trapping and hunting, and he boasts of having trapped a few dollars' worth of furs as lately as last fall. Beyond being a little hard of hearing, he shows no signs of the ravages of time and doesn't look a year older than seventy. He does the chores around the barn when he is allowed to. Jimmy's memory is keen and nothing pleases him better than to get a willing listener to the yarns he loves to spin, of his adventures and feats in hunting. He declares he "was never to a doctor, and never lost a week in his life through sickness." Jimmy was proud to pose for his picture, and when shown the print exclaimed: "By gar! Hees de fines' picture I ever had took."

WORK PROVIDED FOR ABLE-BODIED SEEKING CHARITY

Monaghan Council Orders Road Commissioner To Hire Men Sent Him.

FIRE PROTECTION.

Whole Council To Attend Meeting With Fire, Water and Light Committee.

A special meeting was held by the Township Council of North Monaghan on Saturday afternoon, with all the members present.

Frank Pratt, Township Relief Officer, was present and made his report in regard to charity work for the township. A resolution was passed that the Council authorize Archie Patterson, acting Road Commissioner, to take on and furnish work for all men making applications for charity, sent to him by the township relief officer and by his order. Any able-bodied man asking charity from the township and refusing work will be summoned before the police magistrate.

The Clerk read a letter from the Ontario School Trustees' and Ratepayers' Association, announcing the date of the meeting, and asking for the annual fees.

He also read a letter from the City of Peterborough, asking for a representative from the Township of North Monaghan to meet the Fire, Water and Light Committee of the city in regard to fire protection for the residents of the township. A resolution was passed that a committee of the whole Council be present at a meeting with the Fire, Water and Light Committee on April 9, at the City Buildings, at 8 p.m.

MONOPOLY DENIED.

Minister of Railways Addresses Meeting Following His Election By Acclamation.

REGINA, Sask., March 17 (Canadian Press).—"There will be no move to form one great railway monopoly in Canada as far as I am concerned until the people of the Dominion give clear indication that this is their desire," declared Hon. Chas. A. Dunning, Minister of Railways, addressing a meeting of his constituents here last night, following his election by acclamation as Federal member for the Regina constituency.

CHAIN LETTER FAVORED

INDIANAPOLIS, March 17.—A chain letter on the subject "Cross Crossings Cautiously," being circulated in this city, has received the approval of Dr. Paul F. Robinson, coroner. He sent copies of the letter to fine persons in the city interested in safety methods. "I am resolved that from now on I will practice 'Safety First' and do everything in my power to save life or prevent injury to my fellowmen" is the pledge asked of those who receive the letter.

CHECK ARTISTS GET RICH HARVEST

Have Mulcted Montreal Merchants of Thousands of Dollars.

MONTREAL, March 17. Canadian Press. — According to the officers of the Canadian Bankers' Association, a gang of false check artists have been reaping a rich harvest here during the last few months and the merchants of Montreal have been mulcted to the tune of several thousands of dollars.

The police, who have been notified of the gang's operations, have so far been unable to discover any clues.

For the most part the checks have been drawn on large and well known construction companies, and cashed in small stores.

In Peterborough Churches

ST. PAUL'S PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

(Contributed.)

Two powerful addresses were delivered in St. Paul's Presbyterian church on Sunday by Dr. A. J. Vining, of College St. Baptist Church, Toronto. The morning subject was, "Life's Contrasts," and in the evening "The Other Fellow." At both services, solos were rendered by Miss Helen Farnum, of the Hamburg Conservatory of Music, Toronto. Miss Farnum has a powerful, well-trained voice, and sang with a rareness of expression that added to the effectiveness of her solo work.

In the announcements for the day, special mention was made of the death during the week of John Hutchison, a member of the session, who had been an elder in St. Paul's for many years. In this capacity, Mr. Hutchison performed a quiet, spiritual work throughout his elders district, that had been a matter of comment, in the session of numerous occasions. He was referred to as a man universally respected throughout the congregation. Special mention was made, also, of the death of a former elder, Mr. David Mahood, who had been associated with the congregation all his life, and his fathers before him, and who had severed his connection during The men who took him to Christ were probably ordinary men. They did not mind ridicule, and they were not daunted by circumstance. Just as God honored their faith, he will honor the faith of humble men to-day, who seek to lead others to Christ.

The speaker described a number of striking conversions of men who had been in prison and who were noted sinners. These men were past human help, but Christ worked a miracle in their lives as in the case of the sick man. Those pulpits from which ethical essays are delivered instead of messages relating to the redeeming power of God, lack the message which the hungry hearts of the people seek to-day as in the past. The speaker closed by an earnest appeal to any present who had not surrendered their lives to Christ to do so, and to Christians to show the same earnest zeal in leading others to Christ that was shown by the four men in the gospel narrative. There were large congregations at both services.

the past year only, owing to the issue of Church Union. Like the late Mr. Hutchison, Mr. Mahood was widely known throughout the congregation, especially in Smith township, where he lived for many years. Many were unaware of his sickness, and the announcement of his death was unexpected, and deeply felt.

At the evening service, Rev. Mr. Vining read the incident related in the Scriptures, of how four men brought an invalid friend to the Saviour and when they could not reach him because of the press around the house, found their way to the roof and lowered him into the presence of Christ, who, because of their faith, performed a miracle of healing and restored him to health. The speaker pointed out that the man in question was unodubtedly a hopeless case as far as human aid was concerned. Probably large sums of money had been spent in efforts to obtain a cure for him.

ELDERS ENTERTAINED.

Young Ladies' Missionary Class of Gospel Hall Gave Programme.

Last night the Young Ladies' Missionary Class of Gospel Hall entertained the elders and their wives at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Lloyd, 100 Dublin street. The dining room was beautifully decorated and a sumptuous repast was spread, before which a programme of rare merit was presented by the young ladies, with Miss Greta Curtis in charge. Miss E. Wells sang "Speak Lord." Other numbers were Miss W. Hayward, a reading, "Missionary Potatoes," Miss Ada Lloyd, a solo, "Is there a Heart Broken " Miss R. Burfield, a reading; a duet, Miss Wells and Miss Lloyd; a reading, Elsie Case. "Tim Connors; a solo, Mrs. E. Simmons; Miss H. Curtis and Miss O. Hartshorn, a mission ry dialogue; a recitation, Miss Millard; a ladies' quartette sang two numbers; a duet, Greta and Helen Curtis; a solo, Miss Helen Mulligan.

Miss Curtis gave a report of the work of the class.

Nearly three hundred dollars had been sent out to foreign fields, and many missionaries sent messages of thanksgiving.

The meeting joined in singing, "Blest be the Tie that Binds." The evening will long be remembered.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY MESSAGE

IRISH PRESIDENT SENDS MESSAGE TO ALL IRISHMEN ON FESTIVAL OF PATRON SAINT OF IRELAND

Says Anniversary May Well be Celebrated With Rejoicing.

CONDITIONS BETTER

London Agreement Great Factor in Aiding Irish Development.

EDITOR'S NOTE—The following St. Patricks' Day message was written exclusively for The Examiner and NEA Service by W. T. Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State.

By W. T. COSGRAVE
President of the Irish Free State

The festival of St. Patrick may well be celebrated with increased rejoicing both in Ireland and wherever Irishmen meet in remembrance of their patron saint and their home country.

The year which has passed since we last celebrated St. Patrick's Day has been eventful for Ireland. The London agreement removed from the path of Irish development possible causes of future difficulty. It established good relations with people of northern Ireland in a way which I believe will result in co operative effort between all good citizens in the interests of the country as a whole.

Recognize Need of Irish Nationality

It settled the outstanding financial question with Great Britain. Establishment and growth of the free state have produced marked change in the attitude of those who in times past opposed recognition of political freedom for Ireland. They have come to recognize the need of the Irish Nationality.

More important still they have come to recognize that the Irish nationality can find expression in perfect accord with other nations in the commonwealth and of the world at large. As the Irish people themselves have come to feel their faith has been vindicated and their long fight for political recognition won they have felt inspiration which is derived from creative achievement.

W. T. Cosgrave

The inspiration will manifest itself in the future in every sphere of the nation's life. Its results will be found in industry increased output and improved quality. It will be found in the building up of the national institutions and in seeing that our state makes contribution which it ought to the international life of the world.

Everywhere through the country practical reconstuctive effort is making itself manifest. Work on the Shann electrical scheme is progressing satisfactorily. Production and handling of agricultural produce is becoming increasing scientific.

Vast improvement in roads bears witness to the development now taking place. Now that the political contest is over and the facts of our country's history no longer tend to be misrepresented and adapted to advocacy of politicians, interest of Ireland is becoming more fully recognized in connection with European history. I feel that the return of St. Patrick's Day is the proper occasion for remembering what the history of our country has been.

Most Hearty Welcome Assured

Our most ancient monuments stand as they have stood for over three thousand years. Unaffected by victories or Roman armies and having expelled invadin g Danes, our ancestors handed down an unbroken tradition which has lived in the minds of our people through centuries of conflict. I would like to give to all those who would visit our shores and particularly to all of Irish birth or extraction who would come to see for themselves the changes which are taking place in the home country, the assurance of most hearty welcome.

HEART TROUBLE OR INDIGESTION?

Heartburn, Pressurse Around Heart Palpitation, A Feeling of Fullness Shortness of Breath.

THIS SIMPLE 3-MINUTE TEST TELLS WHAT'S WRONG.

While there are many people who really have Heart Trouble, there are many thousands more who are literally "scared to death" because they think they have it.

To live in constant fear of Heart Failure is a terrible handicap, especially when 90 per cent of the self-diagnosed Bad Heart symptoms—Palpitation, shortness or breath, difficult breathing, a feeling of fullness or pressure around the Heart—are mainly caused by a sour, gassy, upset stomach. To prove that this is true and that your past worries have been a sad mistake—simply make this three-minute test and watch results!

From any good druggist obtain a couple of ounces of pure Bisurated Magnesia (either powder or tablets) and beginning with tomorrow take a teaspoonful of the powder or four tablets immediately after each meal—and, if the usual distressing symtoms fail to appear, you may safely rest assured that you have found your trouble.

This is a pleasant, inexpensive test that seldom fails to relieve stomach distress, Gas, Sourness and Bloating—almost instantly, and a single trial proves its value! Be sure and ask for Bisurated Magnesia, not a laxative.

AGED MAN FELL BREAKING RIBS

Samuel Diamond, More Than 90 Years Old, Badly Hurt.

IS PROGRESSING

CAMPBELLFORD, March 17.—Friends will be sorry to know that Mr. Samuel Diamond had the misfortune to fall on the ice last Thursday and break two of his ribs. Mr. Diamond is over ninety years of age, and although badly shaken by the fall and confined to his bed, is progressing favorably.

T. L. Diamond reports the following sales: Mr. McVety of Roseneath bought the new brick dwelling on Queen street, erected by Mrs. Redden, and will move to town this week; Mr. McVety is selling out at Roseneath and has rented his farm to Howard Morrow of Cramahe. John L. Hay has purchased the home on Forty-Foot lane, recently vacated by Frank Blake.

She Was Troubled With Chronic Constipation

Once your bowels become constipated you are in for a lot of trouble, as constipation is one of the most prolific sources of disease that the human race is addicted to, therefore a free motion of the bowels every day should be the aim of everyone who aspires to perfect health.

Mrs. O. W. Lawrence, Cloverdale East, N.B., writes:—"I was troubled with chronic constipation, and became so bad I was almost afraid to eat anything.

One day I saw your advertisement of Milburn's

LAXA-LIVER PILLS

so I got three vials, and after taking them I have never been troubled since with constipation."

Pat and Mike

Have you heard the story about Pat and Mike?

Pat and his pal Mike probably are the world's leading comedians. More laughs are credited every day to these two Irish boys than any other members of the laugh producing family.

Pat is that red-haired man of all jobs, and Mike, the boy with the clay pipe, is is interlocutor.

Pat and Mike may be digging ditches, driving automobiles, acting as butlers or carrying the hod—it's all the same to them, for Pat and Mike have to do most anything in order to carry out the fun that is sure to come when one tells the latest "Pat and Mike" joke.

Following are a few of their latest wise cracks:

Pat (at the zoo)—They do be saying that a camel can go without a drink for two weeks.

Pat—Where you bin, Mike?
Mike—To the bank.
Pat—Did you draw money or put some in Mike—An' I did neither; I filled my fountain pen.

* * *

Pat—No one would guess that you and Jim are brothers, you are not half so tall as he is.
Mike—Shore, an' we're only half brothers.

Pat—Mike, I'm somewhat of a detective myself. For instance, I know that fellow almost missed his train.
Mike—An' how do you know?
Pat—I see the imprint of lipstick on his nose.

Pat—Mike, why are you botherin' about paintin' the inside of your chicken coop?
Mike—Shore an' I don't want these chickens eatin' the grain in the wood.

Pat—Mike I can get in any bootleggin' joint on my face.
Mike—Yes, I know, an' I saw you come out of one that way.

* * *

Pat—Yer friend seems to be drugged, Mike.
Mike—To be shore he is, Pat. I drug him five blocks keepin' him away from the cops.

* * *

Pat—Mike, what'n the divil did you want to go and get drunk for? Now you'll miss the fight tonight.
Mike—No I won't, Pat; I'm going right straight home.

The Shamrock

Today, Wednesday, March 17th, is the day that every Irishman will proudly display a shamrock on his lapel.

We all know they are wearing shamrocks in honor of Ireland's patron saint, St. Patrick—but why shamrock?

Here's the story which has long been told and has long been accepted as true:

When St. Patrick preached Christianity to the pagan Irish he had difficulty in making them grasp the doctrine of the Trinity—three Persons in one God.

Then he inspired to show them a piece of shamrock, or trefoil, with its three leaves on one stalk. That simple illustration from nature availed, and from that time—the beginning of the fifth century—the shamrock became something to be worn in honor of St. Patrick. It has taken its place with other national emblems.

St. Patrick himself, although the Apostle of the Irish, was not an Irishman. Some would claim him as a Scotsman, but it seems established that he was of Welsh parentage. His original name was Succath, and, in accordance with custom, when he was consecrated as a bishop he was given a new name—that of Patricius.

Named thus, he went to Ireland and converted the Irish to Christianity. The shamrock soon gathered to itself a reputation for magic and as a remedy in disease.

Eaten in the manner of watercress it was said to allay all fevers; picked when found near a wayside and worn next to the heart, it warded off evil spirits. If placed in a child's cradle the little one would be exempt from the ills that trouble the young. Maidens had but to pick on the leaves the name of the young man whose love they sought, pray to St. Patrick, and bury the shamrock beneath a rosemary bush, and all would be well.

Ill-luck was destined to befall an enemy if a sprig of shamrock, pierced with his name—a thorn had to be used for the piercing—and placed in his path, was trodden on by him.

It once was the custom for all boy babies born in Ireland on St. Patrick's Day to be named after the saint and trained for the priesthood.

LEGATIONS MUST MOVE TO ANGORA

Kemal Issues Ultimatum To Diplomats, Who Still Live in Constantinople.

LIKELY TO SUCCEED.

ATHENS, March 16 (United Press).—Turkey is reported today to have notified the foreign Powers to transfer their legations from Constantinople to Angora. Otherwise Turkey would ignore the ministers.

Mustapha Kemel moved the capital from Constantinople to Angora, Anatotia, following his successful revolution which ended with the deportation of the Sultan and abolition of the Caliphate. The diplomats accredited to Turkey decided that Angora was not a fit place in which to live, and therefore remained in Constantinople. Something may be said for their attitude, since Angora is merely a cluser of dumpy buildings rising out of a muddy plain. Kemal wants to compel diplomats to recognize his capital. He will probably be able to do it.

SHOWER FOR BRIDE HELD AT BURNBRAE

Neighbors and Friends From Large District Honor Miss Freda Hay.

BURNBRAE, March 15. — An event which started as a "shower" but developed into a real community cloudburst, was celebrated on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. George Hay, Menie, when the neighbors and friends from miles around gathered to do honor to her daughter, Miss Freda, on the eve of her approaching marriage.

Miss Hay has been one of the most popular of the local social set, a leader in all social and community enterprises, and the large crowd which assembled on Thursday evening bore testimony to the fact that Miss Hay's bright, sunny disposition has won for her hosts of friends.

That she will be missed from the community life is a foregone conclusion and many were the expressions of regret coupled with the usual congratulations on such occasions.

A large number of fine gifts were presented to Miss Hay, one of these being a magnificent fur coat, the gift of her brother and sister in law, Mr. and Mrs. Fred R. Hay.

The evening was pleasantly spent in cards and dancing, the music being supplied by Messrs. Blakely and Sarginson of Campbellford.

On Saturday Miss Hay became the bride of Mr. Alfred Forde of Waldek, Sask., the ceremony being performed by the Rev. C. B. Daniel.

The happy couple left on the afternoon train for their future home in the west. The good wishes of the whole countryside go with them.

COMPANION OF ROBERT SERVICE IN YUKON LEAVING FOR RED LAKE

Pioneer Sourdough Succumbs To Lure of New Gold Strike.

MANITOBA FARMER.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 17. — (Canadian Press).—While the 'boys' at home look after the farm, Donald Hardie, who was a pal of Robert Servie in the Yukon on Monday was preparing to answer the call of the gold fields.

Twenty-five years ago he made his way into the Yukon, when 21 years old, and stayed there for ten years, participating in the rushes of Bonanza Creek, Adam's Gulch, Eldorada and other strikes, and also worked as a bank clerk when he handled $16,000,000 in gold dust.

Monday at Moosomin, Sask., the "fever" of the long trail, and the yellow metal again was upon the pioneer sourdough, and he is preparing to "mush" his way to Red Lake, the new field of Ontario. He will pass through Winnipeg en route to Sioux Lookout, where he will complete his plans on Wednesday.

Hardie is used to the work of the pioneer, both in the gold fields and upon the western prairies. When a child, Hardie entered the Moosomin district with his parents via the ox-cart trail.

In the Yukon, he generally travelled by dog team. He will do the same in the Red Lake rush, and plans to purchase a team of huskies at Sioux Lookout or Hudson, Ont., the jumping off place for the gold-seekers.

SILVER WEDDING SURPRISE PARTY

Friends of Mr. and Mrs. Keegan Brown Gather With Gifts.

SHORT PROGRAMME

MILLBROOK, March 17.— A pleasant surprise was arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Keegan Brown, on Friday evening, when about one hundred of their friends and neighbors arrived at their home, west of the village, to celebrate with them the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding-day.

After some time happily spent in social converse, the "bride and groom" of a quarter of a century were asked to come forward by the chairman, Rev. F. H. Howard, and were presented with a cabinet of silver, a handsome mantel clock, and an ivory-handled carving-set. Councillor R. J. McKnight reading the following address, while Mrs. McKnight, Mrs. Hiram Fallis, and Miss Helen Mitchell, on behalf of those present, offering the gifts:

Mr. and Mrs. Keegan Brown:

Dear friends,

Having learned that you are standing on the twenty-fifth anniversary of wedded life, we, a few of your many friends and well-wishers, have gathered in your home tonight to express to you our appreciation of your worth.

As neighbors and friends you have always shown hospitality, have ever been ready with material aid, and with loving sympathy in helping others. In illness, bereavement, or in joyous festivities, you have proved yourselves to all whose privilege it has been to mingle with you.

We congratulate you heartily upon this occasion. We trust that the remaining years of your lives may be acceptable in God's sight, at all times receiving His bountiful blessing a a token of His love for you and at last meet your Father and Saviour in Heaven, with loved ones there, and with others to follow.

We ask you to accept this silverware, clock and carving-set, as a slight token of our esteem. Not for their intrinsic value do we wish you to accept and prize them, but rather as a reminder of the hearts and lives they represent.

Signed: Mrs. R. J. McKnight, Mrs. Hiram Fallis, Mrs. M. McInnis, A. W. Mitchell.

Zion, March 12, 1926.

Mr. Brown made suitable reply on behalf of his wife and himself, and all joined in singing, "For they are jolly, good fellows."

Community singing preceded the formal programme which included:

Piano solo—Miss Laura Crocker.

Chairman's address—Rev. F. H. Howard.

Letter read from Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, of Pefferlaw, containing congratulations, and expressing regret at inability to be present.

Remarks—Mr. A. J. Brown.

Instrumental duet, piano and violin—by Mr. and Miss Beggs.

Remarks—Mr. Alan Mitchell.

Instumental duet—Mr. and Mrs. Amos Strong.

Remarks—Mr. Fred Hard.

Song, "The House on the Hill"—by Mr. Gallagher (specially composed for the occasion).

A bountiful supper was served by the committee in charge, and while the younger folk remained for sometime afterwards, the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" practically brought the gathering to a close.

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 17, 1926.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY.

Today the world thinks a little of a green island in the North Sea where abide the fairies and the leprechauns, where the banshee treads the paths across the moonlit moors by night, where the shamrock blooms and the Blarney Stone rests. It is a thought awakened by a man whose memory 1,500 years have failed to dim.

The world cannot think of Ireland without a little of the soft sentimentality that the songs of her sons have made almost universal. "Mother Machree," "A Little Bit of Heaven," "My Wild Irish Rose," and those other plaintive, happy yearning little melodies have won for Ireland a corner in the world's great heart.

Right or wrong there are proud spirits on that little island, and convictions live there that sixteen centuries of strife have not broken. There is that quality about Shamus and Rory that must be admired—courage that has never failed.

It is a sweet thought, a little thought of Ireland's faith and undying belief, handed down from generation to generation, unchanging. It suggests that here is a people that will never die, but must go on, carrying the battered standard of its cause, forever.

Romance? Its fires burn brightly there. Courage? Martyrs down through the musty centuries, men and women who stuck to the last for their convictions, are the testimony.

It is a good thought, the thought of constancy.

TRAFFIC PROBLEMS.

The Belleville Council has appointed a committee to study the problems of traffic and parking in that city.

The increase in the number of motor cars in use justify all communities in paying close attention to the handling of traffic and to the allied question of parking.

The regulations and methods that were satisfactory five years ago will not do today, and if accidents are to be prevented and congestion of traffic avoided it will be necessary to closely study every feature of the motor traffic, not only in Belleville, but in Peterboro and every other centre for that matter.

Here we have one nice little problem at the corner of Charlotte and George streets, which is the meeting place every few minutes for Hydro buses and street cars, adding to the congestion of traffic, already heavy enough because of the number of motor cars continually passing this point.

In addition, the parking regulations are by no means as satisfactory as they might be, and a revision of these rules, based on the assumption that the number of cars in use will be greater this coming summer than ever, would seem to be in order.

REDUCING THE LEGISLATURE.

Notice has been given by D. J. Taylor, member for North Grey in the Legislature, of a resolution to reduce the membership of the local House from 111 to 81.

The proposal would be enthusiastically received by many electors in the Province if they thought there was any real chance of its being put into effect.

Sixty thousand a year would be saved in indemnities by such a change, and at the same time it is reasonable to suppose that the business of the Province would be transacted just as efficiently and perhaps more expeditiously by a smaller Legislature.

This country is top-heavy with Governments and a reduction in the size of the Provincial Legislatures would be an effective step toward a more sensible system.

There is, however, little possibility of Mr. Taylor's resolution being taken seriously in the House.

Even though Mr. Ferguson, by his refusal to arrange for by-elections has signified that the absence of representatives from seven ridings is considered as a matter of little consequence, an attempt to permanently cut down the membership is not likely to attract much support.

INCOME TAX REDUCTION.

Hon. J. A. Robb's intimation that there is a chance that this year's budget will include a reduction in the income tax is as surprising as it is welcome.

The surprise is occasioned by the fact that the Progressive forces, upon whose support the Government depends for its existence, have never lost an opportunity of expressing their admiration of the fairness of the income tax as an effective means of securing revenue, and it had been thought that in view of this attitude on the part of Mr. Forke and his party no hope of a reduction for the present could be entertained.

The new slash in the income tax in the United States, putting Canadians in a very unenviable position in this respect as compared with their cousins to the south, has increased the pressure for a reduction of the Canadian levy, and Hon. Mr. Robb's statement the other day that a cut may be forthcoming seems to indicate that the Progressives, in view of gaining their point in other legislation, are willing to approve of an income tax reduction, even although they are of the opinion that that form of taxation is the best possible means of securing revenue.

The majority of Canadians will enthusiastically welcome a lifting of a portion of the burden of taxation from their shoulders.

LIFE INSURANCE.

Figures made public by the Federal Department of Insurance reveal the fact that Canadians took out new life insurance last year to the amount of $807,097,091, an increase of nearly $110,000,000 over the business for the previous year, says the Hamilton Spectator. The total of life insurance in effect in Canada at the end of 1925 stood at $4,254,908,278. That is a large sum, considering the size of Canada's population, but there is still plenty of scope for expansion. It is gratifying to note that Canadian companies hold about twice the amount of insurance held by foreign companies in the Dominion. These statistics are a striking indication of the increasing popularity of life insurance on the part of the citizens of this country. From every point of view, it is cause for satisfaction that more and more people should be making provision in this way for their dependants or for their own future. Many have learned from bitter experience of the risks involved in ordinary investments, and are turning to the insurance companies as a safe and profitable method of saving.

The primary purpose of life insurance, to create an estate for those left behind, is not being forgotten, but there is an increasing tendency for policy-holders to choose that form of insurance which will ensure for themselves in after years a comfortable return on their investment, as well as provide for their dependants in the event of death. The contract is definite and there is no chance of mistake. It is not surprising that the attractiveness of life insurance should be gaining greater recognition in the community; the fact that so many extra premiums are being written, however, is a sign of greater prosperity. Those who decry the thriftlessness of the workers are apt to overlook this very important item of insurance. The effort made to maintain the payment of the premiums is plainly shown in the report. Only under the most unfavorable circumstances are the policies allowed to lapse. This large fund of insurance money is a testimony to the general forethought and carefulness of the Canadian people.

THE CROP OF THE MAPLE TREE

There is the odor of maple syrup in the air and the warm days will make the woods yield up the sap. The yield of sweetness is growing. Last year $5,000 000 was made, a million dollars more than in 1924. And like scenery for tourists the crop is everlasting. The increase of the past two season is credited more to higher prices for the crop than to more extensive tapping and this again is believed to be a result of the more general adoption of modern equipment and methods of manufacture. The Province of Quebec continues to lead in sugar production, yielding as it does about half the total crop; Ontario, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick yielding the remainder. There has been a great improvement in the process of sugar-making in recent years. The replacing of the open sap buckets and the old sugar kettle by the modern covered pails and rapid working evaporators, has raised the quality both of the syrup and sugar produced. The adoption of this better equipment has given the industry a worth-while place in modern agriculture wherever there is still standing a grove of sugar maples. With these products, as with other foods, the quality has much to do with the price of the crop, which can be fine only when processed in the modern way.—Kingston Standard.

PROTECTING THE INVESTOR.

Fraudulent stock issues, deceptive advertising campaigns and unethical business practices still survive and flourish in spite of strenuous efforts to educate the public to the dangers which it faces in trusting its hard-earned money to such auspices. Years of warning, many instances of sad experience, have not taught the public to be careful in its investments and to shun the suave promoter who cannot back up his golden-hued statements and predictions.

It is, therefore, pertinent to point to the formation of an organization for the express purpose of protecting the uninformed investor against the high-pressure distributor of worthless and near-worthless securities, whose victims have been numbered in the thousands in this country during recent years.

This organization is the child of a group of men headed by a former advertising manager in Montreal who have banded themselves together to "further and promote honesty, truthfulness and reliability in merchandising and advertising of all kinds; to discourage fraudulent and deceptive methods in business and thereby to increase public confidence in advertising, salesmanship and business generally."

The work will have two main divisions, financial and merchandise. The financial division is concerned largely with questionable stock promotion schemes. The merchandise division will direct its attention to abuses of advertising and salesmanship in the retail trade.

The association will operate along lines which are proving highly successful in stamping out fraudulent promotions and putting a halt to the many stock swindles which are being practised on the uninformed investing public.

The organization will work in conjunction with some 50 similar bodies in the principal cities of the United States, co-operating likewise with Government authorities, stock exchanges, merchant associations and others throughout the United States and Canada, thus maintaining a nation-wide service to wage vigorous war against fraud, misleading and deceptive advertising, and to develop a permanent campaign of education among the general public on the association's national slogan of "Before you invest, investigate."

Briefly summarized, the work of the association will be to advise and warn the public of all fraudulent promotions, unsound and worthless securities, thereby saving millions of dollars a year for legitimate investments or savings accounts, to help spread a better understanding of the principles of sound investment, to aid the authorities in the enforcement of fraud laws designed to curb stock swindling and to keep the field clear of financial leeches.

From the very outset, however, the chief energies of the association will be directed to the prevention of fraud rather than its punishment. There is small consolation to the small investor who has lost the savings of a lifetime to learn that a swindler has been sent to jail. It is far more important that ways and means should be devised which would halt the swindler before the damage is done.

To business men and investors—particularly widows left with insurance or other monies—this is an organization and a work which must be commended.—Brockville Recorder and Times.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The transportation problem promises to be the major question for this year's Council to consider.

Federal estimates, including the railway estimates, are $24,720,672 less than last year. The reduction will be applauded throughout the country.

The nomination of Thos. Elliott in West Middlesex to oppose Hon. J. C. Elliott makes it easy for everybody to prophesy the name of the winner.

Nova Scotia is to have a respite for two years at least from labour troubles at the mines. And during those two years, as the St. Catharines Standard points out, it would be well to get the Ontario coke ovens in full blast.

FELLOWSHIP OF PRAYER—C

WEDNESDAY.

Christ as the Comforter.

Read Jn. 14:13-19. Text: 14:18. I will not leave you desolate.

Meditation—We go down into the valley of death or disaster. Our hearts are broken, life is turned to ashes and we feel we cannot bear it. All is darkness and anguish, and his voice as the sound of many waters comes to us from afar, "I will not leave you desolate, I come unto you." And Christ in the person of the comforter comes as light upon the darkened chamber of the soul. "Heart, heart, awake! The love that loveth all

Maketh a deeper calm than Horeb's cave:—

God in thee—can his children's folly gall?

Love may be hurt, but shall not love be brave?"

Prayer—O Thou Man of Sorrows and acquainted with grief, we come to Thee for comfort. When we are most desolate then send forth Thy light upon us till we know we are not alone but are still with Thee. In that companionship may we have strength and peace. Amen.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

PRAISES POLICE.

Peterboro, Ont., March 11.

Evening Examiner:

Just a word or two in appreciation of the good work our Provincial police are doing in this part of the country. Such cases as the one before our court at the present time surely justifies their extension beyond the prairie provinces. Under the old system it never would have developed to such a point as to be able to fix the responsibility for such criminal negligence.

Hoping that justice will be done and the old tradition of the force maintained, I beg to remain,

Respectfully yours,

F. McB.

BREEDING CANARIES

The Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir.—The breeding of canaries is a very interesting and I may say fascinating process. It is an employment for the ladies which is both pleasant and profitable if properly conducted, and the children will take great pleasure in rearing a nest of beautiful birds, as they are always interested in watching the nest building, examining, at a distance of course, the first tiny blue egg, and seeing the patience of the mother bird during the season of setting, noticing the hatching and daily growth and development of the young birds. It helps teach the children to love the beautiful, and they will become tender-hearted in caring for the little pets.—W.H.R.

ENCOURAGE GOOD MILK

To the Editor of The Examiner:

Dear Sir.— Having watched the natural milk supply for our city for the past year from an incidental standpoint, I wish to congratulate the vendors and those supplying them for the quality of milk supplied, and I would suggest that the council apportion a reasonable sum of money for the purpose of giving prizes for such that supplies milk put up and delivered in the best condition throughout the coming season. The best way to make a good boy is to encourage the good that is in him. I think that if this plan is followed for a few years, there would be no cry about pasteurizing the milk, which only destroys the constructive bacteria that is in pure healthy milk. I also think that the stables and surroundings of those be inspected, as well as those that are supplying natural milk.

Yours, etc.

W. H. Merrill.

EXPLAINS DUMMER STATEMENT.

The Editor of Examiner:

Dear Sir,—Will you allow me to correct a misunderstanding in connection with the report re attendance at schools in Dummer?

I was responsible for stating that there were only four schools in the section named and that one school had only two pupils.

I thought the source of my information was reliable, but my friend, Inspector Lees, has pointed out to me my error which I sincerely regret.

Rev. H. D. Cameron made no mention of the schools in his remarks at the Presbytery meeting.

Thanking you for the insertion of this explanation, I am

Yours truly,

JAMES DUTTON,

225 Stewart street.

The report of the Presbytery meeting in question, exactly as it appeared in the Examiner of March 10, is as follows:

"Rev. H. D. Cameron brought up the conditions in Dummer, and stated as he knew them conditions were terrible. Other members pointed out that there were only four schools; one school had one pupil attending, and the others three or four pupils." —Editor.

TORONTO LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Mar. 16—Butchers' cattle have depreciated in price with others. Good to choice butchers are down 25 cents a cwt. and half a dozen common butchers, 700 lbs. each, sold this morning at $5 a cwt. These were off half a dollar a cwt. Exporters are buying very few today and for one bunch paid $7.50 a cwt. for steers. Two lots of choice 1,100 to 1,200 lb. steers were bought by a local butcher at $37.50 a cwt. Butchers' cows are less influenced than others, but these even are scarcely as firm as they have been. The trade was much slower than on Monday and a large carryover seems inevitable today.

Calves are undergoing a natural reaction. High prices have held up longer than usual this spring. Prices are down about one dollar a cwt. from recent highs and top calves are now 13 1-2 cents a pound. One load of almost good calves sold this morning at 11 1-4 cents a pound.

Lambs are about steady and not too plentiful. Two bunches of ewes and wethers brought 13 3-4 and 14 cents a pound. Three spring lambs brought $14 each.

No hogs were bought less than $12.75 a cwt. f.o.b. on Monday and the packers are again trying for a reduction to $12.50 a cwt. today.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, Man., Mar. 16 (Canadian Press) — Foreign weakness, with drastic declines reported in the Argentine markets, dominated the wheat pit here today, and after an uninteresting session, values recorded losses ranging from 1 1-8c to 1 5-8c, the nearby futures receding the most. At the close May was quoted at $1.48 5-8; July at $1.47, and October at $1.31 5-8.

EGG PRICES

OTTAWA, Ont., Mar. 16—Production has shown an increase in practically all parts of Canada. In Ontario and Quebec this increase is rather slow as yet but throughout the west production is becoming quite heavy.

Toronto: The undertone is weaker today, with the trade anticipating a material increase in receipts any time now. Wholesale fresh extras 39 to 40, firsts 35 to 36, seconds 30 to 31.

Montreal: Wholesale fresh extras 40 to 41, firsts 34 to 35, seconds 30 to 31. Improved demand developed in frozen chickens yesterday and trading was fairly active.

Winnipeg: Receipts are increasing, market is lower. Wholesale fresh extras 38, firsts 35, seconds 25.

STERLING RATES

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 16 (Canadian Press) — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today as follows:

Sterling demand—$4.87 1-2.

Sterling cables—$4.88.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, Que., Mar. 16 (Canadian Press)—Foreign, domestic and country demand for cash grain here was again of a very limited character and the volume of business was small, but the undertone to the market was steady and prices were unchanged.

An easier feeling has developed in the local flour market for spring wheat grades and prices were somewhat irregular. Business generally was reported quiet for both export and domestic account with car lots of first patents on spot quoted at 8.60 to 8.80, second patents at 8.10 to 8.30, and strong bakers at 7.90 to 8.10 per barrel in jute bags, ex-track, less 10c per barrel for spot cash.

There was no change in the condition of the cheese market and prices remain as quoted yesterday. Receipts today were 1097 cases.

The undertone to the market for butter was firm which was attributed to the fact that the offerings from first hands had dried up to some extent. The inquiry was fair and a moderate amount of business was done with sales of Townships No. 1 pasteurized creamery at 46 1-2; Western No. 1 pasteurized Creamery at 46, and Australian No. 1 Pasteurized at 44 3-4 to 45 per pound. The trade in jobbing lots was reported fair, there being a steady demand for small lots to meet actual wants and sales of finest creamery butter were made at 47c per pound in solid packages, and at 48c per pound in one pound blocks. Receipts today were 43 packages.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Mar. 15 (Canadian Press)—Word that Argentine wheat is down almost to a basis permitting profitable shipments to New York from Buenos Aires cut more or less figure as a depressing influence today in the wheat market here. Chicago closing quotations on wheat were easy, 5-8 to 2 3-8c net lower, May (new) $1.63 1-8 to $1.63 3-8 and July $1.41 1-8 to $1.41 1-4, with corn 1-8 to 3-8c off; oats 1-8 to 1-4 and 3-8c down, and provisions varying from unchanged figures to a set back of 22 cents.

Possibility of actual imports of wheat from Argentina into this country was not taken very seriously among Chicago traders but the fact that Buenos Aires quotations showed a drop of about eight cents a bushel compared with Saturday's finish attracted considerable notice as being related to sharp breaks in Argentine exchange and to news of pressing offers of Argentine wheat to Europe. Besides, fresh declines in Liverpool wheat quotations continued, and uneasiness persisted relative to the strained political outlook in Europe.

MINNEAPOLIS GRAIN

MINNEAPOLIS, Mar. 16 (Canadian Press)—Flour unchanged to 20 cents lower at $9.45 to $9.60 a barrel. Shipments 30,613 barrels.

Bran, $21.50

Wheat, No. 1 northern $1.59 3-4 to $1.62 3-4; May $1.75 3-4; July $1.50 1-2.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

POSTPONEMENT IS THE POST MORTEM.

Postponement is the popular plan. Putting things off is a very expensive error in the transaction of business or Service.

Procrastination costs more than errors in performance.

We all have this habit of waiting awhile. Seldom do we do things when we should.

Even capable managers have spindles full of failures to act and wire desk-baskets cluttered with unanswered correspondence.

Even employees waste hours each week worrying over a pile of perplexing duties left undone.

Nothing can be dismissed until done. The time to do a thing is as soon as you can.

Any influence that will get things done promptly will help to solve the problem of the cost of production, and today it is this "cost of production" that is troubling the treasury of business.

The volume of business is increasing, but the proportionate net profits are decreasing.

Postponement is the post mortem

GERMANY'S ELECTION TO LEAGUE DEFERRED UNTIL SEPTEMBER ON BRAZIL GOVERNMENT'S DECISION

Geneva Doubted Last Night Favorable Reply From Rio Janeiro.

TO NEXT ASSEMBLY.

Meanwhile Rumanian and Spanish Claims Are Given New Emphasis.

GENEVA, March 17 (Canadian Press).—The Allied and German statesmen were awaiting word last night from Rio Janeiro and on this decision of the Brazilian Government depends the question of whether Germany will enter the League of Nations at this time. The agreement between the Allied delegates and the Germans is that if by 10 o'clock this morning, when the Assembly will convene, a message has not arrived authorizing Afranio Mello Franco, the Brazilian delegate to vote for Germany, Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, will immediately move adjournment until the next assembly of the question of Germany's election.

Brazil had not abandoned her attitude of opposition to Germany, so far as was known yesterday, and so convinced was the council of the League that no answer will come in the next three days that it voted with great reluctance to postpone all action on Germany's application for League membership and for a permanent seat in the council as exacted by the Locarno accords.

The belief is held among the delegates that unless a miracle happens, Germany will remain outside the League, at least until next September, which is the month in which the League assembly next convenes.

Official Statement.

An official communique issued by the signatories o fthe Locarno pact Tuesday afternoon, reads:

"The representatives of Germany, Belgium, France Great Britain and Italy have met to examine the situation resulting from difficulties which have arisen and which hinder the accomplishment of their common wishes. They take note of the fact that they have reached an agreement and have overcome obstacles which at one moment arose between them.

"If as there seems reasou to feel, the above difficulties persist, the representatives of the seven Powers who signed the protocol of Locarno would regret not to be able at this moment to reach the goal which they had in view; but they are happy to recognize that the work of peace which they realized at Locarno, and which exists in all its value and all its force, remains intact.

"They remain attached to it today, as yesterday, and are firmly resolved to work together to maintain and develop it. They are convinced that on the occasion of the next session of the assembly the dificulties which exist at this moment will be surmounted and that the agreement reached with regard to the conditions of entry of Germany into the League of Nations will be realized."

New Difficulties.

New difficulties last night darkened the horizon; the little entente has pressed the Allies for a definite written engagement that they will support Rumania for a non-permanent seat next September as compensation for the projected resignation of Czecho-Slovakia, whose eminent statesman, Dr. Eduard Benes, has so brilliantly represented their ideas and interests in the League Council.

Moreover, Spain, the seriousness of whose demand for a permanent seat has been rather ignored by the Allied leaders, came forward at last night's tense secret session of the Council and renewed her insistence for recognition. Furthermore, it is asserted that not every government of Europe has made diplomatic representations to Rio Janeiro, urging Brazil to recede from her intransigeant attitude.

When a member of the Council was asked last night if he still expected a reply from Rio Janeiro, he answered: "It cannot possibly come for three days. It may not come at all. Moreover, there are fresh difficulties, including the Spanish difficulty, which make it practically certain that we cannot proceed to-day with the election of Germany."

WRECK SURVIVORS WILL SUE RAILWAY

Excessive Speed on Curve Killed 248 Costa Ricans.

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica, March 17. Canadian Press. — Survivors of Sunday's wreck of an excursion train near San Jose in which 248 persons were killed, are planning to take joint court action against the Northern Railway, on whose line the disaster occurred.

Eyewitnesses assert that the wreck was due to the fact that the train took a sharp curve just before reaching the entrance to the bridge, at an excessive speed. At this point there is a steep grade, and the wheels of the rapidly moving train could not hold the rails.

Costa Rica is in national mourning because of the disaster. Several relief movements have been inaugurated and public subscription lists to aid the families of those who perished are filling rapidly.

PASSES FOR HANGING.

Held By Authorized Persons Says Sheriff.

NEW WESTMINSTER, B. C., March 17 (Canadian Press). — "I personally examined the pass holders and am satisfied that, as far as this office is concerned, only those who were authorized to attend did so," said Frank R. Cotton, acting Sheriff of New Westminster, in commenting yesterday on charges that permits to view the recent Baker-Sowash executions in Okalla Prison, near here, were sold by their authorized holders for $5.00 each.

The charges were brought up in the House of Commons by Hon. H. H. Stevens.

ANNUAL APPEAL BY THOMAS L. CHURCH

Seeks Customs House and Post Office For Toronto.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 17. — (Canadian Press.)— Toronto urgently required a new customs building and a new post office, declared T. L. Church (Conservative, Toronto Northwest), in the House on Tuesday. Mr. Church voiced his protest against existing customs and post office fa ities, when estimates for the Department of Customs and Excise were under consideration.

The customs and post office accommodations in Toronto were wholly inadequate. Considerable delay was experienced by business men in that city through lack of a new customs house, and the house was losing revenue as a result. Steps should be taken by the government to rectify present conditions. These new buildings were more necessary than the completion of the Hudson Bay railway.

H. A. Mullins (Conservative, Marquette), protested against Mr. Church's reference to the Hudson Bay Railway. "There is a long suffering public in the west desiring the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway," said. Mr. Mullins. "This railway is more important than a new customs building in Toronto."

ARGUMENTS FOR CANALS TO SEA ARE CONCLUDED

Washington Told Canada Won't Agree To St. Lawrence Plan.

BOTH SIDES HEARD.

Hearing Ended With Burst of Oratory From Both Delegations.

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 17 (Canadian Press)—A burst of congressional oratory concluded Tuesday the hearing before the army river and harbor board on the relative merits of the New York and St. Lawrence River routes for a waterway from the Great Lakes to the sea. The board then began its review of the adverse report of a special board of army engineers on the New York project with the expectation of presenting its findings to Congress with little delay.

Senate and House members from interested states were virtually the only witnesses heard by the board. Representative Dempsey, Republican, New York, chairman of the House rivers and harbors committee, led the fight for the all-United States, New York route, and Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, acted as floor leader for the St. Lawrence advocates.

Spikes War Argument

Another angle of the national defence issue raised by Representative Dempsey in urging that the board reverse the special report developed yesterday when Representative Wainwright, Republican, New York, former assistant secretary of war, suggested that the St. Lawrence route, favored by virtually the complete congressional delegations of 19 states of the middle west bordering on the Great Lakes, might be hampered by neutrality considerations if the United States was at war and Great Britain neutral. Senator Lehroot argued that such a contingency was unthinkable since, when the United States was neutral in early years of the European war, the bulk of Canada's wartime traffic had moved over international waterways without question.

Cheap Route to Sea

In his closing argument Representative Dempsey insisted that the New York route offered the only certain avenue for getting middle western products to the sea cheaply, since there was no certainty that Canada would agree to joint development of the river route.

"A canal can be built on American soil, but a canal cannot be built on Canadian soil" he asserted. "All the evidence is that Canada will not agree now or at any reasonable time in the future to the St. Lawrence development."

BRIAND DRAFTING CABINET POLICY

Will Be Submitted To Parliament Thursday.

PARIS, March 17. — Canadian Press. — In the midst of the activities of Geneva, M. Briand has found time to draw up a ministerial declaration for his ninth cabinet, which he will read before Parliament on Thursday afternoon. He telephoned Tuesday to M. Danielou, undersecretary of state for Foreign Affairs, to inform President Doumergue that a council of ministers is to be called on Thursday morning. At this council the delaration will be placed before the Cabinet for approval of the final draft. The text of the declaration is now on the way to Paris from Geneva.

FINAL ESTIMATES WILL EXCEED LAST YEAR'S MEIGHEN CONTENDS

Government Has Not Revealed Rural Credits and Pensions Programme.

QUESTIONS REPORT.

OTTAWA, March 17 (Canadian Press).—When estimates for the Department of Customs and Excise were under consideration in the House Tuesday, Hon. George H. Boivin, Minister of Customs, observed that there was an investigation under way into the administration of his department. It was a rule that matters before the committee enquiring into the alleged irregularities could not be discussed in the House. He was prepared to give all information which could reasonably be asked for.

The preventive service staff organized under last year's appropriation of $350,000 had not been satisfactory. He was asking for a similar amount this year, and was prepared to assure the House that the recommendations of the customs enquiry committee would be carefully considered in connection with his plans for preventive work.

Questions Estimates

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen said that he did not agree with the supporters of the Government who said that there had been an enormous decrease in the present estimates. One newspaper had placed this saying at more than $24,000,000. Actually there was in the figures as presented, an apparent saving of about $5,000,000, but this did take into any account, the supplementary estimates which undoubtedly would run as high this year as last. Mr. Meighen believed that when all the estimates for the coming year had been presented they would show an increase of at least four millions over last year. When the Government had revealed its programme for old age pensions, rural credits, etc., the Opposition leader said that it would be found that Canada was going to pay out many millions more this year than last.

"This may be the best this Government can do in the present market as it stands," added Mr. Meighen, "but the Government should admit that this is the state of affairs. Don't let them pretend that they are saving the country millions instead."

Fixing Church Shed.

An old time bee will be held today to put in proper repair the driving shed of St. Andrew's church, a large structure that since its erection has been used not only by those farmers who attend that place of worship but by others who drive in from the surrounding country to do business in the town. About 300 loads of cinders have been secured at the paper mill and this material will be spread on the floor of the building, farmers of all denominations lending their teams for the day to draw the material from the mill. As the shed is situated at the foot of a high hill the floor was often muddy during wet weather, but with the improvements made to-day this condition will be obviated.

Dismissing Liberals.

In answer to a question concerning the appointment of some customs officials, Mr. Boivin said that in nearly every case, the Civil Service Commission had the final say in such appointments. The Government was glad that the commission were able to control some of the appointments, he added, because in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, where the jurisdiction of the Commission did not apply, the present provincial governments were dismissing practically without exception any Liberal who happened to hold a Government job and replacing them with Conservatives.

Sir Henry Drayton asked if the Government had been "able to catch up with defaulting employees."

Mr. Boivin retorted that the provincial governments in the Martimes had dismissed every Liberal, whether he was a defaulter or not. Even "quasi-judicial positions such as sheriffs," were being refilled by the Conservatives.

A. De Witt Foster (Conservative, Hants-Kings) demanded that Mr. Boivin give the name of a single sheriff who had been dismissed for political reasons in the Maritimes.

Chairman Duff at this point asked the committee if the discussion was not getting away from the item before the House. Mr. Boivin said that he had not intended to lead the discussion along this track. He had been prompted by some remarks from the leader of the Opposition concerning the Liberal appointees to customs jobs. He was willing to apologize to the provincial governments in the Maritimes if necessary to put an end to the present discussion.

The incident then closed.

The question of the dismissal of a returned soldier who had passed the Civil Service examination from a customs position in South Essex was raised by E. J. Gott. It was claimed that he had been dismissed to make way for the son of the chairman of the Liberal organization.

The Minister of Customs could give no information to the House at the time, but promised to give all the details of the man's dismissal before his estimates were finally passed.

$500 DAMAGES TO GIRL.

Run Down By Car in Belleville.

BELLEVILLE, Ont., March 17. —(Canadian Press.)—Grace Hayward, a pretty nine year old lass, was run over by a car one day last autumn and yesterday in the assizes here a jury awarded her $500. Evidence showed that the brakes of the car were faulty and the owners had paid a fine of $20 a week after the accident in police court for driving with brakes not fit to be used. The jury was out forty minutes.

Brazilian Opinion Split Over Dispute At Geneva

RIO JANEIRO, Brazil, March 17. — Canadian Press. — The deadlock at Geneva, and Brazil's attitude relative to Germany's admission to the league, affords food for much comment by the Rio Janeiro newspapers. One group holds the extremist view, considering Germany's stand an affront to Brazil, and suggests retaliation.

Another group believes that it is Brazil's duty to continue to represent the Western Hemisphere. Still others declare that Brazil should follow the example of the United States, asserting that Brazil derives no benefit from her membership in the league.

Three newspapers yesterday announced that they favored boycotting German goods, if it were necessary to back up Brazil's claim for entry into the council.

ANNUAL BANQUET HELD BY MASONS

Seventeenth Anniversary of Campbellford Chapter—Degrees Conferred.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 17.—Members of the Ionic Chapter Royal Arch Masons, No. 126 held their annual banquet in their lodge rooms last night, the function being a celebration of their seventeenth anniversary. Visiting brethren were present from Stirling, Warkworth and Hastings and from other towns in the district. Keystone Chapter, No. 72, of Stirling conferred the Royal Arch degree. After the business session the banquet was held and this was followed by a long programme of toasts and musical numbers.

Fewer Fatalities in Quebec Last Year.

MONTREAL, Que., March 17.—(Canadian Press.)—In spite of the fact that there were 72,000 more cars in Quebec province last year than in 1924, there were fewer fatalities, according to statistics just compiled by the province of Quebec Safety League.

In 1924 there were 139 people killed by autos while in 1925 the number dropped to 132.

NO BEGGARS ON ITALIAN STREETS

Mussolini's Regime Has Made Them Safe, Say American Girls.

NEVER MOLESTED.

NEW YORK, March 17. United News. — Premier Mussolini's reign in Italy, has cleared the city streets of beggars, according to three American girls, who returned from Italy on Monday on the United States liner Martha Washington.

The Misses Marie, Florence and Vera Verniere of Chicago, who spent six months in Rome, Florence and other Italian cities, said that unaccompanied young women on the streets at a late hour there, encountered no such unpleasant situations at the hands of strange men as were often met in American cities.

Have you tried
Bon Ami
POWDER?

You'll like Bon Ami Powder. Just as you've always liked Bon Ami Cake.

Women who have used it are all singing the praises of this other form of Bon Ami. The same magic ingredients in a handy, sifter-top can. Soft and scratchless, Bon Ami Powder blots up dirt without hard work.

It cleans and polishes quickly, and thoroughly. Nothing can equal it for making the bathtub glisten, cleaning the refrigerator, or restoring the lustre to aluminium, copper, agate and tin.

But for windows and mirrors, most housewives prefer Bon Ami Cake! Convenient in size and very economical.

Gentle to the hands, gentle to the surface it cleans—Bon Ami in either form is the magic cleanser. Women find it an economy of time and money to keep both these "partners in cleanliness" in the home. They meet every cleaning and polishing need.

CHEESEMAKER TO SELL BUTTER

Ormond Factory Patrons Decide on Disposal of Product.

SOME ADDRESSES

HASTINGS, March 17.—The Ormond cheese factory, Hastings, held its March meeting for the patrons on Friday afternoon in Lynch's Hall. A large number of the patrons were present.

The president T. J. Lynch, called the meeting to order and one important item of business was settled at first, that of the disposing of the butter. This matter had been left over at the annual meeting in December, 1925. On the motion of Bert Lynch and W. Humphries, it was decided that W. Montgomery, the cheese maker, take care of all the butter for one cent per pound, this to include the book work. Each person or persons wishing to buy whey butter must have an order from the treasury.

Mr. Murray of Campbellford gave an address, presenting local conditions. The local factory he reports as doing exceedingly well, and spoke on the good report of last season's work and the results of the cheese-maker with co-operation from the patrons which is so necessary. The better conditions in which milk is brought to the factory, the better the class of cheese that is produced and the man delivering milk should be the most interested as he is the one that is most benefitted. An inferior grade of milk means a low grade of cheese. Better milk is produced now than formerly, les turnips being fed, so that it is not tasted in the cheese, this turnip taint bringing down the quality and grade.

The inspector visited Ormond factory six or seven times last year and found satisfactory conditions.

The dairy instructor of Ontario, G. G. Publow of Kingston, dealt to some length on dairying. For the first time in many years a better showing was made last year in the amount of milk used to make one pound of cheese. In the old days this was reckoned at about ten. Today since the dairy standards act compel factories to pay by test the average number of pounds has been reduced. The speaker stated that the principal object of dairying in this country is not to make better cheese and butter, but to reduce the number of second grade cheese. During the three years that the grading has been in progress, it has been reduced from No. 2 grade by eight per cent, thereby making sure progress.

There is no manufacturing more difficult than the one engaged in that of cheese making, as the whole process is one of fermentation, and if good milk is not brought to the factory as a raw material for the making of cheese, the cheese maker, or mechanic as he might be called, is very much handicapped. Milk and its products are constantly changing partly due to climatic conditions prevailing in Ontario, where it sometime changes very often in 24 hours, and every 4 degrees of temperature alters the condition of milk products. Under natural conditions, milk was never meant to see the light of day, but was to nourish the calf. Fruit flavor in milk or any rancid flavor is most prominent when first produced. At least 99 per cent of milk produced is given in suitable condition from good healthy cows. The dairy industry should be looked upon as a most important one of the country today, and should be given as much attention and care as that of the plant crop.

No class of people is due for more reward than those doing dairy work, on account of work time and care in producing same.

Milk must or should be cooled as soon after milking time as possible, as the soner it is cooled, the longer it will stay sweet. Never mix warm milk with cold, as it changes the entire conditions for the production of good grade cheese. Better conditions are prevailing at the present time than ever before, due to the instructors being sent out by the department.

Good milk, no turnipy flavor, clean suroundings, clean pails, cans, and clothes necessary for use are some of the chief necessities the farmer must have to produce first grade of cheese.

Fruity, turnipy and rancid flavors are the things, the speaker said, are the main contaminators for the farmer to guard against.

The cheese grader, Mr. Irvine was present, and spoke on cheese grading. He stated that the conditions in the summer of 1925 in factories surely showed progress, especially in the Ormond factory locally, due possibly through information received at such meetings as the present one, where much may be learned.

In the year of 1923 much cheese was put in grade Numer 2 when it, being so well made, should have first grade. Owing to the flavor of turnips this was impossible. One representative from an importing firm in Great Britain was asked how cheese sold in Great Britain which had a turnip flavor. The reply was that such cheese was not wanted under any conditions, as it was almost unsaleable.

Under the new legislation being advocated at the present time, more responsibility is placed on the cheese maker. It may come to pass that graded certificates good for one year will be presented to cheese makers, marked graded according to the quality of chese made by the maker during the season.

A report was given of the percentage made by the counties in Ontario during last season.

If every patron would work in unison in producing the best milk possible, a high grade of cheese would be attained.

After chese is made it should be held in the factory for at least ten days before being shipped out.

The local factory ships to the Belleville Co-operative, where excellent results have been received.

OBITUARY.

WM. JOHN PARKS.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 17. — The death occurred at Hoard's Station on Monday, March 15, of William John Parks. The deceased, who was fifty-seven years and seven months of age, was taken ill suddenly on Sunday evening and never rallied, passing away about five o'clock Monday morning. He was a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Amos Parks and was born about two miles from his present home. He is survived by his widow, formerly Agnes Shaw of Percy Township, and an adopted son; also three sisters, Mrs. William McKenzie of Rawdon, Mrs. Alfred Merrills of Wilson Settlement, Mrs. Frank Spencer of Rawdon, and two brothers, Reuben of Madoc and James of town.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock and interment made in Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Hubble's Hill.

ERIC HOUGHTON.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 17. — Mrs. Benjamin Redding of Stanwood on Monday received the sad news of the death of her grandson, Eric, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Houghton (nee Ethel Redden) at the hospital in Moose Jaw. The deceased, who was only seven years old, passed away after an operation for appendicitis.

WEDDING BELLS

NELSON—McCUBBIN.

WARKWORTH, March 17.—Wilbert S. Nelson and Mary, youngest daughter of John McCubbin, Reeve of Percy Township and Warden of the United Counties of Northumberland and Durham, were married on Tuesday afternoon in the presence of a few friends of the bride and groom at the home of the bride's father in Percy. The ceremony was performed by Rev. George Lougheed, B.A., pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Warkworth. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Nelson drove to Campbellford and left on the evening train on their honeymoon. On their return they will reside at the home of the bride's father as Warden McCubbin is planning to retire from farming.

Mr. Nelson is one of the best known residents of this district where he has carried on the business of live stock buyer for a number of years. He is also an ex-president of the Percy Agricultural Society and has been one of its most energetic directors for years. His friends here are planning a reception for him and his popular bride when they return from their wedding trip.

Long Engagements and Youthful Marriages Favored By Joseph Sabath, Veteran Divorce Judge Of Chicago

CHICAGO, March 17. (United Press).—Youthful marriages are now defended by Chicago's most famous divorce judge, Joseph Sabath.

The youth of 23, who is making $35 a week and the girl of 21, should be engaged and seriously contemplating marriage, this veteran of the divorce court said, upon signing his 15,000th bill for divorce.

After that age, the judge believes, marriage becomes a serious duty in the lives of both girls and boys. He recommended that a girl of 18 should be wearing an engagement ring, alowing her three years to figure whether her choice was correct before taking the vows.

"The most despicable creature in the world is the bachelor who is able to support a family and who avoids marriage because of the selfish dread of responsibility," Sabath said.

The judge, who listens to 100 disagreeing couples a week, said he was still an optimist on marriage. All that was needed, he said was a bit of co-operation to make the marriage a success.

"Don't wait until you are making a large salary before getting married," Sabath urged. "The rarest spectacle in the world is the happy marriage of a rich man."

ONTARIO PROHIBITION

ask ourselves 'What shall we do now?'" He contended that the temperance act was too harsh and that magistrates should be given more discretion. However, I hope we will not continue the act. I think for the welfare of our boys and girls we should not continue it."

He declared it would be interesting to watch what day the Premier would call for the discussion of the government control bills before the legislature. Mr. Brackin guessed it would be about the last day or probably never.

"I don't blame him, but we want him to know that we understand him," said Mr. Brackin who before moving his amendment compared Ontario with Quebec to the advantage of the latter. He also announced that at the end of this session he would retire from public office, and that he would not be a candidate again.

"But the time has come for every member of this house to get up and state his position on this question. I have sated mine." he concluded.

Raney Quotes Meighen

W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, taking Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, opposition leader in the federal house as the example, again contended that he had a perfect right to ask the government questions concerning policy and intention. He quoted newspaper reports of Mr. Meighen asking Premier King about cabinet reconstruction at Ottawa. He then quoted a resolution passed in the legislature in 1913 by which questions asking intention and policy were ruled as not proper. "That resolution makes this house absurd and ridiculous," he declared.

Premier Ferguson said that the resolution stated in very definite terms what the proper practise was in the legislature. There was no parallel in the Meighen question at all as the question at Ottawa was not formal and not on the order paper. Mr. Meighen had simply asked the question across the floor of the house.

Corn Borer Pest

The agricultural committee of the legislature was informed that the corn borer pest has become so bad in south western Ontario that the farmers in Kent and Essex county may be obliged to quit growing corn for a year or so until the pest disappears. Prof. L. Ceasar, who has made an intensive study of the affected districts spoke at some length to the committee.

"We must have some compulsion to make farmers clean up their corn fields," said Prof. Ceasar. "I expect if the pest spreads that in two years there will be no corn grown in Essex or Kent counties. Other counties such as Norfolk, Middlesex, Oxford and Elgin are also suffering from the destruction of the borer."

E. Tellier (Liberal, Essex) said that as corn was the staple crop in Essex that the government must encourage something to take its place. He said some success was being had with soy beans.

Hon. John S. Martin, minister of Agriculture, got second reading for a bill making it compulsory on municipalities to appoint inspectors who will have wide powers on ordering the cleaning up of corn fields. Mr. Martin said he thought the inspection and cleaning up should be done with counties as the unit of control.

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago, and later is attacked by two men, but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailents. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness causes her to break their engagement. Mary writes Jimmy a letter, telling him about it. The office boys sticks it in his pocket and forgets it.

Jimmy gets a phone call late at night from Olga, saying she has found Ike Jensen. Her voice ends in a gasping cry.

Jimmy calls police and rushes to her apartment. She is gone. He and O'Day search the place and O'Day finds a picture, which he sticks in his pocket without showing Jimmy.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLII.

Jimmy swung around suddenly, to face O'Day as the latter was buttoning his coat. The police lieutenant colored guiltily and tried to hide his confusion behind a sudden fit of coughing.

But if he had noticed anything peculiar in the other's demeanor, Jimmy did not betray it. Instead, he asked, as he looked anxiously, inquiringly, at O'Day: "Where do you suppose—how can we even begin to look for her?"

O'Day, relieved to find that his action of hiding the picture in his pocket had been unnoticed, said loudly: "Give me time, Rand, give me time.

"These women," he added, half dolefully, half humorously, "are always causin' trouble. It's cherchie la femmie—or whatever you call it in your fancy French—for sure now."

The policemen that O'Day had sent out to search the neighborhood came straggling back.

"Nothing doing, Lieutenant," they reported. "We've been to every house in the block. No rooming houses in the neighborhood, and they all swear they never even saw any one like Jensen hangin' around."

O'Day turned to Jimmy. "What time was it you got the phone call?"

"I don't know exactly. It must have been about midnight. I called you immediately afterward."

"Well, it was just midnight when you called." He turned to his men. "Of course, Jensen wouldn't dare to be livin' in this neighborhood. I didn't expect you to find anything."

And then he addressed himself again to Jimmy. "We showed poor judgment in not keepin' this Olga Maynard locked up when we had her. We should have kept an eye on her all the time."

Jimmy's anger flared. "I didn't think you'd say 'I told you so' at a time like this. You're talking like that about her and the poor girl might be dead for all we know. Why—"

"There now, lad, don't take it to heart. I didn't mean anything. But I think it might have been better for her if she'd been in jail."

"Of course," said Jimmy hotly. "Lock the barn door after the horse is stolen."

"Well, how do you know she hasn't taken this way of flyin' the coop?" O'Day challenged:

"You seem to take it for granted that she has," retorted Rand.

"If I do, you'll understand why later. In the meantime we're not gettin' anywhere standin' here an' arguin'."

"Have you got any theory as to what took place?"

"Theory, and that's all. Here it is. She called you, you say, to tell you that she had seen Jensen go in the house across the street. Her hat and coat aren't here—at least, not a hat that's ordinarily worn on the street—so we'll take it for granted she was out some place and had seen Jensen just before she came in the house.

"At any rate, she evidently wasn't watchin' from the window, or her coat would be here.

"We'll say, then, that she was comin' home from downtown—maybe from a theater or something—and that Jensen was hangin' around the neighborhood and trailed her home.

"We'll say that he shadowed her from the other side of the street, an' she got nervous or something an' turned around an' saw him just as he passed under that street lamp on the other side of the street.

"She said he had gone in the house right across the way. All right, that's the one opposite the lamp. See?" He led the way to the window.

"Then we'll say that Jensen, seein' her turn an' look at him, tried to cover up by turnin' into the yard of that house. By walkin' up on the porch, he could give the impression that he was goin' inside."

He paused. "Followin' me?" he asked Jimmy.

"Go ahead," Jimmy begged. "It sounds plausible enough so far."

"All right. Just a theory, mind you, but good as far as it goes. There's nothin better to go on yet.

"Now then. She has seen Jensen an' recognized him. Maybe she jumps or betrays herself somehow so Jensen knows that he's been recognized. Maybe she starts runnin' into the house after seein' him. At any rate we'll say that Jensen thinks he's been recognized, an' that Olga doesn't know that Jensen has been shadowin' her.

"Now, then, what does she do? She runs right in the apartment an' goes straight to the phone without closing the door. We'll say she doesn't even turn the light on, because, in the first place, she knows the lay of the land in here an' she doesn't need it. In the second place, she's in a hurry an' got her mind on phonin' you. In the third place, the light from the window might betray her to Jensen across the street.

"All right. Now it's my opinion that Jensen, if he's got any dirty work on, has got someone with him. Mayb the other guy's followin' in an auto-e mobile."

Jimmy nodded. "That's reasonable. There were two of them, you know, the night he and I—"

"Exactly," broke in O'Day, and Jimmy felt a sudden admiration for the shrewdness the other revealed in his clear, straight thinking.

"We'll say, then," O'Day continued, "that Jensen had someone with him. On that theory, we'll say that he signalled for the other fellow to catch up with him an' then the two of them came in this building.

"The girl's at the phone. Maybe it takes her quite a while to get your number—"

Jimmy interrupted. "It must have been quite a while. I heard the phone ring downstairs in the hall and, not knowing it was for me, I didn't answer it right away but sat there and just let it ring. Then I went down—"

"All right. That fits, then. It at least is long enough to let Jensen and whoever's with him come in the door downstairs and sneak up here. There's heavy carpet on the steps, I noticed it as I came up.

"Now, she's got you on the line an' she's tellin' you she's seen Jensen, an' for you to hurry up an' get here. Just about that time Jensen an' the other one with him tiptoe in here an' grab her. That'd be when you heard her holler.

"Or maybe she hears them an' turns around an' then gives out a yell when she sees them. At any rate, we'll have to suppose that they clapped a hand over her mouth, or hit her on the head, or did something to keep her from screaming. If they hadn't, an' she had yelled, she'd have aroused everyone in the building.

"My own opinion is that if they came in here at all they chloroformed her. If they had been bent on killin' her why would they take her away?"

"Unless," put in Jimmy, "they wanted to question her to see how much we had on Jensen."

"Perhaps," admitted O'Day. "Now what's your opinion about the affair?"

"I can't imagine anything different from what you have described. It looks very much as if Jensen had kidnapped her. Probably he and whoever was with him did chloroform her to keep her from screaming."

"It's just a theory, mind you," said O'Day. "There's nothin' here to give us any kind of clue to what happened. The only thing at all was that mussed-up rug. Looks as if she might have kicked it when they grabbed her.

"And," O'Day added, "that's just one theory. "Do you want me to tell you the other one I have?"

There was a mysterious ring to his words, Jimmy thought, and a quizzical expression about his eyes.

"Yes, go ahead," Jimmy answered.

"Well, before I tell you, let me ask you not to rear up an' get hotheaded again. Honest, every time I air my views about this Maynard girl you get on your high horse an' act like you're goin' to take my head off."

Jimmy laughed. "Go ahead, Lieutenant. I'll behave."

"An' you'll let me finish?"

"Yes. I'll let you finish. I won't interrupt once."

"All right, then. Now I've just explained that what I've been sayin' is one theory. An' you'll admit it sounds reasonable."

Jimmy nodded.

"An' this one is just as reasonable. It's just this. Supposin' this girl really was implicated somehow in your father's murder. Suppose she hasn't been tellin' the whole truth about it. Now she's succeeded in convincin' most people that she's entirely innocent, but there's still a cloud hangin' over her, you might say.

"Now suppose she thinks it's time for her to do the disappearin' act? What could be better, or more convenient, than to frame a little thing like this here?" He waved his hand about him. "Let me finish now," he reminded Jimmy as the other was about to interrupt.

"Now, that's every bit as reasonable as the other theory, an'—"

An interruption came from an unexpected quarter. It was the telephone bell ringing. O'Day waved the others aside as he picked up the instrument in his hands.

"Probably from headquarters," he grunted, and said, "Hello."

He pressed the transmitter against his chest. "It's for you, Rand."

He held out the telephone to Jimmy and the latter about to take it in his own hands, abruptly stopped. A queer expression came over his face.

"For me?" he repeated. "That's funny."

He raised his hand, checking O'Day, who still held the phone extended.

"You take that call," he shot at O'Day. "No one on God's green earth is supposed to know where I am!"

AGRICULTURAL STATES ON GREAT LAKES NEED ST. LAWRENCE CANAL

Military Aspects of New York State Route Are Depreciated.

AT WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, March 17.—(Canadian Press).—Representatives of the Northern Mississippi Valley region mobilized in force Monday before the army rivers and harbors board to support their contention for construction of a ship canal from the Great Lakes to Tidewater via the St. Lawrence River.

Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, acting as field marshal for the St. Lawrence proponents, appeared in opposition to any modification to the report of the special engineering board which found adversely on the proposal to route the waterway via Oswego and the Hudson River.

The senator trained his guns particularly upon the national defense aspects of the New York canal, interjected into the hearing last week by Representative Dempsey, Republican, New York, chairman of the House rivers and harbors committee and sponsor for the New York route plan.

Exposed to Air Attack.

It was insisted by Mr. Lenroot that army engineers had reported repeatedly that any canal in immediate vicinity of the international boundary must be at the mercy of airplane bombs and long range artillery fire and that its national defense aspects were therefore of no value.

He also charged that the New York representative had obtained letters from secretaries Wilbur and Davis for the purpose of influencing the rivers and harbors board, when the secretaries had intended their communications only for the information of the rivers and harbors committee, but Mr. Dempsey, who was present, insisted the letters spoke for themselves.

Both Senator Lenroot and Former Governor Harding of Iowa, the other chief speaker yesterday, asserted that the agricultural states bordering on the Great Lakes could obtain the transportation relief they needed only through developments of the St. Lawrence project. The speakers read at length from reports of engineers to show that the lock system and the existence of fixed bridges along the New York route would delay and hamper the use of such a waterway.

The board will continue its hearing today and will be addressed by as many members of the Michigan, Ohio, Minnesota, Iowa, North Dakota and other congressional delegations from the lake regions as can be heard.

DEBONAIR LAWYER WANTED AT OTTAWA

Warrants Issued For Arrest of "Lucian Provencher."

OTTAWA, Ont., March 17. (Canadian Press)—Warrants have been issued for the arrest of Lucian Provencher, who is described by the Journal as a "debonaire young lawyer" on charges of false pretenses. It is said that he came to Ottawa at the opening of the session of parliament, stayed at a leading hotel and according to The Journal quickly became the intimate of some of the best known Liberal members of Parliament. Dressed in the height of fashion, witty, well-educated and always having lots of money, Provencher became popular and soon gained his way into the good graces of the Liberal members, in fact going so far as to borrow money from ministers of the government."

It is said that he issued a number of checks to Ottawa business houses and to several French Canadian members of parliament and when these were returned from the banks they were issued on, search was made for Provencher but without success. Warrants were issued for his arrest and the police expected that with the reopening of the session today, he would be found but there has been no success.

He is said to be a member of a legal firm in a small town in Alberta and formerly attended Laval University.

TO STAGE CONTEST AT KILLING PESTS

Port Hope Association to Give Prizes in Campaign Against Crows, Etc.

COBOURG, March 17. — The Cobourg Fish and Game Protective Association met on Tuesday afternoon, in the office of the Department of Agriculture.

Crows, blackbirds, woodchucks and other farm pests, are to be exterminated as far as lies in the power of the society, the coming season.

The Association decided to hold a competition for the destruction of farm pests. Valuable prizes will be awarded to contestants obtaining the highest number of points for the shooting of crows, blackbirds ,etc.

A second contest was suggested, which may be decided upon later. It is for the members to divide into two teams, the one making the highest number of points to be entertained by the losers.

A committee was appointed at a former meeting to report upon the advisability of importing Jack rabbits for sporting purposes, but the report which it presented was an unfavorable one, as it is feared the Jack rabbits also might prove a pest to the farmers.

Some twenty applications were made for trout fry and several for settings of pheasant eggs.

D. H. Chisholm, K. C., President of the Association, presided over the meeting.

Menus for the Family

(By Sister Mary.)

Breakfast—Shredded fresh pineapple, cereal, thin cream, creamed dried beef with rice, bran muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Lentil soup, toast sticks, cottage cheese sandwiches, stuffed figs, milk, tea.

Dinner—Casserole of smoked salmon, steamed spinach, new cabbage and celery salad, date custard pie, whole wheat bread, milk, coffee.

The woman who must depend on smoked and salted fish will welcome this recipe for smoked salmon. The tang of the cured fish often whets jaded appetites as the mildness of the fresh fish fails to do.

Casserole of Smoked Salmon.

One and one-half pounds smoked salmon, 4 onions, 1 cup canned peas, 1-2 cup diced cooked carrots, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 6 medium sized potatoes, 1-4 teaspoon pepper, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup milk, 1 1-2 cups dried bread crumbs.

Scald salmon. If very salty put through two or three waters. Cut in pieces to serve and sprinkle with lemon juice. Melt butter and add crumbs. Stir until well coated. Put fish into a well buttered casserole, sprinkle lightly with crumbs and add alternate layers of peas, carrots, potatoes cut in thin slices and crumbs with one onion sliced through each layer of vegetables. Add boiling water to cover and bake slowly for one hour. Add milk and continue baking for twenty minutes.

ST. ANDREW'S W.M.S.

Thank Offering Received at Easter Meeting—Splendid Address.

The Easter meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. was held Tuesday afternoon in the church, with a large attendance.

After the opening devotional exercises, in which Mrs. Kerr and Miss Graw led in prayer while Mrs. A. H. Allen took the Scripture reading, Mrs. Dorothy Allan-Park favored the ladies with a vocal solo. She was accompanied by Miss Agnes Logan.

The Heralds of the Watch Tower were heard from. Mrs. Barns reported from India. Mrs. Porteous, for Korea and Mrs. Henry, the lumber camps, each giving a very interesting report.

Mrs. John Allen was the principal speaker of the meeting. Her inspiring address, "A Call to Service," was an inspiration to those who had the pleasure of hearing her. At the close of the meeting, Mrs. Ross Williamson contributed a vocal solo, "Do Something for Someone To-Day," in splendid voice. The Easter thankoffering was a very generous one.

FATAL HOTEL FIRE.

One Person Dead and Four Injured.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., March 17 (Canadian Press).—The new Meadowside Inn at Mount Pocono, 18 miles from here, was destroyed by fire early Tuesday, causing the loss of one life and the serious injury of four other persons.

Charles Watkins, 26, an employee, was burned to death.

The hotel was four stories high, and had about fifty rooms, but there were very few guests in the place when the fire started.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

FILLING ODD CORNERS.

Rooms difficult to furnish have no terrors for the modern interior decorator.

Small rugs on the polished floor can be fitted into the spaces to better advantage. They will look better than a large rug that might have to be turned under at a corner to allow for a corner or jutting partition.

Be careful in choice of curtains. Don't use wide striped material or that having patterns of large flowers. A soft material in chintz or pongee trimmed or prettily stenciled muslin will do nicely. Don't carry the outer curtains to the floor, but cut them off twelve inches below the window sill.

A desk chair that slips under the desk when not in use is the one to choose. A stool for the dressing table may be selected with the same point of view. A small gateleg table makes a charming tea table or a reading table in the odd room, for when not needed it may be set back against the wall out of the way.

In lighting the odd-shaped room the indirect system will prove a most satisfactory solution of the problem. The ceiling lights should be placed in the places where the light distribution will be even, and in the odd corners electric lamps will add a decorative feature of the lighting plan. A single switch should operate the ceiling lights, but separate ones are best for the single lights.

PLYMOUTH, Vt., March 17. — (Canadian Press.)— Colonel John C. Coolidge continued to grow weaker last night, Dr. Albert M. Cram, of Bridgewater, his physician, announced in a bulletin issued at 8 o'clock. The physician said the president's father had been unable to take nourishment.

HER OWN WAY

A GIRL of TODAY

"Of course," said Mamie, "Sterns will keep me here just as long as he can to-night, Julie, for he knows that you are rooming at our apartment. I bet you'll hardly get out of the door when he'll come here to pump me, but don't you worry, Julie. I'm enough for that man and he knows it. I've never come off second best when he tries to bawl me out yet."

"Say, Julie, your friend Mamie is right there," Jimmie remarked as we went out..

"You've said something," I answered. "Mamie Riley is the best friend I've had in all the world. I never dreamed a girl could be so sweet and sincere and honest. Why, Jimmie, when I see her smiling at all those hatyrs who think they are flattering her, I can only think of a lily in a muck bed. Yes, Mamie is my best friend."

"No, Julie, not your best friend, if you'll consent to count me in. No one on earth will be a better friend to you than I if you'll let me be so."

"My, but your coming along fast, Jimmie. You know I hardly knew you in our old home town and now you want me to let you be my best friend."

Jimmie Costello looked so hurt that I hastened to assure him that I knew he was as good a friend as Mamie.

"But not any better. Remember that, young man," I said.

"Well, I'll try to be satisfied with that," he grinned. "But I'll warn you, young lady, I'll not take anything less than some time —"he tucked me a little closer under his arm—"that I may ask you to let me be a little something more."

"Don't. Please don't, Jimmie, for I'd hate to lose as good a friend as you, if you are hinting that you want to be my sweetheart. I don't want a sweetheart and I do want a friend."

"Oh, don't worry about me," cheerfully remarked Jim. "What do you want to do, take a taxi or do you want to go into the first eating place we come to?"

"That's much better. I'd rather walk."

As we passed in front of a brilliantly lighted window, Jimmie Costello stopped short and twisted me around.

"Julie how long have you been here?"

"About two months."

"And have you had to stand the insolence of those men all that time?"

"No, I did have to all the time, but if I were not listening to their insolence, I would have been listening to their compliments which was worse. I've come to the conclusion that a man is in ordinately proud of his supposed power to please for he's always trying to add to his little box of tricks.

Love's Fountain

By Juanita Hamel.

Once upon a time the whole world was searching for the Fountain of Youth. This fabled fountain they believed would let them live forever, and retain their youth and charm and loveliness. And all the time they were searching they overlooked the fact that had they quaffed from the cup which Love offers them, they would have all these gifts without further search. For all those who drink from the Cup of Love find youth and happiness and everlasting joy.

So when you find Dan Cupid sitting on the rim of Love's Fountain, and when he hands you the brimming cup take it and be careful that you don't spill a single drop—for it is the draught of everlasting youth and happiness, of life, and love and joy and it will bring the fulfilment of hopes and dreams—for Love is all of these.

Tomorrow's HOROSCOPE

By Genevieve Kemble

THURSDAY, MARCH 18.

Conflicting forces again rule this day. While there may be unusual activity, with the tendency to bold ventures and probably into untried fields, yet new projects are beset with dangers of probably a subtle nature. Change, removal or travel are indicated, and these should prosper if prudently handled. Those in employment are under fairly encouraging conditions for applying for advancement or favors. But be careful with writing of documents.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of change and turning to large and important projects, and, while in a measure these are encouraged, yet unusual precaution is enjoined in the matter of radical departures.

A child born on this day should be talented, resourceful and adventurous, but may encounter some serious setbacks in life.

WHERE?

Say, when it comes to losin' things, my kid's a master mind. You ought to hear the song he sings of things he cannot find. From early in the morning, just like every other child, his mother hears his warning, and it drives her nearly wild.

"Hey, mommy, where's my coat and hat? I threw 'em on the floor, just so I'd know where they were at. They're not there any more. I took my soakin' mittens off and hung 'em by the grate. Aw, shucks, come help me find 'em, 'er the kids outside won't wait.

"Who took that icy snowball that wuz on the pantry shelf? I 'member where it wuz because I put it there myself. An' where'd ya hide that piece of rope? Aw, Mommy, that was mine. It fit my sled exactly, so I cut it off yer [illegible]"

It's "where's my waist?" and "where's my tie?" and "where's my other shoe?" There's not a day that passes by that all this is not true. I guess all kids must have their turn, and sing that little song until they're old enough to learn—put things where they belong.

THE SECRETS OF CHARM

By Lucrezia Bori

We are told that women's feet are growing slightly larger. I insist upon interpreting this as meaning that women are better shod and with feet in better proportion to the rest of their bodies than ever before.

It is natural that in the active age in which we live women's feet should be just a trifle larger than they were in the days when the ideal woman sat on a cushion and sewed a fine seam—and squeezed her feet into skin-tight shoes so they would look small.

Bigger and better feet, I am sure, are only another sign of bigger and better and more active brains for women.

And let me warn you here that it is real economy to discard ill-fitting shoes. If they are too tight we pay for them with ingrowing toenails and bunions and all manner of disfigurements.

Now I am going to mention a few simple treatments to promote better feet.

In the first place, if your feet burn and smart bathe them in warm water to which you have added a generous amount of baking soda. Dry and rub quickly with a bit of ice. This is a very effective treatment.

Another good treatment is to massage your aching feet with cold cream, afterward massaging them gently with towels wrung out of cold water.

Wider shoes are the best permanent corrective for ingrowing toenails. And, by the way, if you injure cuticle about your toes do not use iodine, but treat it with compound tincture of benzoin.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

IT'S ALL IN THE WAY WE THINK

"Oh, me! Oh, my!" sighed the little Tulip Lady as she peeked out of her closed petals at the sky, "I guess I'm in for a day of it. I just hate damp days."

"And I love them," cried Miss Marigold. "A rainy day is the very nicest day in all the world. Why, I open my seed pod doors and drink in every bit of water that I can hold."

"That's all right for anyone who takes no pride in her blossom house," snapped Miss Tulip Lady. "But I think too much of my pollen and my seeds to expose them to damp weather. Of course, if I didn't care anything about them, that would be different. I've seen you open up several times when I knew a storm was coming, and I wanted to warn you, but on second thought I decided you knew it, so I kept still. But I'm here to say this is going to be some storm," and Lady Tulip closed her petals tighter than ever and even tried to fold up her pretty green leaves.

"The harder it storms the better I like it," laughed Miss Marigold. "Let it rain; it takes all kinds of weather to make this old world go around." Then she spread out her seed pods still farther and swayed in the breeze. "Fly away, little seeds. It's just the kind of a day to start into housekeeping," she called merrily to her seed babies. "Fall as near as you can to my roots and I'll protect you from the hot sun."

"Hold tight, wee seeds," cried Miss Tulip Lady, folding her petals as

tightly as she could around her seed babies. "There's a storm coming and it will kill every one of you."

"Very sensible, very sensible," snapped a third voice. Then Mrs. Pimpernel, who had built her blossom home for the first time near the roadside, nodded her head in sympathy to Miss Tulip Lady. "Just because Miss Marigold wants to start a new fashion is no sign we have to follow her. I for one don't intend to change my ways. I always have and always will close my petals when I think it's going to rain. It's not good for my pollen or seeds, either, to get wet."

"Then close up your doors, little neighbors," laughed the happy Marigold, "for there is a big storm coming. But whatever you do, don't think I'm trying to change anyone's ideas. No, sir-ee. I have always been taught to open my petals on a rainy day. When it comes time for my baby seeds to find new homes I make it a point to open my seed pods on a rainy day. When they fall on the damp ground they will soon swell up and sink into the soft ground. Then in a short time they will build new green homes of their own. After all, it's just the way folks think. It would be a funny world if all the flowers would close on a rainy day or all the flowers would close on a sunny day, now, wouldn't it? If each one does the very best she knows how, I'm sure everything will be all right." Then she spread out her petals and when the rain fell her baby seeds rolled out and nestled at her feet in the cool, soft, damp earth and Miss Marigold was happy.

Tulip Lady kept her petals closed, so that not a sign of dampness reached her pretty seeds. Miss Pimpernel closed her doorways, too, and the rain spattered all around them, but the three little neighbors were happy because each one was doing what she thought was best.

CUSTOMS OFFICER HAD INTEREST IN LIQUOR BUSINESS IN QUEBEC

J. E. A. Bisaillon Also Shared in Moieties To Make Ends Meet.

SALARY TOO SMALL.

OTTAWA, March 17 (Canadian Press)—That he had been interested in a liquor business while occupying the position of chief preventive officer for the Port of Montreal, was admitted by J. E. A. Bisaillon during lengthy cross-examination before the customs investigating committee Tuesday afternoon. The former chief preventive officer informed R. L. Calder, K.C., counsel for the committee, that this business had been carried on under the name of J. E. Belisle, and that the firm was not registered.

"Why not?" asked counsel.

"We did not think it necessary," replied the witness.

He stated positively that he had never used his farm in Clarenceville, Quebec, for the purpose of smuggling liquor into the United States.

The entire afternoon was taken up in examination of Mr. Bisaillon. Early in his examination he admited that he had shared moieties with subordinates in the Montreal office, in order "to make ends meet." He had done this in spite of the fact that his salary was above the point where such moieties were allowed in the Customs Act. His salary was not sufficient for him to get along on without sharing these moieties, he maintained.

Sharp Exchanges.

There were some warm exchanges between Mr. Calder and the witness. The former said that when he was crown prosecutor at Montreal he had stated that the customs in that city was used as a clearing-house for stolen automobiles. He drew this statement to the atetntion of Bisaillon.

"When you were crown prosecutor I never saw you," retorted the witness. "Because you said a thing doesn't mean that it was right. The statement was made for publicity. Many of the things you said were not true."

A large part of the examination dealt with the practice of smuggling new automobiles into Canada under legal entry of part cars, burnt cars and wrecks. It was during this discussion that Mr. Bisaillon drew a distinction between "stopping" and "preventing" smuggling.

"You were appointed to stop smuggling" asked Mr. Calder.

"I was appointed to prevent smuggling, not to stop it," replied the witness.

"What's the difference?" queried counsel.

Mr. Bisaillon replied that stopping smuggling was a national problem. Preventing it consisted in suppressing the practice where one could.

He claimed that the officers at the customs ports of entry must take the responsibility for the importation of new cars under customs entries for bodies, burnt and wrecked cars. He denied that he had refused to assist the police of Montreal in recovering stolen cars.

Shampoo Powders Bad For the Hair

Most shampoo powders, and prepared shampoos, contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use).

BETTY BALFOUR
Charming British Star
How she keeps her hair beautiful

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store—it is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations—look for the name Watkins on the package.

NICKAWA GIVES GOOD PROGRAMME

Appreciative Audience Hears Entertainment at Trinity Church.

(By Jeanette)

Trinity Church was filled last evening with about six hundred people in a very appreciative audience, for the concert at which the main artist was Miss Frances Nickawa, the young Cree Indian girl entertainer, who provided a splendid programme of readings and songs, assisted by Mrs. Ross Williamson and Mr. M. H. Park in vocal solos and Miss Catherine Taylor in violin numbers.

Miss Nickawa, who made such a fine impression with her powers of elocution on previous visits to the city, again delighted her audience last evening with a varied and interesting programme. Her dramatic rendition and her habit of using all her resources to create a mental picture for her hearers of the part she is portraying make her work exceptionally good, and she is a mistress of all the small effects, such as dramatic pauses and sudden changes of voice, that help to weave a certain impression on the mind of the listener. Her voice is one of her strong points, flexible, rich and capable of a great variety of modulations.

The rendition in Indian costume of two excerpts from "The Song of Hiawatha" and of several of the compositions of Pauline Johnston, the noted Indian writer and poetess, were among the best selections on the reader's programme. The portion that dealt with the Childhood of Hiawatha wove the picture of the youthful Indian hunter and the dramatic lament of the Famine scene showed the sororws of the man in the death of his beloved Laughing Water. A trio of selections by Pauline Johnson were varied in type and splendidly rendered, including the always popular "Song My Paddle Sings," "How the Great Gitche-Manitou Made Man," and a charming portrayal of "How an Indian Mother puts her little papoose to sleep."

The favorite of the reader, "Little Bateese," was the opening offering, followed by "Black Thunder," a story of a wild black horse of the prairies, and an encore in the Scotch bit, "It's Verra Weel."

Miss Nickawa's vocal contributions to the programme, in which the quality of dramatic effect so noticeable in her elocutionary work is very apparent in the sudden changes and pauses in her elocutionary work is very apparent in the suudden changes and pauses with which she fills her songs, were "Coming Home" and "Ma Curly-Headed Babby." The recitation about "Old Soapy," the poor boy who overcame many obstacles to achieve success, followed with a brief bit about a little boy's recitation in school, and another of Pauline Johnson's compositions, "Little Lady Icicle." This last was one of the best things on the programme, its fanciful, imagery and swift tempo suiting admirably the reader's individual style of expression.

The assisting artists were greeted with much applause in every instance. Mrs. Ross Williamson's clear, lovely tones were heard to much advantage in Gounod's "Serenade" and "Solveig's Song," by Greig, and Mr. M. H. Park's fine, pleasing tenor was as attractive as usual in "Pale Moon" and its charming encore number.

Miss Catherine Taylor played two violin selections, a Russian dance, "La Zarine," and an encore, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise." Miss Taylor made a very good impression, especially in her first offering, playing with ease and composure, with a soft, pretty ringing tone and graceful expression.

Miss Clarry played the organ accompaniments for the evening's programme. Announcements were made by Rev. A. J. Langford.

Following the entertainment, the Mission Circle of the church, under whose auspices the programme was given, entertained the artists and their friends in the basement of the church.

VANDALS SMASH HOME.

One Arrest in North Winnipeg Raid.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 17. — Canadian Press. — Looming up from the darkness a gang of men fell upon the home of Mike Galay in North Winnipeg, systematically smashed doors, windows and furniture, ripped out the telephone and battered chairs against the walls. The vandals vanished as quickly as they came. One man has ben arrested in connection with the affair.

ACCUSED SAYS MATTEOTTI DIED NATURAL DEATH

Felt Ill While Being Kidnapped and Died in Few Minutes.

NO STRUGGLE.

Bruises and Scratches on the Body Were Caused By Prison Bedbugs.

CHIETI, Italy, March 17 (Canadian Press).—The outstanding feature of the trial of the slayers of the Socialist deputy Matteotti here yesterday, was the testimony of Amerigo Dumini, one of the accused that the dead man was not murdered but died a natural death.

"As were were taking Matteotti in the car he began to feel ill and I stopped. It was in vain, for five minutes later he died with blood trickling from his mouth," he told the court. Dumini said he meant only to kidnap Matteotti because he knew the Socialist Deputy had plotted with two Frenchmen, but when his prisoner died, Dumini lost his head and continued to drive into the country.

z Finding a lonely place on the Viterbo Road, Dumini ordered the burial of the body after removing the clothing to prevent identification. Asked how the bruises and scratches came to be on the dead man's body, Dumini said they were the marks left by bed bugs in the prison and not the results of a struggle in the car.

LESLIE UNITT GOES TO OSHAWA

Selected From 46 Applicants For United Church Choir Leader.

FINE MUSICIAN.

PORT HOPE, March 17.—Mr. L. F. Unitt, organist of the United Church, Port Hope, and formerly of St. James' church, Peterborough, tendered his resignation on Monday morning, he having secured the position as organist of the United Church, Simcoe street, Oshawa. Mr. Unitt will not leave Port Hope until after Easter.

There were 46 applicants for the position and Mr. Unitt has to be congratulated on his success, more particularly as there were candidates for the position from New York and other United States' cities. Mr. Unitt will be missed in Port Hope. During his sojourn here he has taken a very prominent part in the musical life of the town and besides his connection with the United Church his fine work in connection with the band was something that showed that not only was he a fine musician but that he also had the ability to train and hold men. His work with the choir of the United Church was most marked and he brought that body up to a high state of efficiency during his term here. Besides these things Mr. Unitt also took a deep interest in the work of the Women's Musical Club and was a regular contributor to the programmes of this Society and was valuable to the ladies in the arranging of their programmes. It was also through Mr. Unitt's endeavours that the music loving people of Port Hope were given the unique opportunity of hearing the famous Welsh choir. Mr. Unitt will be missed in Port Hope, but the people of this town will be only too glad to know that he has secured such a fine position in Oshawa and will join in wishing him success in his new undertaking.

NIAGARA CUSTOMS STAFF INCREASED

Will Be Two Men Continuously on Duty.

OTTAWA, March 17 (Canadian Press).—At least two Customs officers will hold the fort hereafter at the Canadian end of the international bridge at Niagara Falls.

This was announced in the House of Commons Tuesday by Hon. G. H. Boiven, Minister of Customs, during a discussion on estimates of the Customs Department.

J. D. Chaplin (Conservative, Lincoln) said that recently four trucks, presumably containing smuggled goods, had been rushed across the Niagara bridge one night, while a single Canadian Customs officer was on duty. An auto had first been backed under the barrier, making it impossible for the barrier to be lowered against the advancing trucks.

Mr. Boivin said that Mr. Chaplin had reported the incident to the Customs Department. He was grateful to the member for Lincoln for bringing this matter to his notice. It was only by following up these cases that the Department could present abuses and remove from the preventive staff "men who are unworthy of being in the service." The Minister said that hereafter there would always be more than one officer on duty on the Niagara bridge.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MET

Good Attendance at Regular Meeting of Queen Mary Branch.

A well-attended meeting of the Home and School Association of the Queen Mary School was held last evening in the school. P. H. Allison, president of the Association, acted as chairman for the occasion, and in the absence of Mr. Clark, principal of the school and secretary-treasurer of the Association, he read again the rules for which the Association was organized, laying stress upon the fact that co-operation with the teachers in the disciplining of the pupils, stating that no school system could be run smoothly without it.

Charles Clark opened the musical programme with two vocal solos, accompanied by Miss Louise Letellier. Frank Clarke came next with a very pleasing banjo solo. Miss Florence Robertson sang "In Summertime," accompanied by Miss Flowers. Later in the evening Mr. Sutton delighted the audience with a violin solo, accompanied by Miss White.

As the main event of the evening, Charles Cook gave an address on "Education Inside and Outside of the School," dealing chiefly with the part of education as a stepping stone to overcome crime. Mr. Cook told of a trip down to the coal-fields of Virginia, where he said money was plentiful but schools were lacking, hence crime and loose living in youth was prevalent. We then went on to tell of the training of youth. "Do the parents instill into a boy's mind the importance of holding down his first job?" he asked. "If not, then they are wrong, because a parent should press upon a youth the vital fact of placing his whole mind into the fulfilling of his first position and also of using his head as one of the main factors when working with his mind.

"It is absolutely useless to try to make an office man out of a hand worker," stated Mr. Cook, "because society calls for a majority of handworkers. A number of our great inventions had to be first tried out with the hands. Edison, in inventing the light, had to use many pairs of hands to lay the wires, and the Transcontinental Railway employed thousands in the laying of the tracks before the railway trains could run from coast to coast. These vast enterprises had to have great executives, but again brain-work had to be co-operated with handwork before they could be completed."

Mr. Cook concluded with the remark: "Although we strive and plan for to-day, it will be our children who will carry these out tomorrow."

The Chairman, in his closing remarks, thanked the parents of the children for being present, Mrs. Wilkson and Mrs. Worsencroft for arranging the musical programme, and especially Mr. Cook, and also the ladies of the Association who served a light lunch after the programme.

CANADA FAVORED 1927 CONFERENCE

Parliamentary Position Referred To As An Obstacle.

OTTAWA, March 17 (Canadian Press).—The Canadian Government was in favor of calling the Imperial Conference in 1927 instead of next October. This is revealed in the correspondence between the Baldwin Government in London and the Governor-General in Ottawa, tabled in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Premier Baldwin however, having intimated that the other dominions preferred to meet next October, and the British Government shared this view, the Canadian Government on February 19 last, concurred in the proposal to call the conference for October of this year, and His Excellency cabled this decision to London.

At the beginning of the correspondence there is a cable from Ottawa to London pointing out that the present parliamentary position in Canada, makes it impossible to undertake to send representatives to a conference in June of this year," which date had apparently been tentatively suggested for the imperial conference. Canada then suggested that October, 1927, would be the most suitable date; later the other dominions, India, and the home government agreed that October, 1926, was the best date for the conference

MUSSOLINI'S DAY AS DICTATOR IS NEARING FINISH

Former Friend, Cesare Rossi, Says Fascism Faces Disaster.

CHIETI ITS TOMB.

Trials of Five Men For Slaying Deputy Parody of Justice.

PARIS, March 17 (United News) —Benito Mussolini's days as a dictator are numbered, Cesare Rossi, former close associate of tre Italian Premier and now a fugitive in France, told the United News in an interview on Tuesday.

The trial of the five men at Chieti for the murder of Deputy Matteotti is a parody of justice, and Chieti is destined to become the tomb of Fascism, Rossi said.

"Everyone knows in advance how the trial will end. The prisoners will be given a six year prison sentence, but the amnesty low will wipe out four of these leaving only two to be served. The men have already been in jail for two years, and so they will in all probability be liberated just as soon as the trial is concluded."

Rossi said that the Fascist regime in Italy was facing disaster because of the increase of feeling against the rule of the dictator and because of financial trouble within the organization.

GIRL WOUNDED IN BOOZE JOINT

Victim of Shooting Fray in Detroit "Blind Pig."

TOLD BANDIT STORY.

WINDSOR, Ont. March 17.—Eunice Onge, 25 years old, Ford City patient in Grace Hospital, suffering from a bullet wound, and William Fuller, 21, her escort ,of 101 Peter Street, Sandwich, confessed that she had received her wound in a Detroit blind pig battle Sunday night, and not in an alleged holdup in the Michigan Central Railway subway at Tecumseh Road, Windsor.

Miss Onge and Fuller made their confessions to Detective-Sergt. Jos. Bower and other officers after a severe grilling.

Fuller yesterday told a hazy story of vain attempts to secure a doctor for the girl immediately after she was shot in a blind pig in Detroit's "corktown" district, and afterward taking her to Windsor via the ferry.

When they reached the Tecumseh Road subway Fuller said the girl became so weak she could not go further, so they framed the story of the holdup and called police for assistance. The Onge girl in hospital corroborated Fuller's later confession in its entirety.

DUFF APPOINTED.

Deputy Speaker of the House of Commons.

OTTAWA, March 17 (Canadian Press). — Premier King, in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon, moved the appointment of William Duff of Queens-Lunenburg as Deputy-Speaker of the House of Commons.

The motion was carried without opposition. As Mr. Duff entered the House, a moment later, he was greeted with applause. Speaker Lemieux shook hands with him on his appointment.

FIGHT IS TAKEN TO STATE LEGISLATURE

Resolution To Cede Part of Barge Canal To U. S. Government.

ALBANY, March 16. — Canadian Press. — A fight which has been conducted in Washington by Representative S. Wallace Dempsey, Republian, New York, Chairman of the House Rivers and Harbors Committee for a Federal "Lake-to-Sea" Ship Canal aross New York State, as against the canalization of the St. Lawrence River, was brought to the State Legislature to-day.

Companion resolutions were introdued in both houses proposing a constitutional amendment which would authorize the sale or ceding of a portion of the present State Barge Canal system to the United States government for ship canal purposes.

PRESSURE FROM HOME EXERTED

Solution of League Problem Desired By All Countries.

SEATS UNSAFE.

LONDON, March 16 (United Press).—Home folk in the various countries belonging to the League of Nations are exerting tremendous pressure on their respective representatives at Geneva, to find an immediate settlement of the dispute over Council seats.

The solution which is in prospect is likely to be followed by Governmental changes, especially in Belgium, France, Poland and Germany, where the Cabinets are shakey at best. The positions of Sir Austen Chamberlain, British Foreign Secretary, and Foreign Minister Unden of Sweden are likewise imperilled.

AT THE CAPITOL

"DON Q." FAIRBANKS' GREATEST STUNT FILM

All the Dash and Pep of Earlier Portrayals Plus Artistic Effects

Douglas Fairbanks has never before produced a picture which offered him the latitude and scope of expression that is given in his new United Artists Corporation vehicle, "Don Q, Son of Zorro," scheduled for its initial showing at the Capitol Theatre, tomorrow.

To begin with, this feature is replete with all the romantic dash and go of earlier productions, coupled with an unusual opportunity for histrionic work, due not only to the highly melodramatic nature of the story, but also to the fact that the star is called upon to carry a difficult dual role—difficult because he depicts youth as well as age. He will be seen as Zorro, mellow and philosophical with the passing of years but a fighter for all of that, his grim determination spelling indomitable—courage. As the devil-may-care spirit which made his Zorro interpretation famous.

Besides the astounding stunts he performs with a black snake whip which serves as his chief weapon, he accomplishes feats of swordsmanship that are remarkable. The ingenuity with which he escapes from his enemies will provoke both mirth and admiration. One scene shows him in a fifty-foot slide as he vaults from a window when cornered by great odds in a sword-fight, or the delectation of his audience he has dramatized the incident of "the bull in the china shop", only he captures the bull, all with a whip and a cape.

Add to this the master craftsmanship of perfect sets, superb direction and marvelous photography and you have all the reasons why "Don Q, Son of Zorro," is Douglas Fairbanks' greatest photoplay.

AT THE REGENT

FOOTBALL CONTEST GREAT FEATURE OF "BRAVEHEART" FILM.

Rod La Rocque's New Picture Is Packed With Scenes That Thrill.

One of the most realistic football games ever screened, is shown in Rod La Rocque's new star picture, "Braveheart," which will be on view at the Regent Theatre for 3 days, beginning to-day. Inasmuch as La Rocque and Alan Hale, the director, are football experts, the details of the game are so deftly handled as to win the enthusiastic praise of all who see the picture.

"Braveheart" is the son of an Indian chief who is sent to college to learn the white man's ways of doing things, so that the Indians might recover certain fishing rights vouchsafed to them by a treaty, but of which they were arbitrarily deprived. Braveheart falls in love with Dorothy Nelson, a white girl, played by Lillian Rich, and her brother Frank with Braveheart is a member of the college football team.

It transpires that Frank plots to change signals in order that the opposing team might win the game and he cash in heavily on big bets he has made. The trick is discovered and Frank is about to be exposed when Braveheart shoulders his guilt. He does this in order to save Dorothy from shame and humiliation and when he is expelled from college, Dorothy, convinced of his guilt, turns from him in loathing. He bears his disgrace manfully and then comes to the realization that after all, the blood of white girl and red man can never mix, and he devotes his future life to the betterment of Indian tribal conditions.

The cast is a notable one. Four players are featured. They are Lillian Rich, Robert Edeson, Tyrone Power and Jean Acker.

PLAN NOW FOR THAT PACIFIC COAST AND ALASKA TRIP YOU INTENDED TO TAKE NEXT SUMMER.

Next summer forget the cares of business or profession and take a trip to Western Canada, the Pacific Coast or Alaska. There's satisfaction in this kind of a vacation—a swift journey through never-before-seen country, restful stops at splendid resort hotels, and, when you reach the Canadian Rockies, gorgeous vistas of lake, forest and towering mountain peaks.

There is never an idle moment if you travel the Canadian National Route on radio equipped trains. Crossing the vast prairie country, the Granary of the Empire is always interesting. Then there is Jasper Park Lodge of Continent-wide fame. There are mountains on all sides, sky piercing giants, snow-capped massive, many of which have never been scaled.

From Jasper National Park is a never-ending succession of mountains—and more mountains—lovely valleys, turbulent rivers and dashing waterfalls until you reach the Coast at Vancouver or Prince Rupert.

To make the most of your trip the voyage through the Sheltered Scenic Seas of the North Pacific should be taken from Vancouver to Prince Rupert or Alaska. On the voyage you will see from splendid sea-going steamers, alluring inlets, towering headlands and tumbling icy streams and glaciers. On the return journey, see Kitwanga and its totem poles, Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies, and again to Jasper National Park.

These trips, as mapped out by Canadian National Railways, are not surpassed anywhere and furnish a liberal education on Canada to our Canadian people.

Summer tourist fares are effective between May 15th and Sept. 30th, with return limit of October 31st, at a minimum of cost.

Make sure of your Western trip this summer by planning ahead. Any Canadian National Agent will give you full information and illustrated booklets. 3d-9,17,27

FAREWELL SERMON OF REV. JNO. LENNOX

Is Leaving Havelock to Take Up Work at Beamsville.

HAVELOCK, March 17.—Knox Presbyterian Church was filled to capacity on Sunday evening when the Rev. John Lennox preached his farewell sermon. Mr. Lennox has accepted a call to Beamsville and left on Monday for his new field of labor.

The text chosen for the occasion was the same one he had preached from just a year ago, namely, John 19-30, "When Jesus, therefore, had received the vinegar he said, 'It is finished,' and bowed his head and gave up the ghost."

Special attention was drawn to the three words, "It is finished." The greatest event in the world's history that had ever taken place was the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, said the speaker. Some men will say that the greatest event was the discovery of wireless telegraphy, but the finished work of Jesus is the greatest of all events. It was the way of reconcilation between a Holy God and sinful man. No story can bring the heart closer to God than the story of the sufferings of Jesus on the cross.

"In our pilgrimage in this world," he said, "coming into different environments, we are apt to become cold in our spiritual life, but when we picture the scene on Calvary we ask ourselves the question, 'Why did Jesus pay the price of human sin?'

"I do not know," Mr. Lennox continued, "whether it is possible to give tonight all that is contained in the limit of these three words, 'It is finished.' Literally as they stand Jesus said, 'My life is finished—the Jews have done their worst,' but there is far more meaning to them than that Jesus is looking over history, thinking of the divine plan, the first prophecy, 'the seed of the woman shall bruise the sergent's head.' The great covenant with Abraham, 'In thee shall all nations of the earth be blessed,' and then in Isaiah 53-5, 'He was wounded for our trangressions, He was bruised for our iniquities; the chastisement of our peace was upon Him and with His stripes we are healed.'

"This is what is inculcated in these words, 'It is finished.' If we were to enumerate our sins possibly we would ask ourselves, 'Who can pay so great a debt?' Jesus is the only answer. He has died for human sin and paid the debt. The world may not forgive. The world may blacken our character, but Jesus says, 'Come unto me.'"

In conclusion the speaker said: "May you all come, for Christ's sake, for your own sake, for the community's sake, for there is joy over one sinner that repenteth."

Special music was rendered by the choir, and also a solo by Mr. Lennox.

AROUND THE CITY.

A prize should be given a George Street husband who 'phoned his wife late last night and told her he wouldn't be home that night because he was suffering from amnesia and didn't know where he was.

This story is recalled by the recent tag day: A man arrived in Glasgow and couldn't understand why nobody was on the street until he was told it was tag day. Well, next day, everybody was on the street. He asked how come. "Oh," he was informed, "the tag day was a failure, so to-day they are making a house-to-house canvass."

BOOM IN ALFALFA NEAR WARKWORTH

Agricultural Society Has Arranged For Supply of Seed.

WARKWORTH, March 17.—The farmers of this district always up to date in all their methods will go extensively into the sowing of alfalfa this year, a crop for the raising of which the high land of Percy Township is admirably adapt'. The directors of the Agricultural Society have already ordered 30 bushels of the choicest seed and this, enough to seed about 150 acres, has nearly all been spoken for by the farmers near the village. The best seed sells for $11 a bushel and is accomponied by a affidavit to the effect that it has been grown in Peel County, near Toronto for the past 15 years, that while growing it was inspected by an official of the Guelph Agricultural College, and that it is warranted to be free from all noxious weeds. Another grade of seed can be had for $10 a bushel. These prices are allowed only if the seed is ordered in lots of 20 bushels or over.

Seed Cleaning Machine.

The Fair directors made an attempt to have the Ontario Department of Agriculture install a seed cleaning machine here, but President George Poole, who took this matter up with the officials at Toronto reports that there is no chance to secure anything of the kind this year, that is with any assistance from the government.

He does say, however, that a machine for cleaning the coarser seeds, such as wheat, oats and barley, can be purchased by the farmers at a cost of $175, and that this would thoroughly clean from 35 to 50 bushels an hour. Another machine for cleaning alfalfa, clover, timothy and alsike would cost $165 or $170. Mr. Poole sees no reason why a number of the local farmers could not form a company to purchase such an outfit, and to operate it at a small charge per bushel, as he believes the investment would be a paying proposition.

Surplus Piling Up.

The annual report of the Hydro states that the operation of the system in Warkworth last year shows a surplus of over ....1200, and this leaves the village with a big balance on hand, although the rates have been reduced to bring the price to the consumers down to a figure nearer actual cost.

Severity is allowable where gentleness has no effect. —Cosneille.

Wheat Drops Lower To-day Influenced By Argentine

CHICAGO, March 17.—(Canadian Press.)—With reports at hand that the Argentine wheat is being urgently pressed for sale, the wheat market here averaged lower to-day in early dealings. The opening, 3-8c. off to 1-8c. up, May 163 1-2 and July 140 7-8 to 141 was followed by a material setback all around but then something of a rally.

For the most part corn and oats were governed by the action of wheat. After opening unchanged to 1-4c. higher, May 77 7-8 to 78, corn underwent a moderate general sag.

Oats started unchanged to 1-8c. up, May 40 1-8 to 40 1-4 and later eased down a little.

Lower quotations on hogs weakened the provision market.

Mining Session Listless At the Standard Exchange

TORONTO, March 17. - Canadian Press. — The Standard Mining Exchange was again listless this morning, trading being very light, and the trend mixed. Gold leaders were firm, Dome touching 19.75 and closing one cent higher than yesterday at 19.60; Hollinger gaining 15 at 18.85 and McIntyre 15 at 25.40; Canadian Lorrain advanced four at 86 and Castle Trethewey two at 165. Tough Oakes sold off 1 1-2 at 51 and Teck Hughes was one lower at 314.

Weak silvers were Mining Corporation down two at 380, and Nocando down fifteen at 13.19.

Great Decrease In Value On Toronto Stock Exchange

TORONTO, Mar. 17 (Canadian Press)—A weaker tone set in with a great decrease in volume of trading on the Toronto Stock Exchange today. Massey Harris, Smelters and Nickel were the only listed stocks dealt in to any extent. Massey Common softened 1 3-8 at 58 1-8 and Preferred three-eighths at 96½. Smelters sold down to 209 but recovered to 211 a half point gain. Nickel sold 1 1-4 lower at 36 1-2. Brazilian eased 3-8 at 92. British Columbia Fishing was a firm spot advancing 1 3-8 at 69 7-8. Dome Mines, most active stock of the morning, gained to 19.75 but receded to close morning unchanged at 19.60. McIntyre gained 40 cents at 25.50.

Alternating Periods Shown In To-day's Stock Market

NEW YORK, N.Y., March 17.—(Canadian Press.) — Alternating periods of weakness and strength in to-day's stock market reflected play of the opposing speculative forces in their struggle for control of the price movement. Taking advantage of the apparent lack of extensive public participation, bear traders succeeded in hammering down a number of stocks, particularly in food and merchandising groups. Fears that the merger plans were imperilled by the decision of the Van Swering-ens to release stocks deposited under their original plan brought about some liquidation of railroad shares, Lackawanna, Delaware and Hudson, Pere Marquette perferred and 'Soo' preferred, each falling about 3 points.

QUILTING BEE.

Bailieboro United W. M. S. Did Great Deal of Sewing.

On Thursday afternoon the W.M.S. of the United church held a quilting and sewing bee in Bateson's Hall. There were about twenty-eight of the members present, and a social and profitable afternoon was spent. There were two quilts quilted, as well as other sewing accomplished for the missionary boxes.

The ladies of the W.M.S. have already sent one box to the Deconess home in Toronto, containing seven other quilts and a large supply of clothing.

At the conclusion of the afternoon's work, 'Group C,' of which Mrs. Norman Jewison is convenor, served the ladies to a splendid supper, which was immensely enjoyed by all.

Among those present were Mrs. N. Jewison, Mrs. J. Jewison, Mrs. R. Falls, Mrs. H. Jewison, Mrs. W. Barnard, Mrs. A. Dawson, Mrs. W. Dawson, Mrs. C. Dawson, Mrs. N. Thompson, Mrs. A. Dean, Mrs. H. Barnard, Mrs. P. Barnard, Mrs. W. Thompson, Mrs. J. Lang, Mrs. W. Bateman, Mrs. I. Dawson, Mrs. W. Bateson, Miss B. Harmer, Miss P. Thompson.

Almost a sure sign of spring was seen by H. Roddy, of Fraserville, on Thursday, when he saw a woodchuck out on a side bank basking himself in the warm sun.

Miss Norma Staples, of Cavanville, is the guest of Miss Dorothy Falls.

F. Sidey expects to have another saw mill fixed up within a few days to complete the sawing of the season's custom logs.

The hot sun during the past few days is putting the roads in a poor condition for heavy traffic.

WESTWOOD W.M.S.

Officers All Re-elected to Serve for Another Year.

WESTWOOD, March 17.—The Women's Missionary Society of the United church held its regular monthly meeting on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Sargent.

Following an interesting programme the annual election of officers took place, which resulted in all of last year's officers being re-elected:

President—Mrs. John Hope.
1st Vice-President—Mrs. Robert Nevins.
2nd Vice-President— Mrs. John Sargent.
Recording Secretary—Mrs. Hugh Cameron.
Corresponding Secretary — Mrs. Hilliard Neilson.
Treasurer—Miss Jessie Davidson.
Organist—Mrs. James Sargent.
Assistant Organist—Miss Lila Slade.

An interesting feature of the meeting was an address read by Mrs. John Sargent and the presentation of a Life Membership ticket to Miss Jessie Davidson as a gift for her faithful services, from Mrs. John Hope.

The mite boxes which had been requested to be brought in were opened and the contents proved to very satisfactory.

The Easter thankoffering of the W.M.S. will be held on Sunday, March 21st at the regular service.

BABY "KIDNAPPED"

LONDON, March 16—The entire force at the West End police station conducted a frantic two-hour search for a boy, reported kidnapped from its perambulator while the nurse was in a store making a purchase. The baby was found at home, asleep. The mother had been the "kidnapper."

PETERBORO' MAN ELECTED TO OFFICE

E. F. Reid is Associate Grand Master of Grand Black Chapter.

BELLEVILLE, March 17 — The Grand Chapter of the Royal Black Knights of Ireland for Ontario East met here yesterday in the fifty-second annual convocation. The Grand Chapter was instituted in this city in 1874. Two hundred delegates, many of them "old-timers," were in attendance.

S. G. Kerr of Belleville was elected Grand Master. Other officers chosen were H. B. Tetterly, Winchester, Deputy Grand Master; E. F. Reid, Peterboro', Associate Grand Master; Rev. A. L. Green, Belleville, Grand Chaplain; Rev. E. W. Metcalfe, Newington, Deputy Grand Chaplain; D. J. Sutherland, Ottawa, Grand Registrar; James Moore, Eganville, Grand Treasurer; Joseph Lisk, Eganville Grand Lecturer; R. J. Wood, Madoc, Grand Censor; Walter Reynolds, Cannifton, Grand Standard-Bearer.

The election was conducted by Past Grand Master C. H. Wood of Kingston and the officers were installed by Past Grand Master H. A. Graham of Kingston. The Grand Black Preceptory will meet next year at the place selected for the holding of the Grand Orange Lodge of Eastern Ontario.

PLAY ENJOYED AT HAVELOCK

Tennessee's Partner, a Western Drama, is Well Received.

CHARACTERS GOOD.

HAVELOCK, March 16.—"Tennessee's Partner," a four-act Western drama, was presented in the Town Hall on Thursday evening by the choir of Knox Presbyterian Church, and was accorded an enthusiastic reception by the capacity house.

Although the play was presented earlier than was expected, it was a creditable and entertainng performance, and showed much talent in the players. The successful rendering was due to the untiring efforts of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. McNichol, who cast the characters and assisted in the proper interpretation of the roles.

The cast of characters was good. Eldon Pirie, as "Caleb Swan," received much praise for his impressive portrayal of this character. Harold Ketchen, in the role of "Gee Willigher Hay," was also excellent, and by his witticisms lent the greater touches of humor. It would be a difficult matter to decide which of these two characters should receive the honor of being the star performer. Herbert Leng, as "Asia Bice," and Charles Thompson as "Barlow"—miners—were both exceptionally good, while Miss Reta Buchanan as "Tennessee Kent," took her part in splendid fashion. Miss Elma Martin, as "Mrs. Hay," wife of Gee Willigher Hay, aroused much amusement. The other characters, namely: Miss Barbara Watson as "Nettie Bice," Archie Mathison as "Tom Romain," and Albert Wilson as "Spike," were all adequately filled.

Summary of Play.

Act I.—Scene: Gambling House of Swan and Bice, "And Daddy Didn't Come."

Act II.—Scene as Act I.: "No, He's Not the Man."

Act III.—Same day: The Robbery.

Act IV.—Next day—Scene: Gee Willigher Hay's yard; Nettie's return; Another wedding in camp.

The proceeds amounted to about two hundred dollars.

Mr. John McMullen, of Toronto, was in town this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Copp and Mr. and Mrs. William Buchanan of Smith Falls are the guests of Mrs. A. Copp.

Mrs. Julian Carter of Smith Falls spent Monday and Tuesday with her sister, Mrs. W. Vandervoort.

STRAIN TOLD IS CRITICS OPINION

Francis Wilson Says Not Humanly Possible For Petes To Carry On.

Francis Wilson, sporting editor of The Globe, in his comment on last night's game, came much closer to the real facts than the rest of the Toronto writers, when he wrote the following:

It is not humanly possible for the Peterboro team, O.H.A. Senior champions to "carry on" indefinitely at the rate they have been going since the opening of the hockey season without "cracking." The physical and mental strain to which the players have been subjected since winning their group championship was bound to tell sooner or later, and it told last night. We hasten to say that University of Toronto are a great team—a lot better sextet than they got credit for among the many fans who had an idea that Peterboro, even worn to exhaustion, would beat them on the round. In last night's game Toronto were just as much better than Peterboro as the score indicates. Goalkeeper Dwyer has been a marvel all season. Like the rest of the team, he had to "go" sooner or later he had to have an off night. Five of the seven goals scored on him were from outside the defence. After watching a 7-to-1 rout of the Petes, there were those who inclined to the opinion that Toronto would have beaten Peterboro with both teams at the very peak of their form. It is not unreasonable to expect that the Blue and White will win the round, in which event it may be said that for the remainder of the Allan Cup campaign they will give "any man's team" a battle to a finish.

IN POLICE COURT.

Non-Support Cases

Clement Searle was charged before His Worship this morning for having without having lawful excuse neglected to provide for his wife. The accused pleaded not guilty. Hon. G. N. Gordon, K.C., appeared for the accused and J. F. Strickland for the complainant. Mr. Gordon asked that the witnesses be excluded from the Court to which Mr. Langley assented.

After the evidence of the wife of the accused had been heard, Mr. Langley adjourned the case for one week to enable counsel to come to an agreement.

Edward Gravelle, North Monaghan, was charged for non-support of his wife and six children. Accused pleaded guilty.

Crown Attorney Hatton asked for a week's remand which was granted by His Worship.

NOTICE

TO FARMERS, BREEDERS, STOCKFEEDERS, AND OTHERS WHO MAY BE INTERESTED.

We have at last succeeded in arriving at an arrangement with the Assignee and creditors of the Peterborough Cereal Co. Limited, by which we own the milling plant which had been operating so successfully for years at the foot of Simcoe St., Peterborough.

Since taking it over a few days ago we have put the Feed Department, again, into A1 shape, and are now prepared to do custom grinding. We have different machines so that we can grind grain, coarse, medium or fine. We will be pleased to meet our old customers at the old mill, and at the old office.

We expect to start the Flour mill in about a week or ten days.

CUSTOMS OFFICER HAD INTEREST IN LIQUOR BUSINESS IN QUEBEC

J. E. A. Bisaillon Also Shared in Moieties To Make Ends Meet.

SALARY TOO SMALL.

OTTAWA, March 17 (Canadian Press)—That he had been interested in a liquor business while occupying the position of chief preventive officer for the Port of Montreal, was admitted by J. E. A. Bisaillon during lengthy cross-examination before the customs investigating committee Tuesday afternoon. The former chief preventive officer informed R. L. Calder, K.C., counsel for the committee, that this business had been carried on under the name of J. E. Belisle, and that the firm was not registered.

"Why not?" asked counsel.

"We did not think it necessary," replied the witness.

He stated positively that he had never used his farm in Clarenceville, Quebec, for the purpose of smuggling liquor into the United States.

The entire afternoon was taken up in examination of Mr. Bisaillon. Early in his examination he admited that he had shared moieties with subordinates in the Montreal office, in order "to make ends meet." He had done this in spite of the fact that his salary was above the point where such moieties were allowed in the Customs Act. His salary was not sufficient for him to get along on wishout sharing these moieties, he maintained.

Sharp Exchanges.

There were some warm exchanges between Mr. Calder and the witness. The former said that when he was crown prosecutor at Montreal he had stated that the customs in that city was used as a clearing-house for stolen automobiles. He drew this statement to the atetntion of Bisaillon.

"When you were crown prosecutor I never saw you," retorted the witness. "Because you said a thing doesn't mean that it was right. The statement was made for publicity. Many of the things you said were not true."

A large part of the examination dealt with the practice of smuggling new automobiles into Canada under legal entry of part cars, burnt cars and wrecks. It was during this discussion that Mr. Bisaillon drew a distinction between "stopping" and "preventing" smuggling.

"You were appointed to stop smuggling" asked Mr. Calder.

"I was appointed to prevent smuggling, not to stop it," replied the witness.

"What's the difference?" queried counsel.

Mr. Bisaillon replied that stopping smuggling was a national problem. Preventing it consisted in suppressing the practice where one could.

He claimed that the officers at the customs ports of entry must take the responsibility for the importation of new cars under customs entries for bodies, burnt and wrecked cars. He denied that he had refused to assist the police of Montreal in recovering stolen cars.

Shampoo Powders Bad For the Hair

Most shampoo powders, and prepared shampoos, contain too much free alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless, and is better than anything else you can use).

BETTY BALFOUR
Charming British Star
How she keeps her hair beautiful

Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulsified will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy, and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any drug store—it is inexpensive, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulsified. Beware of imitations—look for the name Watkins on the package.

The pair explained that they were absolutely up against it and had taken the money to buy food.

NICKAWA GIVES GOOD PROGRAMME

Appreciative Audience Hears Entertainment at Trinity Church.

(By Jeanette)

Trinity Church was filled last evening with about six hundred people in a very appreciative audience, for the concert at which the main artist was Miss Frances Nickawa, the young Cree Indian girl entertainer, who provided a splendid programme of readings and songs, assisted by Mrs. Ross Williamson and Mr. M. H. Park in vocal solos and Miss Catherine Taylor in violin numbers.

Miss Nickawa, who made such a fine impression with her powers of elocution on previous visits to the city, again delighted her audience last evening with a varied and interesting programme. Her dramatic rendition and her habit of using all her resources to create a mental picture for her hearers of the part she is portraying make her work exceptionally good, and she is a mistress of all the small effects, such as dramatic pauses and sudden changes of voice, that help to weave a certain impression on the mind of the listener. Her voice is one of her strong points, flexible, rich and capable of a great variety of modulations.

The rendition in Indian costume of two excerpts from "The Song of Hiawatha" and of several of the compositions of Pauline Johnston, the noted Indian writer and poetess, were among the best selections on the reader's programme. The portion that dealt with the Childhood of Hiawatha wove the picture of the youthful Indian hunter and the dramatic lament of the Famine scene showed the sororws of the man in the death of his beloved Laughing Water. A trio of selections by Pauline Johnson were varied in type and splendidly rendered, including the always popular "Song My Paddle Sings," "How the Great Gitche-Manitou Made Man," and a charming portrayal of "How an Indian Mother puts her little papoose to sleep."

The favorite of the reader, "Little Bateese," was the opening offering, followed by "Black Thunder," a story of a wild black horse of the prairies, and an encore in the Scotch bit, "It's Verra Weel."

Miss Nickawa's vocal contributions to the programme, in which the quality of dramatic effect so noticeable in her elocutionary work is very apparent in the sudden changes and pauses in her elocutionary work is very apparent in the suudden changes and pauses with which she fills her songs, were "Coming Home" and "Ma Curly-Headed Babby." The recitation about "Old Soapy," the poor boy who overcame many obstacles to achieve success, followed with a brief bit about a little boy's recitation in school, and another of Pauline Johnson's compositions, "Little Lady Icicle." This last was one of the best things on the programme, its fanciful, imagery and swift tempo suiting admirably the reader's individual style of expression.

The assisting artists were greeted with much applause in every instance. Mrs. Ross Williamson's clear, lovely tones were heard to much advantage in Gounod's "Serenade" and "Solveig's Song," by Greig, and Mr. M. H. Park's fine, pleasing tenor was as attractive as usual in "Pale Moon" and its charming encore number.

Miss Catherine Taylor played two violin selections, a Russian dance, "La Zarine," and an encore, "The World is Waiting for the Sunrise." Miss Taylor made a very good impression, especially in her first offering, playing with ease and composure, with a soft, pretty ringing tone and graceful expression.

Miss Clarry played the organ accompaniments for the evening's programme. Announcements were made by Rev. A. J. Langford.

Following the entertainment, the Mission Circle of the church, under whose auspices the programme was given, entertained the artists and their friends in the basement of the church.

VANDALS SMASH HOME.

One Arrest in North Winnipeg Raid.

WINNIPEG, Man., March 17. — Canadian Press. — Looming up from the darkness a gang of men fell upon the home of Mike Galay in North Winnipeg, systematically smashed doors, windows and furniture, ripped out the telephone and battered chairs against the walls. The vandals vanished as quickly as they came. One man has ben arrested in connection with the affair.

ACCUSED SAYS MATTEOTTI DIED NATURAL DEATH

Felt Ill While Being Kidnapped and Died in Few Minutes.

NO STRUGGLE.

Bruises and Scratches on the Body Were Caused By Prison Bedbugs.

CHIETI, Italy, March 17 (Canadian Press).—The outstanding feature of the trial of the slayers of the Socialist deputy Matteotti here yesterday, was the testimony of Amerigo Dumini, one of the accused that the dead man was not murdered but died a natural death.

"As were were taking Matteotti in the car he began to feel ill and I stopped. It was in vain, for five minutes later he died with blood trickling from his mouth," he told the court. Dumini said he meant only to kidnap Matteotti because he knew the Socialist Deputy had plotted with two Frenchmen, but when his prisoner died, Dumini lost his head and continued to drive into the country.

z Finding a lonely place on the Viterbo Road, Dumini ordered the burial of the body after removing the clothing to prevent identification. Asked how the bruises and scratches came to be on the dead man's body, Dumini said they were the marks left by bed bugs in the prison and not the results of a struggle in the car.

LESLIE UNITT GOES TO OSHAWA

Selected From 46 Applicants For United Church Choir Leader.

FINE MUSICIAN.

PORT HOPE, March 17.—Mr. L. F. Unitt, organist of the United Church, Port Hope, and formerly of St. James' church, Peterborough, tendered his resignation on Monday morning, he having secured the position as organist of the United Church, Simcoe street, Oshawa. Mr. Unitt will not leave Port Hope until after Easter.

There were 46 applicants for the position and Mr. Unitt has to be congratulated on his success, more particularly as there were candidates for the position from New York and other United States' cities. Mr. Unitt will be missed in Port Hope. During his sojourn here he has taken a very prominent part in the musical life of the town and besides his connection with the United Church his fine work in connection with the band was something that showed that not only was he a fine musician but that he also had the ability to train and hold men. His work with the choir of the United Church was most marked and he brought that body up to a high state of efficiency during his term here. Besides these things Mr. Unitt also took a deep interest in the work of the Women's Musical Club and was a regular contributor to the programmes of this Society and was valuable to the ladies in the arranging of their programmes. It was also through Mr. Unitt's endeavours that the music loving people of Port Hope were given the unique opportunity of hearing the famous Welsh choir. Mr. Unitt will be missed in Port Hope, but the people of this town will be only too glad to know that he has secured such a fine position in Oshawa and will join in wishing him success in his new undertaking.

NIAGARA CUSTOMS STAFF INCREASED

Will Be Two Men Continuously on Duty.

OTTAWA, March 17 (Canadian Press).—At least two Customs officers will hold the fort hereafter at the Canadian end of the international bridge at Niagara Falls.

This was announced in the House of Commons Tuesday by Hon. G. H. Boiven, Minister of Customs, during a discussion on estimates of the Customs Department.

J. D. Chaplin (Conservative, Lincoln) said that recently four trucks, presumably containing smuggled goods, had been rushed across the Niagara bridge one night, while a single Canadian Customs officer was on duty. An auto had first been backed under the barrier, making it impossible for the barrier to be lowered against the advancing trucks.

Mr. Boivin said that Mr. Chaplin had reported the incident to the Customs Department. He was grateful to the member for Lincoln for bringing this matter to his notice. It was only by following up these cases that the Department could present abuses and remove from the preventive staff "men who are unworthy of being in the service." The Minister said that hereafter there would always be more than one officer on duty on the Niagara bridge.

HOME AND SCHOOL ASSOCIATION MET

Good Attendance at Regular Meeting of Queen Mary Branch.

A well-attended meeting of the Home and School Association of the Queen Mary School was held last evening in the school. P. H. Allison, president of the Association, acted as chairman for the occasion, and in the absence of Mr. Clark, principal of the school and secretary-treasurer of the Association, he read again the rules for which the Association was organized, laying stress upon the fact that cooperation with the teachers in the disciplining of the pupils, stating that no school system could be run smoothly without it.

Charles Clark opened the musical programme with two vocal solos, accompanied by Miss Louise Letellier. Frank Clarke came next with a very pleasing banjo solo. Miss Florence Robertson sang "In Summertime," accompanied by Miss Flowers. Later in the evening Mr. Sutton delighted the audience with a violin solo, accompanied by Miss White.

As the main event of the evening, Charles Cook gave an address on "Education Inside and Outside of the School," dealing chiefly with the part of education as a stepping stone to overcome crime. Mr. Cook told of a trip down to the coal-fields of Virginia, where he said money was plentiful but schools were lacking, hence crime and loose living in youth was prevalent. We then went on to tell of the training of youth. "Do the parents instill into a boy's mind the importance of holding down his first job?" he asked. "If not, then they are wrong, because a parent should press upon a youth the vital fact of placing his whole mind into the fulfilling of his first position and also of using his head as one of the main factors when working with his mind.

"It is absolutely useless to try to make an office man out of a hand worker," stated Mr. Cook, "because society calls for a majority of handworkers. A number of our great inventions had to be first tried out with the hands. Edison, in inventing the light, had to use many pairs of hands to lay the wires, and the Transcontinental Railway employed thousands in the laying of the tracks before the railway trains could run from coast to coast. These vast enterprises had to have great executives, but again brain-work had to be co-operated with handwork before they could be completed."

Mr. Cook concluded with the remark: "Although we strive and plan for to-day, it will be our children who will carry these out tomorrow."

The Chairman, in his closing remarks, thanked the parents of the children for being present, Mrs. Wilkson and Mrs. Worsencroft for arranging the musical programme, and especially Mr. Cook, and also the ladies of the Association who served a light lunch after the programme.

CANADA FAVORED 1927 CONFERENCE

Parliamentary Position Referred To As An Obstacle.

OTTAWA, March 17 (Canadian Press).—The Canadian Government was in favor of calling the Imperial Conference in 1927 instead of next October. This is revealed in the correspondence between the Baldwin Government in London and the Governor-General in Ottawa, tabled in the House of Commons Tuesday.

Premier Baldwin however, having intimated that the other dominions preferred to meet next October, and the British Government shared this view, the Canadian Government on February 19 last, concurred in the proposal to call the conference for October of this year, and His Excellency cabled this decision to London.

At the beginning of the correspondence there is a cable from Ottawa to London pointing out that 'the present parliamentary position in Canada, makes it impossible to undertake to send representatives to a conference in June of this year," which date had apparently been tentatively suggested for the imperial conference. Canada then suggested that October, 1927, would be the most suitable date; later the other dominions, India, and the home government agreed that October, 1926, was the best date for the conference

MUSSOLINI'S DAY AS DICTATOR IS NEARING FINISH

Former Friend, Cesare Rossi, Says Fascism Faces Disaster.

CHIETI ITS TOMB.

Trials of Five Men For Slaying Deputy Parody of Justice.

PARIS, March 17 (United News) —Benito Mussolini's days as a dictator are numbered, Cesare Rossi, former close associate of tre Italian Premier and now a fugitive in France, told the United News in an interview on Tuesday.

The trial of the five men at Chieti for the murder of Deputy Matteotti is a parody of justice, and Chieti is destined to become the tomb of Fascism, Rossi said.

"Everyone knows in advance how the trial will end. The prisoners will be given a six year prison sentence, but the amnesty low will wipe out four of these leaving only two to be served. The men have already been in jail for two years, and so they will in all probability be liberated just as soon as the trial is concluded."

Rossi said that the Fascist regime in Italy was facing disaster because of the increase of feeling against the rule of the dictator and because of financial trouble within the organization.

TIE IN FIRST OF LEAGUE FINALS

Outlaws and Hydros Play Fast Hockey at Campbellford.

SCORE 1-1

CAMPBELLFORD, March 17. — The Outlaws and Hydro battled to a one all tie at Covert's Arena on Monday night. It was the first of a two-game championship, and no overtime was played.

The teams will start on an even footing in the final game tonight, and will play till a decision is reached.

There was little to choose between the two aggregations on Monday night's play. Both goalers performed in grand style, and some of their saves were sensational. Stewart was slightly more prominent than Saunders, for the Hydro snipers were quick to take advantage of an opening, and their shots had more steam behind them than the Outlaw drives.

The Hydro had slightly the better of the first period and notched the only counter of the session. Half-way through the middle period the Outlaws scored their only goal, and had the better of the electric boys for the rest of the period, and the last period was very even.

Johnston was again outstanding for the Hydro, and his great speed and checking broke up many a promising Outlaw raid. Cowell played his position to perfection and was generally in the right place at the right time. Watt was good while he was on, but had to retire with a damaged knee when he crashed into the boards in the second period, and the Hydro missed his dangerous shot from the rail.

For the Outlaws Stewart's work in goal was the feature. He had to cope with some dangerous situations and generally outguessed the opposition. Mc Arthur and Blue were the best up front. The Outlaws failed to display the team-work that featured their win over the Clerks and their individual rushes failed to make much of an impression against the close checking of the Hydro.

The biggest crowd of the season saw the teams perform, and they will be back for the final Wednesday night.

Line-up:

Hydro—Saunders, goal; Badgley, right defence; A. Brown, left defence; Cowell, centre; Johnston, right wing; Watt, left wing; Nesbitt, sub.; Beatty, sub.

Officials—Weston and Reynolds.

URBAN SHOCKER.

Shocker made major league debut in 1916 with the Yankees.

After pitching few games he was sent to Toronto on option, being recalled later in year.

Traded to St. Louis Browns during winter of 1918. Remained with Browns seven seasons. Traded back to Yankees year ago.

Best season in 1921. Won 27 games, lost 12, percentage .692. In 1918 had earned run mark of 1.80.

Won 20 or more tilts four years in row, 1920-1923, inclusive. In 43 games in 1923 allowed only 49 bases on balls. Worked in 48 frays in 1922.

One of few remaining spit-ball pitchers in majors. Regarded one of the outstanding hurlers in American League.

Yankees purchased Shocker from Ottawa in old Canadian League. Sale price reported at $750. That was in 1915.

DAVIS CUP TENNIS.

4 Nations in Draw at Washington.

NEW YORK, March 17 (Canadian Press).—The contending field for the Davis Cup, international tennis trophy held by the United States since 1920, has been increased to 24 nations, by challenges from Spain and Denmark, the United States Lawn Tennis Association revealed Tuesday upon the closing of entries. Teams representing 25 nations competed for the cup last year; Australia, formidable challenger of other seasons, having failed to enter the event this year.

The draw today in Washington, D.C. will find five challengers in the American zone, and the remainder in the European zone. Canada competes in the American zone play.

COLLEGE STARS IN BALL CAMPS

Half Dozen School Youths Look Promising in South.

IN BOTH LEAGUES.

NEW YORK, March 17. — Canadian Press. — Seldom do ball players make the big jump to the majors from college ranks within a year or less of professional experience, but at least a half dozen young stars in this category are occupying the limelight now in southern training camps.

Perhaps the most conspicuous of these newcomers is Ernie Nevers, Leland Stanford's crack pitcher, and all-American full back, who donned a professional baseball uniform for the first time when he joined the St. Louis Browns this year. Under the tutelage of George Sisler, the Browns' manager, who himself stepped to the big league fame from the University of Michigan, Nevers is said to be developing fast.

The spotlight also will be on Owen Carroll, who joined the Detroit Tigers last season after compiling a brilliant pitching record at Holy Cross. Carroll found himself in difficulties in his first few big league starts in 1925 but Manager Ty Cobb is confident he has the stuff to make good.

One of Carroll's team mates at Holy Cross, Walter Gautreau, also jumped from college to major league ranks last year. He was a sensational second baseman for the Boston Braves toward the close of the season.

John McGraw, veteran pilot of the Giants, is especially partial to developing school boy stars.

McGraw has two budding stars from school boy ranks, in Melvin Ott, sensational young catcher, and Eddie Farrell, former University of Pennsylvania captain and shortstop.

RUSH FOR SEATS.

Port Arthur Fans Storm the Ticket Office.

PORT ARTHUR, March 17 (Canadian Press).—Sale of seats for the two Port Arthur-Regina games in the Allan Cup semi-finals commenced Tuesday at noon and found a double line of patrons extending more than a city block from the place of sale.

Some persons had been in line from early morning.

The full complement of seats in the Arena, with about 3,600 seats plus standing room will be all disposed of before the close of this afternoon's sale in spite of the fact that the asle today is limited to those prepared to buy for both games.

The atetndance at each match will be about 4,500.

MUST RACE NURMI BEFORE GOING HOME

New Zealand Runner To Visit America and Europe.

SYDNEY, New South Wales, March 17. (Canadian Press).—Under orders not to return home until he has a race with Paavo Nurmi, Randolph Rose will be sent to the United States and Europe soon by the New Zealand Athletic Association. Rose is the champion distance runner who defeated Lloyd Hann four times. He will compete in the races at Philadelphia in July and if Nurmi is not entered at Philadelphia, Rose will be expected to go to Europe to travel until he gets a race with the Finn.

Rose recently ran the mile in 4.13 2-5, breaking the Australian record by four seconds.

TOWN LEAGUE FINAL.

Campbellford Games on Thursday Night.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 17. — The final game between the Hydro and Outlaws for the town league championship, scheduled for to-night has been postponed to Thursday night, March 18th.

The Hydro will enter the final contest without Cecil Watt, their hard working left wing. Watt's knee was badly wrenched when he crashed into the boards in the second period of Monday night's game, and it will take some time for the injury to mend.

The Hydro will switch Cowell to left wing and give Nesbitt the centre ice assignment. All the rest of both squads came through the battle in good shape and will be ready for the game of their lives on Thursday evening.

TRADE REVIVAL SEEN

LONDON, March 17.—Signs that a trade revival is on the way are growing. The Ministry of Labor states that on Dec. 21 the number of persons recorded on the registers of employment exchanges in Great Britain was 1,102,400, or 66,827 less than a year ago.

It was an empty victory as the Pittsburg win over Ottawa on Monday night effectually cleared the Bruins' last hope of a place in the play-off series.

Canadiens 6; St. Pats 1

MONTREAL, Mar. 16 (Canadian Press)—Canadiens closed the scheduled National Hockey League season here last night with a 6-1 victory over Toronto St. Pats. It was a tame game with nothing at stake for either team. Canadiens were without Coutu and Joliat though they had Morenz back in action.

TWIN CITIES ARE HOCKEY CENTRES

Senior and Junior Canadian Semi-finals Being Played There.

FOUR GAMES IN ROW.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont., Mar. 16 (Canadian Press)—Port Arthur and Fort William are this week the centre of interest for hockey fans of all Canada since it is here within the next few days that the finalist for both Junior and Senior amateur championships will be decided.

While Regina Victorias are playing in Port Arthur on Wednesday and Friday, Kingston Juniors will be playing in Fort William on Thursday and Saturday, the ultimate winners to take up the journey east or west as the case may be for the finals. The rinks are sold out for the big contests. Alex Irvin of Winnipeg will referee the senior games and along with H. Mitchell of Toronto will handle the junior contests.

Port Arthur people have set their own team as favorites to win from Regina, though anticipating a keen struggle. Fort William Juniors are hardly expected to beat Kingston though they are very clever in spite of their lack of weight and may pull off a surprise.

CALL FILMS "TERRIBLE"

BRISTOL, March 17.—An appeal to local authorities to take steps to exclude children from picture shows not specially approved for them was a subject of a resolution passed by the National Union of Teachers in conference here.

National League clubs this season probably will set aside the receipts for one game to aid the fund for a memorial to the late Christy Mathewson. The memorial will be placed at Bucknell College, where Mathewson was a student.

WHY does Chevrolet operate so much more satisfactorily and economically than other low-priced cars? CHASSIS DEMONSTRATION

Friday Evening, March 19th
At 7.30 o'Clock

An expert from the Chevrolet factory at Oshawa, using a cut-away motor and rear axle and a stripped chassis, will show how the Chevrolet valve-in-head motor functions and why it is so powerful and economical; he will explain why the Chevrolet type dry disc clutch operates so smoothly; he will demonstrate by the use of actual parts why the banjo type rear axle is so sturdy and practical; why the new, larger brakes with equalizers add to your safety.

The expert will especially stress such Chevrolet features as the air cleaner, three point motor suspension, braking area increased one-third, new type oil pump, belt-driven generator, one-piece valve cover, improved cylinder head and many others.

Regardless of what car you drive or what car you are interested in, you will find this practical demonstration interesting and educating—it should be worth many dollars to you.

FERGUSON AND SINCLAIR SNIPED FROM THEIR OWN TRENCHES UPON GOVERNMENT CONTROL QUESTION

J. A. Pinard Says Sinclair Only Temporary Leader of Liberal Group.

BRACKIN'S DENIAL

Not Engaged by Distillery — W. F. Ferguson Side-tracked Wilson Motion.

TORONTO, March 19 (Canadian Press). — Both the Conservative and Liberal leaders in the Legislature were attacked from their own ranks Thursday.

W. F. Wilson (Conservative, Windsor) congratulated R. L. Brackin and J. A. Pinard, two Liberal members who moved the government control amendment to the budget. Mr. Wilson said he had tried to get a similar showdown on the question last year, but the Premier had not called his motion until the last day, and then without any notice.

J. A. Pinard, in replying to Mr. Sinclair's speech of the previous day, said Mr. Sinclair was only a temporary leader and that he had been selected as leader by a small group "because there was nobody else in sight."

Mr. Brackin also took occasion to make a reply to the statement of the Liberal leader on Wednesday. Mr. Brackin denied emphatically that he was under a retainer to any distillery or brewery, and resented the implication that he moved his wet amendment because of business associations. Mr. Sinclair accepted the denial in full, and informed the House that he had read neither Mr. Brackin nor Mr. Pinard out of the Liberal party.

Only Eleven Liberals.

Col. J. A. Currie reminded the House that, according to the law, a party to have a paid leader must have 12 members.

"The Liberals have only 11 now, since two of them have left the party," said Col. Currie.

K. Homuth (Labor, South Waterloo) invited all homeless members to the Labor group.

Mr. Wilson (Windsor) was asked point blank if he would support the Brackin amendment, and replied, "Yes, absolutely."

Mr. Brackin treated the matter of his association with the Liberal party with considerable levity. "I do not think that the lealer intended to read us out of the Liberal party," said Mr. Brackin.

"Hear, hear"—Mr. Sinclair.

"But I think he just put us on probation. However, instead of taking us to the woodshed he took us right into the middle of the street to spank us," continued Mr. Brackin. "However, there was a more serious side to the Liberal leader's remarks. He left an impression that I had moved my amendment for financial gain by inferring that I was associated with a distillery. I have not now and I never had a retainer from a distillery or a brewery," said Mr. Brackin.

Pinard's Liberalism.

Mr. Pinard then rose, telling the House that he was a Mowat Liberal and not a Rowellite. He declared that Mr. Sinclair was just a temporary leader of the Liberal party,

THE WEATHER.

Yesterday the temperature rose to 41 degrees in the shade. While the effects of the milder weather of the past few days is to be seen on the city streets, little change is yet noticeable in the country. This morning the thermometer was at 14 degrees. No general thaw will take place while the nights remain so cold. Albert Stevens, 87 Gladstone Ave., sends me the following: "I noticed one morning when going to school an evening grosbeak at the creek near the packing house. The next morning I saw a flock of about fifteen there. They seemed to be feeding there." There are a few robins around, also some unknown yellow birds, probably natives of more northern sections.—W. P.

MORE FACILITIES ARE NEEDED BY CATTLE TRADE

Imperial Shipping Committee Reports on Canadian Business.

NEED MORE PORTS.

Recommends Removal of Impediments in Present Regulations.

OTTAWA, March 19. — Canadian Press. — The Imperial shipping Committee in an interim report on the carrying of Canadian cattle to the United Kingdom, recommends:

1: That facilities should once more be provided for landing cattle at London, Hull and possibly other ports;

2: That the British and Canadian governments should consult in regard to the regulations governing the shipment and landing of Canadian cattle with a view, if possible, to the removal of impediments which contribute to an increase in the cost of carrying Canadian cattle.

The matter was brought before the Imperial Shipping Committee by Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, in a letter which stated that the ocean rate of freight on store cattle from Canada to the United Kingdom left little profit to the producers and thus seriously checked the growth in the export trade in cattle from Canada. A sub-committee visited Canada and took evidence in Winnipeg.

Subsequently, the report recites, the committee was asked by the British government to investigate the North Atlantic shipping rates and it wasn't thought desirable to present a report on cattle freights alone, as such a report might to some extent prejudice the more general question.

FEDERAL LABOR LEADER DID NOT NOTICE ANTHEM

J. W. Woodsworth Replies To Accusation of Disloyalty By Press.

COMMONS INCIDENT.

"God Save King" Only One Song in Undignified Medley.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 19 (Canadian Press)—Explaining that he did not participate in the singing of God Save the King on the night of the adjournment of the House of Commons, J. S. Woodworth (Labor, Winnipeg Northcenter) yesterday made a statement on the floor of the House concerning the incident.

Much had been made in certain newspapers, said the Labor leader, of the fact that he had continued his conversation with his neighbour, Henri Bourassa, of Labelle, while a section of the House sang the National Anthem. A few minutes before, other sections of the House had been singing "Alouette" and "The Long, Long Trail." To Mr. Woodsworth it had all seemed a very undignified proceeding. The newspaper which described him as one of the "three anti-British members" of the Commons, had described how the singing of God Save the King had been begun by a member with a loud voice known as "Ernie."

It was only when the performance was nearly over, said Mr. Woodsworth, that he became conscious that the tune being sung at the moment was that of the national anthem. He did not consider there was anything dignified or regular about the whole proceeding. He believed that there were other ways of showing loyalty and respect and he wished to state that "just because somebody shouts 'come on, Ernie' I do not propose to click heels or perform any other kind of goose step."

BOY SCOUT ASSOCIATION WORK EXPLAINED TO KIWANIS CLUB

Spurious Prescriptions For Liquor Total 4,000,000

NEW YORK, March 19 (Canadian Press). — Evidence obtained by the federal authorities in their drive against the sale of liquor by illegal medical prescriptions, shows that whiskey withdrawn from warehouses by druggists in this district during the year ending last June exceeded by 500,000 gallons the amount that could have been legally prescribed.

This indicated, the investigators said, that approximately 4,000,000 spurious prescriptions were issued during that year.

The investigators Thursday had prepared evidence against 100 physicians, 50 druggists and 20 dummies' agents for presentation to a federal grand jury. Warrants charging violation of the Volstead Act were issued Wednesday against 27 physicians, six druggists and four distillery agents.

Frank C. Irwin, of Toronto, Tells Progress of Movement.

HELPED BY KIWANIS.

Practical Training Fits Boys For Life—Encourages Religious Thought.

In opening his address at Kiwanis Club today on the Boy Scout movement, Frank C. Irwin of headquarters staff, Toronto, expressed appreciation of the great services rendered the Boy Scout Association by Kiwanis and similar service clubs. There are 44,000 men and boys connected with the association in Canada, and its aims are world-wide. It thinks in terms of international brotherhood and friendship, and has like Kiwanis Club, international alliances.

President John J. Craig presided at the luncheon, where the visitors were W. R. Morris, Rev. G. J. Bousfield, and Fred L. Roy, guests of John J. Turner and Dr. G. Murray Fraser, guest of Harry Dickin. All of these are prominently identified with the Boy Scout movement in Peterborough. The booster of the day was Walter Oke, and in lieu of the usual prizes he donated grapefruit for every member.

Two committees were appointed for special purposes. The first is an "Arbor Day" committee, with as its object the cleaning up and beautifying of the old cemetery on Hilliard Street. The members are Charles Lacheur, chairman; Carl McLean, Walter Buyers, R. Irwin, and Pete Lang. The second is formed on suggestion of international headquarters, called the Vocational and Placement Committee. Its members are Jack McKone, chairman; A. J. Reynolds, L. Hamilton Cecil Cragg, and Jack Chadwick.

The attendance was good, only a few absentees being registered.

Boy Scout Organization.

In opening his address Mr. Irwin asked how many members of the Kiwanis Club had been associated with the Boy Scout movement, and found that quite a number had been Scouts or officers.

The Boy Scouts Association was founded in 1908 under the patronage of the late King Edward, and under the leadership of Sir Robert Baden-Powell. It originated in a plan of training boys in the fundamentals of citizenship formulated by "B.P." and developed rapidly in the United Kingdom and spread throughout the world. There are now a million and a quarter men and boys associated with the movement in 53 countries. The Association has a Royal Charter granted in recognition of the work it had accomplished up to 1913.

The Canadian organization corresponds to the great divisions of the country, with the Canadian General Council supreme in the Dominion. Every province has its own Council, of which Ontario is the oldest, having been formed before the Canadian Council. The local Associations are responsible to the Provincial Councils and have the duty of developing scouting in the districts in which they operate. These associations are essentially democratic

FEAR SIX MEN KILLED WHEN TRAIN DERAILED

Man Found Lying Half in Water at Foot of Landslide.

PARTY OF EIGHT.

Only One More Found of Men Beating Way on Freight.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 19. —(Canadian Press.)— Fears that six men may have lost their lives when five or six cars of a C.P.R. eastbound freight train left the rails at Sicamus Lake late Wednesday night was expressed by travellers who arrived here last night on a passenger train that was held at the scene of the wreck for more than two hours Thursday.

According to information brought here, trainmen who were on the scene found one man lying half in the water at the foot of a rock and gravel hill, the sinking of which caused the derailment. Both his legs were broken. He told his rescuers, it was stated, that he was one of a party of eight men beating their way east on the cars. Search disclosed one of his companions who was only slightly injured, but no trace was found of the other six. Neither of the two men rescued was able to give the names of the missing men. W. A. Rogers, address unknown, was the name of the man who suffered broken legs.

TOTAL DEAD IN PEKING ARE 32

Result of Soldiers Firing Into Parade of 2,000 Students.

SIXTY WOUNDED.

PEKING, March 19. Canadian Press. — Thirty two persons were dead to-day as the result of soldiers firing upon a parade of 2000 young men and women students in front of the residence of Chief Executive Tuan Chi Jui. The students sought to protest yesterday against the government's acceptance of the demands of the foreign powers that the blockade of Tien.sin be lifted.

Thirty persons were wounded seriously and some 30 others slightly. The dead include 21 students, among them two girls. The soldiers after beating the students with their rifles, used their bayonets, then fired shots for five minutes.

Owners May Be Charged For Numbers On Buildings

TORONTO, March 19.—(Canadian Press.)—The municipal committee of the Legislature this morning reported a bill providing for an amendment to the Municipal Act to permit municipalities to charge the owners of land with the cost of affixing numbers to the buildings.

A bill moved by A. C. Lewis, which provides that the municipailties shall contribute $15 to the "Last Post" fund when indigent returned soldiers are buried by that fund, was reported to the House.

LYONS HEARING IS CONTINUED BY COMMITTEE

Tells of Government's Share of Northern Road Work.

BOUGHT COMPANY.

Sold Part of the Stock To Sault Ste. Marie Citizens.

TORONTO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—When the public accounts committee of the Ontario Legislature met this morning W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, moved that the following members of the civil service be called before the commission to give evidence concerning certain accounts of the Provincial motion picture bureau: G. W. Brownbridge, G. E. Patton, W. H. Graham, J. E. Rutherford, and G. L. Jones

The examination of James Lyons, M.L.A., former minister of lands and forests, on the transactions of his company, the James Lyons Fuel and Supply Company of Sault Ste. Marie, with Government contractors and others was continued by W. Finlayson (Conservative).

Mr. Lyons said that a travelling auditor visited all the construction engineers working for the provincial government in Northern Ontario and checked their accounts.

M. Lyons said that McNamara Brothers, of Sault Ste. Marie had contracts amounting to $634,364 with the Drury Government, and had two contracts with the present government. One of the latter was for road construction, from Coniston to Sudbury.

Questioned about certain street paving in Sault Ste. Marie, Mr. Lyons explained that Wellington Street, five miles long, was the continuation of the Sudbury-Soo road. The Drury Government had spent $45,000 on the street and the present government was continuing the work. The present government, he said, was paying 50 per cent of the Wellington Street pavement, said the witness. As minister, he had arranged for the government to help the municipalities in the construction of the Timmins-Porcupine road and the big mines had also contributed several thousand dollars. The government's share was about 70 per cent of the cost.

Mr. Lyons explained his purchase of the Sault Coal and Wood Company in June, 1925. He bought the stock and assets outright and then sold about 48 per cent of the stock to residents of the Sault. The Lyons family holds control of the company said Mr. Lyons.

None of the stock of this company, said Mr. Lyons, was sold to men having transactions with the government.

Examining Mr. Lyons, Liberal leader W. E. N. Sinclair wanted to know what questions asked in the House had caused him to resign. The witness replied there were inferences that he had profited through dealing with Government contractors.

"Would not an answer have cleared them up?" asked Mr. Sinclair.

Mr. Lyons replied that to give answer would have entailed divulging a lot of private business.

"But you are doing it now," remarked Mr. Sinclair.

"Yes, I am doing it now to clear the air," replied Mr. Lyons.

"You resigned then for no good reason," said Mr. Raney.

"Exactly," replied Mr. Lyons. "I wouldn't tell private business secrets in the House."

In reply to a question Mr. Lyons said his firm had sold $10 000 worth of tile to a man named Bedford, who in turn had sold the tile to the northern development branch of the government. Questioned further, Mr. Lyons declared that Bedford's profit "was very small."

Mr. Sinclair concluded his main examination, but will continue when the accountants engaged by the committee have made their report on the accounts of the James Lyons Fuel and Supply Company in Sault Ste. Marie, of which Mr. Lyons is president. The committee meets again to-night when W. E. Raney, Progressive leader, will examine Mr. Lyons.

PROPOSE SPENDING MONEY ON GROUNDS

Kingston Council May Ask Citizens to Vote on Improving Fair.

KINGSTON, March 19.—(Special to the Examiner).—The civic property committee will recommend that the City Council submit a by-law to the ratepayers for the purpose of raising $25,000 to expend on repairs and improvements to the fair grounds, and the buildings. It is hoped to raise this amount by the sale of debentures and in order that this money will be paid back, it is proposed to levy a tax of five cents per head on each individual entering the grounds, this to apply to all attending the fair and baseball matches and other sports held on the grounds, as it is proposed to turn the fair grounds into an amusement park. The fair directors have offered to increase their payment of $1,000 a year to $1,250 per year, providing the building now used by the Utilities Commission for the storing of the equipment could be utilized for exhibition purposes.

TECHNICAL DEFEAT OF FEDERAL GOVERNMENT IN COMMITTEE OF SUPPLY ON UNEXPECTED MOTION

Bones From West House Prove Those Of Horse

TORONTO, March 19 Canadian Press).—Bones found on the scene of the fire in Warkworth Ont., which destroyed the home of Dr. Stuart West, are believed to be those of a horse. They were forwarded by the provincial police inspectors who investigated. Dr. West's wife and two-year-old son died in the fire, but no trace of them other than the bones in question could be found. Announcement that the bones are not human remains, was made today by Inspector Cudy, assistant commissioner of the provincial police, after he had received a report from the anatomist, to whom they were submitted.

YOUNG PEOPLE SERIOUSLY HURT TOBOGGANING

Miss Rita Pritt Has Ankle Broken—Bernard Jones Internally Hurt.

RUN INTO STONE.

Smash Occurs on Hill at Downer's Corners—Other Lad Shaken.

Last night a party of young people from the south end of the city went for a toboggan slide on Earl's Hill at Downer's Corners. Everything was going gaily when the toboggan which was carrying Bernard Jones, Oswald Meagher and Rita Pritt jumped the path and struck a large stone. The three were thrown against other stones and the toboggan smashed to splinters.

Miss Pritt's right ankle was badly broken, and she was taken by ambulance to Nicholls Hospital. Miss Pritt is a visitor in the city, her home being at Port Perry.

Bernard Jones, the son of Jack Jones, 197 Lock street, was seriously hurt inwardly. He is 17 years old and a good athlete being a member of St. Peter's junior hockey team, the city junior champions. He has been working at B. F. Ackerman's.

Oswald Meagher, son of Detective Sergeant Meagher, came off with only slight injuries. Dr. C. B. Waite was called to the place of the accident and rendered first aid to the injured.

Sir Henry Drayton's Motion to Adjourn Carried by 74 to 41.

ROLL NOT CALLED

Abrupt Termination of Voting Supply—None of Estimates Passed.

OTTAWA, March 19.— (Canadian Press.)—The Government met with a technical defeat in the House Thursday. It came on an unexpected division while the House was in committee of supply. A couple of votes for the preventive service, department of customs, were under consideration when Sir Henry Drayton, Conservative, suddenly moved that the committee rise. At the time less than half the membership of the House was present. Government members there, supported by eight Progressives and two independents, voted against the motion but it carried by 74 to 41.

"Resign," shouted a Conservative when the result was announced.

As is usual when the House is in commitee, no division bells were rung and no roll was called.

The effect of the division was that the voting of supply was brought to an abrupt termination for the day. The chairman of committees left the chair and another motion for committee of supply will have to be put on the order paper before discussion of estimates can be resumed. Such a motion cannot be made till to-day.

None Of Items Passed.

The committee had voted nothing during the afternoon. About a quarter to six, Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs, suggested that the first item for preventive service, $350,000, could very well be passed now. There would be ample opportunity for further discussion when the report of the customs probe was before the house or when supplementary estimates came up.

Sir Henry Drayton retorted that the only check the Opposition had on the Government was in the vote. He did not think this item, nor the succeeding one, for an amount of $100,000 for other preventive service, should be dealt with now. To bring the matter to a vote of the committee, he would move that the chairman or committee leave the chair. The question was put, a standing vote was taken, and Sir Henry Drayton was upheld, 74 to 41.

It was past six o'clock by the time the vote was announced, and Deputy Speaker William Duff "made it six o'clock," without comment and the House adjourned for the dinner recess.

COURT OPPONENTS DEVISE NEW PLAN

To Prevent United States From Joining World Court.

WASHINGTON, March 19. — (United Press.)— A plan has been devised by the Senate "irreconcilables," which may alter, if not actually prevent, American participation in the world court of justice.

The move is prompted by the action of the Council of the League of Nations in authorizing an invitation to the United States to meet with the Council next September and explain the reservations which the Senate attached to the resolution for American adherence to the world court.

WARKWORTH CHEESE FACTORY PATRONS TAKE STEP FORWARD DECIDE TO FEED NO TURNIPS

While Cheese Season Is On Cows Will Receive Other Foods.

HOLD MEETING.

Official Grader and Dairy Instructor Address Patrons in Question.

(By a Staff Reporter).

WARKWORTH, March 19.—The patrons of the Warkworth Cheese Factory, one of the largest concerns of the kind in Central Ontario, set a new pace for those interested in the production of cheese when, at the annual meeting which was held here Thursday afternoon, it was unanimously resolved that the feeding of turnips to dairy cows be discontinued at least until the official close of the cheese-making season, November 1st. This is the first factory in the county to take such action this year, and as all the other factories have already passed upon or ignored this question, Warkworth is likely to stand alone. The patrons of the factories in East Seymour have for some years abandoned the feeding of turnips, and as a result the cheese which they turn out has always been of the highest grade. This fact was used as an argument to induce the Warkworth dairymen to take the action that was finally decided upon.

It is understood that if the experiment proves satisfactory that the feeding of turnips will be discontinued altogether in the future. No patron can hope to feed turnips on the sly and get away with it, as President W. A. Drewry, who is also maker at the factory here, announced that if any turnip-tainted milk came to the factory he would send it home again.

J. L. Irwin, official grader, and Dairy Instructor J. A. Murray, who were at the meeting yesterday, have been talking against the use of turnips at every gathering of dairymen they have been able to attend, and yesterday their efforts were successful and they are hopeful that other factories will now follow Warkworth's lead. The addresses of these two speakers and the subsequent discussion on the turnip question took up the most of the afternoon, and it was brought to an issue when T. Vansickle and H. Gooderich moved that no turnips be fed up to December 1st, the date of the closing of the season at Warkworth. This motion was defeated by a vote of 14 to 15. J. Greenly and W. Poole then moved that the limit be set one month earlier and this was carried without a sign of dissent.

Canada to the Front.

President Drewry, who attended the recent short course held at Kingston, brought words of cheer to the dairymen. Canadians need not fear the competition of New Zealand in the British market so long as they continue to produce first-grade cheese. They are sure of a market for all they can ship if the quality is kept up to the mark.

In Canada the consumption of butter, 27 pounds per capita of the population a year, is the highest in the world. The record in the United States would equal this if the people of that country used less oleo margarine. Very little Canadian butter is shipped. The total value of the dairy products turned out in this country last year was two hundred and sixty million dollars, and the value of the exports, largely cheese, was only fifty-six million dollars.

President Drewry set at rest the rumor that the storehouses in Montreal are filled with cheese which will be put on the market this season, and that the price for next year's output will be low as a result. He investigated this matter while in Kingston, and was assured that there is very little high-grade cheese stored in Montreal.

Record in Northumberland.

Mr. Irwin said that of the 29 factories in Northumberland county the best record in 1925 had been made by Hoard's; Standwood as second, and Menie third.

This county should take the lead in Eastern Ontario as it had the best makers, the best dairy instructor in the province, the best dairy farms, the cleanest factories and the best finished cheese. The dairy farmers of Northumberland County are producing more milk and making more money than any in Central Ontario. All that keeps the county down in the list is the feeding of turnips. Cheese tainted with turnips cannot be sold in England. He called attention to legislation, now pending in Toronto, of interest to dairymen. It is proposed to grade all cream so as to improve the quality of Canadian butter. All below first grade will be sold at a reduction of three cents a pound, butter fat. It is also proposed to grade cheese-makers according to the quality of the cheese which they turn out and it is impossible for the maker to do himself justice if he is compelled to use milk from turnip-fed cows.

Profits in Dairying.

Mr. Irwin submitted official figures to show that dairying is the most profitable line in which the farmer can engage. If he sends $100 worth of cheese to the British wholesaler he gets back $83.32, while his competitor in New Zealand receives a return of only $68.73. If he sends $100 worth of butter across the ocean his return is $76.23, while on potatoes it would be $55, on live stock $58 and on fruit and vegetables only $30.

Mr. Murray's Argument.

Mr. Murray told the farmers that the Warkworth factories had made an excellent record until the patrons had commenced to feed turnips when the quality of the cheese fell away. In East Seymour, where no turnips are fed the production of milk per cow is greater than it is in Percy. He said that their maker, Mr. Drewry, had all of them beaten in the matter of the number of pounds of butter fat required to produce a pound of cheese.

Figures Tell the Tale.

Secretary W. H. Nelson produced figures from his books to show that the total loss to the patrons due to the feeding of turnips last year was $764.70, and but for this the average price for cheese in 1925 would have been 21 cents a pound.

Mr. Cowan of Peterboro.

H. B. Cowan of Peterboro, who is secretary of the United Dairymen Cooperative, addressed the meeting in the interest of that organization, which he says is making steady expansion.

Officers Elected.

All the officers were re-elected. Mr. Drewry will receive the same compensation as he was allowed last year, three cents a pound for all the cheese turned out and half the whey butter. He will select and pay his secretary and help and will also pay the cost of hauling the milk to the factory and of drawing the cheese to the railroad station.

The directors are George Poole, Nelson Hardy, J. Greenly and R. M. Potter. J. F. Freure is auditor.

The factory will begin operations for the season on April 13th.

The Year's Record.

The Warkworth factory last year took in 3,874,772 pounds of milk and produced 39,808 pounds of cheese, the making of which cost $10,194.24, and the total distributed among the 84 patrons was $60,534.35. It took 11.40 pounds of milk for every pound of cheese.

SAVE BEAUTY OF NIAGARA FALLS

Conference at Washington By Canadian and U. S. Officials.

MET PRESIDENT.

WASHINGTON, March 19.—(Canadian Press.) — Preservation of Niagara Falls, including methods to prevent enlargement of its notch, was taken up at a conference yesterday between Canadian and United States' federal officials at the state department here. Hon. Charles Stewart, Dominion minister of the interior headed the Canadian group.

Secretary Herbert Hoover, of the United States' department of commerce, who declared in a recent address at Chicago that if steps were not taken to prevent breaking of the encarpment at the Falls, Niagara would become a great rapids instead of a gigantic waterfall, led the representatives of this country, J. T. Johnson, director and chief engineer of the Canadian interior department, and Dr. O. D. Skelton, under-secretary of state for external affairs, were also on the Canadian delegation.

The meeting aroused considerable speculation as to whether the joint Canadian-United States' engineering commission was considering the St. Lawrence waterway propect and its relation to the question of water diversion from Lake Michigan in the Chicago sanitary district. Several of the participants serve as commissioners on this subject, but it was said at the commerce department that the Niagara question was the only one discussed.

Minister Stewart and his colleagues called at the White House during the day to pay their respects to President Coolidge. They later stopped at the British embassy.

CANADIAN EXPORT PULP INCREASING

But Pulp Wood Exports Declined in February.

OTTAWA, March 19 (Canadian Press)—Exports of pulp from Canada are on the increase while exports of pulp wood are decreasing. A statement from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics shows that wood pulp to the value of $4,123,171 was exported in February last, an increase of about $600,000 over February 1925. In the twelve months ended February 1926, wood pulp worth $19,693,013 went out of Canada, an increase of $3,500,000 over the corresponding previous twelve months.

Pulpwood exports in February, 1926, are valued at $1,108,078 compared with $1,440,860 in February, 1925. In the twelve-month periods ended February 1926 and 1925 pulpwood exports were, respectively, $13,591,669 and $14,126,108.

Newsprint exports also are increasing. In the twelve months ended February, 1926, the value of these exports were $100,995,135. In the previous corresponding twelve-months the same exports were $91,347,882.

WEDDING BELLS.

KERR—BAKER.

COBOURG, March 19.—A marriage took place at high noon on Monday, March 15, at Trinity United Church parsonage, when Lilian Alice, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Baker, King street, was married to Mr. Thomas Kerr, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Kerr. Rev. Alfred Brown, D.D., officiated. The bride was becomingly gowned in blue silk flat crepe and carried sweetheart roses. She was attended by Miss Vera Calvert of Peterboro, wearing cocoa brown Canton crepe. Mr. William Kerr, Jr., of Buffalo, brother of the groom, was best man. After a dainty luncheon at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kerr left for a trip to Rochester, Buffalo, Erie and other points before taking up residence in Cobourg. The bride's travelling costume was sand and rosewood, with hat to match.

Among the many gifts received by the young couple were two handsome chairs from the officers and crew of steamer Ontario No. 2.

BILL AMENDS BOUNDARIES OF RIDINGS IN NORTHERN ONTARIO

Second Reading in House of Commons—Referred to Committee.

NEW ALIGNMENT.

OTTAWA, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Second reading was given in the House of Commons last night to a bill amending the representation act, 1924, and changing the boundaries of the electoral districts of Algoma East, Algoma West, Nipissing, Port Arthur, Thunder Bay, Temiskaming North and Temiskaming South. The bill was then referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

G. B. Nicholson (Conservative, Algoma East), in supporting the bill, declared that the alterations would act towards the convenience of the people in the ridings affected.

E. F. Armstrong (Conservative, Temiskaming South) also supported the proposed changes, while A. E. Lapierre (Liberal, Nipissing) voiced his objection.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, Minister of Justice, considered the bill somewhat unusual. A special committee of the House has made a unanimous report on redistribution before the Redistribution Act was passed in the House. However, he had no objection to the bill being referred to a committee on privileges and elections.

Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion (Conservative, Fort William) suggested that a special committee consisting chiefly of members from the Northern Ontario ridings affected might deal with the bill.

Premier King thought that the regular committee on privileges and elections could deal with it more effectively.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen was willing to agree with the Premier's view.

Peter Heenan (Liberal, Kenora-Rainy River) and J. R. O'Neill (Conservative, North Temiskaming) supported the idea of a special committee. They both expressed the opinion that their electors felt that some new alignment of political boundaries in that country should be made. Mr. O'Neill said that the last sub-division of Northern Ontario boundaries was "one of the crudest gerry-manders in the political history of Canada.

ROLL TURNED IN.

Percy Tax Collector Obtains All But $35 Levy.

WARKWORTH, March 19. — Thomas McMillan, tax collector for Percy Township, has returned his roll for 1925 to the Council. Of the entire levy of $43,000, all has been collected except $35, which was allowed in rebates. This is one of the best records ever made and goes to show that the farmers of Percy have no reason to complain of hard times.

ALBERTA'S BUDGET PROVIDES SURPLUS

Revenue Excess Estimated at $21,989 By Treasurer.

EDMONTON, Alta., March 19 (Canadian Press)—A balanced budget for the year 1926, with an estimated surplus of revenue over expenditure of $21,989 even after allowing $130,000 for general election expenses, was announced by Provincial Treasurer Hon. R. G. Reid, in the budget speech which he made to the Alberta Legislature Thursday.

Taking a comprehensive review of the five-year period during which the farmer government has held office, Mr. Reid sets forth the government's financial record over this period as follows:

Accumulated decrease on controllable expenditure for the five-year period, $1,179,394.

Accumulated increase on semi-controllable expenditure for the period, $111,373.

Fixed charges, which will continue to increase as long as capital borrowings are necessary, show that increases have been consistently less during each of the past four years.

FERGUSON AND SINCLAIR SNIPED

and asserted his right as a Liberal to do what he desired on the liquor or any other question.

"Before very long I will tell him, whom I know so well, how much he is entitled to lead this party any more than I am."

Mr. Pinard wound up with the remark that he would support "a moderate temperance policy, not the policy of bigots and hypocrites."

Hon. W. H. Price, Provincial Treasurer, challenged some statements made by Harold Fisher (Liberal, West Ottawa) in a speech delivered at St. Thomas. Mr. Price said that several of the statements made by Mr. Fisher concerning Ontario's finances were not correct. Mr. Fisher was quoted in a newspaper report as having said that the Drury Government spent $37,000,000 in the last year. As a matter of record, the Drury Government spent $49,000,000, said Mr. Price. Mr. Fisher was also quoted as saying that $69,000,000 had been added to the Provincial debt this year.

Mr. Fisher, however, denied ever having made such a statement.

License Coal Dealers.

Hon. W. F. Nickle, Attorney-General, introduced a bill giving municipalities the right to regulate lodging houses. Second reading was given a bill to license coal dealers and a bill for the licensing of hawkers and transient traders was also given second reading and sent to the municipal committee.

Col. Currie during the discussion on the bill protested against the statute revision committee "making laws for this province." He said the House should be more jealous of its rights. Members of the House could make better laws than even the learned justices. Mr. Nickle replied that the House was making all the laws.

"It is going too far to say that the judges are re-writing the laws," said Premier Ferguson. "I object very much to the report being circulated that the revision committee is changing the laws. They can't. That is the function of this House."

A. C. Lewis (Conservative, North-East Toronto) continued the debate on the budget. He declared that the Brackin amendment, proposing government sale of liquor, was simply moved to embarrass the Government, and that the Liberals had no real intention of helping the cause of temperance. The Opposition, he said, was making every effort to split the Conservative party, but it would take advice from its own leaders and not from Mr. Brackin or Mr. Raney. Mr. Lewis moved the adjournment of the debate at 6 o'clock.

FRIDAY, MARCH 19, 1926.

MEANINGLESS MOTIONS.

The amount of time that is wasted by members of the Ontario Legislature in arguing over the Ontario Temperance Act must represent a considerable addition to the cost of government.

Hardly a day passes without a brush over the temperance question, and what is said in the House on this issue does not begin to approach the behind-the-scenes discussion of this controversial matter.

Most of the debate and argument can serve no useful purpose.

The Ontario Temperance Act is on the statute books of the Province, and must remain there until it is repealed.

There is no prospect of it being repealed unless the Ferguson Government undertakes the responsibility of such an action.

Motions calling for Government control, such as have been introduced by private members, are simply gestures that mean nothing.

They may satisfy the majority of the constituents of the members sponsoring them, but as a contribution toward a settlement of the question they are without value.

TAX RELIEF.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, this time speaking in the House of Commons, has once more intimated that some relief in the form of tax reduction is forthcoming.

The Minister did not go into details, and did not state whether the relief would come in the form of a reduced income tax levy, a lowered sales tax or in some other way, but stated that it was hoped to do something at this session to lift a portion of the burden from the shoulders of the Canadian taxpayer.

Relief in any form will be welcome.

While there is a strong pressure of public opinion in favour of a reduction of the income tax that would bring the Canadian scale down somewhere in the neighborhood of that in force in the United States, yet the people of this country will feel grateful at any prospect of lowered taxation.

Industry and business in general in this country feel the strangling effect of heavy taxation to a degree that is reflected in a slower march toward prosperity than the Canadian people would like to see.

National economy is the only path to substantial tax reduction; let us hope that Canada is now headed along that highway.

UMBRELLAS AND ACCIDENTS.

Out of the welter of music and oratory that comes over the radio—on those rare nights when reception is good—there occasionally emerges something that is of real educational value.

Thus one of the United States stations on Wednesday night broadcast a very timely "Safety First" bulletin concerning the carrying of umbrellas that might well be passed on to Examiner readers.

The warning called attention to the fact that the individual who tried to cross a busy street with his head buried in an umbrella was taking grave chances.

At this season of the year when rain or wet snow leads to a greater use of the umbrella as a protection, it should be understood that the conditions which call for the umbrella to be used also make it difficult for motorists, whose windshields are clouded by moisture.

It is more than usually troublesome for the man at the wheel to watch for pedestrian traffic, and because of that fact it is necessary for the individual on foot to protect himself by keeping a watchful eye out for automobiles.

That cannot be done if the pedestrian persists in holding his umbrella close over his head and trusting to luck that he can get across the street without being hit.

When you are carrying such a shelter remember the conditions, is the advice of this radio bulletin, and it is worth regarding seriously.

A SMALLER LEGISLATURE.

D. M. Taylor, the Progressive member for North Grey, has introduced a bill aiming at a reduction in the strength of the Legislature as a measure of economy and a protest against the growing cost of government, says the Brockville Recorder and Times.

It is too much to hope that this bill will become an Act. But the question is nevertheless worth examination. Everywhere the cry is that Canada is over-burdened with government. We have enough Parliaments and enough members of Parliament to govern a country with ten times the population. Government costs us more per capita than in many other countries whose finances are in a more favorable state. The Province of Manitoba is the first to show an inclination to bow to this point of view. A redistribution is to take place there within a short time. Usually, redistributions mean additions to the numerical strength of the Legislature. Not so in Manitoba. Several members of the Provincial Government are said to favor a reduction, and the Manitoba Free Press supports the plan. A smaller Legislature, it believes, would be better for the Province. There would be fewer members eager to air their views and, consequently, the sessions would be shorter and less costly. There are 55 members in the Manitoba House at present, and it is suggested that the number might easily be cut to 44 without loss of prestige or power.

In Ontario during the present session seven constituencies have been deprived of representation through failure of the Government to authorize bye-elections. It is not fair to the ridings concerned that such should be the case, but it must be said that the weakness of the Legislature through such non-representation has not been particularly noticeable. There are now 111 members in the Ontario Legislature, or would be if every seat was filled; to the House of Commons there are returned from Ontario only 82 members. If the smaller number is considered sufficient to represent the views of Ontario at Ottawa, why should not the same number prove satisfactory at Toronto?

SOBER CRIME

The former official physician of Sing Sing, Dr. Amos O. Squire, have given us something else to think about in the form of a medical and behavioristic inventory of 1,217 inmates of the prison. First crack off the bat the doctor sends one of the standard suppositions flying to the wind. When we think of a criminal we almost always have drunkenness somewhere in the concept, but Dr. Squire says 777 of the Sing Sing convicts are total abstainers.

On tobacco the record is a little closer to standard. The majority of the convicts use the weed, or 1 027 out of 1,217. A little more than one-half of the 1,217 are single, or 670 to 502 married, which might mean that marriage is neither an inducement to crime nor a preventive. Only 15 of the 1,217 are divorced, which is another upsetting disclosure, for the criminal surely must be somewhat of a scamp in wedlock, too. Chauffeurs show up the most numerously as the recruiting class for Sing Sing, while but one actor was found in the list—Philadelphia Ledger.

PREVENTING ACCIDENTS.

The Industrial Accident Prevention Association in seeking to impress upon employees of the various factories of the Province the necessity of being on their guard against accidents reminds them that the money to pay injured workers 66 2-3 of their wages while they are disabled is collected from the plants under compensation, and is not part of a fund collected in some mysterious manner by the Government.

That is a point the Examiner believes is often lost sight of by the public.

The situation simply is this, that every employer has to find the money to pay a yearly assessment to the Workmen's Compensation Board.

That means, of course, that the cost of compensation must be added by the employer to his product, and thus an increase in accidents must mean an increase in the cost of the finished product.

For this reason every purchaser of goods manufactured in this Province is interested—or should be—in the question of accidents and their costs.

There is the question of wages.

It is easy to see that the lowering of compensation costs might reasonably affect the pay of industrial workers.

If the employers of the Province could cut in half the losses through accidents it would mean that there would be more money for distribution among the employees.

An accident benefits no one, neither employer or worker, for full wages are better than compensation.

Accidents throw an unnecessary toll on industry in this Province, and every effort should be made by everyone concerned in the welfare of the country to cut down this annual loss.

The workmen of Pterboro's factories can help by being careful always while at work.

NOW WE KNOW.

The advocates of the all-American canal from the Great Lakes to the Atlantic having brought the Secretary of War into the controversy, a great light has been thrown on this proposed project. The canal will be useful as a war measure. It will serve as a means of defense against the aggressiveness of its militant foes who are always ready to swoop down upon that country at any vulnerable point. Now we know where we stand. We are warned to keep hands off. We can picture the giant men-o'-war steaming past the palisades on a foggy morning under sealed orders proceeding to Oswego to hold that fort to grim finality.

The Secretary of War must have been scouting around. He must have heard of the formidable Canadian Navy and the Trent Valley Canal offering such an excellent means of approach from the Canadian hinterland to the waters of Ontario. He must have heard of the Kawartha Lakes as an excellent and advantageous mobilization centre; possibly he has become alarmed by some wonderful demonstrations of war canoes in the annual regattas for which those waters are renowned. Anyway, what can he do if we mobilize our fleet in those lakes, prepared to emerge and dash across to Oswego on short notice? The war canos and others can be back at their base long before the battleships have passed through the locks of the Erie Canal. It would seem to be absolutely essential to join up the "Finger Lakes" of Central New York with the war canal, and even these would not provide as much mobilization space as we have available. And when it comes to a matter of morale among the crews we would have all the advantage. Think of the excellent fishing in the Kawartha district as compared with the few perch and pickerel in Oneida Lake, for instance. We almost venture to say that if a couple of our professional guides from Stony Lake should appear on the horizon with frying-pans they could capture the entire personnel of the American Navy before breakfast. In fact, the advantages would be so notable with us that the defending fleet would not have that square deal which all true sportsmen like. If the all-American canal is to be a war zone, we should, in all neighborliness, offer the use of one of our beautiful inland lakes as headquarters.

There is little doubt, of course, that the war canal should be built. Is it not recorded somewhere that during the War of 1812 an officer in New York ordered supplies sent by boat to Oswego from an arsenal standing on a hillside in the middle of New York State? There being nothing more than a babbling brook within sight of the arsenal, and the nearest canoe not closer than eight miles, the order was never filled. This mark of disobedience on the military escutcheon of Uncle Sam could be wiped out at last by the construction of the canal, and the rebuilding of the arsenal with a waterway leading to its front door.—The Globe.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Hon. Mr. Robb's intimation that a measure of tax relief is in sight will be greeted with cheers in all parts of Canada.

Mr. Dunning says his job is to complete the Hudson's Bay Railway. Many Easterners, however, are of the opinion that the Minister of Railways will find other jobs of greater national importance to engage his attention.

There is nothing that cuts through party lines more effectively than the liquor question. Mr. Sinclair is able to back up Mr. Ferguson in that opinion.

Canada's favourable trade balance is being maintained, a condition that gives good reason for rejoicing.

The concert of the Male Voice Choir promises to be a popular success. This community musical organization deserves the support it is getting from the public.

Fellowship of Prayer

FRIDAY.

Fruitfulness and Joy.

Read Jn. 15:7-11. Text: 15:8.

Herein is my Father glorified, that ye bear much fruit.

Meditation—Again we face an essential test of discipleship. Only as we bear fruit are we genuinely his disciples. When other lives are enriched by ours, when they are led toward Christ and not away from him we know we are his. When we so live and speak that we show forth our best those about us are made strong to do their best. He calls us to bear much fruit that his joy may be in us and that our joy may be full.

"Help me the slow of heart to move
By some clear, winning word of love:
Teach me the wayward feet to stay,
And guide them in the homeward way."

Prayer—O Master of the way of life, Free us from the passion for pleasure as the way to joy. Help us to seek out and serve others who lack the abundant life which Thou dost give. Give us this day a deeper experience of Thy delivering love that we may bear it to some other seeking and impoverished soul. Amen.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

Always doesn't seem long at all on a beautiful moonlit night.

A fairly reliable sign of spring is when the snows are postponed on account of rain.

Another sign of spring is when you have the feeling that you want to take the agency for something.

Young fellows joining the navy now find the trousers too tight about their ankles.

Better start in to do a little work so they miss you when you take your vacation.

Maybe after Sampson got a haircut he was just weak from arguing that he didn't want a shampoo.

My ideal of an ideal wife is the one who razzberried the postoffice officials for postmarking a postal card from her husband, "Atlantic City," when she knew dern well he was in New York on business.

Judge Landis and a couple million office boys will soon be giving all their attention to baseball.

One of my kid came home the other night and said the teacher told him to find the "common divisor." My gosh, they've been looking for that thing ever since I was in school.

It doesn't pay to borrow because the borrower has to.

Prof. Ofergosh Sakes figures that no matter how many tires have been manufactured in the last year, it's a cinch they'll go around.

She shot an arrow into the air. It came to earth she knew not where. And neither did the poor girl care. It was the beau she was interested in.

It's the irony of fate that often lets a justice of the peace marry a couple who spend the rest of their lives fighting.

She searched her husband's pockets,
Which was quite a sneaky stunt.
But, shucks, he didn't mind it. He Got up and helped her hunt.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

PUNISH CRUEL PARENTS.

To the Editor of Examiner:

Sir,—Being a humane mother who has brought up her sons to respectable manhood without "thrashings," I am calling upon the mothers of Ontario to stir up such activities as will compel our Government to alter the law so as to inflict "flogging" as punishment upon parents or guardians of children who are convicted of cruelty.

Sufficient money and sympathy has been sent by Ontario to the Armenians to convince all that as a people we are humane.

When "monsters" are found among us we must deal with them without pity to save the innocent and helpless.

A warm jail and sufficient food brings no lesson to such degenerates, but pain by "flogging" would clean our Province of this crime. Mothers, take action!

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

IT'S SPIRIT.

Among soldiers, "spirit" is the measure of fighting power. Two men of equal training, ability and equipment are not always equal in fighting power. Nor has any one man the same drive at any two given times.

In any organization, industrial, as well as military, it is "spirit" that puts things across and takes the objective.

CANADIAN CANALS COST $222,000,000

Capital Cost and Maintenance Tabled in the Commons.

OTTAWA, Ont., March 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Canadians have spent some $222,000,000 on canals so far. Figures tabled in the House of Commons to-day show that the capital cost of all canal systems in the Dominion, including those begun before Confederation, was $173,654,882 up to Dec. 31, 1925, maintenance, including staffs and repairs, has cost $48,577,903. Income derived by all canals totalled $14,328,236.

The Welland canal system involved the greatest expenditure. The cost of the Welland ship canal, up to the end of last year, was $60,573,573 and that of the Welland canal $29,908,497. The canal system in Quebec province involved a capital cost of $30,467,038. The capital cost of the Ontario St. Lawrence canals was $22,529,110; of the St. Lawrence ship canal, between Lake Ontario and Montreal, was $135,777; of the Trent Canal, $19,335,306; of the St. Peters canal, $648,547; of the Rideau canal, $5,086,254; of the Sault Ste. Marie canal, $4,935,809; and general expenditure on canals in additional totalled $34,966.

ROUND UP OF CANADIANS IN DETROIT WHO IGNORED U.S. IMMIGRATION REGULATIONS

Eighty Deportation Warrants Served in Month—25 Women Arrested During Past Week—Net Out For Others.

DETROIT, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Although eighty deportation warrants for Canadian men and women have been issued and served during the month past, no action was brought yesterday by immigration officials against 25 women in the custody of the police after examination by immigration inspectors. The women, nearly all of whom are said to be Canadian citizens, were arested during the week on various charges.

Alexander M. Doig, chief immigration inspector for Detroit, said he expected the whereabouts of over 500 Canadians in Detroit would be known by June 1st. Information for the 80 warrants already executed he declared, was furnished largely by other Canadians residing here.

"It is surprising that Canadians who can enter this country as non-quota aliens upon payment of the $8 head tax and the $10 fee for a passport visa, and by submitting to an examination when they enter, should seek to enter the United States illegally," declared Doig. "This drive, we hope will result in teaching prospective immigrants the advisability of entering legally."

NEW FORCE FOR BORDER PATROL MINISTER SAYS

Will Be Increased From 67 to 260 and 40 Dismissed.

CHECK SMUGGLING.

Preventive Force on Bundary and at Junction Points.

OTTAWA, March 18 (Canadian Press).—Tentative plans to stop smuggling into Canada were outlined in the House of Commons yesterday by Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs and Excise when the estimates of his department were under consideration. While these arrangements were under his consideration, Mr. Boivin emphasized that it was his desire and intention to carry out whatever recommendations were made by the present customs enquiry committee.

The special preventive service force, he declared, which had been authorized last year under an appropriation of $350,000 was not operating satisfactorily. Forty men out of 57 now engaged would be dismissed, and a force of approximately 260 men established. Fifty-six members approximately would be allotted to Nova Scotia, 20 to New Brunswick, 10 to Prince Edward Island, 90 to Quebec, 54 to Ontario, 16 to Manitoba, 13 to British Columbia, and a certain number to Alberta and Saskatchewan.

This preventive force would not be entirely engaged in patrolling the boundary points, but would also be employed in guarding junction points. His idea also was to group two or three men at important junction points coming into Canada, such as near Victoria Bridge, Montreal. A double check would be made on incoming cars. In addition a certain number of officers would be equipped with motorcycles or high-powered cars for the purpose of keeping a watch on small country roads providing a means of access to the Dominion.

An increase in the number of boats performing patrol work on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts would also, in his opinion, be a proper step. A certain number of boats would be added to those now doing service in the vicinity of the three Maritime Provinces and British Columbia.

MALVY COLLAPSED IN DEAD FAINT CONTRADICTING TREASON CHARGE INCIDENT WON BRIAND MAJORITY

French Chamber's Vote of Confidence in New Cabinet Equivocal.

SYMPATHY FACTOR

Socialists Rallied to Malvy's Defense and Endorsed New Ministry.

PARIS, March 19.—(Canadian Press).—The Chamber of Deputies expressed confidence in the new Ministry of Aristide Briand last night by a majority of nearly two hundred votes, but under such dramatic circumstances as to make it doubtful whether the House really meant to approve the ministerial declaration. The vote was 361 to 164.

Louis Malvy, Minister of Interior, attacked by the Conservatives, who recalled the accusations of treason made against him before the High Court in 1918, fell in a dead faint at the ministerial bench. He was carried from the Chamber, while the Socialists and Communists rose in rage, shaking heir fists at the Deputies of the Right and menacing them with reprisals.

The ministerial declaration with which M. Briand introduced his Cabinet admitted that a settlement of the perplexed financial difficulties of France was not in sight, but asked Parliament to "observe exceptional discipline" to vote before Easter recess the financial measures necessary to carry on the government.

Attack on Malvy.

The declaration as whole, appealed to neither one side or the other side of the Chamber. It was received with great indifference, and when the Premier descended from the rostrum, parliamentary experts began to question whether he would get a majority, as the Socialists had decided to abstain from voting, while the Centre and Right had decided to vote against the Cabinet. The first interpellator, M. Ybarnegaray, from the upper Pyenees, however, made the attack on Minister of Interior Malvy, and changed the whole situation.

In a moment the debate became a political squabble, in which the groups of the Left again united in defense of one of their militant leaders, in opposition to the Right, solidified by antagonism toward M. Malvy. M. Briand insisted on taking the floor to defend M. Malvy against the charges. He recalled that the High Court had acquitted M. Malvy of the charge of high treason and the subsidiary accusations, among them malfeasance in office.

Hooted by Conservatives.

The Premier made an impassioned and dramatic plea, in the course of which he said that many Senators who voted to convict M. Malvy before the High Court, had declared they would have voted differently had they known some of the facts in the case at the time. He attacked the Conservatives in no uncertain manner and provoked vigorous protest from all the benches of the Right and Centre. For the first time in his parliamentary career he was hooted from moderate and Conservative benches when he descended from the tribune.

In the opinion of followers of parliamentary procedure, the Cabinet at that time was doomed to defeat.

M. Malvy then insisted on taking the platform in his own defense. Known to be affected with heart trouble, he showed signs of weakness on the speaker's stand. The strain was too much, and he had just declared "If I am a menace to the Cabinet and the restoration of my country I will resign!" when he collapsed.

Borne away to the cloakroom, he lay unconscious for twenty minutes.

Personal Sympathy.

M. Malvy, however, given a clean bill of health by Premier Briand and Colonel [illegible], former aide-de-camp to Marshal Joffre, won personal sympathy from all parts of the House. Thereafter it was the Minister of Interior who was under discussion, finances, Locarno, Morocco and Syria being lost to sight. The Left consolidated again and the Government's majority was certain.

The Cabinet will go ahead on the equivocal majority obtained on a side issue until the tax votes and the budget is taken up, when it is anticipated a decisive test will come.

Romance Interrupted By U.S. Civil War Ends In Wedding

SPOKANE, Washn., March 19 (Canadian Press).—A romance interrupted by the civil war, since which time each of the principals has reared a family, had its culmination here Wednesday afternoon with the wedding of E. G. Faires, aged 77, Retail, Washington, and Mrs. Sarah E. Funk, 75, of Katispell, Montana.

They met here last week for the first time in 50 years and decided upon the long delayed ceremony. Faires enlisted in the Ohio volunteers and fought through the war. Afterward he went to Missouri, while his sweetheart remained in Ohio. He has celebrated one golden wedding.

Last fall, Mrs. Funk read an item in the home town paper from Ohio about Faires. Correspondence followed and the romance was renewed.

IMMIGRANT STREAM THROUGH WINNIPEG

3,500 Settlers in 36 Hours For Prairie Provinces.

WINNIPEG, Man., Mar. 19 (Canadian Press)—A solid phalanx of nearly 3,500 immigrant settlers have reached Winnipeg during the past 36 hours, for distribution throughout the western provinces.

A steady stream of newcomers poured into the city by special trains Thursday, one of which, an all-men train, was the first of its kind since the war. Up to last evening a total of nearly 2,000 "new Canadians" had reached the city, a new day's record in Canada's colonization history.

The first contingent was exclusively composed of immigrants from Central Europe, later arrivals included, Britishers, French, Scandinavians, Ukrainians, and Poles. Every member of the men's special were brought from the farms of Hungary. They will proceed to jobs previously obtained for them.

Westbound trains carry their quota nearer their ultimate destinations. On one train which left for the west this afternoon 285 settlers were booked for Edmonton.

COMMITTEE HEARS HON. JAMES LYONS

Minister Says He Never Opened Tenders Privately.

TORONTO, March 19 (Canadian Press). — James Lyons, former Minister of Lands and Forests in the Ferguson Government, testified before the Public Accounts Committee of the Legislature Thursday regarding the business of his firm, the Jas. Lyons Fuel and Supply Company. Mr. Lyons also made the declaration that he never opened tenders privately and that in every case since he had become a Minister that a responsible deputy was always present when tenders were opened.

Mr. Lyons also made the statement that he was never interested in nor was he a partner in any firms which had done business with his department of the Government. Mr. Lyons gave figures showing the trade of his company with various big pulp, timber and construction firms in Northern Ontario. He went back for many years, and in most cases, according to the figures, he was doing better business before he entered politics than after. Last year the McNamara Construction Co. bought $35,000 worth of material from the Jas. Lyons Company. This company has several big road contracts in the north.

BRITISH COLUMBIA HERDS DECIMATED

Campaign To Stamp Out Bovine Tuberculosis.

VICTORIA, B.C., March 19 (Canadian Press)—Large numbers of milk cows are being slaughtered now in the Federal and Provincial government's campaign to rid the Fraser valley of bovine tuberculosis.

While total figures are not yet available, as the work proceeds at many points, officials in charge estimate that seventy per cent of the Fraser valley cattle are free of the disease. Only about 8 or 9 per cent of the animals tested so far have been found to be diseased.

Charges of cruelty in connection with the carrying out of the campaign are being forwarded by provincial officials to the Federal Department of Agriculture. Complaint has been made that cows about to be slaughtered have not been milked for long periods, causing them suffering.

NO DECISION ON MILK QUESTION

Committee of Kingston Council Discusses Matter for Two Hours.

ANOTHER MEETING

KINGSTON, March 19.—(Special to the Examiner)—The special committee appointed by the City Council, to deal with the milk question and the recommendation of the Board of Health, asking that all herds supplying milk to the city be secured from tuberculin-tested herds, and that pasteurization be left optional, discussed the question for over two hours, but came to no definite decision, and the matter was left over for another meeting. Letters received by Mayor Angrove from various cities from Vancouver to Halifax, showed that ninety per cent of the places referred to, call for the milk to be pasteurized. The milk question has been taken up here as a result of a meeting of the Board of Trade, at which Mr. A. H. Fair of the Hemlock Farm Dairy, made the statement that from 60 to 80 per cent of the cows supplying the city with milk were tubercular.

LOCAL LADY WRITES MAGAZINE ARTICLE

Mrs. J. E. R. Munro Has Article in MacLean's Women's Section.

The current issue of MacLean's Magazine, the March 15th edition, contains, under the section headed "Women and Their Work", a very interesting article written by Helena Vanderwater Munro (Mrs. J. E. R. Muno, of 551 Aylmer street) and entitled "Adventures in Making Over Derelicts." The article, which is illustrated in attractive style, gives an excellent idea of just how much may be made out of old "cast offs", with a little time and patience, and shows some pretty lamp shades constructed from out of date, discarded articles of china and glass. Methods of reconstructing these unregarded pieces are described in entertaining fashion.

HEAVY TOLL IN 'FLU' EPIDEMIC

Hospitals in New York Are Taxed To Capacity.

PNEUMONIA, ALSO.

NEW YORK, March 19 (Canadian Press). — Prolonged winter weather has continued the spread of influenza and pneumonia in several north-eastern cities.

Of 60 infants at the babies' hospital here, 45 have pneumonia, and other hospitals are taxed to capacity with the inflow of patients.

Last week 883 new influenza cases with 83 deaths, and 1,107 new pneumonia cases, with 500 deaths were reported to the department of health. For the corresponding week last year, there were 118 deaths from influenza, and 338 from pneumonia.

The Middleport high school, at Middleport, N.Y. and St. Mary's school at Auburn, are closed because of a grippe epidemic.

Dr. Charles W. Chapin, superintendent of health at Providence, believes the influenza epidemic will continue in Rhode Island, and then die out as rapidly as it has spread. He thinks it unnecessary to close shops or theatres. There are several thousand cases in the state, many of them children.

Plantol Soap

This simple treatment

has made more lovely complexions than all other beauty treatments put together

Skin beauty and skin cleanliness go hand in hand. Yet there are so many women who do not seem to realize this. Or else many who are using harmful rather than helpful soaps. Thousands more could have real complexion beauty—if they but followed this simple treatment.

First bathe the face and hands in warm water—not hot—with a soap as pure and mild as Plantol—that lathers softly, richly—that penetrates and cleanses the pores, without irritating them. Then, with warm water alone, to rinse the lather off. Then cold water, cold as snow, to close the pores and give the skin that fine smooth coolness that holds a glow under its whiteness.

This simple beauty treatment will make you more lovely—and it costs hardly two cents a week!

A skin kept clean is always clear

Plantol

A mild, pure and exquisite toilet soap—made entirely of plant, fruit and flower oils.

HC31 MONDAY NIGHTS 9 TO 12 ORCHESTRA

The YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

COPYRIGHT 1926 BY NEA SERVICE, INC.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

HENRY RAND, 55, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket.

JANET RAND, his daughter, breaks her engagement with BARRY COLVIN because of the "disgrace." JIMMY RAND, his son, goes to Chicago, where the theater is. The stub is traced to OLGA MAYNARD, a cabaret singer.

Jimmy meets and falls in love with MARY LOWELL. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing she is wanted for murder. Mary, out with SAMUEL CHURCH, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmy lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands.

Olga tells police the stub might have come into possession of a man who "picked her up" two nights before the murder. Jimmy receives mysterious warnings to leave Chicago and later is attacked by two men but escapes.

With Jimmy and Mary estranged, Church gets Mary's promise to marry him. Jimmy and Olga, out one night, see a man they both recognize—she as the man who got the stub, he as one of his assailants. The man escapes, but they identify him by his police photo as IKE JENSEN.

Church, motoring with Mary, runs over a dog. His heartlessness causes her to break their engagement. Mary writes a letter, explaining, but the office boy forgets to mail it.

Jimmy gets a phone call from Olga saying she has found Ike Jensen. Her voice ends in a gasping cry and he rushes to her apartment to find she is gone. He thinks she has been kidnapped or murdered—which he doesn't know. While he and police are in the apartment a mysterious phone call comes for him, threatening his life.

Despairingly, he asks, "My God, have they killed her?"

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XLIV.

The newspapers were still in full hue and cry over the mysterious disappearance of Olga Maynard. Unlike most "stories" that are allowed to die out after a few days of sensational play, there was an element of the sinister, a touch of the mysterious, in this one that kept the city keyed up to a pitch of high excitement.

It struck at a time when local news was dead, and for that reason the city editors welcomed it.

And sensation followed sensation. O'Day had hinted vaguely to Jimmy of having something else up his sleeve to "give to the papers." And Jimmy was not kept long in ignorance.

When it did break, it swept him off his feet and sent him down to see O'Day with blood in his eye, raging and full of fight.

O'Day had told the reporters about the yellow stub and the handkerchief that had been found in the room with Henry Rand's body. Furthermore, he had told them that they had been traced to Olga Maynard and that, although her explanation had been satisfactory enough, still she had figured theretofore as an important cog in the chain of evidence that had lengthened since Henry Rand's murder.

He felt sure, he told them, that Olga Maynard's strange disappearance was somehow linked up with the murder.

And the whole city buzzed and gossiped over the strange mystery of the yellow stub. The murder of Henry Rand, although it had happened in a distant town, was suddenly brought home to Chicago. Street corner idlers hazarded strange guesses as to the motive that prompted Henry Rand's murder. Busy captains of industry summoned office boys to run out and grab the latest editions. Steneographers discussed it over their lunch, and housewives over the back fence. It supplied trolly car conversation for homegoing bookkeepers and mechanics.

"You shouldn't have done it," Jimmy stormed at O'Day. "It wasn't right. It wasn't fair to her. It's not fair to me to drag this out again."

O'Day tried to be patient.

"You don't understand, my boy, If you think this is going to turn the town against Olga Maynard, you are mistaken. They sympathize with her. Everyone does. They think she's the victim of some mysterious plot."

"Your ideas about the right thing to do certainly don't coincide with mine," said Jimmy bitterly.

"Be patient, Rand. I've got something in the back of my old noodle. When you're as old as I am you may realize that a man doesn't lose any of his brains when he passes forty.

"I want this thing to fill the papers, the wires are carrying it all over. I want Marie Real, if she's alive, to step out and supply some information that I think we can use.

"And another thing." His jaw set grimly as he walked to his desk and opened a drawer. "I'm going to show you something, Rand. You've been climbin' all over my frame every time I opened my mouth and said something you didn't like about Olga Maynard. My boy, I'm not in this business for sentiment. I'm looking for facts. Do you see this picture?"

He held it out in front of Jimmy's eyes. "Look at it an' tell me whether you recognize it."

Jimmy's forehead, as he studied the picture, puckered in a worried frown. Vague premonition held him again.

"I—I—my God, O'Day, it can't be—"

"It is, Lad, it is. It's a picture of your father, Henry Rand, taken when he was a boy of about fifteen. At least, that's the way I remember him."

"Where—where did you get this?" Jimmy asked feebly.

"I'll tell you where I got it. I found it the other night in Olga Maynard's apartment." He paused to watch the effect of his words.

Jimmy was shocked speechless. He managed to gulp, "In Olga Maynard's apartment? This?" Feebly, he pointed at it with his finger.

"That's what I said. I was browsin' through the place an' I found this on the mantel piece. I didn't recognize it at first, but something was familiar about it, an' I stood there an' studied it an' suddenly it came to me like a flash. 'It's Henry Rand,' I says!—"

"But I don't understand—"

"No, nor do I. But here it is. What do you make of it?" He lifted his head from a study of the picture. "You recognize your dad?"

"I do now. Perhaps without you I wouldn't, but there are his features. Forty years makes a lot of changes, but—"

"It's him without a doubt. It seems just like yesterday that I saw him.. after seein' this."

"But what in the world do you make of it?"

And O'Day said slowly, "Just this," and he seemed to measure each word as he uttered it. "That girl, Jim, has been holdin' back something from us. She knew a lot more about this business than she cared to let on. She was in on it, an' you can't make me believe any different."

"You think she had anything to do with the murder?" Jimmy asked in weary discouragement. He seemed to have shrunk a despairing look came into his eyes.

"I'm not sayin' she did. But she's in on it, Rand. There was evidently a plot to get your father, an' she knew about it. She knows who did it, an' she knows why it was done

"Now you've just given me the devil for shootin' off my mouth to the newspapers. All right, but I'm holdin' this back. I'm givin' her an even break; ain't I?"

"I suppose you are, but my God, Lieutenant, I can't conceive of that girl having a hand in this awful thing. It's beyond me. If it's true I'll never have a bit of faith left in human nature."

"What do you think now of my theory—the thoery I explained the other night, about that kidnappin' stunt bein' nothin' but a frame-up? Do you still think I'm crazy?"

And Jimmy, utterly weary, and feeling friendless and alone in a mad world, answered, "No."

He had learned from O'Day that the effort to check back on the phone call to Olga's apartment had led them to a booth in a busy drug store.

"Just as I expected," commented O'Day when he told Jimmy about it.

Jimmy thought several times of calling up Mary Lowell and explaining the whole mad business to her. But a certain stiff-backed attitude about making what might be construed as advances restrained him.

Besides, he told himself, he had put all such ideas out of his head. He was here for a purpose. . . .

But he wondered if Mary would give him her sympathy. He felt very much in need of sympathy. It seemed that no one understood him.

His time could hardly be called his own. Reporters were in almost constant attendance and Mrs. King, his landlady, had told them that her roomer, Mr. Rand, "and a gentleman if ever there was one," had been shot at one night. "Right in his room, mind you."

This made him something of a hero. He was conscious of stares as he walked through the streets and he overheard people point him out as he passed. . . . He even began to get mash notes, on scented paper of varied hues.

But O'Day apparently had been right about one thing. There was no further attempt to molest him, and there were no more mysterious telephone calls or warning letters.

"I told you so," O'Day said. "The publicity's driven them to cover."

Barry Colvin arrived the next day, resolved, he told Jimmy, to stick the thing out with him.

"And what's this about Olga Maynard being kidnapped?" he asked. "The papers back home have been full of it. My boy, you're famous. Your mug has been splashed all over the papers, and your face is better known than Rudy Valentino's."

He grinned. "If I had all that publicity I'd certainly make the law business pay and pay heavy."

He told Jimmy, "Mooney's in New York. He's found out this much, at least—that Marie Real's stage name was Marie Rellane. Of course, everybody's heard of Marie Rellane. I'd no idea the lady was such a star."

"Lord! She was the toast of the country when I was a little kid," said Jimmy.

"But Mooney says she's dropped out of sight, at least temporarily. He's hopeful, though, of locating her soon."

"God, Barry, if this thing isn't cleared up soon I'll go mad."

"Buck up, Jim. I'm going to be with you. Maybe I can help. Tell me, what do you think they've done to Olga Maynard?"

"Oh, I don't know. O'Day's got a crazy idea—"

He told Barry about the finding of Henry Rand's picture and what O'Day thought of it.

"You were a fool, Jim, for trusting that woman."

He turned savagely on Barry, but the words that were in his mind never escaped his lips. Instead he bowed his head. "Maybe I am. It would have been better, for her at least, had they kept her in jail. She'd have been safe, if not comfortable."

They sat up and talked, of Grafton and Janet and Jimmy's mother, until Barry yawned sleepily and went to bed.

But there was no sleep for Jimmy. He sat and gazed enviously at Barry's comfortable, resting figure, heard with irritation his slight snore. . . .

And the thought of the picture they had found in Olga's room rose to torture him through half the night.

86-year old coal, iron and steel magnate of Germany, who is seriously ill at his home in Duisburg, Germany. His condition is regarded as hopeless.

OMEMEE U. F. O. HAD BIG MEETING

Club Room Well Filled for Regular Meeting—Good Programme.

OMEMEE, March 19.—The club rooms of the Omemee organization of the U.F.O. were almost filled to capacity on Tuesday evening when a social evening and programme, which had been previously announced, was held. Both young and old joined in the games and a contest placed on the wall puzzled many a brain for a length of time.

About 9 o'clock the President of the club, Mr. William Veals, called the gathering to order, and the "Maple Leaf Forever" was the opening number on the programme. Misses Eva and Lillian Race rendered a piano duet and were forced by the hearty applause to respond with an encore. Rev. E. W. Rowland contributed two short readings in good style, entitled "The Fool" and "Admirals All."

The county President, Mr. Parkins of Cameron, had been invited to be present, and at this juncture was called upon to address the gathering. Mr. Parkins based his brief remarks on the subject of "Loyalty." He applied it first to Canadians in the days of the late war, and later briefly referred to fraternal organizations and organizations of law and commerce, organization of labor, Manufacturers' Association, Bankers' Association and many other vocations which are organized, dwelling afterward on the farmers' organization. "If we are loyal to our association we are loyal to ourselves and we must of necessity benefit by the calling, as it will add to our own self respect," said Mr. Parkins, "and if it pays other associations to organize, surely it will pay the farmer to organize." In closing the speaker referred to farm and politics. "Some people say that farmers shouldn't enter politics, but not yet has any good proof been given as to why. The people's will should rule. What we need is a more democratic form of government, and the only way is to have representatives of the masses of the people and not to have the rich industries to choose our laws for us."

A violin duet was then given by the Pogue brothers and heartily encored.

Mr. Bruce McNevin, a member of the Reaboro club, who has just returned from attending a convention of the Canadian Council of Agriculture in Regina, was called to the platform, and related some of the aims of the Council, as well as the problems that confront it. He spoke of a few observations made while on his trip, among them being the liquor traffic, in which, in Mr. McNevin's judgment, the law fully justifies itself. Drunkenness is not found in this Province in public as observed elsewhere, he said.

The Misses Race contributed an autoharp and piano selection, followed by a number from the Pogue brothers.

A vote of thanks was then extended to those who assisted on the programme, followed by a few remarks by Mr. F. G. Sandy.

A resolution condemning the agitation for the abolition of the income tax was brought in and unanimously passed. This resolution will be forwarded to the head office in Toronto, and also to a representative at Ottawa.

Slips of paper were then distributed bearing the name of an Irish family, the membership of which was five. These families congregated around the small tables and were known as the Rooneys, Murphys, Magaheys, O'Tooles, O'Briens, Flannigans, O'Conners, Corkerys, O'Neills, Dohertys and O'Learys, and after refreshments had been served each family was called upon for a number, and as a result much Irish wit was let loose and the hall resounded with mirth and laughter.

At a late hour the happy gathering broke up, and many expressions of pleasure were heard especially from the visitors, for the splendid entertainment provided.

HALL'S BRIDGE SOCIAL

Baskets Auctioned Off After Programme—Proceeds Good.

YOUNG'S POINT, March 19.—At Hall's Bridge, on Friday evening, March 12, a very succesful concert and basket social was held under the auspices of the Ladies Aid of the United church, in the True Blue Hall. The proceeds amounted to over $70.

After the programme, which was splendid in every detail, Rev. R. Spencer acting as chairman, the baskets were auctioned by Mr. George Wilson and refreshments served by the ladies in charge.

Following is the programme:

A reading by Arthur White.

Chairman's address.

Duet—Dora and Margaret Wilson.

Instrumental selection — Miss Mary Nicholas, Mrs. J. A. Northey, and Mr. Wilson Northey.

Reading—Miss Blackburn.

Mrs. Stanley Hockaday of Douro, is visiting her mother, Mrs. Bullock, for a few days.

MILLBROOK BAND ANNUAL MEETING

Reports Presented on Year's Work Are Most Encouraging.

MILLBROOK, March 19.—The annual meeting of the Sunshine Mission Band was held at the home of Mrs. P. Stinson on Tuesday evening with over thirty boys and girls in attendance.

Mrs. Offa Williamson, the superintendent of the band, presided and reports of the year's work were most encouraging. About $100.00 has been raised since last April, this amount including the annual thankoffering usually taken on Easter Sunday but earlier this year owing to the Union, and which is now $11, with more to come in. The mission band thankofferings from all over the Dominion are this year to be devoted to kindergarten work in Canada.

The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Jean Stinson.
Vice-Pres.—Bessie Dawson.
Secretary—Annie McMahon.
Treasurer—Dorothy McDowell.
Pianist—A. McMahon.
Programme Committee: — Mary Burnham, Bryar Edmunds, Mary Vance and Helen Mitchell.

The boys will be responsible for looking after the room, Bibles, hymn-books, etc.

The study book, "Brave Adventurers of India," which has been taken up through the year, is not yet completed and has proved both interesting and instructive.

Games were enjoyed during the recreation period at the close of the business meeting, after which Mrs. Stinson, assisted by Mrs. Williamson, Mrs. H. Dawson, and Mrs. F. W. Smith, served the young folk with supper, the big freezer of ice-cream brought by the superintendent being an especial attraction.

The annual meeting of the Golden Links Mission Circle will be held at Mrs. Stinson's on Tuesday, March 23, at 8 p.m.

The March meeting of the Woman's Missionary Auxiliary of St. Thomas' church was held at the home of Mrs. E. Whyte on Monday evening, with a good attendance of members and visitors.

Owing to the absence of the president, Mrs. (Canon) Allen, who was prevented by illness from being present, the secretary, Mrs. Whyte, took the chair.

Business items of interest included arrangements for the Lenten fund, and the completion of the bale which is sent annually in April to one of the Indian Homes in the West. Miss Annie Armstrong, Dorcas secretary, reported weekly sewing meetings being held, and clothing, etc. or the bale being prepared, willing assistance being given by a number of the members.

Mrs. J. A. Vance took up the chapter from the study book, "The Clash of Color", in a most helpful manner.

A special feature of the meeting was an address from Rev. D. R. Dewdney on "Christ's weeping over Jerusalem", many practical points being brought out with reference to W. A. activities, and also to daily living.

The usual social hour was enjoyed at the close. The April meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. J. A. Vance.

The inter-League series of debates for the Whattam Cup is again well under way, the team from the Millbrook branch having been notified that it is to compete with Newcastle at the latter town on Monday, March 22, the subject being: "Resolved that the spirit of cooperation as against that of competion is in the best interests of the commercial life of our country."

A trial debate was held at the local league on Tuesday evening, the two who are going to Newcastle, Margaret Howard and Jas. Larmer, upholding the affirmative, while Messrs. B. B. Lawson and H. Jordan defended the negative side.

The judges awarded the decision to the negative both on points and manner of delivery, though it was evident taht material had been carefully prepared by either side, and much interesting information was given.

The final debate, when the trophy is awarded, will take place at the Conference Convention held in Napanee next fall.

Last year Millbrook won in this district by default as none of the Leagues in Peterborough were willing to enter the competition. Representatives from Tyronne League won the Cup last year, the final competition taking place at Port Hope last November, one evening session of the annual convention being given up to the debate.

C. Robison has sold his restaurant to Milton Challice of Bethany, the latter taking possession in the immediate future. Mr. and Mrs. Challice moved their household furniture to Millbrook last week. They will be warmly welcomed as citizens of this community.

Mr. Robinson has gone to Massey, Ont., taking up his work in the Janes' Veneer Factory, recently moved there from Cavanville.

Mrs. Robinson, and daughter, Miss Bonna, are remaining for a while in Toronto.

Men's minds are as variant as their faces. Where the motives of their actions are pure, the operation of the former is no more to be imputed to them as a crime, than the appearance of the latter: for both, being the work of nature, are alike unavoidable.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain—How To Treat

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach troubles indigestion, sourness, burning, gas bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sours, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestents are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bisurated Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS ORGANISM TO BE RESHAPED AS DIRECT RESULT OF LESSON IN RECENT DEADLOCK

Germany Will Play Important Part in Projected Reconstruction—Increasing Membership From 10 to 15 One of the Proposals Reported.

SPECIAL COMMISSION APPOINTED

Will Canvass Whole Problem of Composition of the League—Desire to Safeguard Institution for Peace.

GENEVA, March 19—The League of Nations reorganization scheme was launched Thursday. The statesmen, noting that Geneva's institution of peace and international co-operation was endangered by the past week's extraordinary events, caused chiefly by the veto of Brazil against Germany's entry into the league, have determined that the moment has arrived to refashion the league's covenant.

Germany and her ministers, who returned to Berlin without being granted the legal rights to membership, will play a prominent part in the projected work of reconstruction. The league members decided virtually to consider the Reich as a partner in the Geneva peace organization because of the steps leading up to her invitation to come to Geneva and by reason of the impressive manifestation of the assembly intself Wednesday in favor of Germany.

Countries Taking Part

Various Latin-American countries will take part in the investigation, and the Far East will be represented by both Japan and China, while Poland and Switzerland will, with the other states seated in the council, take care of the suggestions of Europe as to what should be done to make the league better and safer as an international machine.

A special commission has been appointed to see how the league covenant could be revised, in order to obviate a future deadlock such as has just been experienced, and probe the entire problem of the composition and methods of election of the council. This investigation may go far indeed in revamping the league's constitution, for the commission is practically without restrictions. The commission will meet at Geneva, May 10.

Many Suggestions

Already there are many rumors and ideas current as to what the commission should do. One suggestion is that it should recommend the creation of unrestricted council membership for states such as Spain, and also a system of restricted membership.

One unofficial French idea is to increase the council from 10 to 15. Undoubtedly the great problem the investigators must face is whether the unanimity rule of the council is to be preserved.

ST. PATRICK'S TEAS.

AT WARKWORTH.

NORHAM, March 19.—St. Patrick's night was celebrated by the Young People's Union of St. Paul's church, Warkworth, which met in the auditorium on Monday evening. The attendance was the largest since the opening of the Union last fall. The meeting was in charge of Miss Mary Phillips. Rev. Wesley W. Jones led in prayer. Mrs. Elgin Edgar read a psalm. Eleven junior girls sang, "Come back to Erin." Miss Freda Fowler gave an Irish reading. Joseph Topping sang, "That Tumble Down Shack". Then followed a debate "Resolved that wealth is a greater source of unhappiness than is poverty." The affirmative was taken by Mrs. Morley Smith and Miss Mary Phillips while Grant Van Blaricom and John Darkins, of Morganston supported the negative. The speakers on each side were allowed fifteen and ten minutes respectively and each one took full time speaking until rung down by the time keepers, Frank Massey and Lorne Darling, of Morganston. A goodly number of points were made by both sides and well supported as was shown by repeated applause from the large audience. Morley Smith, president of the Y.P.U. occupied the chair during the debate. Rev. J. F. Everson, of Norham acted as judge and in his report gave great credit to all the debaters but found that the affirmative had upheld their side with the greatest number of points. William Smoker sang "Shamrock of Ireland," which was followed by a hymn, after which the gathering retired to the basement of the church where a delicious lunch was served by the members of the Union.

AT GILMOUR CHURCH.

On Monday evening, two nights ahead of time, the Young People of Gilmour Memorial church held their St. Patrick's social evening.

After a short devotional period, the Rev. W. S. Edgar gave a short address on the life and work of St. Patrick. Seven towns, he said, contended for the honor of being known as the birthplace of St. Patrick, but a weighty volume of evidence could be brought in support of the theory that the saint was a Scotsman and a native of the town now known as Old Kilpatrick, on the banks of the Clyde. Captured by pirates he was sold into slavery in Ireland and for six long years, he suffered the horrors of slavery. Escaping from his master, he eventually reached France, became a Christian missionary and in 432 A.D. he returned to Ireland and as a preacher of the Gospel, converting the natives to Christianity from the religion of the Druids. Mr. Edgar spoke of visiting Ireland several years ago, when he found many place names preserving the memory of St. Patrick and told of the many legends that had gathered round his name. St. Patrick was no dignified ecclesiastic, but a simple evangelical preacher and a truly great and good man.

After the address the assembly indulged in games until nearly 12 o'clock. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

NORWOOD PERSONALS.

NORWOOD, March 19.—Mr. St. Clare of Toronto, formerly employed in the local branch of the Stirling Bank, spent the week end in the village.

Mr. F. K. Kempt was in Toronto on Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Joseph Oakley is visiting friends in Peterboro.

Mrs. Kelly of Foxboro spent Sunday with her father, Mr. S. Ashley.

Miss Charlotte Beamish, nurse in training in the Smith's Falls hospital is with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Beamish, Peterboro street.

Rev. T. M. Wesley was in Newmarket during the week attending the golden wedding of his parents.

Mrs. Harris of Belleville spent the week end at the home of her sister, Mrs. Joseph Dickens.

Mr. Wm. Knox of Peterboro was in the village during the week on business.

Mr. John Starke is in Belleville attending the Orange Grand Lodge being held there.

MARMORA NEWS.

MARMORA, March 19.—At the last monthly meeting of Deloro Women's Institue, Mrs. Robert Scott was elected president in succession to Mrs. Claud Hayes, who is moving, with her husband and family, to Belleville at the end of the month.

An appropriate programme was put on at the Young People's League on Wednesday evening by the Citizenship Department. Irish songs were pleasingly rendered by the Misses Sarah and Rose Hart. Miss Bernice Bonter gave a reading "St. Patrick was an Irishman." Miss Laura Nayler also gave a reading on the Shamrock.

The chief St. Patrick's Day attraction in town proves to be the special picture show in the [illegible] Hall when a goodly crowd turned out to witness "Sally."

Owing to the illness of the Rector's little son, there was no Lenten service at St. Paul's on Wednesday evening.

Mr. Joe Dale has purchased the property of Mr. James Bowen, the present occupier being Dr. D. Thomson. Mr. Dale contemplates the erection of a service station upon it in the near future.

BAILIEBORO PERSONALS.

BAILIEBORO, March 16.—Mr. William Lucus, M.P., of Alberta, was a guest at the home of his father last week.

James Johnston has been under the doctor's care for the past week.

On Sunday afternoon Rev. W. H. Foley preached a sermon to the children of the United church. There was a good crowd of both old and young present, and they enjoyed an excellent service. The pastor chose his text from the 23rd Psalm "My cup runneth over", and the sermon was taken in the form of an object lesson, the object being the cup representing the cup of life, and what the life contains to make it a measure of success. For life represents a cup to be filled and not a measure to be drained.

An interesting event of the service was a vocal duet by Erma Jewison and Margaret Falls.

Miss Dorothy Falls entertained a number of her friends at a dance at her home on Friday evening. About thirty of the young people spent a very enjoyable evening in music and dancing. Among those present were: Misses E. Lang, R. Dawson, K. and M. Barnard, M. White, C. and M. Seens N. Staples, I. and V. Dawson, I. Davidson, L. Henry, J. Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Morrison, Messrs. G. Tabscot, H. Barnard, K. Lang, S. Johnston, M. Wood, K. and J. Barnard, V. Jewison, G. Harper, A. Dawson, C. and R. Barnard, E. White, C. Balentine.

RESENTS CHARGES BY HON. MR. STEVENS

R. P. Clerk, Customs Inspector, Avows Honesty.

OTTAWA, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Hon. H. H. Stevens was challenged to repeat certain of his charges outside the House of Commons where they could be met in court, in the Customs Committee on Thursday. R. P. Clerk, inspector of Customs and Excise for the port of Montreal, told the committee at the conclusion of his evidence that he resented the charges.

"I am accused in the House of Commons of keeping stolen goods in the Customs Department, of being a thief, and of being an incompetent officer. It was said that I was only a tool in the hands of politicians. I resent this. My family resent this. My wife has been under serious treatment for nervous depression since these charges were made. No man has the right to throw such dirt in the face of a hard working, honest man. As for me, I care more for my honor and dignity than for the small position of inspector of Customs, and I only ask that Mr. Stevens make his charges outside the House of Commons," declared Mr. Clerk.

He said that he had never appeared before a committee before, nor had he ever appeared in court, and it was a very delicate matter, which he stated with considerable hesitation. He belonged, he said, to an old Scottish and French-Canadian family, and his relatives were extremely sensitive to the charges made against his character.

Mr. Stevens made no statement in reply, except to request that Mr. Clerk be not discharged now, but be recalled before the committee at a later date.

NICKAWA TELLS OF MISSION WORK

Preaches Sermonette on Home Missions During Campbellford Concert.

CAMPBELLFORD, March 18.—Miss Frances Nickawa, who is a member of the Cree tribe of Indians and proud of her origin, at the entertainment in St. John's Church Wednesday night, distinguished herself as the possessor of all-round gifts—as a reciter, vocalist, patriot, preacher and dramatic artist. She is a thorough mistress of the art of elocution, she possesses the pride of race for which the aborigines of America are noted, and although she has been the idol of cultured civilization for years, has never for a moment ceased to remember her native friends who are watching her career from their reservation in the far north. Incidentally she preached one of the most convincing sermonettes on home missions ever heard in a church here, and gave the ladies in her audience quietly and gently to understand that they have not yet learned to array themselves as have those of her own race.

"I am just as good an Indian as I ever was," she said at one stage of the programme. "I can never change to be anything different from what the Creator designed me to be. I am what you call civilized, but I have found that there are shams in civilization, so many people are living for what others say of them. Out in the woods a man becomes a man and a woman becomes a woman."

Miss Nickawa appreciates what the home missionary has done for her people, and modestly cites herself as an illustration. She regrets that there are still some among the civilized race who do not believe in that branch of church work, adding that she would not be what she was, standing before a cultured audience, if it was not for what the missionary had taught her to become.

The missionary was not the first white man to work among the Indians. The individual who was looking for the almighty dollar was ahead of the bearer of the Gospel message. The former debauched the red man with fire water and brought grief to the women and children. This pioneer bootlegger made the way harder for the missionary, as it was hard for the Indian to believe after his experience with the other, than the preacher really meant to do him good rather than harm.

The Art of Dressing

When Miss Nickawa arrayed herself in picturesque native costume, she explained how the different material and ornaments were made, and spoke of the skill that was required in the work. Among the white people she noticed that the ladies as a rule were dressed in garments of dark and darker shade. She believes that Indian women understand better the art of making themselves attractive, as they can weave into their garments all the colors that are found in the woods. She was instructive as well as entertaining, and those who heard her last night must have carried away with them a clearer idea of the mode of life of the Indian, his habits and disposition, and will think the better of him for what they heard.

The Programme.

The programme given by Miss Nickawa was certainly a rare treat for the people of Campbellford and no entertainer could in reason ask for a more appreciative audience. It was varied sufficiently to please all tastes, and to afford wide scope for the display of the talents of the artist. Her first number was a story of children in the days of the Scottish Covenanters, when a squad of the Royal soldiers came across a number of the offspring of the persecuted Presbyterians hiding in the heather. When a little girl started to sing, "The Lord is My Shepherd,' one of the first of the Psalms that Scottish children ever learn, she won the hearts of the rough troopers who, years before, had learned the same sacred song which their mothers had taught them as a prayer. Miss Nickawa's singing of a stanza of this melody was as touching as the story which she recited so pathetically.

There was humor, pathos and philosophy in the programme and the bright personality of the entertainer lent a special charm to every number. There was dramatic art in its highest form in every line recited. There was a German story a recital of the world-old story of a pair of lovers making up after a quarrel; a recitation dealing with a schoolboy's first attempt to recite, and a rendition of the late Pauline Johnston's poetic tribute to Canada. One of the best selection of the evening was Longfellow's poem, "Hiawatha's Wooing," which would have been realistic if given in pantomime; the artist, with graceful gestures, making each line as graphic as if what it was meant to tell had been flashed as a picture on the screen. There were descriptions of the various phases of life among the Indians, of the strife of warriors, and of a mother putting her first born to sleep with tender lullaby, her only cradle being the limb of a tree swayed by the breeze.

Rev. Wesley Elliott, pastor of the church, presided, and the programme contained the names of a number of local musicians. Misses Cherrie Turner and Irene Stephens gave a piano duet and the former also played the accompaniments for the solos rendered by Miss Nickawa. There were solos by Miss Helen Wood and G. W. Lucy, both of whom are favorites with the music lovers of Campbellford. At the close of the entertainment, Miss Nickawa called to the platform those who had assisted and these led in the singing of the National Anthem; Mrs. C. W. Turner playing the accompaniment.

The proceeds of the entertainment amounted to $110.40.

CAVAN NEWS

CAVAN, March 19.—Mrs. Richard Matchett was again called to Bethany this week on account of the serious illness and death of her husband's aunt, Miss Sarah Matchett.

Eighty-six years ago Miss Matchett was born on the Eighth line, Cavan, and for many years was a resident there. Her father was one of the pioneers of Cavan. The farm is now owned by her nephew, Richard Matchett.

Personals.

Mr. L. Hutchison went to Lindsay on Saturday and attended the funeral of his cousin, Miss P. Hutchison, a member of the nursing staff of the Ross Hospital, Lindsay, on Sunday.

Miss Norma Staples is visiting friends in South Monaghan.

Miss Tena Armstrong, R.N., is home nursing her mother, Mrs. J. G. Armstrong, who has been seriously ill. Miss Armstrong was on a case in Rosneath when called home.

Mrs. Wm. McKnight held a successful sale of farm implements and stock on Tuesday.

Mr. John Stark was quite ill last week. Dr. Hamilton was in attendance. Mr. Wm. Stark has also been confined to the house with a heavy cold.

A number of the Cavan young oepple attended the social evening on Friday in Bethany under the auspices of the Junior Farmers' Association. The Byam Orchestra from Millbrook supplied music for dancing.

A very pleasant evening was spent in Cavan Community Hall last Thursday evening where the Hall Committee gave a dance. The Fisher-Moncrief Orchestra supplied the music.

Mrs. Leonard Smith has been seriously ill. Her sister, Mrs. Charles McNeil, Janetville, has been with her.

Miss May McGill and Mrs. Foster, Bethany, were guests of Miss Kelly last week.

Sawing bees are quite common in rural communities just now. Many are still making use of the sleighing and drawing logs to the mill.

A Peterboro buyer was buying potatoes in Cavan Centre last week at $2.75 a bag, and taking them in to town himself.

Mr. Fred Matchett went to Peterboro on Saturday to visit friends there, and also intending to go to Lindsay to visit his aunt, Mrs. Rachael Staples, who is in the hospital there.

GETTING SKINNIER EVERY DAY

Something Must Be Done and Done Right Now—Quick.

Hollows in Cheeks and Neck Growing Deeper Every Week.

Tens of thousands of thin, run-down men—yes, and women too—are getting discouraged — are giving up all hope of ever being able to take on flesh and look healthy and strong.

All such people can stop worrying and start to smile and enjoy life right now for McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets which any druggist will tell you all about are putting flesh on hosts of skinny folks every day.

One woman, tired, weak and discouraged, gained 15 pounds in five weeks and now feels fine.

We all know that the livers of Cod Fish are full of vitalizing flesh producing vitamines and these same vitamines of the highest class are found in McCoy's Cod Liver Extract Tablets—sugar coated and as easy to take as candy.

And this shows what faith the makers have in McCoy's for they say; if any thin person don't gain at least 5 pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to give you your money back— and only 60 cents for 60 tablets. Ask the McDermid & Jury, Jas. Lynch, Bond's Drug Store, or any druggist anywhere in North or South America.

But be sure to get McCoy's, the original and genuine.

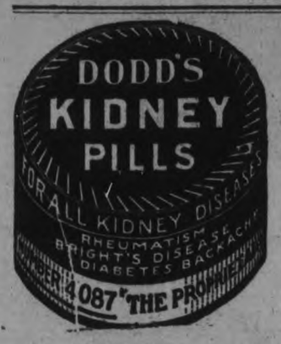
The Young People of Mount Olive United Church are preparing to present a play in Codrington Orange Hall in the near future.



CATTLE, GRAIN AND PRODUCE

Peterboro—Toronto—Montreal Winnipeg

TORONTO LIVESTOCK.

TORONTO, March 18—The bulk of this morning's fresh cattle were good to choice butchers, and were taken by two packing firms at steady to a little firmer prices. Choice medium weight steers were $8 and heifers $7.25 to $7.60 a cwt. A bunch of 12 poorly finished steers sold at $6.65 a cwt. A number of baby beeves from Alberta were sold to Gunns at $7.75 a cwt. The few butchers' cows on offer were bought at steady prices by one firm. The market was cleaned up of the fresh cattle the first hour.

A couple of dozen calves were all that arrived today, and no change in prices was noted. Top calves were 12½ to 13 cents a pound.

One small package of not quite good lambs sold at 16 1-2 cents and a good butchers' sheep sold at 8 cents a pound.

Hogs are quoted at $12.50 a cwt. f.o.b. today, but for Saturday's loading the packers are sending out a bid of $12.25 a cwt.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, March 18 (Canadian Press).—Foreign demand on a big scale gave a notable hoist to wheat prices today. Export sales of North American wheat were said to have reached the largest total in months, some estimates putting today's amount at as much as 4,000,000 bushels. The wheat market closed strong at 2 1-4 to 3 5-8c net gain, May (new) $1.66 1-4 to $1.66 3-8 and July $1.43 5-8 to $1.43 3-4. Corn finished 3-8 to 5-8c lower; oats showing 1-8 to 3-8c advance, and provisions varying from 17 cents decline to a rise of 5 cents.

MONTREAL GRAIN AND PRODUCE

MONTREAL, March 18 (Canadian Press). — Owing to the continued strength in the premium for cash oats in the Winnipeg market, local spot prices for some grades were again advanced 1c to 2c per bushel, with No. 2 Canadian Western quoted at 64c; No. 3 C.W. at 59, extra No. 1 feed at 59c, No. 1 feed at 57c, No. 2 feed at 54c, while prices for Ontario and Quebec grades were unchanged. The only business of importance transacted here was a sale of 10,000 bushels of Manitoba No. 4 wheat track Fort William for all rail shipment, and a few cars of oats.

The export trade in spring wheat flour showed improvement, there being a better demand from foreign buyers for supplies.

The egg market was steady with sales of fresh extras at 40c to 41c, firsts at 34c to 35c, and seconds at 30c to 31c per dozen. Receipts today were 1,248 cases.

Decided strength developed in the market for potatoes and prices scored another advance of 25c to 30c per bag, which was attributed to the steady increasing demand for supplies and the very limited quantities available on spot, with the result that quite an active trade was done for shipment from the country, and sales of car lots of Prince Edward Island Green Mountains were made at 3.30, and Quebec varieties at 3.10 to 3.20 per bag of 90 pounds ex-track.

A very firm feeling prevailed in the market for butter at the late advance in prices, but business was somewhat quieter. Prices were fully maintained at the same level as reported on Wednesday. Receipts today were 1,385 packages.

The condition of the cheese market was unchanged. Receipts were 98 boxes.

Demand for sugar continues steady and a fair amount of business was done at unchanged prices. Sales of extra granulated were made at $6.20 per 100 lbs. in bags, No. 1 yellow at $4.80, extra ground at $6.40, powdered at $6.30 per 10 lbs. in barrels, and Paris cut loaf at $6.80 per 100 lbs in barrels.

WINNIPEG GRAIN

WINNIPEG, March 18 (Canadian Press).—A wave of excellent buying by exporters with the trade estimated at 4 000,000 bushels, and the United Kingdom and Continent, taking supplies of Manitobas, sent wheat prices to new high levels here today, and resulted in a strong and active market.

At the close May was quoted at $1.52 3-4, a gain of 4 1-8c. July at $1.50 7-8, up 3 3-4, and October at $1.34 3-4, an advance of 2 1-4 cents. The high mark for the day was reached when May touched $1.53.

MANY TEACHERS IN INSPECTORATE

Col. Snider Reports on His Division of United Counties.

COBOURG, March 18. — Special. Col. E. E. Snider, Inspector f Public School Inspectorate No. 1, Northumberland and Durham, in an interesting report that shows the educational activities to be in good condition in the domain over which he presides, outlines the following:

Ninety-eight teachers are employed and twenty-one of these are male teachers; 11 hold first class certificates, this being an increase of four over 1924; the remaining 87 are all equipped with second class certificates.

The salary paid in rural schools is $9 less than it was in 1924, the average being $1022.

The average salary paid in urban schools during 1925 was $1034, an increase of $14 over the previous year.

Fewer Changes of Teachers.

It is a matter for congratulation that there were fewer changes of teachers than there were in 1924. There were 20 changs in 1925, and 26 changs in 1924. Four of these changes occurred through teachers being offered increased salaries and 15 because of a desire for change of environment.

It is estimated in the matter of attendance that the aggregate in urban schools was 96 out of 100 while in rural schools it was only 88, or in other words there were 11 children out of every 100 in the rural sections who received no school education in that year.

There is noted however a decided gain in attendance since the enactment of the School Attendance and Adolescent Act.

School Fairs.

Eight school fairs were held and the increased attendance at these and interest shown by the parents was very gratifying. One feature of these is that chorus singing, introduced three years ago, has become so popular that in some schools a teacher has been engaged to give special instruction in music.

There is progress also generally in the study of Agriculture in schools and this is felt to be a step in the right direction.

He lives who dies to win a lasting name.—Frummond.

L.O.L. BASKET SOCIAL

Good Attendance at Bethel in Spite of Bad Roads.

EAST EMILY, March 19.—The members of the Bethel Orange Lodge No. 294 held their basket social in the lodge room on Monday night, March 15.

Despite the bad roads a large number of people attended the social.

Rev. Mr. Rowland acted as chairman and the programme was as follows:

Chairman's address.
Chorus—A number of boys.
Solo—Eleanor Sherin.
Solo—Hubert Lowes.
Reading—Pearl Reid.
Musical selection—Harrison brothers.
Recitation—Moses Ruth.
Solo—Mr. Rowland.
Instrumental—Mrs. Rowland.
Solo—Eleanor Sherin.
Duet—Harrison brothers.
Solo—Hubert Lowes.
Solo—Harry Jackson.

This brought the programme to a close after which a large number of baskets were sold by Wm. Howden as auctioneer. Mr. Howden got the highest piece which could be had. The proceeds of the evening amounted to about $45.

Take care of the pence, and the pounds will take care of themselves. —Lowndes.

She Coughed Night and Day Until She Used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup

Mrs. S. E. Little, 103 Inkerman St., London, Ont., writes:—"I got a very severe cold which settled in my bronchial tubes.

I coughed night and day, and although I tried several different remedies I could get no relief until a friend advised me to take Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. This I did, and I must say that it gave me almost immediate relief as I got rid of my cough very quickly. I hope this testimonial will be the means of helping others."

"Dr. Wood's" is put up only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

KINGSTON RATE TO BE 33 MILLLS

Mayor Keeps Election Promise to Reduce Rate Every Year.

FOURTH REDUCTION

KINGSTON, March 19.—(Special to the Examiner).—Kingston's tax rate will be struck by the City Council on Monday evening next, and it is believed that it will be 33 mills as a general rate, with the garbage tax at one-half a mill. This is Mayor Angrove's fourth term as chief magistrate, and every year he has kept his promise to reduce the rate. He has had it reduced one mill every year he has been in the mayor's chair.

GROUP SOCIAL HELD NORWOOD SOCIETY

Evening Was Spent in Games —Ladies' Aid Officers.

NORWOOD, March 19.—The second of a series of "Group Socials" was held in the Forester's Hall on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the W.M.S. and Y.W.A. (former Presbyterian group) of the United church. The hostesses were: Mesdames W. H. Cuthbertson and H. Robb and Misses Ruth Harper and Florence Burgess.

The evening was spent in games, and an exceedingly good time was enjoyed by about sixty invited guests.

"The Social Secretary", moving picture featuring Norma Talmadge, was presented in the Town Hall, on Wednesday evening March 17, under the auspices of the Woman's Institute.

The annual meeting and election of officers for the Ladies' Aid Society" of the United church was held in the ladies parlor of the church on Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. B. W. Squire, the president, presided. After devotional exercises Mrs. J. Humphries gave a short and concise account of the year's work. The officers for the coming year were then elected, with the following result:

President, Mrs. B. W. Squire; vice-president, Mrs. Spence; secretary, Mrs. (Rev.) Stillman; treasurer, Mrs. Thos. Buck; conveners for districts were: no. 1, Mrs. Andrew Knox; no. 2, Mrs. Wm. McMillan; no. 3, Mrs. David Nixon; no. 4, Mrs. John Burgess; no. 5, Mrs. John Stark; no. 6, Mrs. Robert McMillan; no. 7, Mrs. Robert Leeper; no. 8, Mrs. Robert Sedgwick; no. 9, Mrs. Bert Scott; No. 10, Mrs. G. A. Brethen; no. 11, Mrs. H. Robb; no. 12, Mrs. Liscumbe; no. 13, Mrs. Fred Fry; no. 14, Mrs. Ellsworth Hogg; no. 15, Mrs. W. T. Carbrey; no. 16, Ms. Oliver Buck; no. 17, Mrs. C. Murphy.

After some discussion it was decided to dispense with the fee which had formerly been charged, and that every woman in the congregation was to be a member of the society.

FARM AUCTION SALE

Good Prices Realized for Pierie Lowes' Farm Goods.

EAST EMILY, March 19.—Pierie Lowes held an auction sale of farm stock and implements at his farm on Thursday, March 11.

There was a large number of men present.

The horses went as high as $170, cows up to $80, pigs up to $98 a piece.

Mr. William Howden was auctioneer and got the highest price which could be got for all that was sold.

Mr. Lowes has not decided what he is going to do in the future.

SUNDAY SCHOOL OFFICERS ELECTED

Annual Meeting Held at Bailieboro United Sunday School.

BAILIEBORO, March 19.—The United Sunday school held its annual Sunday school meeting on Monday evening, and about fifty of the officers and teachers and members of the adult bible classes were present.

Rev. W. H. Foley presided as chairman at the meeting, and the reports from the various superintendents of the different departments proved very satisfactory, especially the treasurer's report which showed a balance on hand of over two hundred and ten dollars.

The officers for the ensuing year were then appointed as follows:

Superintendent, Frank Dawson; associate superintendent, Fred Bernard; secretary, Will Lang; assistant secretary, Charles Barnard; organist, Miss Kathleen Bateman; assistant organist, Mrs. Frank Dawson; librarian, George Fletcher, assisted by Will Lang; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. Charles Dawson; temperance superintendent, Mrs. George Fletcher; missionary superintendent, Mrs. Percy Barnard. The teachers for the various classes were all re-appointed, and the treasurer, Mrs. Thomas Skitch who was held the office as treasurer and teacher of the beginners class for the past thirty-eight years in the Bailieboro Sunday school was re-appointed to both her offices again.

The officers and teachers for the past year were: superintendent, Harry Dawson; assistant, John Porter; secretary, Frank Dawson; treasurer, Mrs. Skitch; organist, Miss Kathleen Barnard; assistant, Miss Kathleen Bateman; librarian, George Fletcher; cradle roll superintendent, Mrs. C. Dawson; missionary superintendent, Mrs. P. Barnard; temperance superintendent, Mrs. G. Fletcher; ladies' bible class teacher, John Porter; men's bible class teacher, Percy Barnard; teacher of intermediate' boys class, Miss B. Harmer; teacher of intermediate girls' class, Mrs. J. Jewison; teacher of primary class, Mrs. N. Thompson teacher of beginners' class, Mrs. T. Skitch.

SUFFERED FOR YEARS FROM CONSTIPATION

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brought relief in three weeks

That constipation need not strike fear upon your heart is proved by this letter from Mr. Thomas Henleiger:

"I wish to write and tell you how much I prize your Kellogg's ALL-BRAN. For twenty-five years I sought relief from constipation without success. But now I have been using your ALL-BRAN for three weeks and I can truthfully say that I am entirely cured and feel like a new man."

THOMAS HENLEIGER
(Address on request)

The Two-Piece Scores Again with New Versions

When, oh when, will that little frock stop running things? In less sophisticated days we fondly termed it the Jumper, but could you call an evening gown by such a nonchalant name? No wonder it's such a prime favorite, when it offers us so many charming new variations. For sports, its freedom of movement makes it perfect. In street, afternoon and evening models its youth makes it adorable. $15 up.

The Coat This Spring Modifies Its Flare

Did you ever hear of a godet falling from the back of the shoulders? Or of tiny folds placed just below the pockets? These are some of the clever ways Paris designers have of achieving the silhouette of the mode while still maintaining a conservative style, thus keeping our Coats from becoming too extreme. It's hard to imagine any more stunning fabrics being created, but along comes the Spring Coats, revealing several new triumphs. Priced from $28 up.

A Word to Smart Women "Wear the Cape"

Fashion says the Cape's the thing. Let her have her way and you'll be the smarter for it. And what is lovelier for spring than this lightsome, carefree mode? The circular cut makes it new and more stunning than ever. A tweed Cape will be jolly for daytime wear or for hikes into the country.

WOMEN'S PAGE

SOCIETY

The Ladies' Lawn Bowling Society held a very enjoyable card party on Wednesday evening in the Curling Club rooms, when about seventy-five people were present for an evening of bridge and euchre. Prizes for bridge were won by Miss Hazel Crowe and Mr. W. J. Ruyter, for euchre by Mrs. Groombridge and Mr. McDonald. Arrangements for bridge were in charge of Mrs. A. W. Clysdale, and Mrs. H. Niven looked after the euchre tables. The guests were received by the president, Mrs. J. Bacon, and Mrs. F. Miller. Decorations were carried out in the green and white novelties of the season. Arrangements for refreshments were looked after by Mrs. C. Perry and Mrs. H. Graham. During the evening a very enjoyable programme was given, with two solo dances, the "Charleston" and the "Merry Widow," by Miss May Perry, and a Charleston Revue, in which those taking part were the Misses Alma Stinchcombe, Dorothy Graham and Mathilda Dunlop. A reading was given by Miss Evelyn Miller; the various numbers on the programme eliciting much applause.

Set at 117,135,817 This Year By Census Bureau.

WASHINGTON, March 19—The population of the United States for 1926 is set at 117,135,817 by the census bureau.

This was the figure computed for July 1, the date the annual estimate is made, the commerce department announced tod

An increase of 1,757,723 is shown over last year and 11,425,197 more than the population in 1920 when the last census was taken.

At the present rate of progression the population of the nation will be 125,000,000 in 1930, when the next census is taken.

The state populations were determined by distributing the figures on the basis of previous increases.

HER OWN WAY

by A GIRL of TODAY

FOR THE SAKE OF APPEARANCES.

"A girl puts the idea of marrying out of her mind because she's sure that some day a man'll come along and take her right off her feet and she'll fall for him so hard that all she can do is to think of him and his love. That's the kind of love the girls to-day want, Jimmie, and they don't want to marry until they can find a man who is so darn interesting that he makes her think of nothing else but himself."

"And, haven't you ever seen anyone like that, Judy?"

"Never. Just now I want to work. I want to carve out some sort of a destiny for myself. I would have given anything in the world if Dad had let me take some kind of a course which would have fitted me for something."

"What kind of a career do you want, Judy?"

"I'm ashamed to say I don't know. I don't think I have any special talent and I know I haven't any special training. But I guess I have a modicum of common sense and I have a great desire to make something of myself in the business world. I want to be a free agent. I want to earn my money and live on it. I want to be able to spend it all in one day if need be and starve all the rest of the week and then go back and do it over again."

"Well, you know, my dear, you've lost your job and what are you going to do now?"

"Well, Mr. James Costello," I said rather demurely, "I think if you don't mind, I'll eat the first thing."

"Good Lord, Judy, we've been walking miles. I've been so interested in what you've been saying that you must think I don't even know the decencies of life. I know you must be very hungry with all the trouble I've been making for you. Here. Let's go in here."

"Here" was a brilliantly lighted restaurant which I had learned was one of the most exclusive in the city. I knew that my black coat and little hat would pass unnoticed, but when I turned and looked at Jimmie, I burst out laughing.

He was a mess. Some of the other man's blood had also hit his shirt front and he was showing a most beautiful black eye.

To-morrow: Man Meets Maid.

GRANNY

She was settin' by the fireside, and her gaze seemed far away. It didn't quite surprise me 'cause I'd seen her oft that way. I just kinda sat and watched her, but she didn't know I knew that the thoughts that she was havin' sorta turned her feelin' blue.

Little tots, with cheery voices played around about her heels, an' the thought that quickly struck me was, I know just how she feels. Peace of mind and restful quiet, through the boist'rousness were marred. I could almost understand how youthful laughter hit her hard.

Was the day when she was seein' just the brighter side of things, but when once they've traveled through it people know what old age brings. Now a mind was trailin' backwards. How an aching mem'ry plays on a person's longings for the faded youthful days.

There were really shades of sorrow in her wrinkled, worn-out eyes. She could see the near tomorrow that would sever all the ties. Kinda tough to really know that there's no aid that you can lend, an' ya can't stop granny dreamin' when she's driftin' to the end.

SIMILARITY IN NEW DAY AND EVENING MODES

At the Left Is Shown an Evening Gown of Silver Brocade and Finely Pleated Silver Lace. At the Right a Frock of Gray Flat Crepe.

Both Are Exploiting Pleats and Saw Tooth Inserts This Spring.

By Annette Bradshaw.

Smart women who find a becoming frock invariably make the best of it. Formerly, they ordered a simple day frock in various colors.

The new way is shown above. The idea is that if you find a most becoming day mode, you may as well use it for a modish evening gown as well.

Here the becoming frock for daytime was one of fine pleats, with a flattering, double-pointed inset through the lowered waistline. The color of this one is soft gray. The pleated skirt is offset by fine horizontal pleatings set into the blouse portion. The inset is bordered at either side by wide gray silk fagotting.

For evening, the same ideas are used. The bodice of the frock is brocaded silver cloth. The inset is of plain silver cloth, bordered on each side by fine cordings of the silver. For the skirt, we have finely pleated silver lace set over plain silver cloth. The model exploits the low V neckline in front and back.

The same idea may be used the other way around. For instance, if you have a very becoming evening gown, you may copy the idea for your day frocks by changing a few details and adding long or short sleeves. Long sleeves are still predominating, but many of the simple jumper frocks are being shown with short sleeves, while others have no sleeves at all.

MY SAY-SO!

No lady worthy of that gentle title stoops so low as to wear any gown more than thrice, and the thrice time is almost hoi polloi. This from a society ruler of Palm Beach.

Jelly beans and kippered herrings! And so's your Uncle Jake!

Someone is exercised about the discovery that there are beauty parlors for dogs—luxurious emporiums of brocaded draperies and cream enamel, where a Fido or Imogene or Rover may have a massage, pedicure, facial, marcel or round cure, to say nothing of perfume on the ear lobes and a permanent wave for straight hair breeds!

Well, the girls must have something these days with which to amuse themselves, since a grasping, competitive, commercial world has taken all their real jobs from them.!

LIKE THIS?

"What makes a home?
A man, a woman, and a child;
Their love
Warm as the gold hearthfire
Along the floor;
A table, and a lamp for light,
And smooth white beds at night:
Only the old, sweet fundamental things."—

ODD DISHES

"Won't you please suggest some odd dishes for the Sunday night light supper?" writes a western woman to me. "We are so tired of chicken salad or creamed tuna fish and peas on toast."

Have you thought of these gastronomic confections? Jellied pressed veal or pork or chicken; deviled or Spanish eggs; tomato jelly salad; spaghetti with Italian cheese.

PRETTY HOMES

Ever since, and before, the First Lady of the Land "went in", for early American furniture in the august White House, "antiques" of this vintage have flourished abroad in the land. The craze has almost become "common." Art critics characterize the lines of early American furniture as beautiful. But fashion turns thumbsdown on anything which becomes too common. It will be interesting to see how long it will be before early American furniture receives a mark-down, albeit it is pronounced good to look at!

CYNICISM

We quote from "The Cynic's Cylcopaedia:

"Wife—what a man with no cares in the world invests in so as to give himself something to worry about."

"Husband—a polygamous animal in a monagamous strait-jacket."

But how many escape the jacket! The comment is our own to the last definition.

NEW THOUGHT

"If I ever have a daughter I will bring her up to be a parasite! At least I positively will NOT bring her up to be an independent woman." So writes Marian Spitzer in "Pictorial Review," telling exactly why and why not in a most logical and convincing manner!

KITCHENS

They're now making complete kitchens to stand in a modest manner in the corner of the apartment living room and which, mealtime o'er, shut up into chests of drawers, highboys, chiffoniers, and the ilk.

FAIR MAIDS FOR PLAIN

Dandruff is no dinner table topic of conversation. "But," as Sairy Gamp said, "we can't shet our eyes to such things on coat collars, can we now?" Most dandruff comes because the scalp is too dry. Have your druggist mix this and rub it in nightly: white vaseline, 3 ozs.; castor oil, 3 1-2 ozs.; gallic acid, 3 drs.; oil of bergamot, 30 drops.

A Fashion Model's Diary

By Grace Thorncliffe

SHE DESCRIBES A DASHING EVENING FROCK.

"Black and silver has such amazing possibilities," Madame exclaimed.

She was standing by a table, on which was deposited a cloud of the loveliest and most unique material I have seen in some time.

Beside her was a lovely young client, slim, with blonde bobbed hair.

Madame gathered up the cloud of material, which was black chiffon interwoven with silver lace, and bid the fair client follow her into a fitting room.

"May I come, too?" I asked.

Madame answered, "Most assuredly," with a gracious smile, and I followed them, for I wanted to see the frock draped on the client.

Once in the little room the young girl removed her outer clothing and Madame proceeded to drape the material on her. She talked as she worked.

"You see, the material is really a pattern, for it is finished along one edge with a wavy border of silver lace set into the black. We will have this about the hem of the frock."

As she spoke she had been pinning the material at the girl's shoulders, and she now drew it down about her waist and began pinning it in close at the sides.

Next she began cutting with her scissors in a free and easy manner that would have terrified an onlooker who did not know Madame's skill as I do.

The client stood entranced while Madame cut out a smart neckline, which was rounded at the front and went into a deep V at the back.

She measured her length for a skirt that was to be short and slightly fulled, and announced that that would be all for the first fitting.

I called the fitter whose job it was to remove a garment that Madame has pinned up in this way, replacing any pins that have to be removed for the dress to be taken off.

Dance Frock of Black Chiffon Interwoven with Silver Lace and Velvet Sash.

The client could hardly wait to come back. Madame also measured her for a sweeping black velvet sash and ordered a black ostrich fan to go with the costume.

hygienic problem now solved. A new and different way

THE old-time "sanitary pad" is fast becoming a rarity. Millions are discarding it as a needless hazard. "KOTEX", a new and remarkable way, is now used by 8 in 10 better class women.

It's five times as absorbent as ordinary cotton pads!

You dine, dance, motor for hours in sheerest frocks without a second's doubt or fear.

It deodorizes, too. And thus stops ALL danger of offending.

Discards as easily as a piece of tissue. No laundry. No embarrassment.

You ask for it at any drug or department store, without hesitancy, simply by saying "KOTEX."

Do as millions are doing. End old, insecure ways. Enjoy life every day. Package of twelve costs only a few cents.

HOME-MAKING HELPS

CLOSETS AND THE CARPENTER.

Closets and more closets is the cry of nearly every woman. Women architects are coming into their own by putting them into their blue prints just where they belong.

The neighborhood carpenter and the paint pot are fast becoming first aids to the resourceful woman who plans built-in, or movable, closets to make up for the architect's neglect when making his plans. Many charming plans are made in this way, some are well worth passing on to those in present need or who are to be among the Spring builders.

One woman took the idea of an old sideboard of the William and Mary period on which to build a linen closet. Mounted on six legs, twenty-five inches tall, was a closet six feet long by two feet wide and two and a half feet tall. Two doors opened in the front to disclose three shelves on each side. The shelves ran in grooves and had a handle underneath each of the upper shelves so that they might be drawn forward to stack the linen evenly. Strong catches and locks secured the doors and a runner across the top made a fine place to set a linen mending box and a basket. After the fine carpenter work was done the wood was properly filled, primed, painted, decorated and varnished.

The plaything chest for the nursery is a home-made affair that may be made in dimensions that just fill a certain nook or niche in the wall where it can stand when not in use. The chest should be raised on castors from the floor and have a cover rest rod, so that it does not fall and smash wee fingers when least expected. The cover may be lightly upholstered so it may serve as a seat when against the wall.

The porch closet to hold games is a wonderful comfort and there is always a place where it may be put that does not interfere with the placing of porch furniture. The wire-covered home-made safe closet is another convenience that may be built by the carpenter to fit into a special corner of the pantry devoted to its use.

The Island of Bali, off the coast of Java, is declared to be a woman's paradise. Here woman is indeed monarch of all she surveys. It is she who buys and sells, she who carries offerings to the temples, and she who regulates the entire household.

THE SECRETS OF CHARM

By Lucrezia Bori.

Long flights of steps are usually looked upon by women as things quite uninteresting, if not downright hardships.

Yet if we realize what beauty advantages may be gained from ascending these steps in the proper way we might reconstruct our views on them. It is quite wrong to allow the ascending of steps to be a drain upon your energy, and if you learn to take them in the proper way you may turn what would be a bore into a distinct beauty advantage.

It is most often the city dweller who is confronted by two, three, four and sometimes five flights of steps. For walk-up apartments often necessitate climbing so high. On the other hand, the woman who lives in less compact spaces or who has a large house to move about in often ascends and descends the steps countless times during a busy day.

Do you hang to the banisters for support and go up the steps with bent head and drooping shoulders, pulling yourself along as best you can by your hand?

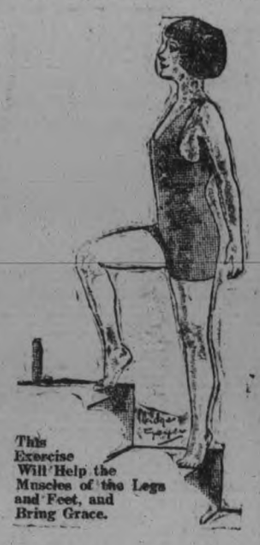
If you do, you must learn immediately the proper way to climb steps. They will tire you less this way, and, besides, they can be of benefit to your chest development, and especially to your legs and ankles.

When you begin to mount the steps remember to let your arms fall loosely at your sides. I have found, truly, that steps seem far less wearisome when we do not clutch the railing for support.

Next, remember to hold yourself erect, your chest out, your shoulders back and your chin well in. When you lean forward, lean in a slanting line from your waist. Never let your head protrude in front and your body follow after.

Now, step up, rising on the ball of your foot as you step and pulling your heel high up from the ground.

You will find it an excellent exercise, as well as being far more graceful and far less tiring than the wrong way.



This Exercise Will Help the Muscles of the Legs and Feet, and Bring Grace.

This Exercise Will Help the Muscles of the Legs and Feet, and Bring Grace.

If you need to rest, stop and rest. Remember that you impart beauty to your legs and ankles by going about this in the proper way.

Menus for the Family

(By Sister Mary.)

Breakfast—Stewed dried peaches, cereal, thin cream, French toast, syrup, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Eggs in potato cases, raisin brown bread and butter sandwiches, scalloped bananas and apples, milk, tea.

Dinner—Lamb stew with vegetables, creamed celery, stuffed prune salad, graham bread, crisp nut cookies, milk, coffee.

No dessert is planned for dinner since the salad is more or less of a combination dessert and salad. Canned fruit can be served with the cookies if wanted, but is not necessary as the meal is well balanced.

Scalloped Bananas and Apples.

Four tart apples, 3 bananas, 1 lemon, 3-4 cup sugar, 2 tablespoons butter, 1-2 cup boiling water, 1 cup bread crumbs from soft part of load.

Pare, quarter and core apples. Cut in thin slices and sprinkle with lemon juice. Put a thin layer of crumbs into a well buttered baking dish. Add a layer of apples, cover with a layer of bananas cut in thin slices. Sprinkle with sugar and dot with bits of butter. Add another layer of crumbs, fruit and seasonings and continue layer for layer until all is used. The last layer should be of crumbs. Pour over boiling water, cover dish and bake thirty minutes in a hot oven. Remove cover and bake ten minutes longer to crisp the crumbs on top. Serve warm with cream.

Among the 130 successful candidates in the final examination of the British Society of Incorporated Accountants recently, there were four women, one of whom passed with the highest mark in the whole list.

YOUR HEALTH

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M.D.,
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

There are a good many kinds of sore throat. This is because the throat is made up of several kinds of tissue.

Muscle, tonsils, mucous membrane and mucous glands are some of these structures. A disturbance of any one of these may produce a sore throat.

On the back wall of the throat you may be able to see two or three red spots. With a mirror and a good light these may be found. They look like red pimples.

These red spots in the throat are called "inflamed follicles." In the mucous membrane are these tiny glands, which like all the glands, are liable to infection and inflammation.

It is surprising how very painful even a single one of these inflamed follicles may be. Every time you swallow the wrinkled tissues or the muscles of the throat may pinch this sore spot and give a twinge of really hard pain.

This particular form of throat involvement is sometimes called "preacher's sore throat." It is so named because excessive use of the throat in speaking or singing may be followed by inflammation of one or more follicles.

There is another form of inflammation of the tissues in the back of the throat. In this trouble there is a raw and scraped feeling, as if the lining membrane had been stripped off and salt rubbed into the sore spot.

This ailment is called "acute pharyngitis." It never appears unless there has been abuse of the body. Late hours, loss of sleep, excessive smoking, bad air and some intestinal disturbance, accompanied by constipation, are among the causes which lower the resistance and prepare the way for this infection.

Infected teeth or infected nasal sinuses may release germs which float about in the system till they find a resting place. The muscles of the throat may be selected. Then we have a peculiar soreness, worse on swallowing, which we call "rheumatic sore throat."

Perhaps the most common of all sore throat is tonsilitis. Of this disease there are several varieties, depending upon the part of the tonsil attacked.

It may be superficial infection, involving the crypts or pockets of the tonsil. Then it is called "follicular tonsilitis."

Or it may attack the deeper tissues of the tonsils, producing an abscess. Then we have "quinsy," a serious trouble, which is unrelieved until the pus is discharged.

ANSWERS TO HEALTH QUERIES

MR. F. J. D. Q.—About five years ago my ears began itching and discharging, sometimes swelling until they were almost closed. They now break out on the outside. What would you advise?

A.—Discharging ears should have the attention of a doctor who will advise whatever treatment is necessary. Such a condition requires medical attention and treatment.

B. K. Q—A friend of mine has been afflicted for over seven years with flatulence and gases in the system. What would you advise?

A.—Proper attention to the diet and regular intestinal elimination should help your friend to a great extent. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

E. H. B. Q.—What will relieve symptoms of diabetes? I have an intense itching all over the body resulting in the skin becoming very red and causing great heat in the lower limbs and feet?

A.—The itching you mention may be due to some intestinal disorder. Have your doctor examine you and in this way definite treatment can be advised.

A Reader of your column. Q.—What would you advise for an extremely nervous condition and melancholia in a young married woman.

A.—First of all build up your general health. A healthy person is not usually afflicted with neurasthenia and melancholia. A change of scene and different environment is often most beneficial in such a case. For further particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

MRS. J. H. K. Q.—What is a suitable diet for a patient suffering from ulcer of the stomach? What is meant by soft food? He was advised to take only milk and soups and seemed to improve.

A.—The patient should be guided by his doctor's judgment since each case demands specific treatment and diet. Soups, broths, cereals, custards, eggs, etc., are all soft foods.

W. J. W. Q.—Are hot towels any good for pimples and blackheads. Please advise me what treatment is best?

A.—Hot towels are helpful. A restricted diet in regard to sweets and starches and regular intestinal eliminations usually brings about results. For further particulars send a self-addressed stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

Z. Y. X. Q.—My lips become dry very quickly. What do you advise for this.

A.—This condition may be due to hyperacidity; careful diet and avoidance of constipation should help you. Send self-addressed, stamped envelope for full particulars and repeat your question.

E. H. B. Q.—What will relieve hives which have lasted over a period of three months? The itching is unbearable?

A.—Food poisoning, nervousness, constipation or some kidney condition may be responsible. Correct your diet and be sure that the intestinal tract is kept clear. For full particulars send a self-addressed, stamped envelope and repeat your question.

* * *

A READER. Q.—What would you advise for a general catarrhal condition including the digestive system, causing mucus in the excreta? My nostrils are always stopped up.

A.—It would be wise to place yourself under the care of your doctor and after he has determined the source of the trouble he will suggest treatment for your particular case.

SATURDAY, MARCH 20.

The lunar transits for this day promise interesting and prosperous developments, especially in the domain of social, domestic and romantic attachments. The financial condition is excellent under the Jupiter trine to Luna, and new projects are encouraged by the Neptune aspects. However, changes or radical decisions may be hazardous and should be undertaken with a great deal of caution.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a prosperous and happy year, with the financial outlook encouraging. It is a time for pushing affairs that are not entirely speculative in character, but changes and journeys should be made after mature deliberations. A child born on this day may be accomplished, artistic, ambitious and should rise to a respected place in life, although it may be restless and unsettled.

APRIL FOOL

Ya hear a lot of music when the thing is workin' right, but something seems to falter with your radio at night. Ya swing into a station when a raspy sound ya hear and ya monkey till ya have the bloomin' music comin' clear.

Ya tinker with the volume and ya turn the thing around to get the right position where results can best be found. A classy bit of music will, in action, reach the peak which seems to tell the speaker 'tis the proper time to squeak.

Ya hafta start all over when the static starts to buzz and ya find the pesky station's not the place you thought it was. Though ya move the little pointers to the same marks as before, the band ya just heard playin' isn't playin' any more.

At last ya swing it back again and get a fading trace of music that you'll swear to Pete's from some real far-off place. And therein lies the reason why so many folks are guyed. The station ya thought distant is the town where you reside.

WHERE A GLIMPSE OF A CROCODILE BETOKENS GOOD LUCK.

Along the Valley of the Nile, the crocodile is a sacred beast and is invested by his worshippers with many qualities which we do not find in him. Indeed, if one of us should chance to see a great crocodile, his mouth agape and his tremendous jaws looking eager to snap us up, we should be very much inclined to turn and run the other way.

But to see a crocodile is a sign of good luck to the mother of an infant. She will watch carefully at the banks of the Nile until she sees one of the beasts and then train the eyes of her baby upon him. She will sit there with her baby in her lap and hold his little head so that his eyes must fall upon the crocodile.

Happy, indeed, is the mother who finds that her child spies the crocodile first. For he will be followed by good luck in his coming life. He will be a favorite of the gods and success will be his portion in life.

There is some explanation of this superstition, in the fact that the crocodile is a most formidable enemy along the banks of the Nile. For he can accomplish a great deal of destruction with the swishing of his monstrous tail and the snapping of his great jaws. That is, perhaps, the original cause for the worship of the crocodile. The people worshipped in fear, hoping to placate him and keep him in good humor.

And it was the man who could spot a crocodile most quickly and so avoid him most effectively who was the fortunate man. Therefore, the child who could, from earliest infancy, see the crocodile quickly gave promise of successfully avoiding his dangers in the future.

And around this nucleus, grew up the belief that the sight of the crocodile was a message of great good fortune. To look at the hideous face of one of them was a cure for illness. And the more crocodiles one glimpsed, the more fortunate was one to be.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS

by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

NUMBER FIFTEEN—MUFTY MUSQUSH.

"So you want to be all colors, instead of just plain brown, do you?" said Mister Rubadub to little Marky Muskrat, who had come to get spring-cleaned.

"Yes, sir!" said Marky eagerly. "I certainly do. I'm so sick of myself, I never look in my water looking-glass any more. I'd like to be blue like the bluebird and bluejay, red like the robin, yellow and orange and black like the orioles, green like the warblers and all the rest of it."

"I'll do the best I can," said Mister Rubadub. "But remember, my boy, don't blame me if you look like a poll-parrot, a rainbow, and the sample card for a paint store all rolled into one."

"I won't! I shan't!" said Marky. "I shan't blame anybody for anything."

"And if you get sick of yourself, you can't change things," warned Rubadub. "Magic paint is magic paint, and it won't come off by jumping into Ripple Creek."

"I don't care! I'll not want it to come off," sang Marky. And he did a little skippy dance, humming the song he had been singing when the Twins found him sitting on the mud-bank:

"Oh, spring is coming,
One, two, three,
Someone's happy,
That is me."

All this time the March Hare didn't say a word.

"What's the use?" he was saying over and over to himself, this wise old hare was. "What's the use? When young people take a thing into their heads, it's better to let them alone. Experience is a dear school, but foolish people will learn in no other."

Rubadub got to work at Marky at that very minute.

He gave him a good soap and water bath then he dried him and brushed him and barbered him.

Marky looked as fresh and clean as a new spring lamb.

And I certainly think he should have been satisfied.

But not he!

Nothing would do but that Mister Rubadub should paint him up with magic paint, and put it on thick at that.

After a bit Marky was finished, and really I'm ashamed almost to tell you what he looked like. But it's all in the story, so I must. His body was blue, his tail was pink, his head was yellow and orange, his legs were red and his feet were green.

He didn't look like anything in the world you ever saw before, and you could see him a mile away.

The March Hare simply had to shiver. "I do think," said he to the Twins, "that we should have sent him to the Land-Where-Spring-Is Coming just as he was. If the Fairy Queen sees him and finds out it's Marky Muskrat, I'm afraid poor Rubadub will lose his job here in Scrub-Up Land next year."

But poor foolish little Marky was as happy as two circus clowns. He was so happy he had to do his little song and dance again.

"Spring is coming,
One, two, three,
Someone's happy,
That is me."

That put an idea into his head.

"Say," he said suddenly. "I don't believe I'm going to be me at all. I don't look like me, and I don't feel like me—I'm not going to be me. I always hated my name anyway. I'm going to go by my Indian name after this. Musqush! My name is going to be Mufty Musqush. Good-bye, everybody, and thank you a million times. I'm off for the Land-Where-Spring-Has-Just-About-Come. And I'm Mufty Musqush! Good-bye!"

The last they saw of him he was going down the secret path.

GOOD NIGHT STORIES

By Blanche Silver

DORIS VISITS A QUEER LITTLE APARTMENT

One day when Doris was visiting her Aunt, who lived in India, she discovered three queer, gourd-like things hanging from a cocoanut tree.

"Of all places to hang gourds to dry," she laughed. "Wonder who hung them up so high!"

"What's that hung so high?" questioned a squeaky voice, and Doris turned around to see Squeedee, the wee elfin from Joyland, smiling at her.

"I was just looking at those gourds, Squeedee," replied Doris. "It's funny anyone would hang them up so high," and Doris showed the elfin the queer-looking gourds.

"Gourds nothing!" he laughed. "Those belong to the Baya Birds, if you please."

"You don't mean they are used for nests?" questioned Doris. "How queerly they are shaped. Don't they look like gourds? Oh, Squeedee! Do you suppose we could go and peek into one?"

"Don't see why not," replied Squeedee, and before Doris could blink her eyes she found herself sitting on a cocoanut right near the strange-looking nests.

Squeedee rapped on the side of the largest and a merry voice answered him.

"My, what a lovely swinging cradle?" Doris exclaimed after Squeedee had introduced the little fluffy owner. "May I ask what it is made of?"

"What a lovely swinging cradle."

"I gathered plantain leaves and date-palm strips and made it," replied Mrs. Baya Bird. "You see it's not only weatherproof against the heavy downpours we have here, but the high winds can't tear it down. Won't you come and see inside?"

Of course, this pleased Doris, and without waiting for a second invitation, she followed Squeedee and Mrs. Baya Bird into the smallest end of the gourd-like nest.

The little swinging house had three rooms; one, in the long tube shaped entrance, Mrs. Baya told her, was used for the sleeping room.

"Until the children are old enough to share this room with Daddy Baya and me, they must stay in this room," and she led Doris and Squeedee into the nursery. Here three little Baya babies were snuggled sound asleep.

"And this room?" questioned Doris, pointing to a third room. "What's it for?"

"Most anything," laughed Mrs. Baya Bird. "Sometimes when the children get too noisy for Daddy Baya Bird, he goes into that room to be quiet."

By this time Doris discovered the small balls of clay attached to the sides of the nest and gave a squeal of delight when the tiny firefly, fastened in each one, gave out a sparkling light.

"Isn't that just too dear for words!" she cried. "Squeedee! Look at the firefly lanterns. My, it's getting dark," she laughed, peeking out of the doorway. "I must hurry back to Auntie's house. May I come again and visit you, Mrs. Baya Bird?"

"Any time," replied Mrs. Baya Bird, and she stood in her doorway and waved good-by to Doris and Squeedee as they scampered across the fields just as the sun's last rays dropped behind a bank of clouds.

On learning that Billy Evans had started a school for umpires, Mr. O'Goofty remarked in a casual, off-hand manner, "Well, it's time somebody was doing something for the blind in this country."

Let's see, what was the name of that red-headed college fellow who carried ice in Wheaton, Ill., and made so much money out of pro football last fall?

ICELANDER M.P.

COL. H. M. MANNESON,

The first native of Iceland to sit in the Canadian parliament is Col. Hannes Marine Manneson, Conservative member for Selkirk, Manitoba. His parents brought him when ten months old to join the Iceland colony in Winnipeg. This was forty years ago. The ORACLE

This day we fashion Destiny, our web of Fate we spin.
—Whittier.

Fixed fate, free will, foreknowledge absolute.
—Milton.

F. J. Mc.—You are an earnest, sincere type, with an active brain and an energetic disposition. You are extremely fond of music and dancing and are quite individual in your ways. Although you are sometimes a trifle fickle, marriage is indicated very strongly in your reading and you should choose a December mate or one born in August. When you marry, do not be jealous of your wife, as you incline to unreasonableness in this regard. Try to be kindly at all times. This comes naturally to you, in a way, but you are apt occasionally to be somewhat cruel and vindictive when your sensitive nature is aroused and you think you have been slighted or neglected. Your destiny, a very cheerful one, is to bring joy and happiness to others and in this way earn them for yourself. In doing this, you will have to conquer some faults of quick anger, fickleness and caprice, but it will not be hard for you to do this, as your natural self is kindly and warm hearted. You work best when left to your own direction and should always be surrounded by clean conditions, as contrary surroundings affect your health and give you a sick headache. You are independent and sometimes appear stubborn, because you can only be influenced through your mental faculties. You were born on Sunday. Your colors are gray and heliotrope. The day you ask about, a Tuesday, is one for being patient and agreeable, making no important purchases, and playing no strenuous games. June and July are your good months, Tuesday your good day.

G. McH.—You have a frank, outspoken, friendly nature, jovial and well meaning, inclined at times to be impulsive and also to be suspicious of anything that savors of secrecy or deception. You always want to know the worst at once. You are often misunderstood because of your habit of saying the first thing that comes into your mind and antagonizing others around you. You have a keen sense of humour and of sarcasm, which also are not always appreciated by those who may have to bear the brunt of your quick, active speech and mind. You were born busy and have always kept your business to yourself. In this you are very determined and you resent interference or unasked advice with keen combativeness. You hate an unfinished task. Belonging as you do to the type called the parents of the race, you will find your best mode of life is that lived for others, giving them personal service inspired by affection, if at all possible. You are very zealous in any cause you espouse and throw your whole self into its execution, sometimes in this way overtaxing your health, which is naturally quite good. Be careful of this, or you will suffer from varicose conditions. You were born on Tuesday. Your color is black. The day you ask about, a Monday, is one for confidently assuming any responsibility offered you. Play no games of chance, however, on this day.

Ann.—You have a considerable amount of personal attraction, but are inclined to be somewhat fickle and changeable in your ways. You have a cool, calm confident bearing and are not afraid to manifest your natural self on all occasions, refusing to be awed by any condition or circumstance. You are usually quite optimistic of success and will probably succeed in anything you undertake in life. You have a discriminating mind and are well adapted to a business or professional career. You like to make fine distinctions in speech, and would make an excellent teacher. Fine music appeals to you, and your surroundings, which make quite an impression on your health and general well being, should always be clean and comfortable. You make a devoted friend and hold to conservative opinions in most things. Having many virtues, you are inclined to be critical of others. This will be your worst failing, unless you overcome it; the tendency to criticize and find fault with those about you. Remember, too, that money and aristocratic appearances are not worth half as much as the handclasp of a genuine, although humble friend. Success in life, as long as you remain unmarried, will come to you through hard work. You must keep everlastingly plugging away at your job, whatever it may be. Marry a man born in March, May or August. You were born on Wednesday. Your color is pink. The day you enquire about is past.

E. F. Mc.—You have a vivacious, nervous, anxious nature, restless and changeable. You are very fond of good times, and this characteristic will cause you to become a failure, unless you keep it down and resolve to have your good times after you have done a good day's work. Because any success that will come to you in life will be along the avenue of endeavor. You will have to work and work hard and faithfully to be the success that you may easily be if you never forget that time frittered away leaves no credit balance at the end of the day or the year. Having an anxious and restless mind, you will always have an instinctive dread that evil will result from negligence on your part and you will do things not because of any good that might be derived from doing them, but rather in the fear of the evil that may result if you neglect them. Even when your body is at rest, your mind is busy, and you are easily irritated. Cultivate repose and try to cultivate also the habit of tolerance of others and their opinions, which will benefit you if you listen to them. Learn to conquer evil thoughts and vile impulses, and be careful of what you eat. You should succeed in any career involving mental application, if you work at it hard enough and do not change whenever you feel so inclined. Capriciousness will be a barrier to your happiness, if you don't watch out. You were born on Monday. Your color is black.

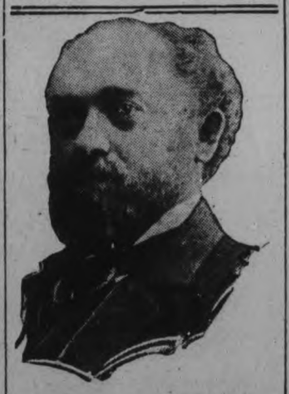
M. O'S.—Although you have a keen mentality, you live mainly in the realm of the sensations and emotions. Your treatment of any person depends rather upon your mood and feeling than upon any fixed regard, hence, you are not at all times reliable and steadfast. You are determined and inclined to be stubborn and a good fight is the spice of life to you. You are the type termed "stiff-necked," are easily irritated by opposition and are liable to extremes in everything you do. You are very kind when your sympathies are aroused, but have an excitable temper that is almost uncontrollable at times. You are very intuitive and your first impressions can usually be relied upon. Your mind is receptive to the mental influence of more projective minds, and you should never decide anything important when excited, but lay your plans when alone. You will always also have to associate yourself with others in any undertaking, and never try to stand alone in important matters. Do not try either to control the affairs of those about you. You will fail always. You have a strong will and great mental and physical endurance. A certain tendency to caprice will not make for happiness in your life. You were born on Saturday. The day you ask about is past. Your colors are tan and buff.

G. O'S.—I regret that you neglected to give me your birth date, neither date or year being indicated on your slip. Without this information, I cannot give you a reading. Try again.

Vic.—You have a strong, active, creative nature, logical and daring, but inclined to be self-centred and domineering and to disregard the rights of others. Your manifest destiny is to bring joy and happiness to the lives of those about you, so you will have to control some of these tendencies that will keep you from being successful and happy. Think of others first—always—and of yourself second, but do not be too self-effacing. You will have great influence over others if you train your nature properly and this will be an influence for good. You have a remarkable will power, poise and skill with your hands. You have the very bad habit of putting things off, which will exert a dangerous influence on your life unless you control it. You like to be praised and flattered and are also apt to nag and scold, a most disagreeable trait. You like pleasure and have a great aversion to rules and regulations. You can become a very lovable, strong character if you control your quick temper, scolding habits and tendency to sarcasm. You should succeed in almost any avocation if you set your mind to it—and keep smiling. Marry a man born in June, July, December or January. July and January are your lucky months and Tuesday your lucky day. You were born on Sunday. Your colors are the variations of flame. You mention only June when you enquire about an auspicious date, without asking for a special date.

We read that we ought to forgive our enemies; but we do not read that we ought to forgive our friends.
—Cosmus.

WELL-MERITED SUCCESS



A distinguished citizen, honored politically and professionally, Dr. R. V. Pierce, whose picture appears above, made a success few have equalled. His pure herbal remedies which have stood the test for many years are still among the "best sellers." Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a blood medicine and stomach alterative. It clears the skin, beautifies it, increases the blood supply and the circulation, and pimples and eruptions vanish quickly. Beauty is but skin deep and good blood is beneath both. For your blood to be good, your stomach must be in condition, your liver active. This Discovery of Doctor Pierce's puts you in fine condition, with all the organs active. BABASSU NUTS USED FOR FUEL

First Used as Coal Substitute During War—Make Fine Charcoal.

COME FROM BRAZIL

During the war Brazil suffered from a shortage of coal, which it normally imported from England. The nut crop, on the other hand, was abundant. So Brazil took to burning nuts. Babassu nuts, shell, kernel and all, were shoveled into the furnaces of naval vessels and coastwise steamers. This meant more shoveling for the men, since nuts gave off less heat than coal, but transportation did not suffer for want of fuel. When tests were made it was found that 1,700 kilograms of nuts could do the work of 1,000 kilograms of coal.

Then it was that the world first heard of babassu. Since then more has been heard every year, especially in Europe. Now babassu is coming to America. Preparations were made for its use here during the war. The shell of the nut, an exceedingly hard substance, was found to make the very finest charcoal; and for this purpose the chemical section of the War Department intended to use it in the composition of gas masks. The war ended before the plans were fully carried out. Later babassu was found to be far more valuable for its yield of vegetable oil, and now an American firm has bought the rights to a tract of babassu forest and will import the kernels for use here.

Though babassu is referred to as a "new" nut here, it is as old as the memory of man in Northern Brazil. Nature seems to have picked this habitat alone for the babassu palm, since it has not been reported in any other section of the world. The trees provide many necessities and luxuries for the natives. When a young Indian marries he goes out into the jungle where the babassu palm towers 35 to 50 feet high. He strips its fronds and weaves them into the walls or roof of his new home. Later he and his bride use the same material to make their baskets for fruit, grain or nuts. If he wishes to tempt the appetite of his chickens or his cow he provides the beaten trunk of the young tree palmito.

Millions of acres of these palms flourish in northern Brazil. The State of Maranhao has the most important groves, since these are most accessible to transportation. Each of the trees will produce from twenty to thirty-five pounds of cleaned kernels a year, and the kernels are 66 per cent. oil. The babassu oil industry is not without difficulties, however. Labor for gathering and carrying the nuts is exceedingly scarce. The country is sparsely settled, with approximately five persons to a square mile. The hardness of the nut's shell, too, long stood in the way. Obviously industry could not use the slow and painstaking cracking methods of the natives; and it has been difficult to devise a machine that would do the work without breaking the kernel. This problem is not satisfactorily settled.

A couple of oil mills are now operating in Maranhao. When the machinas have cracked the nuts the whole kernel, sheated in the inner shell, is crushed by machinery and cold pressed to yield the highest grade of oil. After the soft cake has been passed through a sieve, which removes most of the inner shell, it is pressed again under steam heat for the second grade of oil. The oil is boiled, filtered and refined.

For American use the oil will be manufactured in this country after the kernels have been imported here. In all cases, though, the nuts must be cracked in Brazil. A prohibitive duty makes it unprofitable to take the whole nut out of the country. This has been imposed because the officials of the State intend that this section shell remain the exclusive home of the nut.

PHOTOGRAPHY AIDS BIZARRE MOVIE

Secrets of the Trade Conserve Millions on the Producer's Budget.

HOLLYWOOD, Mar. 19 (Associated Press).—The movie public has many illusions that are carefully created by trick photography and the versatility of engineers.

These secrets of the trade conserve millions of dollars annually in the budgets of producers. The directors point out, however, that they are not evolved to deceive the theatre-goer, nor primarily with the idea of saving money, but often are necessary because it would be impossible to stage the actual scene demanded in the script.

In the photographic tricks, the most indispensable perhaps, is the "glass ceiling" illusion. This is a device of painted glass placed slightly above the camera lens. On the sheet of glass, ceilings, domes or roofs are painted to correspond with the actual set.

This glass work is necessary because of the lighting demanded by the camera. The roofs or upper parts of the set are not constructed. Instead, strong flood lights are placed there.

Wrecks of ocean liners are enacted in a small tank in the studio. Howling gales are provided by mechanical wind machines. The "ocean" is lashed to fury by paddles, and the toy liner, perhaps ten inches in length, is tossed about on the waves by wires in the hands of studio assistants.

If the story calls for an explosion to sink the boat, a dynamite cap aboard is exploded at the proper time and the miniature craft sinks beneath the waves with exciting realism.

A recent example of miniature illusion was enacted in a picture of monstrous prehistoric beasts. On the screen they appeared to weigh tons, and moved with life-like ease. Before the camera they were models eighteen inches high, composed of rubber and papier-mache, their movements manipulated by invisible wires.

When the movie spectator sees actors struggling perilously near the brink of a precipice or on the cornices of a tall building, he may be witnessing a scene "shot" in two different places. The fight may have taken place on the studio floor, and the cameraman may later have photographed the precipice or roof corner on the same strip of film.

Fogs are formed in the studio by a huge atomizer, which feeds cold vapor on the scene through perforated pipes concealed about the set.

Adept with high explosives, the engineers set a blast to wreck a dam, releasing a rush of logs and water to destroy a populated valley. Or they burn an actress at the stake with so little harm that she may be the belle of a party the next evening.

One engineer has patented a powder that burns furiously on the furnishings of a luxurious apartment. When the cranking stops, the furniture is found unharmed, and is moved to the next "social" set.

Even Hollywood scarcely knows these technical men whose exploits make "the filming of the impossible."

THE EMDEN RAIDS

Captain Von Muller Was Received in England With Cheers.

When the body of Baron Manfred von Richthofen was placed in the Invaliden Cemetery in Berlin an impressive national tribute was paid to a gallant boy who at the age of twenty-one had won rare distinction in that branch of the service that still offered opportunities for individual achievement such as those to which warriors might aspire in the days before armies were referred to as military machines. Silent, bareheaded crowds had stood beside the funeral train all the way from Kehl, Baden, to the capital to mark the "triumphal homecoming" of a hero. A procession with torches met the train at Potsdam at night and escorted the casket to a church, where it lay in state for two days. The President of the republic, the Chancellor, the Minister of War and many Generals followed the cortege to the grave, where the flying ace was laid near Scharnhorst and von Winterfeldt.

It may be doubted whether in all the throng that filed past the body in the church and watched the procession to the honored burying ground of great captains, there were any who appreciated what Richthofen had done better than did the British and American veterans of aerial battles who joined their former enemies in the line that followed the funeral caisson. Their publicly displayed respect for a man who had shot down eighty allied airplanes may appear somewhat less remarkable in an atmosphere tinctured with the "spirit of Locarno," but they were carrying on a tradition of which numerous brilliant examples relieved the ugliness of what sometimes is regarded as the most ruthless and brutal of modern wars.

Respects to Worthy Foes.

The Berlin ceremony, embellished with martial pomp and the presence of crowds of "brass hats"—as the British soldiers used to call the higher officers—was not the first in honor of Richthofen. The original funeral was simpler, but no less striking. It was held in France in April, 1918. Richthofen's was the only German uniform present. The mourners were men enlisted under the Union Jack. The pall-bearers were six officers of the Royal Flying Corps, some of whom probably had exchanged machine-gun fire with the daring German youth as his plane, recklessly painted a bright red, dashed over the allied lines in search of flying prey. The Church of England burial service was read. A rifle volley, the sound of which was drowned by the thunder of artillery, was fired over the grave. A cross was planted at the foot of a surviving hemlock. That was all. The British Army had paid its respects to a worthy foe.

When an American boy who resembled Richthofen in fortitude if not in experience fell mortally wounded behind the German lines he, too, was interred with military honors. Quentin Roosevelt was reported missing one day after an airplane fight near Chamery. A squadron of Americans had met a squadron of Germans and the son of the former President had engaged in a running duel with one of the enemy fliers. Later the news came from Germany that he had been killed. When his grave was sought after the war it was found at the edge of a wood. On a cross was written in English: "Lieutenant Quentin Roosevelt, buried by the Germans."

Perhaps the most notable case of open and general admiration of the conduct of an enemy was that of Captain Karl von Muller of the little 3,650-ton German war vessel, Emden. Von Muller had destroyed about $10,000,000 worth of British shipping when he finally was captured and taken to England as a prisoner of war. But the outburst of applause that greeted him when he landed on British shores was almost comparable to that lavished upon a great cricketer or a football hero after a county match. For von Muller had "played cricket," as the expressive British saying describes it: that is, he had blown up all that shipping without taking a single life. He had played the game according to the rules; he had fought with scrupulous fairness; and presumably if he had sunk another $10,000,000 worth of desperately needed merchant vessels he would have been cheered all the more loudly.

Von Muller was in the Yellow Sea when the war started. What could he do? The seas were full of British men-of-war. There was not a chance to get home. He might allow himself to be interned in a neutral port, or he might put up a final fight, knowing that he would lose. He was ordered to follow the latter course. His ship was small and fast, valuable as a commerce destroyer. He was to do as much damage as possible to enemy shipping before surrendering. He must conduct, alone and thousands of miles from home, a single-handed contest with the British fleet.

One day in September, 1914, the Emden sneaked into the Bay of Bengal and captured six British ships. It destroyed five, put the crews on the sixth and sent it to Calcutta. Escaping its pursuers, the Emden roamed the Indian Ocean, partly disguised by a false funnel. At one time sixteen British naval vessels were hunting it, but it managed to keep clear of them, now and then pausing to torpedo a merchant ship or to glide stealthily into a harbor for a raid. It got its coal and other provisions from the ships it captured—always transferring the crews to safety, usually by placing them upon a British vessel that was released to take them to port.

After being at sea for weeks, much in need of repairs, Von Muller put in at a small British island, expecting to surrender. His flag was flying as he hove to. Soon an effusive Englishman came out to him in a launch and greeted him hilariously. He was the Governor of the place, but as mail ships called there only twice a year he did not yet know there was a war. Von Muller did not tell him. He accepted the hospitality, paying for it by repairing the Governor's launch, and soon went his way.

Shortly afterward the Emden steamed into the harbor at Penang. Not expecting German ships, the gunners at the forts let her pass. Lying at anchor were a French torpedo boat destroyer and a Russian cruiser. The Emden drew up within range, fired two torpedoes with the desired effect and fled. Her career was ended when the Australian cruiser Sydney discovered her in the Cocos Islands, her crew busy putting the cable station out of commission. A running fight followed. After a thirty-mile pursuit, the Emden broke into flames. She was beached and von Muller and some of his men were saved.

Christmas Fraternization.

The Emden had been at sea for fourteen weeks and, save for the call at the island of Diego Garcia, had had no direct contact with land. She had sunk twenty-three ships, an aggregate of 74,000 tons.

The British Admiralty directed that the German seamen be treated with the honors of war and, like General Lee's men at Appomattox, they were allowed to keep their swords. Lord Charles Beresford said, "Captain von Muller has fought like a gentleman." The London Times said editorially that "Captain von Muller was a brave and chivalrous foe. We trust his life has been saved, for if he came to London he would receive a generous welcome." The Daily Express remarked that "The people of this country have nothing but unqualified admiration for Captain von Muller."

There were numerous reports at Christmas, particularly that of 1914, of a similar manifestation of amiability, even cordiality, between nominal enemies, though what was officially known as fraternizing was forbidden by army regulations. An apparently well authenticated instance is related as follows: The Germans lighted up their front line at one point with lanterns on Christmas Eve. Two British officers walked across, called to a sentry and asked for an officer. The sentry was a bit dubious, but did not fire. Finally a German officer appeared and a Christmas truce was arranged. The men came out of their trenches, exchanged cigarettes and played football together.

Neither side wanted to be the first to return to hostile relations. The next day they stayed outside the trenches, feeling that it would be a little impolite to seek shelter abruptly. An Englishman cleaning his rifle accidentally discharged it. He hurried across to explain the nature of the shot. On the way he received a bullet in the knee, but apparently the British contingent had no thought of assuming that there had been treachery. They concluded that a German sentry had misunderstood.

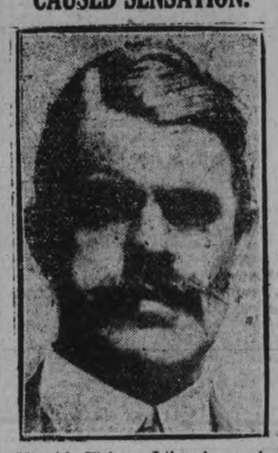
Canons of Sportsmanship.

In Cologne one night after the armistice three Highlanders who, according to military regulations should have been in bed, were celebrating the end of the war. A German burgher had been induced to have a drink with them, and one of the Scots was heard to say consolingly: "Och, dinna tak' it to hairt, mon. I tell ye that your lads were grond."

Another tale related by Montague is of a British cavalryman who had brought in a German Uhlan. "Why didn't you put your sword through him?" asked an officer. "Well, sir," he answered, "the gentleman wasn't looking."

Despite the collapse of The Hague regulations and the horrors so vividly pictured by Henry Barbusse, there were on both sides many manifestations of strict regard for the canons of sportsmanship. There were plenty of men who, whether they survived or perished, like Cyrano de Bergerac and Manfred von Richthofen, kept their knightly plumes flying to the end.

CAUSED SENSATION.



Harold Fisher, Liberal member for Ottawa in the Ontario legislature caused a sensation by intimating that members of Premier Ferguson's cabinet had attended "wet" dinners in Toronto hotels.

JOHN COOLIDGE DIED LAST NIGHT

Father of President Was in His Eighty-First Year.

ILL TWO WEEKS.

PLYMOUTH, Vermont, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Col. John C. Coolidge, father of President Coolidge, died last night, within two weeks of his 81st birthday. The Colonel had been sinking gradually since he suffered a severe heart attack a week ago.

History reserves a separate niche for John Calvin Coolidge, for to him came the thrill, experienced as yet by no other man, of inaugurating his own son President of the United States.

By the light of a little oil lamp he stood, this quiet, gaunt man of Vermont, and administered the oath that made his boy Calvin the nation's 30th chief executive. That was on August 3, 1923, and the time was 2.30 in the morning.

Immediately he flashed into national prominence. Word went out of Plymouth that Colonel Coolidge, a justice of the peace, had administered the Presidential oath on the Coolidge family Bible by the dim rays of a kerosene lamp—and his was the greatest glory a father ever knew.

Perhaps within him he did feel a great surge of pride that his son should achieve such honor and that he should be the simple instrument of legalizing it, but the world knew no evidence of it. What great feeling passed between those two men as they stood together in the small hours of that New England morning will never be known, for father and son alike placed a great value on silence.

Hung Out Family Wash.

It was characteristics of John Coolidge—and revealing of his plain and unassuming ways—that if the ceremony gripped the imagination of the public it did not grip his own. For the world often looked in upon him in his simple Vermont farm house and found him—the father of the President of the United States!—engaged in such homely tasks as sawing wood and hanging out the family wash.

The story of John Coolidge is the plain story of a plain, inconspicuous man. Most of his life he was an obscure figure, and fame did not claim him until he was 78—by which time, it is conceivable, he was too "sot" in his ways to alter his mode of living.

His story is best told in relation to the career of his famous son. He was born at Plymouth, Vt., March 31, 1845, the son of Calvin Galuchia Coolidge and Sarah Almeda Bruer Coolidge. He went to the public school of Plymouth and later attended the Black River Academy at Ludlow, 12 miles from his home. He later became a trustee of this academy and sent Calvin there.

On becoming 21 he went into mercantile business, with which was connected the Plymouth post office. He was assistant postmaster for 49 years. On May 6, 1868, he married Victoria Josephine Moor of Plymouth. Calvin was born July 4, 1872, and three years later Abigail Grace was born, but she died at the age of 15. John Coolidge's wife died in 1885.

Six years later he married Carrie A. Brown, who died in 1920 without issue.

Was In Politics Himself.

During his life as a farmer, following the death of his father in 1878, he was active in local and state affairs and held many political posts, the most important of which was that of state senator. The title "Colonel" dates back to 1900, when he began a two-year service on the staff of Governor William W. Stickney of Vermont.

John Coolidge was present when Calvin was inaugurated Governor of Massachusetts in 1916. This office was the turning point in the son's career, for the Boston police strike made him a national figure, and two years ahead of the Republican convention of 1920, men were talking of him as "presidential timber."

But Warren Harding was not to be denied. A landslide ensued, and the next night Wallace MacCamant of Oregon placed Calvin Coolidge in nomination for the vice-presidency.

The elder Coolidge probably never dreamed that his son would go any higher. He told a reporter once that he hadn't raised his boy to be President. It was very likely beyond his wildest dreams; nevertheless, when an automobile dashed up to his door shortly after midnight on August 3, 1923, Colonel Coolidge, poking his head out of the window, learned that Warren Harding had died, and proceeded quietly to the bedroom of his son to arouse the new President and first lady of the land.

Fortune has rarely condescended to be the companion of genuis.

USE OF COLORS IS ILLUSTRATED

Hooper's Palm Room, Redecorated, Is Striking Example.

SKILLFULLY DONE.

A very striking illustration of the effect of color and the way in which golden hues can brighten up a dark enclosure, is demonstrated in the decoration, just completed, of what used to be Hooper's Palm Rooms, now awaiting a new name to symbolize their rejuvenated condition.

What was formerly rather a dark, dignified interion has blossomed out into a room that appears to be filled with sunlight, all done by means of a few pots of paint, skilfully applied in the hands of Harris and Boddy, who had charge of the work.

From the mahogany base of the walls rises a four foot dado of what is termed "polychrome" work, in an ingenious opaline effect achieved by the use of clever splashes of rose, blue and yellow paint. A narrow mahogany moulding separates this from the stretch of lemon yellow wall which rises above it to the cornice, an affair of pure white banded with robin's egg blue.

The radiators are also done in polychrome effect, giving the impression to the beholder of heat that is tinted in rose and cream and blue, the fern holders and electric light fixtures have also been treated with a yellow Duco finish, and rich rose and dull blue curtains drape the rear windows and door. Shadowless lighting makes an agreeable illumination, with wall brackets shaded by globes of rich orange.

Ornamenting the walls of yellow hue, done in flat paint, are black-edged panels, two large and five small, painted oddly in Japanese print style, in silhouettes of deep black trees against blue water and cloud-flecked sky. These are effective finishes for an interior treatment that has transformed a dull room into a bright, cheerful enclosure, decorated in pleasing, artistic fashion.

IN POLICE COURT.

William King was charged under section 40 of the Ontario Temperance Act with selling liquor before Magistrate O. A. Langley this morning. He pleaded not guilty.

The first witness called by the Crown admitted pleading guilty to being drunk and being fined for the offence in the Court. He swore that he obtained the liquor from King and that he had paid him $4.00 a pint. He purchased two pints and each bottle was labelled "Scotch whiskey." When questioned as to where the bargain was made witness stated that the deal was arranged in a pool room and that he later obtained the liquor from King at the corner of Charlotte and Louis streets. He said that he paid King $10.00 and received $2.00 in change.

Another witness called by the Crown admitted seeing the first witness on Saturday night and stated that he had had a drink from him.

The accused when asked by His Worship if he had anything to say stated that he had no defence.

Chief Newhall stated that the accused was merely one of the 'under men acting for the man higher up and said that probably explained his actions.

He was septenced to a fine of $200 and $6.00 costs to be paid forthwith and in default of payment to three months imprisonment and in addition one month's imprisonment.

After he had been sentenced the accused was examined by the Crown as to where he had obtained the liquor he was selling. Accused said that he had purchased it from a Jew whose name he did not know. He stated that the man was a stranger to him and that he obtained five pints from him. The Jew had the liquor in a Ford coupe on Charlotte street. Chief Newhall asked him if the Jew in question had not an Irish name and the accused answered that he did not know his name.

ASK ENQUIRY IN ATHABASCA

Petition Sent to Governor-General Under Corrupt Practices Act.

OTTAWA, March 19 (Canadian Press).—The House of Commons last evening passed a resolution for presentation of a petition to His Excellency the Governor - General, asking that an enquiry be made under the Corrupt Practices Act, into the alleged corrupt or illegal practices in the constituency of Athabasca at the time of the last general election.

In speaking briefly to the resolution, D. M. Kennedy (Progressive, Peace River) pointed out that a petition had been signed by 25 residents of Athabasca asking for this enquiry.

PASS RESOLUTION AFFIRMING FREEDOM

Members Endorse Effort To Give Canadians Industrial Freedom.

OTTAWA, March 19 (Canadian Press).—With some modifications, the House last night adopted a resolution, moved by A. W. Neill (Independent, Comox, Alberni) that every effort should be made to affirm the full industrial freedom of the citizens of Canada to bargain for their freedom on all industrial contracts, that the exploitation or conscription of labor should be prevented and condemned; that no person should be compelled to work for wages less than standard; that in all cases such wages as are generally accepted as current in each trade for competent workmen in the district where the work is carried out should be enforced and paid.

EFFECT OF BAZAARS ON TRADE OF LOCAL STORES DISCUSSED BY LOCAL COUNCIL OF WOMEN

Women Agree That They Are Injustice To Merchants.

MAIL ORDERS.

Bread Prices Are Also Discussed—Buy in Canada Campaign.

An interesting discussion developed at the monthly meeting of the Local Council of Women yesterday afternoon, when Miss A. M. Lancaster brought up the question of bazaars and their effect on the trade in the local stores, particularly at the Christmas season. An impression gained from the discussion was the idea that, although the majority of the women were interested in the conduct of church bazaars and regarded them as a lucrative source of revenue for church work, they seemed to agree quite unanimously that they were an injustice to the merchants of the town and that some other means of raising money should be adopted.

Miss Lancaster said that merchants were required to handle large quantities of perishable stocks and that the holiday trade called for greater supplies of these, which were often left on their shelves when their regular customers patronized the bazaars for such things. Another aspect was in the fact that while women paid cash at the bazaars, they ran up bills in the stores. Miss Lancaster was of the opinion that the money spent at these bazaars, which aggregated many thousands of dollars during the Christmas season, might be raised in some other fashion.

Many of the members present agreed with this viewpoint. The argument advanced by one of the ladies that the materials used in making up articles for these sales were purchased at the local stores, was countered by the assertion that much of it was bought from the mail order establishments in Toronto.

The allusion to the mail order business carried on from large centres, in smaller towns, brought a suggestion that mail order firms doing this business should be compelled to pay a business tax in the places in which they did business, and also brought out the declaration that many articles could be purchased at a much lower rate by sending to Toronto. One member said that an article manufactured in Peterboro and selling here for $2.00 can be bought from Eaton's store through the catalogue for $1.65. "Why should we walk down town and pay this extra 35 cents?" said the lady.

A mother of children said that rubbers which cost $1.15 a pair here can be bought for 80 cents from Eaton's catalogue, another recounted the tale of chicken wire purchased from Toronto, which saved the buyers several dollars, and another spoke of a certain article which she said sold here at $9.75 and through the catalogue at $5.00. Quantity buying by the large stores was advanced as one of the reasons for the difference.

This led to the question of bread prices and the query why bread made in Peterboro sold for less in small nearby centres, when shipped from here, than it does in the city where it is made. One reason advanced was the extra cost involved in keeping men to deliver the bread, as compared with the small cost of freight in sending it to other places. Some discrimination in prices by local bakers was alleged, as it was declared that older customers were favored with stationary rates when bread prices were advanced. One lady thought that a trial of bread-making in their own kitchens for thirty days by the women of the city would have a good effect on the bakers' prices.

"Buy In Canada" Campaign.

The cause of this discussion was primarily the reading of a circular by Mrs. Mowat, received from the "Produced in Canada" committee of Ontario, and pointing out the fact that millions of dollars are spent annually in bringing in imported products from other countries, many of which might well be made in our own country. "These imported products take the edge off the market for subsequent products of Canadian origin," declared the circular, referring particularly to imported fruits and vegetables. It was asserted that in the three years of 1923, 1924 and 1925, the sum of $439,884,122 was paid out for imported goods of various types.

The Committee on Household Economics was empowered to take up the subject of agitating for more loyal patronage of "Made in Canada" goods. Mrs. G. Helson, convenor, added the names of Miss A. Walton and Miss E. Might to her committee yesterday.

After the minutes of the previous meeting had been read by Mrs. J. Wearing, Mrs. A. Mowat read a letter from the local Social Hygiene Council, asking that the Local Council delegate certain representatives from its affliated societies to attend the Social Hygiene Council's meetings.

The president, Mrs. A. Stevenson, read some of the resolutions presented by other Local Councils for consideration of the Executive of the National Council. A resolution from the Woodstock Council asks that executions of murderers, instead of being carried out in the jail of the county in which they are committed, as is now required by law, take place in Provincial penitentiaries. The Imperial Order of the Daughters of the Empire asks the National Council to re-affirm the stand previously taken by it against the allowance of Hearst publications in Canada, and asks that the Legislature be petitioned to put a ban or a prohibitive tariff on these publications. Along the same line, the Toronto Council asks that a stricter censorship be applied with regard to literature of a salacious type, and requests the inauguration of a board of censors, composed of twenty-one representatives of public organizations.

Another resolution suggested the inclusion in the year-book of the names and addresses of presidents of societies affiliated with Local Councils.

All these resolutions were endorsed by the Local Council.

Agents in the Schools.

Mrs. Stevenson brought to the attention of the Council an assertion which had been made to her by a reputable authority, who declared that agents of the United States were maintained in all the big educational institutions of Canada, for the purpose of watching the progress of talented students, who, on reaching the completion of their course of education, were at once offered tempting positions in the United States, the salary being no object.

A member of the Local Council spoke of the action of one of her own relatives, a returned man, who was dismissed from a good position in one of the large educational institutions, on account of a cheeseparing policy on the part of the management, and who was compelled to seek and finally obtain a much better position in the United States, on account of his inability to procure a similar one on this side of the border.

PERMITS DISCOUNT ON ADVANCE TAXES

Municipal Committee of Legislature Passes Bill To-day.

TORONTO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Thrifty citizens may save five per cent. interest on their taxes by paying them in advance, under provisions of a bill which was passed by the Municipal Committee of the Ontario Legislature today. The bill is general in scope, permitting any municipality to adopt the scheme. The committee refused to allow an amendment to the Municipal Act which would keep polls open until eight o'clock when election day falls on Saturday in Toronto.

APPOINTMENT OF PREVENTIVE OFFICERS SHOULD BE CHANGED

Should Be Removed From Jurisdiction of Civil Service Commission.

BOIVIN'S PROPOSAL.

OTTAWA, March 19 (Canadian Press).—The appointment of customs preventive officers should be removed from the jurisdiction of the Civil Service Commission, Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs, suggested in the House of Commons Thursday.

During consideration of customs estimates, the minister was asked a question concerning the appointment of additional preventive officers. Mr. Bovin did not think that the Civil Service Commission should dictate on such appointments, any more than a "patronage committee or the sitting member" should decide wh would take care of customs preventive work. There were many positions in the department of customs which should be filled by the Civil Service Commission, the minister was willing to agree, but he thought that "semi-police" jobs could no more be filled by routine, academic examinations, than could police. Would any member suggest that mounted policemen should be chosen on a sole examination of the Civil Service Commission, asked Mr. Boivin.

Special Qualifications

As a new minister of customs he had yet to make up his mind about the best method of choosing customs preventive officers. He hoped that the report of the special committee on customs would suggest some solution for the problem. But he was already certain that the peculiar qualifications required in a customs preventive officer could not be disclosed by the sort of examination which the Civil Service Commission used.

"The best scholar, who can write an essay or work out his decimals is not better qualified than the next man for the post of preventive officer," Mr. Boivin suggested.

John Evans (Progressive Rosetown) expressed the opinion that the way to prevent smuggling was to lower the duty on goods coming into the country. It was evident that the preventive service was costing the country a considerable amount of money.

Hon. J. W. Edwards (Conservative, Frontenac-Addington) disagreed with these views of the "Free Trader from Rosetown." He expressed the hope that Mr. Evans would exercise a little "horse sense" and not overlook the fact that Canada was situated next to the United States, the highest protectionist country in the world.

St. Lawrence Smuggling

"Smuggling from these islands," declared Hon. Charles Marcil (Liberal, Bonaventure) in referring to conditions in St. Pierre and Miquelon, "has been carried on ever since these islands became the property of France." They were situated in the Gulf of St. Lawrence and, he added, liquor coming from them was not of the worst character. "It comes from France, and has an established reputation," remarked Mr. Marcil, to the amusement of the House.

He hoped that in the efforts of the department to stop smuggling, attention would be paid to the Quebec side of the Gulf of the St. Lawrence, "where we have a peculiar state of affairs in the County of Bonaventure, and especially in the County of Gaspe." The minister would be well advised to look into the matter, and "put an end to the smuggling operations which are so demoralizing to the population especially in the County of Gaspe."

Three-Mile Limit.

Mr. Boivin recalled that this matter had been already brought to his attention. The legal minds of his department were not experienced in international law, and there was some doubt whether the Gulf of St. Lawrence should be considered closed waters. They, however, were of the opinion that the Gulf of St. Lawrence might be considered part of the Atlantic Ocean and that the three-mile limit might be applied within its waters. The opinion of the justice department was being sought, and if this were not favorable, he had hopes that other means would be obtained to put an end to the smuggling operations.

SIMPLICITY IS HUDSON PROGRAM

Cars Show Good Sales in Competition With Bright Colors.

In a spring season when varicolor paint jobs and similar details of finish have received much mention, one important producer of cars has announced a re-emphasized program of simplicity and standard value. This is the Hudson Motor Car Co., which is outspoken in its opinion that motor buyers are still primarily interested in reliability, all-around utility and economy in first cost and operation.

The company has expressed its firm faith in this program in a message to its distributors and dealers which reads as follows: "A man attending the automobile shows last winter, or reading comments on them, might have been pardoned for thinking that nickel plate and bright colors were the outstanding features of the year.

"Such may be the opinion, indeed, of certain factors in the industry, but not of Hudson-Essex. The selling plan for Hudson-Essex again is based on sound and substantial values at rock-bottom prices—the supplying of useful and satisfactory transportation at the most favorable prices offered.

"Now, is Hudson-Essex right? Well—at the New York show, with all the New Yorker's love of display and individuality, Hudson - Essex displayed simply four standard cars—not even chassis. Yet sales—to New Yorkers—were far greater than ever before. Shows and sales elsewhere tell the same story.

"In the history of the industry, there have been many instances where it has been sought to evade the issues of value and utility by the featuring of colors, trims or mechanical specialities. Such plans have been able to support small businesses, but never large and growing ones. They attract 'looker' interest rather than a genuine buying impulse."

On its new "at-your-door" selling plan, the company says: "Frankness and candor have a confidence-building effect almost impossible to over-estimate. That is the strength of your A.Y.D. prices. The price you quote is the price you mean—and the price which meets the interest of your buyer. That gives you a big moral start with him. You immediately talk on a basis of mutual understanding. If your prices are de-bunked, the inference is that your whole proposition is especially one deserving of confidence."

BOY SCOUT ASSOCIATION

bodies, including men of all creeds and businesses.

The troops are the real centres of activity and the associations and councils are the machinery that help the Scoutmasters put across the work. There are 450 troops in Ontario and more than half are administered as part of the work of the local Associations. There are quite a number of troops in places so small that they have not a post office, showing that scouting is pushing its way back into every part of the country. In addition there are Lone Scouts, who are endeavoring to carry out the Scout aims individually.

Troops have for the most part been organized in connection with churches or as the result of Church activities. Where churches have enough boys to form troops it is recommended that the troops become affiliated with the churches, but where boys must be drawn from different denominations the troop is organized on neutral ground. Y.M.C.A. branches, boys' clubs and other organizations are making use of the Boy Scout plan.

Organization Aims.

A boy must be 12 years of age in order to join the Association, but there is no age limit at which he must retire. The result of this is that a large percentage of the adult leadership is composed of men who were Boy Scouts, and the percentage is increasing every year.

The programme is non-military, but it is not anti-military. It is definitely religious in its requirements. Every man must have a definite religious and moral understanding of the aims of the Association, recognizing the three-fold obligation of the Scout oath—his duty to God, to the King and to his fellow-man.

The organization capitalizes the boys' interest in the out-of-doors, advancing him by a series of steps from tenderfoot to second-class Scout and first-class Scout, and so on to King's Scout and higher. Every boy must do real things to gain promotion. He has opened out to him the opportunity to qualify for sixty proficiency badges; comprising the very finest system of vocational guidance. The tests for these badges represent an elementary knowledge of the calling the badge represents, and the boys, through acquaintance gained with many different lines of activity, find the one for which they are best adapted.

"Be Prepared"

The motto of the Boy Scout Association is "Be Prepared" and the Scout motto, promises and law are essential parts of this programme. The boys is taught to be prepared to render service to others. Not only is he taught the theory of first aid, for instance, but he is taught by actual practice how to give it under emergencies.

The programme is a character-building scheme. It is rare to find a Boy Scout in juvenile court, and even the families in which there are Boy Scouts are bettered by the influence of the Scout teaching.

Membership comes from every kind of home in the Dominion. Some of the boys cannot afford the small dues or the simple uniform, but special arrangements are made for such boys.

The citizenship training programme is based on doing things, rather than listening to addresses and appeals. The "Save the Forest" effort was largely put across by Boy Scouts. Thousands of trees have been planted in Ontario through Scout activities. And in this connection the speaker suggested that the Boy Scouts of Peterborough be given a chance to beautify part of the old cemetery which the Kiwanis Club plans to improve.

There were over 200 outdoor camps held last summer, attended by 6,000 boys, and not one serious accident was reported. There are thousands of hikes with dozens of definite objects.

The spiritual programme emphasizes the boy's duty to God. There is no creed except this elemental creed of "Duty to God." The officers of the Boy Scout movement are not religious educational experts, nor do they attempt to do that for which the Church stands. But the Boy Scout organization supplements the efforts of the Church, providing the boy with the opportunity to give expression in a practical way to the things he is taught in the Church.

In closing, the speaker urged the Kiwanians to co-operate with the movement, to volunteer for service, and to assist the Churches and other organizations in developing the Scout movement.

The vote of thanks was proposed by Jack Heron.

STOCKHOLM MAN KILLS SIX AND THEN SUICIDES

Chased By Posses, He Shoots Himself in Automobile.

DRIVES OVER CLIFF.

Began Maniacal Round When Began Maniacal Round When Wife Started Suit For Divorce.

PLACERVILLE, Calif., Mar. 19 (Canadian Press)—John M. Goins, Stockton real estate man, killed six persons yesterday and then ended his own life as posses were chasing him over dangerous mountain highways.

Hard pressed by the posses, Goins sent a bullet into his brain as his automobile plunged over a mountain cliff, ending a day of tragedy in the upper San Joaquin Valley. The dead are, Mrs. Florence Goins, his wife; Mrs. Minnie Podesta Clark, his wife's sister, Mrs. George McNoble, wife of a former president of the State Bar Association, Alex Marengo, Mrs. Marengo and their married daughter, Mrs. Henry Dutra.

Goins began his maniacal round of killing when he heard that his wife was seeking a divorce.

SPIDERS THE MOST STUPID GENIUSES

They Can String Telegraph Lines, But Do Not Know Their Own Families.

A famous naturalist once decided to test the maternal affection of the spider. With a pair of pincers he tried to take from her the silk bag that contained her eggs, soon to be hatched. She resisted bitterly, attacking the pincers so ferociously that the investigator could hear the rasp of her jaws on the metal. Commendable mother love, bravery and intelligence, said the naturalist.

Then, after finally depriving her of her little egg bag, he tossed her another bag, taken from a different spider. This she accepted eagerly. Then an egg bag of a different species of spider was substituted. The spider was content.

Finally a ball of cork was tossed her as recompense for the stolen bag. She seized on it eagerly and walked proudly off, as though it were really a bag of eggs.

Experiments such as this, says the February Popular Science Monthly, shows the spider to be a creature that combines what is perhaps the most superb technical skill in the animal world, with a stupidity almost incomprehensible, and, in addition, a savagery that stops at nothing.

One of the latest authenticated stories is that of a spider capturing a mouse sleeping on the floor beneath a table. The spider, using the under side of the table as a base of operations, silently spun her sticky thread down and around the mouse's tail, and up again, then down, around and up again. Finally when the sleeping victim was completely enmeshed the spider was able to eat it at leisure.

Despite her eight eyes, the spider is afflicted with short-sightedness. She depends on the trembling of the web to bring the good news that a victim is caught. Several species string a "telegraph wire" from the center of the web to a quiet retreat some eight or nine feet away.

The engineering skill of the spider is the best side of her character. For personality, altruism, social spirit or intellect she is below par.

In one species the children, numbering about 200, clamber on their mother's back, and for months she carries them around with her. But this maternal care is wholly superficial. If we brush the young off with a pencil the mother makes no attempt to rescue them. Some other spider's children can be substituted; the mother does not care.

The young ones seem as calloused morally as their mother. Suppose two mothers meet and, like true spiders, start fighting. One of the two will be conquered and eaten by the other. The children of the devoured one stand off in safety, and after the carnage is complete they will climb on the back of the cannibal that ate their mother!

Low Records for the Year Were Feature of the Market

NEW YORK, March 19.—(Canadian Press.)— Heavy liquidation of motors, several of which touched new low records for the year, featured a mixed movement of prices in to-day's stock market. Hudson was hammered down from 107 to 97 3-8, on selling inspired by speculative disappointment over report for the quarter ended on February 28, which showed net earnings of $2,746,023 or more than $1,000,000 below those of the corresponding period last year. Nash, Dodge Brothers and Jordan also registered substantial recessions. Strong support was provided, however, for U. S. Steel common, Baldwin and many of the high grade rails.

Trading Was Again Light On the Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, March 19. — Canadian Press. — General weakness characterized the market on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, and trading, except in Brazilian and Smelters, was very light. Smelters was only moderately active, but was firmest spot on the list, advancing 1 1-2 at 206. Brazilian was sold down three quarters at 90 1-4. Together with Smelters as exceptions to the general softness were International Nickle, up 3-8 at 35 7-8, and Abitibi up 1-2 at 76 1-2. Atlantic Sugar lost 1-2 at 25 1-2 and Brantford Cordage one at 26. Canners preferred eased 7-8 at 63 ad Massey-Harris 1 at 55. McIntyre Mines lost 10c at 24.90 and Dome 12 at 18.75.

Wheat Drops At Chicago Liverpool Quotations Sink

CHICAGO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Responsive to a decline in Liverpool quotations, the wheat market here went lower today during the first part of the Board of Trade session, yesterday's buyers were the principal sellers. The opening, unchanged to 1-2c lower, May (new) 1.66 to 1.66 1-4 and July 1.43 1-4 to 143 3-8, was followed by a material set-back all round.

Corn and oats took their cue nicely from the action of wheat. With rather free selling in evidence, corn dropped to the lowest level reached of late. Chicago receipts of corn today, 215 cars, were more than double the arrivals a year ago. After opening 1-8 to 1-2c off, May 76 3-8 to 76 1-2, the corn market underwent a further sag to well below 76 for May.

Oats started off 1-8c off to a shade advance. May 40 3-8 to 40 3-8 to 1-2. Later all months showed some loss.

Provisions were weaker sympathizing with grain.

Prices Take Lower Trend On the Standard Exchange

TORONTO, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Light trading and prices tending lower again was the rule on the Standard Mining Exchange this morning. Some firmness was shown among the silvers, but in the main a general all moderate decline was continued. Noranda sold down 35 at 13.10, McIntyre 10 at 25.00, Hollinger 10 at 18.75 and Dome 14 at 18.61. Barry Hollinger lost 1 3-4 at 39. Crown Reserve lost two at 16. Keeley, advancing six at 165, was a firm spot in the silvers.

NEW RAYS PIERCE SIX FEET OF LEAD

Waves of Power, Beating Against the Earth, Discovered by Noted Scientist.

Shooting about in space in every direction with the terrific speed of light and beating constantly against the earth are rays more powerful and penetrating than any we ever have conceived of. While the "hardest" X-rays that we produce in our hospitals cannot go through half an inch of lead these new rays originating somewhere out in space will go through six feet of lead before they are extinguished.

Such is the description by Dr. Robert Andrews Millikan of his amazing new discovery announced at the recent convention of the National Academy of Sciences at Madison Wis. and hailed by scientists as rivaling in importance the discoveries of the X-ray and radium.

The newly discovered rays says the February Popular Science Monthly are shorter in wave length than ultra-violet rays shorter than X-rays or even the gamma rays of radium. They are the length of one ten-millionth of an ordinary light wave which measures about one fifty-thousandth of an inch.

No one knows where the rays come from. They originate somewhere out in space apparently when atoms break up or when new types of atoms are formed. Dr. Millikan says that if we could generate enough energy for transmutation of metals—for example change mercury into gold—that would bring forth the penetrating rays as a by-product. But this would take the immense energy of 10 000 000 volts.

The discovery of the immigrant rays is the climax of 20 years of research. For a long time scientists have noticed something mysteriously disturbing their electroscopes—instruments used to detect free electricity in the air. Dr. Millikan searching for the cause went outside our highest atmosphere. He sent up delicate feather-weight instruments in tiny captive baloons from mountain tops in Colorado many miles above the earth's surface into regions where man could not go. Other instruments were sunk 50 feet in snow fed lakes. These experiments eliminated certain factors and showed that the rays existed.

For measuring the electron Dr. Millikan was awarded the Nobel prize for physics in 1923. His latest achievement crowns a unique record.

The world's most powerful lighthouse is built on a plateau near Dijon, France, some 2,000 feet above the level of the sea. It marks the airway from Paris to Algiers and its beam can be seen a distance of some two hunded miles.

BARACA NOTES.

That Hudson car still maintains its lead, and there is now a distance of six miles between Roy Purdy, its pilot, and the rear car, the Rolls Royce, driven by Gordon Manning. Strung along between these two come Jack Lewis in his Cadillac, only one mile behind the leader, and Sid Drury at the wheel of the Moon, about two miles of a gap showing between second and third cars. It's a long way to the winning post and the final lap, so it's anybody's race yet.

GOVERNMENT IS URGED TO LOOK AFTER GAME FISH

Appointment of More Overseers During Spawning Season Recommended.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Chris Graham Heads the Local Fish and Game Association.

A meeting of the Peterboro Fish and Game Protective Association was held at the Empress Hotel on Wednesday night, and the following officers were elected for 1926: Hon. President, Perry Alexander; President, C. G. Graham; 1st Vice-President, Dr. Deyell; 2nd Vice-President, Fred. Roy; Secretary-Treasurer, H. S. Routley; Executive Committee: F. L. Bradburn, C. H. Rogers, A. Head, F. Barrett, Harry Wolfe, R. B. Rogers, Chris. Wood, Thos. Nimmo of Bensfort.

The Association is urging the Ontario Government to put on extra overseers for the spawning season this spring, and are anxious to get the co-operation of all people in the County of Peterboro so that our fish may be protected during this period.

The Association has been in receipt of several complaints from residents of the north country in reference to the water being so low at this time of the year, and are strongly urged in the necessity of keeping the water at a level so that the fish will not be smothered. Several of them claim that thousands of fish have been lost during the past few years from this cause.

Requisitions are being prepared for bass and trout fry and also pheasants' eggs and Hungarian partridge. An effort is to be made to try to get some of the Belgian hares which are giving the gunners such good shooting around the Hamilton district.

This year the Gun Club will be associated with the Fish and Game Association, and all members will be entitled to the use of the Gun Club traps at their shoots.

A discussion on the crow took place, and it was decided to hold a few spring shoots to help to get rid of this pest. More will be given later in refence to the activities of the Association.

EASTER MEETING ST. JAMES' W.M.

Large Attendance To Hear Address By Mrs. R. J. Kidd.

The Woman's Missionary Society of St. James' United Church held its Easter meeting in Wesley Hall on Wednesday evening, March 17th, at 8 p.m., with a large attendance; Mrs. Fairbrother, presiding. After the devotional exercises, in which Mrs. (Rev.) Buckler led in earnest prayer, Mrs. Thomas Brown took the Scripture reading, Psalm 91. The principal speaker for the evening was Mrs. R. J. Kidd of Trinity United Church. Her helpful address on Greater Service was an inspiration to those who had the privilege of hearing her.

Vocal solos were contributed by Mrs. W. J. Tanner and Mrs. Cutmore, which were very much appreciated. The Eastern thankoffering was received, also mite boxes were brought in amounting to $37.82. This proved very satisfactory. The meeting closed with prayed by Rev. J. D. Richardson.

AIRSHIPS TO AID IN CO-OPERATION

Will Be Tremendous Help in Empire Communication, Says Director.

PROGRESS MADE.

OTTAWA, March 19 (Canadian Press).—The airship will be a tremendous accession to the Empire in developing mutual co-operation, Sir W. Sefton Brancker, director of civil aviation in the British Air Ministry, prophesied in an address before the Canadian Club here yesterday. Speaking on the progress of civil air transportation in Europe Sir Sefton said that the results of seven years' efforts had ben somewhat disappointing, but that this was partially due, as far as Britain was concerned, to their having been several changes of Government with six different systems of administering air transport. The obvious development must be communication throughout the Empire.

Air transport must be safe, reliable and economical and as evidence of the progress that has been made in securing safety, five million miles had be.. flown in the past four years and there had been only four accidents in which there were deaths and these deaths were few. There have been 70,000 pasesngers carried and 2,000 tons of freight.

SUPPLY MOTION IS OUT OF ORDER

Minister of Finance Brings Up Matter at Wrong Time.

MEIGHEN OBJECTS.

OTTAWA, March 19. Canadian Press. — Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance arose in the House last evening, after several resolutions of private members had been under consideration, and moved that the House go into committee of supply to-day for consideration of the estimates.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader, objected to the motion at this stage. All resolutions on the order paper had first to be proceeded with, he stated.

Mr. Speaker Lemieux sustained Mr. Meighen's objection. Later on in the evening after the Prime Minister had made the usual motion for adjournment Mr. Robb enquired what had become of his motion to go into supply on Friday.

Mr. Meighen again objected stating that the House had adjourned. Mr. Speaker remarked that he had not yet declared the motion for adjournment carried.

Considerable discussion occurred on this point, and it was finally decided that Mr. Robb's motion to go into supply to-day could not be moved after the Prime Minister's motion for adjournment. Legislation respecting old age pensions, Premier King informed the House, would be under consideration to-day.

AT K. OF C. ALLEYS.

Last evening, the Tulips (Miss Josephine Hunt, captain) won two games out of three from the West Ends (Mrs. J. J. Doris, captain), and the Regler Fellers (Miss Florence Giroux, captain) took three games from the Roses (Miss Mamie Archambault, captain). This ties the Tulips and Regler Fellers for fifth place in the schedule. The Bluebells still occupy the fourth position.

Miss Josephine Hunt had high score of 181, Miss F. Giroux 164, and Mrs. J. Picard of the West Ends team 166.

AT K. OF C. ALLEYS

At the Knights of Columbus' alleys Wednesday night, ladies' teams bowling scheduled games were the Wrens (Miss Myra Moloney, captain) who won two games from the Shamrocks (Miss Helen Quinn, captain). The Daffodils (Miss Florence Murray, captain) conceded three games to the Marigolds (Miss Nora Shevlin, captain).

On Tuesday evening, the Morning Glories (Miss Marion Hayes, captain) conceded three games to the Orioles (Miss Alma Fontaine, captain).

The Wrens and the Marigolds are now tied for second place, with only one week more remaining in the scheduled games. The Orioles still remain firmly established at the top of the league.

Last evening, Miss M. O'Toole of the Shamrocks, had high score of 172, and Miss Carrie Crough of the Wrens made a new record for ladies' three-game scores, rolling 152, 212 and 219.

A ladies' matinee league is being started at the Knights of Columbus alleys, the players being asked to send in their names before the 20th of the month.

PRESENT ELIMINATION SYSTEM SEEMS UNFAIR TO O.H.A. WINNER

Toronto Telegram Suggests Consideration of Playoffs By Governing Bodies.

NOT C.A.H.A. FAULT.

Now that Peterboro appears to be all but eliminated from the Allan Cup contention by that 7 to 1 defeat they suffered against Varsity, and with apparently little chance to haul down that lead in the return game at the Arena, the fans are asking: "Are the play-downs fair?" This question is propounded by the Toronto Telegram and discussed in the following paragraphs.

The majority will admit they are not, but offer no solution to the prob lem. In endeavoring to declare the amateur champion team of Canada, the elimination process is the only one possible. But the fans are wondering if there surely isn't some method of procedure that will make these playdowns easier on the ultimate finalists.

Last Year's Case.

Last year Niagara Falls were put out by Varsity by a good margin in two games. The majority of fans figured Niagara Falls the better team on that occasion. But the O. H. A. champions stepped in against Varsity a tired out lot of athletes. On the other hand Varsity opposed Niagara Falls fresh as the proverbial daisies. Last year objections were raised to Varsity playing in two leagues and having two charges at the Allan Cup. They did play in two leagues, but they did not have two chances. They were forced to name before the season started which league they would represent in the Allan Cup playoffs.

Only One Chance.

This year a change was made. Varsity were told that if they played in the O.H.A. they must challenge through that body. The Intercollegiate told them the same thing. Being a college team, Varsity naturally remained with the Intercollegiate and had no O.H.A. representation in senior company this winter. They won the Intercollegiate title with ease and are representing that body in these play-offs now. On the other hand Peterboro had a busy season in the O.H.A. After their group games, the few last ones being hard, they faced London in two more gruelling contests. They they backed into New Hamburg, the O.H.A. intermediate champions, in two more contests. The result was they opposed Varsity on Tuesday night a tired out lot of boys.

Varsity's Task Coming.

Varsity had it easy, of course, in the Intercollegiate, and not in a championship contest this season have they been forced to the limit. But if they eliminate Peterboro, they must face the winners of the Ottawa Quebec series in two more games before the finals with Port Arthur or Regina at Montreal. So it can be seen that if Varsity do reach the final and find strong opposition in their remaining games, they too may feel the effect of a hard grind when they arrive at the last step.

Not C.A.H.A. Fault.

That tired feeling that pervades the O.H.A. senior camp each season is not the fault of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association. They have nothing to do with the playoffs except after district champions are declared. Niagara Falls last year and Peterboro this year did not meet Varsity tired out from games in the Allan Cup play-offs. They were tired out from games under the control of the O.H.A.

The Intermediate Idea.

So it would seem that the remedy for this tiredness, in Ontario anyhow, is in the hands of the O.H.A., if such a remedy is possible to find. Some fans believe this idea of the intermediate champions playing off with the seniors is all wrong. It is quite true that on the majority of occasions that the intermediate champions have given a smart account. But it would seem that if the O.H.A. would eliminate these playoffs between the seniors and intermediates that the senior winners would step into the Allan Cup playoffs a lot fresher than they have the past two years.

Give Them Something.

If such a thing is done the intermediates would be left with nothing but their own district titles to play for. Perhaps the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association could arrange to have Dominion play-offs for the intermediates just as they now have play-offs for the seniors and juniors.

No doubt the present plan of placing the seniors with the intermediates is the easier course for the governing body, but it certainly makes the grind a heavy one for the Allan Cup teams.

Another Idea.

Perhaps a solution of shortening the league schedules and giving a greater length of time between the playoffs would help. The real argument against that is that it throws too many teams out of action early in the season when they might well be playing hockey. In other words the idea of declaring an ultimate winner by elimination would be over shadowed by the bigger idea of giving the majority as much hockey as is available only under extended schedules.

As things stand now it is simply a case of the Allan Cup winner not only being required to have a high-class team, but to be able to stand up under a gruelling list of games that is not fair.

It looks as if something should be done by the C.A.H.A., and while the problem may be hard to solve it is so important that the coming annual meeting in Montreal next week should make that suggestion the main topic of their talk."

WELL BALANCED TEAMS IN RACE

International President Says Orioles Face Strong Opposition.

TEAMS STRONGER.

NEW YORK, March 19.—(Canadian Press.)—Baltimore, in quest of its eighth straight International League pennant, faces stronger opposition this year than at any time since the Orioles gained supremacy, in the opinion of John Conway Toole, president of the league. "The eight clubs this year present the best balanced league since I have been president," Mr. Toole said today, in discussing the season's prospects. "Four clubs start with new managers, while two clubs, Newark and Toronto, will open in newly erected stadiums.

Mr. Toole pointed out that Syracuse, a consistent second division club for a number of years, has drawn major league blood into its veins and figures to be a serious contender from the start.

"Strategic deals with major league clubs have strengthened both Newark and Jersey City materially," he added. "Rochester and Toronto have built up their squads in an effort to terminate the Orioles' monopoly on league championships. The Newark field will be open for the first game of the season April 14, with Newark opposing Buffalo. Lawrence J. Solman, president of the Toronto club, plans to hold the official opening on May 3 with Newark as the opposing team."

BALL VETERANS TRY COMEBACKS

Whitey Witt, Everett Scott and Wambsy Have Hopes.

MARANVILLE ALSO.

NEW YORK, March 19 (Canadian Press).—Comeback hopes among the veterans as well as the ambitions of rookies are flaring up under southern skies as the major league clubs swing into the home stretch of their training.

Brooklyn has taken a lead from Washington's successful experiences of the past two years by attempting to accomplish much of the Robins' reconstruction program with seasoned material.

Whitey Witt, erstwhile Yankee outfielder, is making a strong bid for the centre field post against Elmer Cox, a comparative youngster, while Rabbit Maranville, who has travelled pretty well around the National League circuit, is seeking an infield job. Jess Barnes, former New York and Boston twirler, also is showing signs of a comeback while Douglas McWeeney, of whom much is expected by Brooklyn, pitched his way back to the majors after being shunted to the Pacific Coast League by the White Sox.

Among Washington's veterans, Johnny Tobin, released by the Browns, shows signs of regaining old-time form and a regular job. Roger Peckinpaugh was the American League's 'most valuable player' last year, but his tragic world's series play has put him in the position of making an uphill fight again, with a strong rival for the shortstop job in Buddy Myer.

Bill Wambsganss, who has seen service with Cleveland and Boston, may land the second base job with the Athletics, while Everett Scott, tagged as "through" by the Yankees and Senators, is giving younger rivals a battle for the shortstop berth with the White Sox.

CUPS PRESENTED TO LAKEFIELD CHAMPS

Colts Win Casement Cup Again—G. Hill Wins Kennedy Trophy.

LAKEFIELD, March 19. — The hockey season for Lakefield was wound up with an exhibition game between the Alerts and the Colts, which was won by the latter, 8.4. After the game the Casement Cup, emblematic of the Lakefield District League championship, was presented by the donor to E. H. Northey, manager of the Colts, who were winners for the second year in succession. The Kennedy Cup, open to any player in the League, for sportsmanship, was presented to G. Hill of the Alerts.

The line-ups for last night's game were:

Colts—Goal, Webster; defence, Trude and D. Hill; centre, M. Wanamaker; wings, L. Sabatino and H. Northey; sub., Woodhouse.

Alerts—Goal, S. Hill; defence, W. Hamblin and H. Hamblin; centre, B. Wanamaker; wings, Kerr and G. Hill; sub., V. Northey.

Refere—J. Sabatino.

Goal-scorers: Colts—Sabatino 3, D. Hill 2, Northey, Trude and M. Wanamaker. Alerts—G. Hill 3, B. Wanamaker.

Penalties—Kerr, B. Wanamaker, H. Northey and Sabatino.

SHOT PUT KING

HERMAN SCHWARZE

Anotehr world's record went by the boards at the national indoor track and field championships in Chicago the other night when Herman Schwarze put the 16-pound shot 50 feet, 7⅝ inches. His effort excelled by a few inches the mark hung up by John Kuck of Kansas State Teachers' College a short time ago. Schwarze is a Wisconsin athlete, but competed unattached in the Windy City games.

BILLY EVANS SAYS

"NOTHING" PITCHERS HEROES, 1924 SERIES VETERANS PASS ON

"He's a nothing pitcher."

That is a favorite expression of ball players when speaking of some twirler who doesn't appear to have much stuff yet is a consistent winner.

For years American League batters have been using that line of stuff on George Mogridge, who was recently transferred to the Boston Braves of the National League.

It will be recalled that Mogridge and Zachary, the two veteran southpaws of the Washington club, stopped the New York Giants in the world series of 1924, after the great Walter Johnson had twice been beaten.

As Mogridge and Zachary disposed of the Giants, the New York players would return to the bench, cussing their luck and reiterating that neither of them had a thing.

While neither Modgrige nor Zachary has a world of stuff, each possesses more than the players are willing to admit and in addition pitches smart baseball.

* * *

A ma ority of pitchers who have plenty of stuff do not resort to headwork until the arm starts to falter.

* * *

The success of George Mogridge as a pitcher proves conclusively that brains will overcome the handicaps of a weak arm.

In the fistic game, if an opponent can keep a hard hitter from setting by constantly beating him to the punch, he destroys much of his efficiency.

In baseball, if a pitcher has the faculty of pitching a trifle in advance of when the batsman expects him, he gains a tremendous advantage over the hitter.

That is Mogridge's forte. He has a most puzzling move to first base that makes it almost impossible to steal on him. Batter and baserunner are always in doubt as to Mogridge's intentions. He keeps them upset.

He also has perfected a pitching motion that not only keeps the batsman from being set for the pitch, but invariably has the runner sliding back into first as the ball is delivered to the batter.

The ball is on the batter before he expects it, which makes the pitch difficult to time.

George Mogridge has been successful in the American League because he is smart and has more stuff than most batters will admit.

* * *

The careers of Mogridge and Zachary recall to mind once more that fame in baseball is fleeting. A player can ride along for a short time only on glory, he must keep on delivering.

In 1924 Washington won a pennant and a world series. Two pitchers, Zachary and Mogridge, supplied the punch that made possible the winning of the series. Their work far exceeded expectations.

Only one season has passed and now we find the two heroes of the series, from a Washington standpoint, have passed on.

In the middle of last season Mogridge was traded to the St. Louis Browns. He pitched only one game, suffering an arm injury that kept him out the rest of the season. He now goes from the American to the National.

Tom Zachary, who twice defeated the Giants, was recently sent to St. Louis for Joe Bush.

The fame won by the two veteran southpaws in the 1924 world series was certainly of short duration.

A NON-PROGRESSIVE FACTOR

An authority says: "Mental power is a fixed quantity—that is to say, there is a limit to the work a man can do with his mind, as there is to the work he can do with his body; therefore, the mental power which can be devoted to progress is only what is left after what is required for non-progressive purposes."

All of which is another way of saying, "Less worry, and more work." If you quit worrying over unpaid bills and devote that same mental energy to progress, your chances are about 99 per cent better toward abolishing the bill completely. Making the most of your chances for progress will leave little time for worry and backsliding.

Worry was always a non-progressive factor. Sleep is a good substitute, and work is better.

CAN SCOTLAND WIN SATURDAY

Annual Rugby Game With England a Flodden or Bannockburn.

AT TWICKENHAM.

LONDON, March 19.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—The forty-eighth international rugby game between England and Scotland will have for its venue the ground of the English Rugby Union at Twickenham on Saturday. To followers of the code in both countries all previous International fixtures this season have been but preliminary canters, leading up to the great annual clasic. Whether Saturday's encounter is to be a Flodden or a Bannockburn rests with the personnel of each fifteen.

England's sole consolation this year was her defeat of the French, while Scotland was travelling merrily along on the road towards the International championship when they were sadly disturbed by an unlooked for defeat at the hands of Ireland. Even at that, however, the Scots can still pull the fat out of the fire, and should they overcome the "Sassenachs" by a wide enough margin, they will be able to claim the championship, for England's lead is only fractional.

For Calcutta Cup.

At stake is the historic Calcutta Cup, the silver "mug" donated in perpetuity by a group of rugby enthusiasts in India somewhere in the back-end of last century. Competition for the trophy is confined exclusively to England and Scotland. At present it reposes in Edinburgh, where it has been since last year.

Twickenham has always exercised a glamour over the Scots, Never since the English Rugby Union quit alternating between Blackheath and Richmond, have the Caledonians been able to defeat them in England. Scotland have never won a game at Twickenham— and the moral infuence of that has always been a factor for the men from north of the Cheviots.

England will rely on the fifteen that carried their colors to victory against the French, while Scotland have made one change in the lineup from that which suffered defeat at Murrayfield at the hands of the Irish. R. M. Kinnear of the Heriotonians has been dropped from centre three-quarter and W. M. Simmers, of Glasgow Academicals, who played on the left wing, has been put inside. Simmers' place is taken by a new "cap," G. Boyd of Glasgow High school.

HELPFUL HINTS BY GOLFING STARS

By Special Arrangement With Colliers' Magazine.

CECIL LEITCH—SEVEN DRIVING POINTS.

In order to drive well a player must bear in mind seven important points:

1. The club must be under control from the instant it leaves the ball to the end of the follow through.
2. The head must be absolutely still throughout the playing of the shot.
3. The left arm must be kept as straight as possible during the backward swing and on the forward swing until after the ball has been struck; at this moment of impact the arms and hands should be in the same position as they were when the ball was addressed. After the ball has been struck the arm becomes the straight one.
4. The left hand must be the chief controller during the backward swing.
5. The body must be allowed to turn naturally, and no attempt must be made to hurry any individual action.
6. The weight at the top of the swing should be evenly distributed between the right leg, which at this instant should be stiff, and the inside of the ball of the left foot; and the left knee should be bent slightly inward and the heel of the foot raised from the ground at this juncture.
7. The speed at which the club-head comes down must be ascertained gradually so that it is traveling at its fastest at the moment of impact.

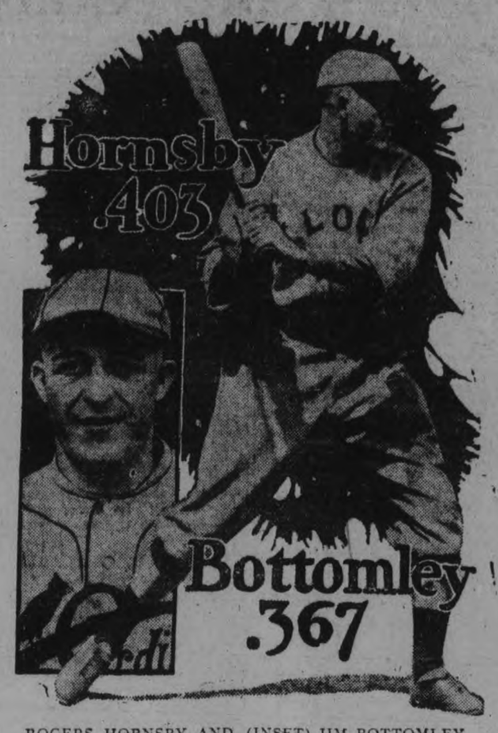
CARDS BOAST TWO 'BIG BERTHAS'



ROGERS HORNSBY AND (INSET) JIM BOTTOMLEY

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., March 18.—As a rule, a major league ball club is proud to boast having the leading swat artist on its roster. For to top the parade in batting is the height of ambition of every player But to have the two best hitters in the league on the same club is a circumstance quite a bit out of the ordinary.

That's just what the St. Louis Cardinals had in 1925. Their manager and second baseman, Rogers Hornsby, was the batting king; their first baseman, Jim Bottomley, was the runnerup. (Stuffy McInnis of the Pirates finished second but was only in a comparatively few games.)

Hornsby, as you doubtless know, has led the National League in hitting six straight seasons. He hit .403 last year. Bottomley, for a good portion of the chase, gave his boss a tough battle, finally winding up with a mark of .367. With Hornsby and Bottomley in the same battlefront, opposing hurlers have their work cut out for them when facing the Cardinals. These two "Big Berthas" are apt to break up the old ball game at any moment.

HOCKEY NOTES

The All Saints Juveniles defeated the All Saints Seniors at the Brinton Arena, the Juveniles leaving with a 9-2 victory tucked neatly under their belts. The game was a fast speedy affair, both aggregations hitting a fast stride which they kept up all through.

Murphy in the nets for the winners was spectacular, his work saving his team from a possible defeat. The game ended 9-2 for Juveniles. Few penalities were issued. Parrington, the Seniors big defence man, got his eye cut in the game but kept on playing till the final gong.

HOCKEY POOLS

One man had 6-1; another had 6-2. Which wins? H.S.

Answer—First man with 6-1.

The NUT Cracker

By JOE WILLIAMS

BRAIN TESTS.

John Heydler, President of the National League, proposes a college for baseball players. The following intelligence tests are suggested for use in connection with the graduation exercises:

Which of these great men once threw a dollar across the Potomac?
(1) Harry Lauder?
(2) One-Arm Sweeney?
(3) Steve Brodie?
(4) Pop Anson?
(5) Cousin Egbert?

From the appended words fill out the following quotation:
"He who steals my purse steals _____."
Bologna.
Detour to the right.
A mysterious lady in a black veil.
The Chicago crime wave.
Two other men.

In the case of a fire in the early morning would you call a—
Spade flush?
French cook?
Caddy?
The girl you met at Long Island in 1905?
A plumber?
(Owing to the intricate nature of the above problem an extra time allowance of 40 minutes will be granted.)

Solve this problem, using only one side of the laundry slip:
A laughed at all of B's old jokes. A missed a short putt on the last green and conceded the golf match to B, saying B was much the better player and deserved to win anyway. A went out on a party and deliberately selected the awful looking crow, leaving B to dance continuously with the beautiful thrill in pink chiffon. Was A trying to sell B California oil or Florida land?

Correct the grammatical construction of this sentence: "I'm sorry, sir, but we cater only to American tourists and it is impossible to charge you more than $3.50 a day for a room with bath."

What is wrong with this sentence: "Now, mother, you and dad must go to the theatre. Willie and I will stay home and do the dishes. We don't like these wild parties anyway."

John Coolidge of the Washington Coolidges is breaking into the swell fight news of the day.

The President's son exposed his Republican snout to the hardened furies of a Democratic left-hook in a college bout and was bounced around like a Japanese acrobat.

Young Coolidge lost the decision and was promptly challenged by the Prince of Wales to a tandem race in the international kiddy-kar sweepstakes.

The honor of Vermont Republicanism might have been saved if John the Jabber had demanded a veto or a cloture after the second round.

"I'd rather miss a right than be President," gasped the heir to the White House publicity bureau as he ducked one of Master Silverman's haymakers.

At that, the Coolidge youth has the correct program. He can make more jack in the welterweight division than he can ever make in the President's chair.

The country looks with swank favor on Jolting John's knuckling aspirations. You can pick up a President after any successful police strike, but a good two-fisted ring champ is harder to find than brains in a humming bird.

Nose busters are no novelty in the refined vicinity of the White House. When you met Teddy Roosevelt he'd say, "Pardon my glove." It was usually a five-ounce boxing glove.

Maybe it would be a salubrious thing for the country at large if the White House began operating on the belligerent principles of left-hooks and right-crosses.

An administration made up of mashie niblicks and electric horses is all right for the high hats and the low necks.

But a lot of oppressed tax dodgers prefer mascular sincerity to diplomatic gumbo.

Or, as Plato said, a Government with a kick in it never caused anybody to kick.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dearest brother and son, Fred Van Norman, who passed away on March 19th, 1923:

The fairest flowers are the first to fall,
The sweetest first to fade,
The fondest, dearest, best of all
Within the grave was laid.

In silence he suffered,
In patience he bore,
Till God called him home
To suffer no more.

CONSERVATIVES' ENGINEERING OF SNAP DIVISIONS WON'T DEFEAT GOVERNMENT, LAPOINTE DECLARES; ADVERSE VOTE IN COMMITEE IS WARMLY DEBATED

Speaker of Commons Overrules Opposition Contention That the Committee of Supply Had Been Dissolved By Thursday's Vote—Committee Resumes Tuesday.

MEIGHEN AND DRAYTON DENY THAT THE CONSERVATIVES HAD PLANNED SCHEME

Government Will Acknowledge Defeat Only On Some Serious Matter, Not By Game of "Hide and Seek."

OTTAWA, March 20 (Canadian Press).—The House has again a committee of supply. Adoption by the House Thursday of the Drayton motion that the "Chairman do leave the chair," resulted yesterday in a long argument over procedure, and a ruling by Speaker Lemieux.

Hon. J. A. Robb, Minister of Finance, moved at the opening that the House go into supply on Monday — which in reality means Tuesday, as Monday is a private members' day. Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Opposition leader, objected that the motion was not in order, but Speaker Lemieux decided against Mr. Meighen's contention, and the motion re-creating the committee was adopted.

Quoting May's parliamentary procedure, Mr. Meighen contended that the effect of Thursday's vote had been to dissolve the committee of supply. The committee could be revived only on one of three grounds: Royal message, the bringing down of a new speech from the throne, or the submission of further estimates to the House.

Following Precedent.

Hon. J. A. Robb said that his motion followed a procedure used by the last Conservative administration, following the "counting out" of the House during committee of supply. The chief Government whip of that day had found it difficult to keep a quorum of Government supporters in the House, and Mr. Robb, who was then Chief Opposition whip, recalled that "Some of our boys anxious to play just such a trick as the Opposition played yesterday, counted the House." He had met the Government whip and arranged to concur in just such a motion as he now made to the House in order that the Government might again resolve the House into committee.

Mr. Meighen said that counting the House out was not the same as the dissolution of the committee which had taken place Thursday.

Premier King asked "for the sake of enlightenment" what would be gained except delaying the business of the House by the present Opposition proposal.

Mr. Meighen retorted that the Government sought to make a precedent wherever it had an object to be served, and the opposition merely sought to keep the procedings of the House regular.

Improper Procedure.

Sir Henry Drayton, on whose motion the committee Thursday voted its chairman out, remarked that he had moved to prevent a procedure by the Government which he considered "highly improper." This was the submission of certain estimates of the Department of Customs, which he believed the committee should not have been asked to pass at this time, when a special committee was investigating the department of customs.

"We are entitled to whatever benefits might accrue from the favorable vote on this motion," added Sir Henry. The Government seemed anxious to make new precedents this session. It might be necessary to establish another new precedent to prove "That this Government can only be dislodged by dynamite" after it had been defeated by the people's representatives, Sir Henry added.

Point Raised Again.

Trouble again broke out when Hon. G. H. Boivin, Minister of Customs and Excise, moved that resolution 349 of the estimates, which was under consideration at the time of the vote Thursday night, be again referred to the committee on supply. He felt that it was the desire of all members to have the item restored.

Sir Henry Drayton immediately arose. The vote for the preventive service under consideration at the time of the Government's defeat on division, he said, had been killed. The minister's motion was for the purpose of revivifying it.

Premier King stated that it was quite clear than the minister's intention in making the motion was simply to remove any doubts regarding the item which might be held by members of the Opposition. He question Sir Henry as to whether his motion Thursday night that the committee rise, was designed to kill the item.

Sir Henry replied that his motion was for the purpose of killing the committee and to show that the item in question was "improper." He was opposed to any vote in the matter before the customs committee made its report.

Members in Committee.

Premier King pointed out that an important meeting of the customs committee was in progress at the time Thursday night's division occurred. Many members were attending this meeting, as illustrated

STIR IN BRITAIN FROM COMMENT MADE ON LEAGUE

Pessimism of American Ambasador is Being Discussed.

FEAR RESULTS.

One Paper Says That Britain Might Consider Leaving the League.

LONDON, March 20. Canadian Press. — A stir has been caused in official and diplomatic circles by despatches from the United States saying that Ambassador Houghton has made pessimistic observations at Washington, regarding the situation in Europe.

Stories as to Mr. Houghton's views followed the disclosure that United States officials were none too hopeful of the outcome of the preliminary conference on disarmament under the auspices of the League of Nations.

Commenting on Mr. Houghton's visit to Washington, the Daily Chronicle, which opposes the government, blames Sir Austen Chamberlain, the Foreign Secretary, for the "Geneva fiasco," and adds: "Unless Chamberlain can place his conduct in quite a different light there is every reason to fear that the Coolidge administration, which hitherto has been drawing visibly nearer in sympathy with Great Britain and the League of Nations, will draw sharply away again from both.

The Daily Express says that it is useless and perilous to prolong "the farce of the league."

"America, which founded the League," it adds, "foresaw complications and stood back at the last moment. The British government might do worse than give serious consideration to such a step."

SENATE TO HEAR WET PROPOSITION

Wets Force Dry Committee Members To Permit Hearings.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (United Press) — The proposition will be examined fore and aft in the hearings which are about to be formally authorized by the Senate judiciary committee.

After great reluctance four of the five Senators on the sub-committee have consented to the hearings, and it is expected that the full committee will order them in a few days.

The Wets finally forced the Dry Senators on the committee to permit the hearings, by threatening to talk indefinitely on the Senate floor. Canada's system of modified prohibition under Government supervision will be emphasized by the Wets. Canadian officials will be asked to come here to tell the Senators about the operation of the system of Government stores and controlled distribution.

Suicide Wills Wife Dollar For Rope To Hang Herself

PHILADELPHIA, March 20.—Canadian ress. — In a will executed before his suicide, Dr. David Reiter left his widow one dollar of his $15,000 estate, suggesting that she purchase a rope to hang herself. She had "nagged" him for 25 years, the will said.

STAGE DRIVER LOSES HORSE AT GANNONS BRIDGE

Animal Slips Off Into the Water While Crossing.

ONE OF TEAM.

Regular Trips Into Peterborough Interrupted—One Horse Saved.

A serious accident occurred this morning on the Gannon's Narrows bridge, which resulted in one horse of the Lakehurst-Peterborough stage being drowned. An Ennismore resident told The Examiner that the floating bridge became separated, throwing the two horses attached to the sleigh into the water. One horse was rescued, but is believed to be badly hurt. Bob Fulton of Lakehurst was the driver of the outfit.

The Examiner's informant stated that both the bridge at Gannon's Narrows and the Chemong bridge are in terrible shape and are not safe for traffic.

YOUNG MAN HURT; EXPLOSIVE IN CAR

Lit Fuse on Peculiar Object Found in Car of Coal.

GUELPH, March 20 (Canadian Press). — Irvine Graham, a young man of Moorfield, near here, was brought to the General Hospital late yesterday because of a serious accident which occurred while unloading coal from a railway car at that place. Finding in the car of coal a peculiar looking object, he struck it with a hammer but nothing happened. Noticing a fuse, he then lighted it, with the result that an explosion occurred, which may cause permanent blindness, and part of his hand was blown off. An investigation is to be held in an effort to discover how the explosive came to be in the car of coal.

FARMERS NEUTRAL IN WEST MIDDLESEX

Will Let Individual Members Vote As They See Fit.

STRATHROY, Ont., March 20 (Canadian Press). — The Political Association of United Farmers of West Middlesex is carrying out a policy of neutrality in connection with the campaign in the by-election for the House of Commons, in which Hon. John C. Elliott, Minister of Labor, is the Liberal candidate, and Thomas Elliot, the Conservative nominee. Alan McDougal, of Caradoc, Ont., who was the Progressive candidate in the last general election, and who ran second to J. C. Elliott in the result of the balloting, has stated that the farmers' organizations, having decided on this occasion not to put a candidate in the field, would leave it to the individual members of the organization to vote as they saw fit.

Lacks Steers; Ropes Ladies: Has No Prairie; Works in Park

BERLIN, March 20 (United Press)—A dreamy-eyed 18 year old youth has just been tried for the remarkable habit of lassoing young women in the park during the dusk of an evening.

After lassoing his catch, the young man always loosened the noose and permitted them to proceed unmolested.

The judge learned that the boy had been reading old time dime novels and had decided to emulate the cow boys of Texas. Lacking an open range and cows, he found the next best combination.

FERGUSON SEES END OF SESSION BEFORE EASTER

Raney Opposed to Hurry, Says Legislators Should Work Longer.

BRIEF ON FRIDAY.

Hon. Mr. Martin Reports $8,000 Loss on Apple Shipment.

TORONTO, March 20. — Before the orders of the day were called in the Legislature on Friday, Liberal Leader Sinclair asked the premier if the business of the house was in such a shape that the members might reasonably expect to be home by Easter.

The premier replied that he had no desire to prolong the work of the session and he thought with reasonable diligence there was no reason why the business should not be concluded by Easter. A lot depended on the activities of the members and the length of the budget debate.

Hon. W. E. Raney urged there should be no mad haste to finish by Easter and as matters stood in the public accounts committee it did not look possible. "Some of s are carrying a pretty heavy load and I think we should not work more than 12 hours a day."

Mr. Raney thought there should not be too many or too long night sessions. He favored proceeding in the ordinary way and finishing up as expeditiously as the business would permit.

Not Matter of Time.

Mr. Ferguson declared that the great bulk of the members, unlike Mr. Raney and himself, were from outside the city and were anxious to get home, and return to their business. He wanted to meet with their conveniences. He did not wish to sacrifice the province's welfare by any means. He agreed with Mr. Raney that some of the members were carrying a heavy load; he was himself carrying as heavy a load as any.

Mr. Raney pointed out that if the members stayed for nine or ten weeks they would not be sacrificing more than the province expected them to do. Mr. Sinclair observed that it was not only a question of the number of weeks but what was accomplished during the time.

Old Age Pensions.

M. M. McBride (Brantford) asked Premier Ferguson whether or not the government had considered old age pensions along the line of the Federal bill now before the House.

The Premier informed him that some consideration had been given the matter but it was still in an immature stage.

Loss on Apples.

In answering Mr. Nixon, Hon John Martin stated that the province had shipped 7069 barrels and 7146 boxes of apples overseas under the scheme announced last fall. Severe frosts had prevented the shipment of the remainder. While profits were made on private shipments there was a net loss to the province of $8000.

Hon. Mr. Biggs was informed by the Minister of Highways that five contractors defaulted in paying their labor in 1924 and 1925. The amounts not paid to workingmen were $2883, $1098, $4620 and $1200.

Losses not Paid.

Mr. Raney was informed that the tax payers of Ontario had not paid the losses aggregating $281,210 on the operation of the Peterboro Electric Railway since the government acquired the road in 1918.

Mr. Henry told Mr. Carty that the Guarantee Company of North America had given a bond of $719,561 for the Jackson Lewis Company contract for the new administration building in the Queen's Park.

Mr. Raney doubted the premier's statement in answer to Mr. Kemp that the cost to the provinces of the plebiscite vote in 1924 could be obtained from the Public Accounts.

In reply to a query from D. N. Ross, Progressive, as to the cost to the province of keeping the provincial highways clear of snow, for the past year, Hon. S. H ary said that the cost for equipment was $11,358. and the cost for labor $44,259. Up until March of this year the respective costs were $3200 and $25.495; of this expenditure 20 per cent of the cost of operation was charged to the counties.

Plans Use of Dead Sea To Produce Electric Power

JERUSALEM, March 20.—(Canadian Press.)—A plan for harnessing electrical energy believed to be possessed by the hitherto lifeless lake known as the Dead Sea, is announced.

If properly exploited, it is declared, the lake can produce a maximum of 350,000 horse power.

The plan includes building a huge pumping station at Haifa, on the Palestinan seaboard for the transfer of Mediterranean Sea water by pipes or aqueducts to the Dead Sea.

LORD ALLENBY VISITS TORONTO

Guard of Honor Composed of Men Who Served With Him.

GOVERNOR'S GUEST.

TORONTO, March 20. — Field Marshal Viscount Allenby and Lady Allenby, finally arrived for a stay in this city at 1.40 this afternoon from Hamilton. Yesterday the distinguished visitors were here for but a few minutes before leaving for Hamilton.

A spontaneous welcome centred around the reception accorded the famous soldier and his wife on their arrival this afternoon.

Perhaps the most pleasing feature to the Field Marshall was a guard of honor which he inspected, which was composed of men who served under him in the far east.

They are guests of Lieutenant-Governor, the Hon. Henry Cockshutt and Mrs. Cockshutt while in Toronto.

They will leave for Ottawa late on Monday evening.

MINISTER DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, of Renfrew, Stricken With Heart Trouble.

DIES IN TORONTO.

TORONTO, March 20.— (Canadian Press.) — Collapsing on the street as the result of a sudden heart attack, Rev. R. J. M. Glassford, of Renfrew, Ont., well known Presbyterian minister, and at one time director of religious education at Knox church, Toronto, died in the General Hospital yesterday. Mr. Glassford, who had been attending a session of the Presbyterian Mission Board, was walking to lunch with his two companions when he complained of a heart attack.

Mr. Glassford, who was in his 70th year, was prominent in the work of the Continuing Presbyterian church.

CHARGED WITH WIFE MURDER

Winnipeg Man Held For Beating Woman To Death.

HEARING TO-DAY.

WINNIPEG, March 20 (Canadian Press).—Dan Proskow will be charged with murder in the City Police Court today in connection with the death of his common law wife, Annie Cardno, whose terribly bruised body was found in the front room of their home last Tuesday.

The coroner's inquest brought in a verdict that the woman met death as the result of a beating received.

New Charge Laid Against Cheese From New Zealand

LONDON, Mar. 20 (United Press)—Fumes from a cargo of New Zealand cheese rendered two officers of the steamer Suffolk unconscious when they went into the hold to investigate a stevedore's report that he smelled a rat.

Half an hour later they had not returned, and a member of crew pulled the officers to the deck. They revived.

DRINKING SONGS SUNG IN HOUSE BOURASSA SAYS

Objects To Singing National Anthem Without Dignity and Justification.

DIDN'T TAKE PART.

Learned Allegiance in British Atmosphere and British Country.

OTTAWA, March 20 (Canadian Press).—The "so-called singing" of the National Anthem on the night of March 2 before the long adjournment of the House of Commons was again the subject of a discussion in the House Friday.

Henri Bourassa (Independent, Labelle), who has been absent from the House for several days, rose to a question of privilege. He referred to the explanation given in the House Thursday by J. S. Woodsworth (Labor, Winnipeg North Centre) of Mr. Woodsworth's failure to stand while the National Anthem was sung in the House of Commons.

Mr. Bourassa said he would go much further than Mr. Woodsworth had ventured. He was proud to say that he did not take part in the "so-called singing" which members of the House of Commons "inflicted" upon their confreres and anybody who happened to be in the gallery at the time of the vote. He would not pretend that he could distinguish the strains of the National Anthem from any other of the "drinking songs" which the "upholders of the dignity of Parliament" had perpetrated upon the night in question. If it had dawned upon him that somebody was trying to couple the name of the King with the "singing performance" of the moment, Mr. Bourassa said that he would have remained sitting much more deliberately than he did upon that occasion.

He was not addicted to parading his allegiance to the British King, but he wished to say that on occasion he could show such an allegiance and it had been learned in a British atmosphere and in a British country. For this reason, Mr. Bourassa said, while he did not object to any group in the House expressing sorrow or joy, before or after, he did object to the singing of the National Anthem without dignity and without justification.

Rt Hon. Arthur Meighen suggested that Mr. Bourassa was going beyond his privilege in discussing the merits or demerits of the incident to which he referred.

Mr. Speaker Lemieux agreed with Mr. Meighen.

Mr. Bourassa accepted the ruling and the incident closed.

THE WEATHER.

According to the almanac, this is the last day of winter, and spring will be ushered in at two minutes past four o'clock to-morrow morning. It seems loath to depart, however, and some three inches more of wet, clinging snow again fell last night. I received yesterday a nice letter from a little girl near Indian River, in which she says under the heading of "Signs of Spring:" "I have to walk two miles to school, and have to walk through a swamp. I saw these on the way: A robin sitting on a tree in the swamp. I saw two bunches of crows, and five single ones. I saw a woodchuck. I saw it beside its den. This was the first one, I saw it on March 11th on top of a hill. The next I saw on the side of the hill beside its den. Then I went up to see its den, and it. Then the woodchuck ran down. I thought the den must have been ten feet down in the snow. I saw this one on March 15th.—Ruth Shearer, Indian River, R. R. No. 1."— W.P.

Federal Member Asks If Imported Butter Is Misrepresented.

OTTAWA, March 20 (Canadian Press).—"Is Australian or New Zealand butter sold in Canada in such a way as to lead the consumer to believe that he is purchasing the Canadian-made product?" asks J. E. CANADA'S NEW TRADE AGREEMENT WITH BRITISH WEST INDIES WINS GENERAL APPROVAL IN COMMONS

Introduced By Hon. Mr. Robb Setting Forth Tariff Preferences.

AN EMPIRE LINK.

Favorable Expression By Hon. Arthur Meighen—Reciprocal Trade Treaty.

OTTAWA, March 20 (Canadian Press).—The new trade agreement between Canada and the British West Indies, entered into in July last, was introduced in the House of Commons Friday for ratification, on a resolution by Hon. J. A. Robb, acting Minister of Trade and Commerce.

This agreement is for a period of twelve years, and provides for improved steamship services and mutual tariff preferences between the Dominion and the islands. It provides that Canada should extend tariff preferences on bananas, cocoa beans, lime juice, limes, arrowroot, cocoanuts, grape fruit, rum, onions, cocoa butter, green coffee, ginger and spices, nutmeg, pineapple, sugar, marine sponges and Angostura bitters. All goods other than tobacco, cigars, cigarettes and spiritous or alcoholic liquors, being produced or manufactured in any of the island colonies mentioned, when imported into Canada, will not at any time, under the agreement, be subject to a tariff more than fifty per cent. of the duties imposed on similar goods under the general tariff of Canada.

Preferences to Canada.

Jamaica, the Bahamas, British Honduras, Barbadoes, Trinidad and British Guiana give Canada preferences on flour, butter, cheese, lard, condensed milk, meats of all kinds, fish, apples and potatoes, boots, cement, prepared cocoa, confectionery and cordage.

Two steamship services are provided for on a weekly basis.

Mr. Robb briefly reviewed the trade negotiations between Canada and the West Indies since 1890, when Sir George Forster, then Minister of Finance, had visited the islands. Two previous trade agreements, he recalled, had been entered into in 1912 and 1920.

There was opportunity, stated Mr. Robb, for Canada vastly to extend her trade development with the islands, as a result of the recently signed agreement.

Mr. Meighen's Comment.

Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen remarked that members of the House naturally approached with apprehension any trade agreement negotiated by this Government. The treaties with France and Australia had proved to be disasters, he said. Canada for many reasons should seek the closest possible trade relations with the people of the West Indies. To Canada, fell the task of preserving Imperial relations and Imperial trade with a country which naturally, because of its geographical position, was very subject to the trade influences of the United States. Some reference had been made to a previous trade agreement between Canada and the West Indies. This had been in effect rather more than four years. It was negotiated on behalf of Canada by the Conservative administration. It gave to the people of the British West Indies, a preference which averaged fifty per cent. and certain concessions in the matter of steam-

Hungry Wolves In Victoria County Are Devouring Deer

LINDSAY, March 20. — Reports from the northern section of Victoria County, as well as Haliburton County, tell the story of the ravages made by wolves on deer. A few days ago, while ice cutters were engaged on Deer Lake, near Miner's Bay summer resort, a large timber wolf crossed on the ice within gunshot of the men. The wolf was heading for Clear Lake, and crossed through the yard of the Bay View Hotel. Residents in the vicinity of Elliott's Falls and Clear Lake are disturbed nightly by the howls of a pack of wolves. They are feeding upon a herd of deer that are wintering in that district. Settlers who have visited Lindsay state that there will not be a deer left by springtime.

Residents of Haliburton County state that the wolves during the recent cold spell came in close to the village and hamlets in search of food. A great many deer in the northern county have been destroyed by the packs.

MAN ESCAPES FRONTENAC JAIL AFTER SENTENCE

Duane Wagar, Waiting Removal To Penitentiary, Makes Getaway.

CONVICTED OF THEFT.

Was Sentenced To Three Years on Two Robbery Charges.

KINGSTON, Ont., March 20 (Special to The Examiner).—Duane Wagar, who was sentenced to three years in the penitentiary recently for theft and who was awaiting removal to the prison made his escape from the Frontenac County Jail sometime during the night and is still at large. He belonged to Enterprise but had quite a criminal record both in Canada and the United States. He was convicted of robbing the post office at Verona and also with stealing a horse and cutter and robes at Harrowsmith. He is about 24 years of age, medium height, and fair hair. He was placed under arrest by Chief of Police Barrett at Napanee the day following the robbery at Verona and Harrowsmith.

THIRD PLANE OF PARTY WRECKED

Wilkins Expedition Loses Last of Three Planes in Test Flight.

IS UNFORTUNATE.

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, March 20 (Canadian Press).—The last of the three airplanes of Captain H. Wilkins was wrecked here yesterday when the landing gear of the Detroiter, a three-engine machine, buckled, throwing the plane on its nose. An engine was thrown out of position and a propeller bent.

The big plane, which was being started on its first test flight, had shot along the ground only about 40 feet when the accident occurred.

Captain Wilkins, who planned an air expedition to hunt for land in the Arctic region, and a trans-polar flight over the Arctic wastes from Point Barrow, Alaska, to Spitzbergen, originally started with two three-motor airplanes and one single engined machine. The smashup temporarily delays the Wilkins party from proceeding on the expedition.

Misfortune seemingly has followed the Wilkins party from its initial move.

ROTARY CONCERT.

Douglas Fletcher, Manager of Capitol, Arranges Good Programme.

Douglas Fletcher, manager of the Capitol Theatre, who is putting on a concert on the 5th and 6th of April in the Grand Opera House, the proceeds to be devoted to the Rotary's Club's work, has arranged a very interesting programme for the two nights. The assisting artists are, in the majority strangers to the city, and will provide an entirely new programme for the occasion, with a novel arrangement in the two sections of the entertainment, the first portion of the programme being composed of solo work and the last a Unit show, with ensemble numbers by those taking part in the first half.

The entertainment will be a musical and dance show. Madame Helen Farnum of Toronto, contralto, and Miss Katherine McIntosh lyric soprano, will assist, also Archie Hardyment, a 12-year-old boy violinist, who was discovered in Winnipeg recently and is being tutored free at the Hambourg Conservatory of Music, and Harold Bradley, pianist, of the staff of the same Conservatory.

Dance numbers will be presented by a group entitled "The Merry Maids and the Other," and the Collegian Boys' Orchestra, a new musical organization, will provide musical selections.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MEANING OF THE RESURRECTION

Text: John 19:23-30; 20:19, 20

Then the soldiers, when they had crucified Jesus, took his garments, and made four parts, to every soldier a part and also his coat: now the coat was without seam, woven from the top throughout.

They said therefore among themselves, Let us not rend it, but cast lots for it, whose it shall be: that the Scripture might be fulfilled, which saith, They parted my raiment among them, and for my vesture they did cast lots. These things therefore the soldiers did.

Now there stood by the cross of Jesus his mother, and his mother's sister, Mary the wife of Cleophas, and Mary Magadalene.

When Jesus therefore saw his mother, and the disciple standing by whom he loved, he saith unto his mother, Woman, behold thy son!

Then saith he to the disciple, Behold thy mother! And from that hour that disciple took her unto his own home.

After this, Jesus knowing that all things were now accomplished, that the Scripture might be fulfilled, saith, I thirst.

Now there was set a vessel full of vinegar: and they filled a sponge with vinegar, and put it upon hyssop, and put it to his mouth.

When Jesus therefore had received the vinegar, he said, It is finished: and he bowed his head, and gave up the ghost.

Then the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you.

And when he had so said, he allowed unto them his hands and his side. Then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord.

The International Uniform Sunday School Lesson for March 21: The Meaning of Christ's Resurrection.—John 19:23-30; 20:19,20.

By WM. E. GILROY, D.D.
Editor of The Congregationalist

The words of comfort that Jesus addressed to his disciples, "Let not your heart be troubled," would have lacked conviction had they been the words of one whose own life experiences were easy and complacent, who had never felt the pangs of pain and the woes of tribulation. They bear conviction for men because they came from the lips of a man of sorrow.

Christ's words of comfort and hope and salvation became sanctified in his own experiences on the cross, and it is to this holy tragedy in his own life that we come in this lesson.

With what holy consecration should we approach these last scenes in that life of one who lived wholly and completely to glorify God and to serve his fellowmen! The one who was altogether pure and good, who had lived for others, is now treading the way of death for others.

We need not turn aside into theories and speculations concerning the nature and meaning of the Cross of Christ. Its great facts are clearly before the eyes and hearts of those who would see and understand. Men have questioned commercial and substitutional theories of the Atonement. They have asked whether one man can bear the sins of others.

To Die for Others.

As one skeptic once asked the present writer, "Would an honest man want another to die for his sins?" But when they have discussed all these theories and raised all their questionings, can there be any doubt of the essential fact that Jesus died for others, that good men all through history have been suffering and dying for others?

May we not rather ask in reply to the skeptic's question, "Would an honest man ignore the sacrifices that have been made for him?" Can he view with unconcern the martyrdom of saints who have served the cause of truth and righteousness, and above all things the sacrifice of Christ upon the Cross?

The honest man will not raise mere speculations and questions but with all the passion of his being he will respond to this Christ in the yearning to be worthy of such love and sacrifice. This is what Calvary means in human life the revelation of the eternal heart of God, love bearing the sins and sorrows of the world.

Way of Revelation.

The clue to the meaning of the Cross of Christ is found in the soul of fatherhood and motherhood. Ask the father if one cannot suffer for others. Conceive what motherhood has been throughout the long ages and inquire whether there be not vicarious suffering.

The Cross of Christ has had its reality and power because it responds to the essential and inherent facts of life and experience. It is God's way of revelation and triumph all through history. We live in a groaning creation. Every new age and every new life is attended with its birth pangs, and without something crucial there is nothing great.

But the way of our lesson does not end at the Cross. If life ended in Calvary for Christ or for humanity there would be no gospel of hope. Christ leads us through Calvary to the resurrection glory, and the closing verses of our lesson express the profound joy that came to the disciples as they realized the peace and triumph of their Lord.

Considering all that they had passed through, there can hardly be conceived any more expressive summary of all the glory of this experience than is compressed into the few words, "Then were the disciples glad when they saw the Lord."

Has that glory come into our own lives? Have we gone the way of the disciples where such an experience may be revealed? There are many people today who hope for the resurrection joy who will not partake of the sorrow of Calvary. There can be no resurrection where there has not been a passing through the valley of the shadow of death. It is only as we go with Christ to Calvary that we can share with him the glory and triumph of the unsealed tomb.

UNITED CHURCH OPPOSES BILL

Issues Statement on Proposed Amendment to Legislation.

ABSOLUTE POWER

Vigorous opposition will be made by the United Church of Canada to the bill introduced into the Legislature by A. C. Lewis, M.P.P., who proposes the amending of the legislation given at last session, in order that the non-concurring Presbyterians may get conditions more favorable to themselves.

The following statement has been issued by the Bureau of Information of the Joint Committee on Church Union:

"The proposed amendment to section 10 gives the Church Property Commission absolute power, and without any right of appeal therefrom, to make any order they see fit for the benefit of minorities, not only with respect to property of Presbyterian congregations, but also of Methodist and Congregational congregations. The argument has been made before the commission by counsel for the non-concurrents that its powers are unduly fettered by reason of its not being able to award Methodist or Congregational churches or manses to non-concurring Presbyterians.

"If the proposed legislation were to become effective the following, among other results, would follow and the commission would be urged by non-concurrents to make orders along the following lines:

"1.—To direct that a Presbyterian, a Methodist or Congregational congregation must give up its property and unite with another congregation of the United Church in order to provide room for a non-concurrent Presbyterian minority.

"2.—To compel local unions in centres of population where the commission has refused to make orders, even in centres where there are vigorous Methodist and Presbyterian congregations desiring to carry on independently.

"3.—To take away trust funds and properties set apart for the use of particular congregations from such congregations and hand them to non-concurrent Presbyterian minorities.

"4.—To divide the property of any congregation between a majority and a minority in such congregation and compel the congregation to raise money by mortgage or otherwise to pay shares to non-concurrents.

"5.—To hand over unused Presbyterian, Methodist or Congregational churches or manses to minorities without any compensation to the owners."

To evict Presbyterian congregations which by a fair vote have decided to enter the United Church and to compel their membership either to join with a non-concurrent minority or to find shelter in some other United Church elsewhere; or to evict Methodist and Congregational congregations from their churches to make provision for non-concurrents, and to make it necessary for such congregations to provide for their brethren dispossessed of churches which they should properly hold, would be an intolerable act of injustice. The legislation respecting the United Church has always recognized the right of a congregation to determine its own destiny by a majority vote.

The congregations entered union on the 10th day of June, 1925, on the strength of legislation which safeguarded their rights. Is it just to interfere with these rights now?

CANADA'S NEW TRADE AGREEMENT

ship services which were necessary to give proper effect to the trade agreement.

Mr. Meighen could not remember that his Government had failed during the several months it was in office at the beginning of this trade agreement to give proper effect to the treaty. It had been hinted that the Canadian Government had not always lived up to the commitments contained in the treaty. If this was true, the failure was on the part of the present Government.

Fears Loss of Revenue.

Mr. Meighen was apprehensive of the loss of revenue from reductions made especially with respect to sugar. The loss in regard to sugar might reach a million dollars a year. He questioned also the seriousness of the commitments in respect to the new steamship services. He was disposed, however, to view the whole situation in respect to this treaty from a "sympathetic" point of view. "I believe it has very important significance from an empire viewpoint," he declared.

W. K. Baldwin (Liberal, Stanstead) favored the treaty. It was only natural that Canada should get from the West Indies and other parts of the British Empire, tropical fruits which she herself could not grow. The Government was to be congratulated for having succeeded in bringing about the new trade agreement after the Conservatives had "failed."

Sir George Perley (Conservative, Argenteuil) was in favor of the treaty. He was glad to see the Government take steps to extend Imperial trade relations.

Premier King Pleased.

Premier Mackenzie King expressed his satisfaction that "for once the Opposition and the Government seemed to be in entire accord." He was glad that Mr. Meighen had approved of the Government's efforts to extend inter-Imperial trade. He said that he seemed to recall that Mr. Meighen, in the Maritime Provinces last September, had condemned this very same treaty.

At this point Mr. Meighen interrupted to say that this was not true. His reference to the West Indies treaty had been a remark that he had not yet seen the treaty and would speak neither for nor against it until he had.

Premier King reiterated that it was his distinct impression that Mr. Meighen had spoken in a discouraging way about this treaty and he was surprised to hear that the leader of the Opposition had not even read it at the time.

McLAUGHLIN—ARTHUR.

The marriage of Amy E. Arthur, daughter of Mr. F. Arthur of Harwood, Ont., took place on March 11, at 3 p.m., to William McLaughlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin, of New York City, by Rev. Dr. Walker of St. Simon's Episcopal Church. They were attended by the groom's sister and her husband, Mr. and Mrs. Coyle.

The bride was attired in a costume of grey georgette, and was the recipient of numerous and costly gifts.

They will reside in New York City.

OBITUARY.

MRS. J. N. TELFORD

The funeral of the late Mrs. J. N. Telford will take place from her late residence, Bridgenorth, on Monday, March 22nd, at 1.30 p.m. to the Little Lake cemetery, Peterborough.

ANGUS MACDONALD

COBOURG, March 20.—Mrs. Margaret Macdonald, wife of the late Angus Macdonald, passed away at her residence, corner Henry and Chapel streets on Wednesday. Mrs. Macdonald was one of Cobourg's oldest residents, and a lady who was held in very high esteem. About six weeks ago, she fell and fractured her hip, and her death resulted from effects of this accident. Mrs. Macdonald was in her 87th year. She was one of the oldest members of St. Peter's church. Surviving their mother are two sons, A. W. and W. J. Macdonald and one daughter, Miss Minnie Macdonald, all of Cobourg.

The funeral was held on Friday afternoon to St. Peter's cemetery.

DR. ROLAND D. ORR.

COBOURG, March 20.—Dr. Roland D. Orr, formerly of Camborne, Hamilton township, and more recently of Brantford, where his widow resides, died at the Salisbury Hotel, Liverpool, Eng., a few days ago. He was a Dominion Government Inspector, and his trip to the Old Country was on behalf of the Government in connection with the transportation of cattle. Dr. Orr grew to manhood in Camborne. He attended Veterinary College in Toronto, moving to Waterloo County some time ago.

WILLIAM FLEMING.

HASTINGS, March 20. — The death occurred in Hastings on Friday, March 19, at his residence on Clyde Street, of William Fleming. Deceased has been ill for a long time. He was born in Percy Township in the year 1848.

He is survived by his widow, two brothers, Edward of Percy Township and George of Orangeville; one sister, Mrs. Wood of Grimsby; three sons, John of Asphodel Township, Ray of Percy Township, and Alexander of Colborne.

The funeral will be held from the residence on Clyde Street on Sunday afternoon; service at 2 o'clock. Interment to take place in Trent Valley Cemetery.

More than 8,500,000 bathtubs are now in use in the United States and new ones are being installed at the rate of more than 1,000,000 a year.

CONSERVATIVES' ENGINEERING.

by the fact that only half the members in the House voted. Sir Henry had intimated before making his motion that he did not want to have the item considered at that time because, said Premier King, Conservative members were in their lobby "waiting for orders to come in here." This assertion was denied from the Opposition benches.

Hon. R. J. Manion (Conservative, Fort William) stated that Thursday night's division had been no more a snap vote than votes pressed on other occasions when Conservative members were absent and did not expect a division. The vote was the kind "the Government should be getting in this House on all occasions. For a smaller defeat than that which occurred Thursday afternoon, government in Great Britain had resigned."

Mr. Robb asked the Opposition to remember that the prevention of smuggling, in which everybody was so interested just now, could not be possible if the Opposition was going to rule out every provision for this purpose.

Hon. J. W. Edwards (Conservative, Frontenac-Addington) asked how much this government had spent on prevention of smuggling out of the $350,000 voted by Parliament last session.

Mr. Robb retorted that this year's programme was not affected by such a consideration.

Meighen Denies Scheme.

Mr. Meighen again took the floor. He maintained that the estimates affected by the committee's adverse vote of Thursday could only be revived by re-presentation to the House. Apparently the Government did not want to use this method of reviving that part of its estimates. Mr. Meighen denied that there had been "plans and scheme" within Conservative ranks to bring about the adverse vote. Twenty to thirty minutes earlier than the Drayton motion was made to the chair, he could remember that Sir Henry Drayton, his desk mate, mentioned his intention of moving that the estimates under discussion should not be considered now. To prove that Conservative members had no knowledge of Sir Henry's intention, Mr. Meighen recalled that it was chiefly Opposition members who had kept the debate going for nearly half an hour and prevented Sir Henry from putting his motion to the chair.

In Great Britain, said Mr. Meighen, when Governments found that its supporters had not sufficient interest in the proceedings in the House to keep them in attendance, such Governments usually thought it was time to resign. There was one virtue that this Government would never acquire and that was "the virtue of resignation," added Mr. Meighen. This Government did not like to admit that it was in a precarious position, that Thursday's vote was not a snap judgment, and that it had to face the probability of many adverse votes in the near future.

Snap Divisions.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe quoted Rt. Hon. Ramsay MacDonald, as saying in one of his early speeches after assuming the Premiership, that he was not going to be affected by the "engineering of snap divisions."

"If you want to defeat this Government," added Mr. Lapointe, "you will have to do it on serious matters, in a serious way, and not by reducing Parliament to a game of hide and seek."

Robert Forke (Progressive leader) expressed the opinion that "if the average citizen of Canada could sit in the gallery of the House of Commons today, the reputation of the House of Commons for dignity would suffer considerably."

He had no fault to find with Thursday's motion, and the vote that had fallen thereon, but he did not think that such a chance occurrence in the House should be taken so seriously as to interfere with the regular business of the House.

Mr. Forke took exception to remarks made in the House respecting the attitude of the Progressives towards the Government. "We are supporting the Government on a legislative programme," he said. There was surely nothing dishonorable about that course. He thought he was in a better position than any member in the House to enter into a discussion from an "unprejudiced viewpoint."

"Oh, Oh," shouted several Conservative members amid laugher from the Opposition benches. Mr. Forke reiterated his remark.

Arthur Beaubien (Progressive, Provencher), said that the Progressives were sometimes asked why they did not cross to the other side of the House "and show our true colors."

"Hear, Hear," shouted Conservative members.

Mr. Beaubien retorted by stating that if Conservatives took the trouble to look up Hansard of last session, they would find that they had supported the Government on more occasions than the Progressives had. "I am falling into the hands of no party," he said. He was here to carry out certain principles, and that was what he was doing.

Insults and Sneers.

Malcolm McLean (Liberal, Melfort) voiced the opinion that it was time the House got down to business. It was not proper for any group to throw "insults and sneers" at any other party in the House. The House should not be turned into a "bear garden."

Mr. Speaker stated it is improper to use the word "beer garden."

"Bear garden—Bear garden," corrected a chorus of voices.

Mr. McLean than withdrew the use of the objectionable term "bear garden."

H. C. Hocken (Conservative, Toronto West Centre) objected to Mr. McLean as a new member attempting to instruct those who had been in the House for a "score of years." Mr. McLean's argument had shown that the Government was unable to control the House.

Hon. G. H. Boivin was of the opinion that the vote in committee Thursday undoubtedly was engineered by the Opposition to take the temporary absence of supporters from the House. Doubt the Government would object to similar snap votes future; but, he said, that would not surrender conservatives on such a gr

QUOTA SYSTEM FOR CANADA IS URGED

U. S. Immigration Allotment Plan Recommended.

VANCOUVER, B.C., March 20.—(Canadian Press). — That a quota similar to that now in force in the United States, should be applied by Canada to all but British-born immigrants, was the view expressed by Dean N. Clement, head of the Department of Agriculture, University of British Columbia, addressing the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculturists, British Columbia branch.

Dean Clement expressed himself as strongly in favor of preference within the Empire, and thought they should apply the quota law as in force in the United States, to all but British born. He would not ask the inhabitants of Canada to compete with non-English speaking whites. By adopting such a policy something would be done for Canada, he declared.

ALBERTA COAL.

If the Lethbridge Herald is right in its statement that Ontario has not in all cases been receiving the best of Alberta coal those responsible for shipping fuel of inferior quality have been guilty of an almost criminal lack of foresight.

The Western coal is on trial in this Province.

Ontario people, disgusted at the frequent tie ups in the United States anthracite field, and realizing the advantage of keeping Canadian money at home, are in a very receptive mood toward Alberta coal.

They feel that if it measures up to the imported article in quality they are willing to give it a fair trial and to keep on using it if the trial convinces them of its merits.

With such a market in sight western operators are foolish to jeopardize their chances by sending into Ontario coal that is not of first class quality

Alberta fuel in general is more likely to be judged from the poor samples than from the good, and permanent injury to the market in this province is likely to be done if the quality of the supply sent last is not carefully watched.

PROTECTING THE FISH.

The Peterborough Fish and Game Protective Association is on the right track in seeking to persuade the Ontario Government to put on additional overseers during the spawning season.

It is recognized on all sides that the damage done by illegal fishing during the spawning period is very great and that it is impossible for the regular overseers to provide proper potection over the whole distict under their supervision.

The spawning season is of short duration and the appointment of a large force of temporary officials would not entail any very great expense, certainly nothing compared with the value of the service rendered.

By cutting down the legal catch of bass from 8 to 5, the Ontario Government has admitted that Ontario's waters are being rapidly depleted of game fish.

As fishing prospects bring hundreds of thousands of tourists each year it should be apparent that every possible step must be taken to replenish the supply of fish and to protect them against poachers in the spawning season.

The local Association suggests the only remedy that seems feasible.

THE TOURIST GOLD MINE.

When George Wright, Chairman of the Toronto Hotelmen's Association and President of the newly-formed Toronto Convention and Tourist Association, at what might be termed the inaugural meeting of the latter body, stated that in his opinion "the amount of money coming in from our northern goldfields may seem great, but it is nothing as compared with the amount of money the tourists leave in our city," he said something.

Tourists are our greatest gold mine, and to bring them here we must go after them.

In Peterboro the value of the tourist traffic becomes more apparent each year.

The Peterboro County and City Councils in voting $100 and $400, respectively, to the Trent Waterway Development Association for the express purpose of assisting in the advertising of this district by the association, are to be congratulated in taking a prominent part in an activity so beneficial to the community.

Their action is justified by the results obtained by the association, and by the fact that the hotelmen of Toronto have subscribed from $10,000 to $20,000 a year for the next five years for the sole purpose of making the Toronto Convention and Tourist Association the most successful and productive bureau on the continent.

The Trent Waterway Development Association must prepare for strong competition from Toronto in the future.

It may be that the annual exhibit at the New York Motor Boat Show will have to be augmented by an extensive and continuous publicity campaign.

At any rate, it is not likely that the association will fail to keep Central Ontario before the United States tourist.

Years of experience as the pioneer tourist association of Ontario have taught its officers that vigilance is not only the price of safety, but the assurance of continuity of policy in dealing with the tourist question.

FOREIGN MAGAZINES.

The action of the Canadian Government in prohibiting the sale in Canada of certain objectionable publications emanating from the United States receives the approval of all decent American citizens, who are themselves disgusted with the sort of literature to which exception is taken. It may be that Canada's rejection of these journals may lead to similar action in some of the States. A despatch from Albany, New York, refers to a "clean books" bill discussed by the Senate and Assembly Codes Committee, the object of which is to suppress the publication within the State of objectionable reading matter. In the course of the debate on the measure the Canadian Government was commended for refusing entry to certain New York periodicals. If the people in the United States would themselves prohibit the production and sale of these scurrilous publications, it would be by far the best way of solving the problem. The dissemination of such rubbish is a common nuisance, which it is to the interest of both the United States and Canada to remove. The subterfuge by which the unscrupulous producers contrive to market their illicit wares in Canada—by changing the name, as some of them have done, without changing the trashy content of their publications—renders it very difficult to deal with the evil effectively. If a forbidden paper manages to get in under another title, it would be practically impossible for legislation to keep pace with the continual changes. A stricter censorship in the United States itself, as advocated by the sponsors of the Albany bill, would obviate the necessity for special legislation in Canada. But that would not do away with another real grievance from which Canadian publishers and business men are suffering, and which can be removed only by action on the part of our own Dominion Government.

Yesterday a delegation from the Magazine Publishing Association of Canada waited upon the Prime Minister in Ottawa urging the necessity of a tax of 10 cents a pound on all periodicals and week-end magazines entering Canada. The suggested tariff would be about equal to the existing tariff imposed on all advertisements entering Canada under other guises. There is no complaint, in this instance, about the contents of the majority of these publications; it is the unfair competition which they set up against Canadian publishers, who are called upon to pay heavy taxation, and against the manufacturers of the Dominion. These periodicals carry advertisements of United States products which are the cause of a great amount of business passing across the border. In loss of orders alone the country suffers enormously, but there is the further consideration, from the financial point of view, that a revenue of about $5,000,000 a year would be derived from the proposed tax. With the Prime Minister were several Cabinet Ministers and leaders of the Conservative and Progressive parties, and the delegation received the assurance that "careful consideration" would be given the petition. If that promise is faithfully kept, there is little doubt that the necessary legislation will be passed.—Hamilton Spectator.

MARGOT AND THE MOVIES.

If Mary Pickford has recovered from the shock of her dethronement by the fair co-eds of the good city of her youth, she is likely to suffer a relapse when she hears the no less ominous news from the other side of the Atlantic. Margot is going into the movies! So, at least, it is reported from a reliable source—Margot, of course, being the one and only lady known by that name; otherwise, the Countess of Oxford, the distinguished consort of former Premier Asquith.

The prospect of having to contend with such a formidable rival on the screen is one that the delectable Mary and other stars of the "movie" firmament cannot fail to contemplate with something like awe, for whatever Margot may lack in the quality of pulchritude, she has a personality and a way with her that may well play havoc with the standards that have hitherto been popular in the world of films.

It was once said of Lady Oxford, long before she attained to the title, that the distinguishing element in her character was that of unexpectedness. Certainly, in the course of her remarkable career she has played many parts in which the obvious and conventional were not conspicuously apparent. From a tomboyish youth, in which her love of mischief was alternately the terror and delight of her friends, she passed triumphantly into the intellectual circles of London, to fraternize with "the Souls," run a literary and political salon on decidedly original lines, act as a sort of "blue-stocking" to the Liberal party, become the brilliant wife of a future Prime Minister, a highly popular hostess, and a thorn in the flesh of all who differed from her distinguished husband or herself. Then, having reared an exceptionally gifted family, and satisfied her social and political ambitions, she emerged as a literary impressionist, wielding a caustic pen, and, with amazing frankness, revealing to the world her opinions of people she had known.

Now, it is said, on the authority of a well-known English producer, that the incomparable Margot is considering an offer which, if accepted, will ensure her appearance in the leading part of a film play, specially written for her with the title of "Studies of Psychology," a title suggestive of possibilities well within the reach of the latest recruit to the ranks of potential "movie" stars.

That Lady Oxford is not without qualifications for the new role prepared for her is indicated by the fact that she received a certain amount of theatrical training in her younger days, and that recently she appeared with success in a film play privately produced. Moreover, it is announced by the producer who is soliciting her services that "she undoubtedly possesses the essential power to register emotion without absurd gesticulations," a tribute to the histrionic abilities of Margot which seems to carry with it a sting for certain other screen artistes.

Assuredly, it would be a mistake to regard the projected appearance of Lady Oxford in the "movies" either as a publicity "stunt" or as a fresh illustration of her freakishness. Rather is it one of many signs of an awakening in Britain to the possibilities of the moving picture as a medium of literary and artistic expression, and the need for the development of a higher technique, a more elevated standard of taste, and a more aesthetic conception of the cinematic art. "The public," writes a London critic, "is beginning at last to wake up to the need of improving the quality of the pictures shown, and producers and exhibitors are indulging in an uneasy survey of the general film situation, aesthetic and economic."

Evidences of this movement are to be found not only in the increasing activity of British film producers, but in appeals to leading writers and prominent actors and actresses to enter the field hitherto monopolized by American trusts and Hollywood heroes and heroines. Even George Bernard Shaw, when approached, has cynically admitted that, "as I get older I may lose the power of putting things into words, and then, I suppose, it is just possible that I may be driven to write a wordless play." A screen production from the pen of G. B. S. with Margot in the leading role would certainly not be lacking in appeal to the taste that craves more intellectual entertainment than British patrons of the moving pictures appear to enjoy at present.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Spring cannot be far off. The Kingston Standard is already claiming a baseball championship.

The civic banquet to Peterborough's championship hockey team should be a great success. The team has richly earned the honors that are being prepared for them.

Soon, as a contemporary points out, the roads will be thick with motor cars the drivers of which should understand that it will not be any easier this year to push a railway locomotive off a crossing.

The Ontario Legislature seems merely a debating society, with the Ontario Temperance Act as the chief subject for discussion.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

CONFIDENCE COMMANDS ACTION.

If you would sell a prospect or a customer, first convince him of your sincerity to be of Service. Create this confidence and competition will have a hard row to hoe.

Assume to argue or dictate even to an old customer who has had more or less confidence in you and the patron will probably close all avenues of reason, and this reaction usually results in no sale.

The right way to sell is mentally to step into the prospect's shoes. Be the buyer for the moment. Talk in terms of Service, not just selling.

Your confidence in your own merchandise commands action; but elect to dictate to a prospect or a patron and you arouse the mule nature in man and this delays decision and often prevents action.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

REPLY TO DR. SCOTT'S "NEW ARITHMETIC."

To Editor of Examiner:

Sir,—Will you permit me to reply to a communication entitled "A New Arithmetic" and signed by Dr. Ephraim Scott of Montreal.

The vote on the question of Church Union in 1911 was on two questions:

"1.—Are you in favor of organic union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches?"

"2.—Do you approve of the proposed basis of union?"

The vote in 1915 was on the question:

"Are you in favor of the union with the Methodist and Congregational Churches of Canada on the basis of union approved by the General Assembly of 1915?"

With a foot note:

"That the people are reminded that the decision on this question must be reached on the basis of the votes cast."

In both cases, on the basis of the votes cast, the answer given by the church was favorable to the proposed union.

The vote in congregations under the Federal Act in 1925 had nothing whatever to do with the question of the desirability of union. The three churches, through representative governing bodies, had decided to enter into union, and the Federal Act recognizes the right of these churches through their constituted authorities to proceed to union.

But the Federal Act also gave the privilege to any congregation to decide not to enter the union which had been determined upon. As a result a large number of congregations decided to take a vote. It was not obligatory on any congregation to do so. 784 congregations decided not to concur in the union, and at the present moment they are non-concurring congregations, with the privilege under the Act of forming a Presbyterian Church and calling it by any name other than the name of the church from which they seceded.

Dr. Scott is in error—in very grievous error—as to the votes cast for and against concurrence in the union.

In the congregations where a vote was taken under the Federal Act there were actually more votes by many thousands cast in favor of entering the United Church than were cast for non-concurrence. In addition to this, the membership of the congregations, formerly Presbyterian, which entered the United Church of Canada without taking a vote, is more than 63,500. Dr. Scott's prophetic bookkeeping throws these out of the church entirely, because they did not take a vote when the Presbyterian Church Association asked them to. No such vote was necessary or required, either by the General Assembly or by any Act of Parliament, unless they desired to non-concur in the union.

No good can come to the church which is to be formed by non-concurring congregations, either by actual mis-statement of the plain facts, or by implications which cannot be borne out by facts. In due course the number of Presbyterian members which did not enter the United Church will doubtless be demonstrated to a point beyond dispute before some properly constituted tribunal. The fact that is of immediate interest to readers of this paper is that 784 congregations, of which 534 were at the time of union in self-sustaining charges, and 250 were in aid-receiving charges, decided to non-concur. With the exception of these and of such non-concurring minorities as may have formed separate congregations, the rest of the church, 3,728 congregations, are now part of the United Church of Canada.

At no time since the beginning of negotiations looking toward union and in no vote taken in the Presbyterian Church in Canada on the question of union, did one-third of the membership or eldership or ministry express itself as opposed to union, and it can be demonstrated that less than one-third of the membership of the Presbyterian Church in Canada as at June 10, 1925, is at the present time outside the United Church of Canada.

R. J. WILSON.

Toronto, March 16, 1926.

CONCURRENT SENTENCES.

To the Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir: Would you kindly explain through the medium of your paper, the following:

A person who is found guilty on three separate charges, is given a year's imprisonment on each charge. The judge in passing sentences, are to run concurrently or consecutively, as the case may be. What exactly does concurrently and consecutively mean in the above?

Thanking you in anticipation, I remain, yours sincerely,

CURIOUS.

When three separate sentences for one year each are pronounced by the Judge to run concurrently, it means that the prisoner serves all sentences at one and the same time, and is entitled to be discharged at the end of one year, whereas if he is sentenced for three consecutive years he is only entitled to be discharged at the end of three years.

Fellowship of Prayer

SATURDAY—
Friends of Christ.

Read Jn. 15:12-15. See also Pet. 2:17. Text: 15:14. Ye are my friends.

Meditation.—Jesus commanded men to follow, to learn of him to be his servants, but last and best of all He called them friends. He has called us not to a blind obedience, but has shared with us the very counsels of God that we might be more than serfs even of the King of Love. What company of disciples ever chose a more beautiful name than "The Society of Friends."

"Nor lack I friends long tried and near and dear,
Whose love is round me like this atmosphere.
Warm, soft and golden. For such gifts to me
What shall I render, O my God, to Thee."

Prayer.—Forgive O Lord that we sought Thy gracious gifts for ourselves alone. That we have thought to receive and absorb Thy bounty. Deliver Thy Church from the corruption of unfriendliness. Quicken in us a new appraisal of the least of those Thou dost love; and in all humility before God may we find the abundant life in the enriching friendship both of the humble and of the exalted. Amen.

(Copyright, 1926 — F. L. Fagley.)

SUNDAY—
Chosen of Christ.

Read Jn. 15:16-21. Text: 15:16. Yet did not choose me, but I chose you, and appointed you, that ye shall go and bear fruit.

Meditation.—We are a part of a purposeful universe. He who made us has a plan for every life and that a part of a great total. Even the humblest member of humanity is essential to the work of all. Unless each plays his part the result is incomplete. He has chosen us for a peculiar share, every other has been chosen for something else, something demanding the best in him. The final victory of the Kingdom depends upon the steadfastness and teamwork of every Christian. "Each for all" must be made the dominant motive of every prayer.

Prayer.—Give me clean hands, clean words and clean thoughts. Help me to stand for the hard right against the easy wrong. Save me from habits that harm. Teach me to work as hard and play as fair in Thy sight alone as if all the world saw. Forgive me when I am unkind and help me to forgive those who are unkind to me. Keep me ready to help others at cost to myself. Send me some chances to do good every day and so grow more like Christ. Amen.

CONVENTION ON EIGHT HOUR DAY

Conclusions Arrived at By International Labor Conference in London.

OVERTIME RATE.

LONDON, March 20 (Canadian Press). — The International Labor Conference, attended by representatives of Belgium, France, Germany, Great Britain and Italy, which Thursday signed the eight-hour day convention drawn up at the Labor conference in Washington in October, 1919, issued a communique yesterday giving, article by article, the conclusions reached concerning the convention.

Article I. says it was agreed that the eight-hour convention applies to all industrial undertakings, regardless of the number of persons employed except those in which only members of one family are employed.

Under Article 2 the delegates agreed that working hours are the time employees are at the disposal of the employer and do not include rest periods, posted in accordance with Article 8.

It was agreed that the minimum additional rate of 25 per cent. for overtime, provided for in Article 6 of the convention, is obligatory; that railways are covered by the convention, and that the English, French and German texts shall be equally authoritative.

Mrs. Kresge Withdraws Suit For $1,000,000 From Hubby

NEW YORK, March 20 (Canadian Press).—Mrs. Doris Mercer Kresge's suit for $1,000,000 against her husband, Sebastian S. Kresge, five and ten cent store owner, alleging breach of a pre-nuptial agreement, was ordered withdrawn from the Supreme Court Friday. Counsel for Mr. Kresge announced that an agreement had been reached between the Kresges.

The terms of the settlement were not announced, and it was stated that reports of marital reconciliation were premature, as the future of the Kresges would depend upon events of the next two days.

Mrs. Kresge's suit alleged that her husband had failed to deliver to her 2,500 shares of S. S. Kresge Corporation stock, as provided in a pre-nuptial contract.

FOREIGN BUYING TUMBLES FRANC TO NEW DEPTHS

Broke Below Low Record of March 1924—Quoted 28.25 To Dollar.

HEAVY PURCHASES.

New Minister of Finance Urges Additional Taxation in Committee. . .

PARIS, March 20 (Canadian Press).—The French franc tumbled Friday to depths hitherto unknown, so far as Paris is concerned, in the history of the third French Republic—breaking even the low record of March, 1924. After the bourse had closed, the franc was quoted at 28.25 to the dollar and 137.20 to the pound sterling.

Meantime Raoul Peret, the new Minister of Finance, appeared before the Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies for the first time and informed that body, as was done by his immediate predecessors, that the remedy for the financial situation was in additional taxation. His reception was cool, especially when he referred to the necessity of increased taxes on business transactions, proposals for which have been twice defeated by the Chamber.

Experts agree that the present downward movement of the franc is not caused by speculation. It is due, they say, to real purchases made in the market, where heavy amounts of francs have been taken up by London, Amsterdam and New York, during the past few days.

Bourse circles said last night that the attitude of the creditor states has accelerated the fall in the franc, which is aggravated by the uncertainty of the internal political situation. Thursday's session of the Chamber prompted fears that the Government would be unable to find a majority with which to push through its financial reform plan.

PLANT LESS WHEAT.

But U. S. Farmers Will Increase Oats.

WASHINGTON, March 20 (Canadian Press). — Farmers of the United States have expressed intentions to plant this spring 1.8 per cent. less spring wheat and 0.1 per cent. less corn than the acreage harvested last year, the Department of Agriculture Friday announced as a result of a canvass just completed.

Intentions to plant other spring sown crops as compared with last year's harvested acreages, were announced as follows:

Oats, 4.6 per cent. more; barley, 5.7 per cent. more; white potatoes, 4.3 per cent. more; sweet potatoes, 19.6 per cent. more; flaxseed, 0.4 per cent. more.

PRESENTATIONS TO WESTWOOD BRIDE

Mrs. Lawrence Gillson Honored By Her Fellow Choristers.

WESTWOOD, March 20. — On Thursday evening the members of the United church choir met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Brackenridge, to extend their best wishes and congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Gillson (nee Marion Brackenridge). During the evening the following address was read by Mr. Don Cameron:

Dear Marion,— We, the members of the United church choir have gathered together to-night to wish you and your husband all the joy and happiness, that can be showered upon you, as you enter upon your newly married life.

You, Marion, will be greatly missed in your place at the organ in our choir, where you have served so cheerfully and so well for the past number of years; and we hope as you find yourself settled in your new home, you may often look back on our time spent together, and feel the work was not in vain.

As a slight token of our appreciation and good will, and with hosts of best wishes for the future, we ask you to accept these silver spoons, hoping you may be long spared to use and enjoy them.

Signed on behalf of the choir—
Mrs. Ed. Sargent.
Donald Cameron.

Mrs. Gillson made a very fitting reply and the remainder of the evening was spent pleasantly in music and singing, followed by a dainty lunch.

On Friday evening a miscellaneous shower was given Mr. and Mrs. Gillson in the town hall, about two hundred people from the community being present. The gifts were numerous and beautiful.

Mr. Gillson, who is a fine violinist, accompanied by Mrs. Gillson, provided part of the music for the evening, the other violinist being Mr. Roy Francis, of Villiers. All present report a very enjoyable time.

YOUTH SENTENCED FOR DELORO THEFT

Roy McMillan Stole Money and Clothing.

MARMORA, March 20.—Roy McMillan, of Frankford, a youth scarcely eighteen, was arrested by Constable J. Gordenier on Tuesday on a charge of stealing clothing, money and other effects belonging to two men named Murphy and Burnett, who are employed at the plant of the Delcro Smelting and Refining Company. The accused is reported to have escaped various times from the reformatory at Mimico and has made use of several aliases in his travels around the country. Upon the theft being reported to Constable Gordenier, the officer last Thursday proceeded to Bonarlaw Station to search suspected men. Here he encountered McMillan, who, upon being questioned, declared that a man named William Russell had been seen by him to take the suitcase of stolen goods out of the sleeping quarters of Murphy and Burnett. Seeing McMillan with no suitcase or baggage in his possession, the constable was inclined to believe his story and wired Smith Falls to have Russell detained there. Russell was brought back the following evening and arraigned before Magistrate Jarman of Bancroft last Monday, was able to prove his innocence and direct suspicion against McMillan. McMillan, was apprehended near Frankford on Tuesday by Constable Gordenier and brought up before Magistrate Jarman at Marmora Town Hall on Thursday afternoon. Pleading guilty, he was sentenced to six months in the Ontario Reformatory at Guelph, and a further indeterminate term of one year.

Accused was taken in custody to Belleville on Friday morning by Constable Gordenier.

DEPORTATION PLEA FOR PIRIE FAILED

Slayer Complains of Guelph Prison Farm Conditions.

OTTAWA, March 20 (Canadian Press).—An effort to have Captain John Buchanan Pirie, who on October 1st, 1924, in a fit of despondency killed his common law wife, Caroline Freeland, and his two children, and who is serving a life sentence as criminally insane at the Guelph Prison Farm, deported to England in the near future, has been rejected by the Immigration and Justice Departments.

An application was made to the Immigration Department about a month ago, by persons interested in the fate of Pirie, to have him deported to England, under the provisions of the Immigration Act, the first section of which provides that any immigrant who commits a criminal offence within the first five years of his residence in this country may be deported to the country of his origin.

The application, however, was not entertained by the Department, owing to the fact that Pirie has been certified to be criminally insane, and the quoted provision of the Act therefore does not apply to him.

In letters to a friend here, Pirie complains that his surroundings at the farm are degrading.

SARNIA WOMAN FOUND.

Father Declined To Discuss Affair.

SARNIA, March 20 (Canadian Press).—Florence Edith Heal, 21, subject of a country-wide search by her parents since her mysterious disappearance about January 10, 1925, has been located living at Muskegeon, Mich., it was learned here Friday. Her father declined to discuss the circumstances of her location, but admitted that she had been found.

The girl, who had been married the previous year, vanished from her place of employment in a Port Huron store. Her mother subsequently offered a reward, and enlisted the assistance of every agency, including the radio, in the search.

"The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted"

BY S. GERTRUDE DE WENTWORTH-JAMES

SYNOPSIS

John Mannering, district attorney, has just learned by telephone that his wife, Eileen, was seen in a notorious inn when it was raided. Then comes word that Eileen is now in the apartment of Jerome Wallace, his opponent in the approaching election. Mrs. Mannering has gone there to demand from Wallace a written pledge that, if elected, he will release young Bob Mannering, accused of causing the death of a woman in an automobile smash.

CHAPTER XI.

As he turned to the table and produced paper and pen she paused at his elbow watching his movements eagerly.

But even as the pen touched the paper he hesitated, waited deliberately, as if with calculating cruelty wishing to play upon Eileen's overwrought nerves. Suddenly a great tenderness seized him, he reached for her hand and drew her towards him.

"Eileen," he murmured softly.

Horrified, she pulled away.

He leaned closer, his manner insistent and all pretense cast aside.

She recoiled from him, her scorn of him plain.

His jaw set and with a glint of anger in his eyes, he laid the pen aside.

Eileen watched him aghast. She had lost—Bob had lost—ah, yes, and John had lost.

"Please, please," she pleaded, growing hysterical again.

"Why should I trouble? If you can be unkind so can I."

"I shall tell my husband," she cried frantically.

Wallace laughed.

"I shall tell the newspaper—the world—everyone—how you have tricked me."

He looked her steadily in the eye.

"I shall deny it, say that you did it of your own volition."

She received his answer with the utmost contempt.

"Who would believe you? What possible motive would I have for doing it?"

"My love," he retorted, and more deliberately that his meaning might sink home, "My dear, you loved me enough to betray your husband so that I could win the election."

She laughed scornfully, but it was uncertain before his calmness.

"Why," he went on, "you haven't even been so kind as to furnish me your admission." From the table drawer he drew forth a picture. There was the old mat bearing the inscription, "To Jerry dearest—success and all my love. Eileen." But now in place of her girlhood portraiture appeared her latest picture, the one she had sent him that very morning.

"You see, I hold all the trumps," said Wallace with a note of triumph. "But if you had not tried to drive me I would have given you that statement."

She seemed to find a ray of hope in his tones, for her sobbing lessened.

Her tears ceased to flow and as she busied herself with her vanity case she even managed a shy half friendly smile.

Suspicious of the sudden change in her, he watched her. As she gazed down at the picture on the table, clearly at a loss to account for the presence of her writing there, he never took his eyes off of her.

Finally satisfied, he produced the old print he had replaced on the mat and laid it before her.

Understanding leaped into her eyes and with it something more.

"So you have kept that picture all these years, have you?" she said, regarding him timidly. "I never realized that you cared—that much."

Suddenly with flaming eyes he caught her by the arms and drew her towards him.
